Acerca de este libro

Esta es una copia digital de un libro que, durante generaciones, se ha conservado en las estanterías de una biblioteca, hasta que Google ha decidido escanearlo como parte de un proyecto que pretende que sea posible descubrir en línea libros de todo el mundo.
Ha sobrevivido tantos años como para que los derechos de autor hayan expirado y el libro pase a ser de dominio público. El que un libro sea de dominio público significa que nunca ha estado protegido por derechos de autor, o bien que el período legal de estos derechos ya ha expirado. Es posible que una misma obra sea de dominio público en unos países y, sin embargo, no lo sea en otros. Los libros de dominio público son nuestras puertas hacia el pasado, suponen un patrimonio histórico, cultural y de conocimientos que, a menudo, resulta difícil de descubrir.
Todas las anotaciones, marcas y otras señales en los márgenes que estén presentes en el volumen original aparecerán también en este archivo como testimonio del largo viaje que el libro ha recorrido desde el editor hasta la biblioteca y, finalmente, hasta usted.

Normas de uso

Google se enorgullece de poder colaborar con distintas bibliotecas para digitalizar los materiales de dominio público a fin de hacerlos accesibles a todo el mundo. Los libros de dominio público son patrimonio de todos, nosotros somos sus humildes guardianes. No obstante, se trata de un trabajo caro. Por este motivo, y para poder ofrecer este recurso, hemos tomado medidas para evitar que se produzca un abuso por parte de terceros con fines comerciales, y hemos incluido restricciones técnicas sobre las solicitudes automatizadas.
Asimismo, le pedimos que:

+ Haga un uso exclusivamente no comercial de estos archivos Hemos diseñado la Búsqueda de libros de Google para el uso de particulares; como tal, le pedimos que utilice estos archivos con fines personales, y no comerciales.
+ No envíe solicitudes automatizadas Por favor, no envíe solicitudes automatizadas de ningún tipo al sistema de Google. Si está llevando a cabo una investigación sobre traducción automática, reconocimiento óptico de caracteres u otros campos para los que resulte útil disfrutar de acceso a una gran cantidad de texto, por favor, envíenos un mensaje. Fomentamos el uso de materiales de dominio público con estos propósitos y seguro que podremos ayudarle.
+ Conserve la atribución La filigrana de Google que verá en todos los archivos es fundamental para informar a los usuarios sobre este proyecto y ayudarles a encontrar materiales adicionales en la Búsqueda de libros de Google. Por favor, no la elimine.
+ Manténgase siempre dentro de la legalidad Sea cual sea el uso que haga de estos materiales, recuerde que es responsable de asegurarse de que todo lo que hace es legal. No dé por sentado que, por el hecho de que una obra se considere de dominio público para los usuarios de los Estados Unidos, lo será también para los usuarios de otros países. La legislación sobre derechos de autor varía de un país a otro, y no podemos facilitar información sobre si está permitido un uso específico de algún libro. Por favor, no suponga que la aparición de un libro en nuestro programa significa que se puede utilizar de igual manera en todo el mundo. La responsabilidad ante la infracción de los derechos de autor puede ser muy grave.

Acerca de la Búsqueda de libros de Google

El objetivo de Google consiste en organizar información procedente de todo el mundo y hacerla accesible y útil de forma universal. El programa de Búsqueda de libros de Google ayuda a los lectores a descubrir los libros de todo el mundo a la vez que ayuda a autores y editores a llegar a nuevas audiencias. Podrá realizar búsquedas en el texto completo de este libro en la web, en la páginahttp://books.google.com

This is a reproduction of a library book that was digitized by Google as part of an ongoing effort to preserve the information in books and make it universally accessible.

Google books  https://books.google.com

$$
40: 650
$$

TRAVELS

 INTOSEVERAL 401550
Remote Nations

OFTHE

Firf a Surgeon, and then a Captain of feveral S HIPS.

The Fifthemition, Corrected.

$$
L O N D O N
$$

Printed for Charles Bathurst, at the Crofs. Keys in Fleet-Street.
MDCCXLVII.

VILLE DE LYON

$$
\wp
$$

THE

C H A P. I.
Thbe Autbor gives fome Account of bimfelf and Family, his firft Inducements to travel. He is 乃ipwrecked, and frwims for bis Life, gets fafe on Shore in the Country of Lilliput, is made a Prifoner, and carried up the Gountry.
p. 1

C H A P. II.

The Emperor of Lilliput, attended by Several of the Nobility, comes to fee the Autbor in his Confinement. The Emperor's Perfon and Habit defcribed. Learned Men appointed to teach the Author their Language. He gains Favour by bis mild Di/fofition. His Pockets are fearched, and bis Sword and Pifols taken from bim.

C H A P. III.

The Author diverts the Emperor and bis Nobility of both Sexes in a very uncommon Manner. The Diverfions of the Court of Lilliput defcribed The Autbor bas bis Liberty granted bim upon certain Conditions. p. 23
A
C H A P. IV.

The C O N TENTS.

C H A P. IV.
Mildendo, the Metropolis of Lilliput, deferibed, together with the Emperor's Palace. A Converfation between the Author and a principal Secretary concerning the Affairs of that Empire. The Author's Offer to Serve the Emperor in bis Wars.
C H A P. V.

The Autbor, by an extraordinary Stratagem, prevents an Inviafion. A bigh Title of Honour is conferredupon bim. Ambafladors arrive from the Emperor of Blefufcu, and jue for Peace. The Emprefs's Apartment on Fire by an Accident; the Autbor infrumental in faving tbe reft of the Palace.
p. 36

> CHAP. VI.

Of the InFabitants of Lilliput; their Learning, Larws, and Cufoms, the Manzer of educating their Cbildren. The Author's Way of Living in that Country. HisVindication of a great Lady.

C H A P. VII.

Tbe Autbor, being informed of a Defign to ccupe bim of Higb-Treafon, makes bis Efcape to Blefufcu. His Reception there.
p. 54

C H A P. VIII.

The Author, by a lucky Accident, finds Means to leave Blefufcu; and, after fome Difficulties, returns fafe to bis native Country.
p. 63

P A R T. II.

A Voyage to BROBDINGNAG.
CHAP. I.

A great Storm deftribed, the Long-boat fent to fetcb Water, the Autbor goes with it to dif fover the Country.

The CONTENTS.

He is left on Shore, is seized by one of the Natives; and carried to a Farmer's House. His Reception there, with Several Accidents that happened there. A Defcription of the Inhabitants.
p. 70

CH A P. II.
A Description of the Farmer's Daughter: The Author carried to a Market-Torwn, and then to the Metropolis. The Particulars of bis Journey.
p. 83

CH A P. III.

The Author Sent for to Court. The Queen buys him of bis Mafter the Farmer, and presents bim to the King. $H_{e}$ difputes with bis Majefty's great Scholars. An' Apartment at Court provided for the Author. He is in high Favour with the Queen. He finds ap for the Honour of bis own Country. His Quarrels with the Queen's Dwarf.
p. 90

C HAP. IV.

The Country defcribed. A Proposal for correcting modern Maps. The King's Palace, and forme Account of the Metropolis. The Author's Way of Travelling. The chief Temple described.
p. 10ı

> CH A P. V.

Several Adventures that happened to the Author. The Execution of a Criminal. The Author Sews his Skill in Navigation.
p. 106

> CH A P. VI.

Several Contrivances of the Author to please the King and Queen. He 乃bews bis Skill in Mufic. The King enquires into the State of Europe, which the Author relates to him. The King's ObServations thereon:
p. 116

CHAP. VII.

The Author's Love of bis Country. He makes a PropoSal of much Advantage to the King, which is rejected. The King's great Ignorance in Politics. The $\hat{A}_{2} \quad$ Learn

The CONTENTS.

Learning of that Country very imperfect and confined. Tbeir Larws, and military Affairs, and Parties in the State.

C H A P. VIII.

p. 125

The King and 2ueen make a Progrefs to the Frontiers. The Autbor attends them. The Manner in which be leaves the Country very particularly related. He returns to England.
p. 132

PARTII.

A Voyage to Laputa, Balmibarbi, Lnggnagg, Glubbdubdrib, and JaPAN.

> C H A P. I.

The Autbor fets out on his third Voyage, is taken by Pyrates. The Malice of a Dutchman. His Arrival at an Ifand. He is received into Laputa. p. 145
С Н А P. II.
$T$ be Humours and Diffofitions of the Laputians defcribed. An Account of their Learning. Of the King, and bis Court. The Autbor's Reception there. Tbe Inhabitants fubject to Fear and Difquietudes. An Account of the Women.

> C H A P. III.
p. 151

A Pbaromenon folved ly modern Pbilofophy and Aftronomy. The Laputians great Improvements in the latter. The King's Method of fuppreffing Infurrections.

> C H A P. IV.

The Autbor leaves Laputa, is conveyed to Balnibarbi, arrives at the Metropolis. A Defcription of the Metropolis, and the Country adjoining. The Autbor bofpitably pitably received by a great Lord. His Converfa: tion with that Lord.

The CONTENTS.

p. 165

> C H A P. V.

The Autbor permitted to fee the grand Acidemy of Lagado. The Academy largely defcribed. The Arts wherein the Profefors employ themfelves. p. 172

> CHAP. VI.

A furtber Account of the Academy. The Autbor propofior fome Improvements, wbicb are bonourably received.

C H A P. VII.

The Autbor leaves Lagado, arrives at Maldonada. No Ship ready. He takes a Joort Voyage to Glubbdubdrib. His Reception by the Governor.
p. 186

C HAP. VIII.
A furtber Account of Glubbdubdrib: Ancient and Modern Hifiory corrected.
p. 190

> C H A P. IX.

The Author's Return to Maldonada. Sails to the Kingdom of Luggnagg. The Author confined. He is fent for to Court. The Manner of bis Admittance. The King's great Lenity to his Subjects.
p. 196
С Н А P. X.

The Luggnuggians commended. A particular Defcription of the Struldbrugs, with many Converfations between the Autbor and fome eminent Perfons, upon that Subject.
C H A P. XI.
p. 200

The Autbor leaves Luggnagg, and Jails to Japan. From tbence be returns in a Dutch Ship to Amfterdam, and from Amfterdam to England.
p. 209

PARTIV.

The CONTENTS:

PARTIV.

A Voyage to the Country of the . Houyhnhems.

CHAPI.

The Autbor fets out as Captain of a Sbip. His Men conSpire againft bim, confine him a. long Time to bis Cabbin. Set him on Shore in an unknown Land. He travels up into the Country. The Yahoos, a frange Sort of Animal, deferibed. The Autbor moots two Houyhnhnms.

> C H A P. II.

The Autbor conducted by a Houyhnhnm to bis Houfe. The Houfe defcribed. The Author's Reception. The Food of the Houyhnhnms. The Autbor in Difrefs for Want of Meat, is at laft relieved. His Manner of Feeding in this Country.
p. 220

C H A P. III.

The Autbor fudious to learn the Language; the Houyhnhnm, bis Mafter, afiffs in teaching bim. The Language defcribed. Several Houyhnhnms of Quality came out of Curiofty to fee the Autbor. He gives bis Mafer a Bort Account of his Voyage.
p. 227

> С Н A P. IV.

The Houyhnhnms Notion of Truth and Falfbood. The Autbor's Difcourfe difapproved ly bis Mafer. The Autbor gives a more particular Account of bimfelf, and the Accidents of bis Voyage. .
p. 233

> С Н А P. V.

The Autbor, at his Mafer's Commands, informs bim of the State of England. The Caufes of War among the Princes of Europe. The Auther begins to explain the Englifh Confitution.
p. 239

CHAPVI.

The CONTENTB.

C H A P. VI.

4 Continuation of the State of Epgland. Tbe Cbaracter of a Firft or Cbief Minifer of State in European Courts.
p. 246

CHAP. VII.
The Autbor's great Liove of bis native Country. His Mafter's Obfervations upon the Confitution and Adminiftration of England, as defcribed by the Autbor, with parallel Cafes and Comperifons. His Mafer's Otfervations upon Human Nature, p. 253

CHAP. VIII.

The Autbor redates fecoeral Particulars of the Yahoos, The great Virtues of the Houyhnhnms. The Education and Exercife of tbeir Youth. Tbeir general AfSembly.

C H A P. IX.

4 grand Debate at the General Afembly of the Houyhnhnms, and bow it was ditermined. The Learning of the Houyhnhnms. Their Buildings. Their Manner of Burials. The Dofectivenefs of their Language.

C H A P. X.
The Author's Oeconomy, and batpy Life, among tbe Houyhnhnms. His great Improvement in Virtue, by converfing with them. Their Converfations. The Author has Notice given bim by bis Mafter, that be muft depart from the Country. He falls into a Swoon for Grief; but jubmits. He contrives, and finißes a Canoo, by the Help of a Follow-fervant, and puts to Sea at a Venture.
p. 273

C H A P. XI.

The Autbor's dangerous Voyage. He arrives at NewHolland. boping to fettle tbere. Is ruounded with an Arrow by one of the Natives. Is feized and carried by Force into a Portugueze Sbip. The great Civili-ties

The CONTENTS.

ties of the Captain. The Autbor arrives at England.
CHAP. XII.
p. 281

Tbe Autbor's Veracity. His Defign in publifoing this Work. His Cenfure of thofe Travellers wwho fwerve from the Truth: The Author clears bimslff from any finifter Ends in awriting. An Objection anfwered. The Metbod of planting Colonies. His Native Country comomended. The Right of the Crown to thofe Countries defcribed by the Autbor, is juftifed. The Difficulty of conquering them. The Autbor takes bis laft Leave of tbe Reader: propofeth bis Manner of Living for the future; gives good Advice, and consludetb.
P. 290

TRAVELS

$1$

T R A V E L S.

PART. I.

A Voyage to Litilput.

C H A P. I.

The Author gives fome Account of bimfelf and Family, his firft Inducements to travel. He is乃bipwrecked, and fwims for his Life, gets fafe on Shore in the Country of Lilliput, is made a Prifoner, and carried up the Country.

MY Father had a fmall Efate in Nottingbamßire; I was the Third of five Sons. He fent me to Emanuel College in Cambridge, at fourteen Years old, where I refided three Years, and applied myfelf clofe to my Studies; but the Charge of maintaining me (although I had a very fcanty Allowance) being too great for a narrow Fortune, I was bound Apprentice to Mr. Fames Bates, an eminent Surgeon in London, with whom I continued four Years; and my Father now and then fending me fmall Sums of Money, 1 laid them out in learning Navigation, and other Parts of the Mathematics, ufeful to thofe who intend to travel, as I always believed it would be fome Time or other my Fortune to do. When I left Mr. Bates, I went down to my Father; where, by the Affiftance of him and my Uncle Fobn, and fome other Relations, I got forty Pounds, and a Promife of thirty Pounds a Year to maintain me at Leyder: There Iftu-died Phyfic two Years and feven Months, knowing it would be ufeful in long Voyages.

Soon after my return from $L_{\text {efden, }}$ I was recommended by my good Mafter Mr. Bates, ta be Surgeon to the Swallow, Captain Abrabam Pannell, Commander; with whom I continued three Years and a half, making a Voyage or twa into the Levant, and fome other Parts. When I came back, I refolved to fettle in London, to which Mr. Bates, my Mafter, encouraged me, and by him I was recommended to feveral Patients. I took Part of a fmall Houfe in the Old Fury ; and being advifed to alter my Condition, I married Mrs. Mary Burton, fecond Daughter to Mr. Edmund Burton, Hofier, in Newwate-freet, with whom I received fourhundred Pounds for a Portion.

But, my good Mafter Bates dying in two Years after, and I having few Friends, my Bufinefs began to fail ; for my Canfcience would not fuffer me to imitate the bad Practice of too many among my Brethren. Having therefore confulted with my Wife, and fome of my Acquaintance, I determined to go again to Sea. I was Surgeon fucceffively in two Ships, and made feveral Voyages for fix Years to the Eaft and Weft-Indies, by which I got fome Addition to my Fortune. My Hours of Leifure I fpent in reading the beft Authors, antient and modern, being always provided with a good Number of Books; and when I was athore, in obferving the Manners and Difpofitions of the People, as well as Jearning their Language, wherein I had a great Facility by the Strength of my Memory.

The laft of thefe Voyages not proving very fortunate, I grew weary of the Sea, and intended to flay at Home with my Wife and Family. I removed from the OldFury to Fetter-Lane, and from thence to Wapping, hoping to get Bufinefs among the Sailors; but it would not turn to Account. After three Years Expectation that Things would mend, I accepted an advantageous. Offer from Captain William' Pricbard, Mafter of the Antelope, who was making a Voyage to the South-Sea.

We fet Sailfrom Brifol, May 4th, 1699 , and our Voyageat firft was very profperous.

It would not be proper, for fome Reafons, to trouble the Reader with the Particulars of our Adventures in thofe Seas: Let it fuffice to inform him, that, in our Paffage from thence to the Eaft Indies; we were driven by a violent Storm to the North-Weft of Van Diemen's Land. By an Obfervation we found ourfelves in the Latitude of 30 Degrees 2 Minutes South. Twelve of our Crew were dead by immoderate Labour, and ill Food, the reft were in a very weak Condition, On the fifth of November, which was the Beginning of Summer in thofe Parts, the Weather being very hazy, the Seamen fpied a Rock, within half a Cable's Length of the Ship; but the Wind was fo ftrong, that we were driven directly upon it, and immediately fplit. Six of the Crew, of whom I was one, having let down the Boat into the Sea, mrade a Shift to get clear of the Ship and the Rock. We rowed, by my Computation, about three beagues, till we were able to work no longer, being already fpent with Labour while we were in the Ship. We therefore trufted ourfelves. to the Mercy of the Waves, and in about half an Hour the Boat was overfet by a fudden Flurry from the North. What became of my Companions in the Boat, as well as of thofe who efeaped on the Rock, or were left in the Veffel, I cannot tell; but conclude they were all loft: For my. own Part, I fwam as Fortune directed me, and was pufhed forward by Wind and Tide. I often let my Legs drop, and could feel no Bottom: But when I was almoft gone, and abte to ftruggle no longer, I found myfelf withim my Depth; and by this Time the Storm was much abated. The Declivity was fo fmall, that I walked near a Mile before I got to the Shore, which I conjettured was about Eight a Clock in the Evening. I then advanced forward near half a Mile, but coult not diffover any Sign of Houfes or Inhabitants ; at leaff I was in foreak a Condition thiat I did not obferve them. I was-extremely tired, and that, and the Heat of the Weather, and about half a Pint of Brandy thatt I drank as I left the Ship, I found myfelf much inclined to fleep. I lay down on the Grafs, which was very fhort and foft, where I flept founder than ever I remembered to have done in my Life, and, as I reckoned, about nine Hours; for when I awaked, it was juft Day-light. I attempted to rife, but was not able to ftir: For as I happened to lie on my Back, I found my Arms and Legs were ftrongly faftened on each Side to the Ground ; and my Hair, which was long and thick, tied down in the fame Manner. I likewife felt feveral flender Ligatures a-crofs my Body, from my Arm-pits to my Thighs. I could only look upwards, the Sun began to grow hot, and the Light offended my Eyes. I heard a confured Noife about me, but, in the Pofture I lay, could fee nothing except the Sky. In a littie Time I felt fomething alive moving on my left Leg, which advancing gently forward, over my Breaft, came almoft up to my Chin; when bending my Eyes downward as much as I could, I perceived it to be a human Creature not fix Inches high, with a Bow and Arrow in his Hands, and a Quiver at his Back. In the mean Time, I felt at leaft forty more of the fame Kind (as I conjectured) following the firft. I was in the utmoft Aftonifhment, and roared fo loud, that they all ran back in a Fright ; and fome of them, as I was afterwards told, were hurt with the Falls they got by leaping from my Sides upon the Ground. However, they foon returned, and one of them, who ventured to far as to get a full Sight of my Face, lifting up his Hands and Eyes by Way of Admiration, cried out ina flarill but diftinct Voice, Hekinab Degul: The others repeated the fame Words feveral Times, but I then knew not what they meant. I lay all this While, as the Reader may believe, in great Uneafinefs; at length, fruggling to get loofe, I had the Fortune to break the Strings, and wrench out the Pegs that faftened my left Arm to the Ground; for, by lifting it up to my Face, I difcovered the Methods they had taken to bind me, and,
and, at the fame Time, with a violent pull, which gave me exceffive Paitf, I a little loofened the Strings that tied down my Hair on the left Side, fo that I was juft able to turn my Head about two Inches. But the Creatures ran off a fecond Time, before I could feize them; whereupon there was a great Shout in a very fhrill Accent, and after it ceafed, I heard one of them cry aloud, Tolgo Phonac; when in an Inftant I felt above an hundred Arrows difcharged on my left Hand, which pricked me like fo many Needles ; and befides, they fhot another Flight into the Air, as we do Bombs in Europe, whereof many I fuppofe, fell on my Body (tho' I telt them not) and fome on my Face, which I immediately covered with my left Hand. When this Shower of Arrows was over, I fell a groaning with Grief and Pain, and then Atriving again to get loofe, they difcharged another Vollay larger than the firft, and fome of them attempted with Spears to ftick me in the Sides ; but, by good Luck, I had on me a Buff Jerkin, which they could not pierce. I thought it the moft prudent Method to lie ftill, and my Defign was to continue fo till Night, when my left Hand being already loofe, I could eafily free myfelf: And as for the Inhabitants, I had Reafon to believe I might be a Match for the greateft Army they could bring againft me, if they were all of the fame Size with him that I faw. But Fortune difpefed otherways of me. When the People obferved I was quiet, they difcharged no more Arrows: But, by the Noife I heard, I knew their Numbers increafed ; and about four Yards from me, o-ver-againft my right Ear, I heard a knocking for above an Hour, like that of People at Work ; when turning my Head that Way, as well as the Pegs and Strings would permit me, I faw a Stage erected, about a Foot and Half from the Ground, capable of holding four of the Inhabitants, with two or three Ladders to mount it: From whence one of them, who feemed to be a Perfon of Quality, made me a long Speech, whereof I underftood not one Syllable. But I hould have mentioned; that before the principal Perfon began his Oration, he cried out three Times, Langro Debul San; (thefe Words and the former were afterwards repeated and explained to me). Whereupon immediately about fifty of the Inhabitants came and cut the Strings that faftened the left Side of my Head, which gave me the Liberty of turning it to the Right, and of obferving the Perfon and Gefture of him that was to fpeak. He appeared to be of a middle Age, and taller than any of the other three who attended him, whereof one was a Page that held up his Train, and feemed to be fomewhat longer than my middle Finger; the other two flood one on each Side to fupport him. He acted every Part of an Orator, and I could obferve many Periods of Threatnings, and others of Promifes, Pity, and Kindnefs. I anfwered in a few Words, but in the moft fubmiffive Manner, lifting up my left Hand and both my Eyes to the Sun, as calling him for a Witnefs; and, being almoft famithed with Hunger, having not eaten a Morfel for fome Hours before I left the Ship, I found the Demands of Nature fo frong upon me, that I could not forbear fhewing my Impatience (perhaps againft the frict Rules of Decency) by putting my Finger frequently to my Mouth, to fignify that I wanted Food. The Hurgo (for fo they call a great Lord, as I afterwards learnt) underftood me very well. He defcended from the Stage, and commanded that feveral Ladders fhould be applied to my Sides, on which above an hundred of the Inhabitants mounted, and walked towards my Mouth, laden with Bafkets full of Mear, which had been provided and fent thither by the King's Orders, upon the firt Intelligence he received of me. 1 obferved there was the Flefh of feveral Animals, but could not diftinguifh them by the Tafte. There were Shoulders, Legs, and Loins, fhaped like thofe of Mutton, and very well dreffed, but fmaller than the Wings of a Lark. I eat them by two or three at a Mouthful, and took three Loaves at a Time, about the Bignefs of Mufet Bullets. They fupplied me as they could, fhew-

Ing a thoufand Marks of Wonder and Aftonifhment at my Bulk and Appetite. I then made another Sign that I wanted Drink. They found by my Eating, that a fmall Quantity would not fuffice me, and being a moft ingenious People, they flung up with great Dexterity one of their largeft Hogtheads, then rolled it towards my Hand, and beat out the Top; I drank it off at a Draught, which I might well do, for it did not hold half a Pint, and tafted like a fmall Wine of Burgundy, but much more delicious. They brought me a fecond Hogithead, which I drank in the fame Manner, and made Signs for more; but they had none to give me. When I had performed thefe Wonders, they ihouted for Joy, and danced upon my Breaft, repeating feveral Times as they did at.firft, Hekinab Degul. They made me a Sign that I fhould throw down the two Hogheads, but firit warning the People below to fland out of the Way, crying aloud, Borach Mevola, and when they faw the Veffels in the Air, there was an univerfal Shout of $\mathrm{He}_{e}$ kinab Degul. I confefs, I was often tempted, while they were pafling backwards and forwards on my Body, to feize forty or fifty of the firf that came in my Reach, and dafh them againft the Ground. But the Remembrance of what I had felt, which probably might not be the Worlt they could do, and the Promife of Honour I made them, for fo I interpreted my fubmiflive Behaviour, foon drove out thefe Imaginations. Befides, I notw confidered myfelf as bound by the Laws of Hofpitality to a People who had treated me with fo much Expence and Magnificence. However, in my Thoughts, I could not fufficiently wonder at the Intrepidity of thefe diminutive Mortals, who darft venture to mount and walk updil my Body, while one of my Hands was at Liberty; without trembling at the very Sight of fo prodigious a Creature, as I muft appear to them. After fome Time, when they obferved that I made no more Demands for Meat, there appeared before me a Perfon of high Rank from his Imperial Majefty. His Excellency, having mounted on the Small of my right Leg, advanced forwards up to my Face, with abouta Dozen of his Retinue. And producing his Credentials under the Signet Royal, which he applied clofe to my Eyes, fpoke about ten Minutes, without any Signs of Anger, but with a Kind of determinate Refolution; often pointing forwards, which, as I afterwards found, was towards the Capital City, about half a Mile diftant, whither, it was agreed by his Majefty in Council, that I muft be conveyed. I anfwered in few Words, but to no Purpofe, and made a Sign with my Hand that was loofe, putting it to the other (but over his Excellency's Head, for Hear of hurting him or his Train) and then to my own Head and Body, to fignify that I defired my Liberty. It appeared that he underftood me well enough, for he fhook his Head by Way of Difapprobation, and held his Hand in a Pofture, to thew that I muft be carried as a Prifoner. However, he made other Signs to let me underftand that I Thould have Meat and Drink enough, and very good Treatment. Whereupon I once more thought of attempting to break my Bonds; but again, when I felt the Smart of their Arrows, upon my Face and Hands, which were all in Blifters, and many of the Darts ftill flicking in them ; and obferying likewife, that the Number of my Enemies increafed, I gave Tokens, to let them know, that they might do with me what they pleafed. Upon this, the Hurgo, and his Train withdrew, with much Civility and chearful Countenances. Soon afier, I heard a general Shout, with frequent Repetitions of the Words, Peplom Selan, and I felt great Numbers of People on my left Side, relaxing the Cords to fuch a Degree, that I was able to turn upon my Right, and to eafe myfelf with making Water, which I very plentifully did, to the great Aftonifhment of the People, who conjecturing, by my Motion, what I was going to do, immediately opened to ti.e Right and Left on that Side, to avoid the Torrent which fell with fuch Noife and Violence from me. But be-

Eore this, they had daubed my Face, and both my Hands, with a Sort of Ointment very pleafant to the Smell, which in a few Minutes removed all the Smart of their Arrows. Thefe Circumftances, added to the Refrefhment I had received by their Victuals and Drink, which were very nourifhing, difpofed me to fleep. I flept about eight Hours, as I was afterwards affured; and it was no Wonder, for the Phyficians, by the Emperor's Order, had mingled a fleepy Portion in the Hogiheads of Wine.

It feems that, upon the firf Moment I was difcovered fleeping on the Ground after my Landing, the Emperor had early Notice of it by an Exprefs; and determined in Council, that I hould be tied in the Manner I have related (which was done in the Night while I flept) that Plenty of Meat and Drink fhould be fent to me, and a Machine prepared to carry me to the Capital City.

This Refolution, perhaps, may appear very bold and dangerous, and 1 am confident, would not be imitated by any Prince in Europe on the like Occafion: However, in my Opinion, it was extremely prudent, as well as generous: For, fuppofing thefe People had endeavoured to kill me with their Spears and Arrows, while I was afleep, I fhould certainly have awaked with the firft Senfe of Smart, which might fo far have rouzed my Rage and Strength, as to have enabled me to break the Strings wherewith I was tied; after which, as they were not able to make Refiftance, fo they could expect no Mercy.

Thefe People are moft excellent Mathematicians, and arrived to a great Perfection in Mechanics, by the Countenance and Encouragement of the Emperor, who is a renowned Patron of Learning. This Prince hath feveral Machines fixed on Wheels, for the Carriage of Trees, and other great Weights. He often builds his largeft Men of $W$ ar, whereof fome are nine Feet long, in the Woods where the Timber grows, and has them carried on thefe Engines three or four hundred hundred Yards to the Sea. Five hundred Carpenters and Engineers were immediately fet at work to prePare the greateft Engine they had. It was a Frame of Wood raifed three Inches from the Ground, about feven Feet long, and four wide, moving upon twentytwo Wheels. The Shout I heard, was upon the Arsival of this Engine, which, it feems, fet out in fout Hours after my Landing. It was brought parallel to me as I lay. But the principal Difficulty was, to raife and place me in this Vehicle. Eighty Poles, each of one Foot high, were erected for this Purpofe, and very ftrong Cords, of the Bignefs of Packthread, were faftened by Hooks to many Bandages, which the Workmen had girt round my Neck, my Hands, my Body, and my Legs. Nine hurdred of the ftronget Men were employed to draw up thefe Cords by many Pulleys faftened on the Poles, and thus, in lefs than three Hours, I was raifed, and flung into the Engine, and there tied faft. All this I was told, for, while the whole Operation was performing, I lay in a profound Sleep, by the Force of that foporiferous Medicine infufed into my Liquor. Fifteen hundred of the Emperor's largeft Horfes, each about four Inches and an half high, were employed to draw me towards the Metropolis, which, as I faid, was half a Mile diftant.

About four Hours iffer we began our Journey, I awaked, by a very ridiculous Accident; for the Cartiage being fopt a while to adjuft fomething that was vut of Order, two or three of the young Natives had the Curiofity to fee how I looked when I was alleep; they climbed up into the Engine, and advancing very foftly to my Face, one of them, an Officer in the Guards, put the fharp End of his Half-pike a good Way up into my left Noftril, which tickled my Nofe like a Straw, and made me freeze violently: Whereupon they ftole off unperceived, and it was ihret Weeks before I knew the Canfe of my awaking fo fuddenly. We made a long March the remaining Part of that Day; and refted at Night with five hundred

Guards

Gaards on each Side of me, Half with Torches, and Half with Bows and Arrows, ready to fhoot me, if I Chould offer to ftir. The next Morning, at Sun-rife, we continued our March, and arrived within two hundred Yards of the City Gates about Noon. The Emperor, and all his Court, came out to meet us, but his great Officers would by no Means fuffer his Majefty to endanger his Perfon by mounting on my Body.

At the Place where the Carriage ftopt, there ftood an antient Temple, efteemed to be the largeft in the whole Kingdom, which, having been polluted fome Years before by an unnatural Murder, was, according to the Zeal of thofe People, looked on as prophane, and therefore had been applied to common Ufe, and all the Ornaments and Furniture carried away. In this Edifice, it was determined I fhould lodge. The great Gate fronting to the North, was about four Feet high, and almof two Feet wide, through which I could eafily creep. On each Side of the Gate was a fmall Window, not above fix Inches from the Ground: Into that on the left Side, the King's Smith conveyed fourfoore and eleven Chains, like thofe that hang to a Lady's Watch in Europe, and almoft as large, which were locked to my left Leg, with fix and thirty Padlocks. Over-againtt this Temple, on t'other Side of the great Highway, at twenty Feet Diftance, there was a Turret at leaft five Feet high. Here the Emperor afcended, with many principal Lords of his Court, to have an Opportunity of viewing me, as I was told, for I could not fee them. It was reckoned, that above an hundred thoufand Inhabitants came out of the Town upon the fame Errand ; and, in Spite of my Guards, I believe there could not be fewer than ten thoufand, at feveral Times, who mounted my Body by the Help of Ladders. But a Proclamation was foon iffued to forbid it, upon Pain of Death. When the Workmen found it was impoffible for me to break loofe, they cut all the Strings that bound me ; whereapon $\mathbf{F}$
rofe up with as melancholy a Difpofition as ever I had in my Life. But the Noife and Aftonifhment of the People, at feeing me rife and walk, are not to be expreffed. The Chains that held my left Leg, were about two Yards long, and gave me not only the Liberty of walking backwards and forwards in a Semicircle ; but, being exed within four Inches of the Gate, allowed me to creep in, and lie at my fall Length in the Temple.

C H A P. II.

The Emperor of Lilliput, attexded by feveral of the Nobility, comes to fee the Author in bis Confinement. The Emperor's Perfon and Habit defcribed. Learned Men appointed to teach the Autbor their Language. He gains Favour by bis mild Difpofition. His Pockets are fearched, and bis Sword and Pifols taken from him.

W
HEN I found myfelf on my Feet, I looked about me, and muft confefs I never beheld a more entertaining Profpect. The Country round appeared like a continual Garden, and in the inclofed Fields, which were generally forty Feet fquare, refembled fo many Beds of Flowers. Thefe Fields were intermingled with Woods of half a Stang, and the talleft Trees. as I could judge, appeared to be feven Feet high. I viewed the Town on my left Hand, which looked like the painted Scene of a City in a Theatre.

I had been for fome Hours extremely prefled by the Neceffities of Nature; which was no Wonder, it being almoft two Days fince I had laft disburthened my felf. I was under great Difficulties between Urgency and Shame. .The beft Expedient I could think on, was to creep into my Houfe, which I accordingly did; and fhutting the Gate after me, I went as far as the Length of my Chain would fuffer, and dircharged my Body of that uneafy Load. But this was the only Time I was ever guilty of fo uncleanly an Action; for which I cannot but hope the candid Reader will give fome Allowance, after hie hath m: sarely and impartially confidered my Cafe, and the Diftrefs I was in. From this Time, my conftant PraCtice was, as foon as I rofe, to perform that Bufinefs in open Air, at the full Extent of my Chain, and due Care was taken every Morning, before Company came, that the offenfive Matter hould be carried off in Wheel-barrows, by two Servants appointed for that Purpofe. I would not have dwelt fo long upon a Circumftance, that, perhaps, at firft Sight, may appear not very momentous, if I had not thought it neceflary to juftify my Character in point of Cleanlinefs to the World; which, I am told. fome of my Maligners have been pleafed, upon this, and other Occafions, to call in Queftion.

When this Adventure was at an End, I came back out of my Houfe, having Occafion for frefh Air. The Emperor was already defcended from the Tower, and advancing on Horfe-back towards me, which had like to have coft him dear ; for the Beaft, though very well trained, yet wholly unufed to fuch a Sight, which appeared as if a Mountain moved before him, seared up on his hinder Feet : But that Prince, who is an excetlent Horfeman, kept his Seat, till his Attendants ran in, and held the Bridle, while his Majefty had Time to difmount. When he alighted, he fuzveyed me round with great Admiration, but kept without the Length of my Chain. He ordered his Cooks and Batlers, who were already prepared, to give me Victuals and Drink, which they pufhed forward in a Sort of Vehicles upon Wheels, till I could reach them. I took thefe Vehiclee, and foon emptied them all; twenty of them were filled with Meat, and ten with Liquor, each of the former afforded forded me two or three good Mouthfals, and I emptied the Liquor of ten Veffels, which was contained in earthen Vials, into one Vehicle, drinking it off at a Draught, and fo I did with the ref. The Emprefon and young Princes of the Blood, of both Sexes, attended by many Ladies, fat at fome Diftance in their Chairs; but, upon the Accident that happened to the Emperor's Horfe, they alighted, came near his Perfon, which I am now going to defcribe. He is taller by almoft the Breadth of my Nail, than any of his Court, which, alone, is enough to ftrike an Awo into the Beholders. His Features are ftrong and Mar-culine, with an Aufrian Lip and arched Nofe, his Complexion Olive, his Countenance erect, his Bodyand Limbs well proportioned, all his Motions grace-: ful, and his Deportment majeftic. He was then paft his Prime, being twenty-eight Years and three Quarters old, of which he had reigned about feven, in great Felicity, and generally victorious. For the better Convenience of beholding him, I lay on my Side, fo that my Face was parrallet to his, and he flood but three Yards off: However, I had him fince many Times in my Hand, and therefore cannot be deceived in the Defcription. His Drefs was very plain and fimple, and the Fahhion of it, between the Afatick and the European: But he had on his Head a light Helmet of Gold, adorned with Jewels, and a Plume on the Creft. He held his Sward drawn in his Hand, to defend himfelf, if I fhould happen to break loofe; it was almoft three Inches long, the Hilt and Scabbard were Gold enriched with Diamonds. His Voice was fhrill, but very clear and articulate, and I could diftinctly hear it when I ftood up. The Ladies and Courtiers were all moft magnificently clad, fo that the Spot they food upon, feemed to refemble a Petticoat fpread on the Ground, embroidered with Figures of Gold and Silver. His Imperial Majefty ypoke often to me, and I returned Anfwers, bat neither of us could underfand a Syllable. There wese feveral of his Priefts and Lawyers prefent, (as I conjectared by their Habits). who were commanded to addrees themfelves to, me, and I fpoke to them in as many Languages as I had the leaft Smattering of, which were High and Low Dytch, Latin, French, Spanijh, Italian, and Lingua Franca; but all to no Purpofe. After about two Hours the Court retired, and I was. left with a ftyong Guard, to prevent the Impertinence, and, probably, the Malice of the Rabble, who were very impatient to croud about me as near as: they durft, and fome of them had the Impudence to fhoot their Arrows at me as I fat on the Ground by the Door of my Houfe, whereof one very narrowly miffed my left Eye. But the Colonel ordered fix of the Ring-leaders to be feized, and thought no Punifhment fo proper, as to deliver them bound into my Hands, which fome of his Soldiers accordingly did, pulhing them forwards with the But-ends of their Pikes into my Reach; I took them all in my right. Hand, put five of them into my Coat-pocket, and as to the fixth, I made a Countenance as if I would eat himalive. The poor Man fqualled terribly, and the Colonel and his Officers were in much Pain, efpecially. when they faw me take out my Penknife: But I foom put them out of Fear; for, looking mildly, and immediately cutting the Strings he was bound with, I fet him gently on the Ground, and away he ran; I treated the rẹt in the fame Manner, taking them, one by one, out of my Pocket, and I obferved both. the Soldiers and People were obliged at this Mark of my Clemency, which was reprefented very much to: my Advantage at Court.

Towards Night I got with fome Difficulty into my Houfe, where I lay on the Ground, and continued to do fo about a Fortnight; during which Time the Emperor gave Orders to have a Bed prepared for me. Six hundred Beds of the common Meafure were brought in Carriages, and worked up in my Houfe; an bundred and fifty of their Beds, fown together, together, made up the Breadth and Length; and thefe were four double, which, however; kept me but very indifferently from the Hardners of the Floor; that was of fmooth Stone. By the fame Computation, they provided me with Sheets, Blankets, and Coverlets, tolerable enough for one who had been fo long inured to Hard/hips.

As the News of my Arrival fpread through the Kingdom, it brought prodigious Numbers of rich, idle, and curious People to fee me; fo that the Villages were almoft emptied, and great Neglect of Tillage and Houfhold Affairs muft have enfued, if his Imperial Majefty had not provided, by feveral Proclamations and Orders of State, againft this Inconveniency. He directed, that thofe who had already beheld me fhould return Home, and not prefume to come within fifty Yards of my Houfe, without Licence from Court ; whereby the Secretaries of State got conGderable Fees.

In the mean Time, the Emperor had frequent Councils, to debate what Courfe fhould be taken with me; and, I was afterwards affured by a particular Friend, a Perfon of great Quality, who was looked upon to be as much in the Secret as any, that the Court was under many Difficulties concerning me. They apprehended my breaking loofe, that my Diet would be very expenfive, and might caufe a Famine. Sometimes they determined to ftarve me, or at leaft to floot me in the Face and Hands with poifoned Arrows, which would foon difpatch me; but again they confidered, that the Stench of fo large a Carcafe might produce a Plague in the Metropolis, and probably Spread through the whole Kingdom. In the Midnt of thefe Confultations, feveral Officers of the Army went to the Door of the great Council Chamber, and two of them, being admitted, gave an Account of my Behaviour to the fix Criminals above-mentioned; which inade fo favourable an Impreffion in the Breaft of his Majelly, and the whole Board, in my Behalf, that an Imperial Commifion was iffied outs obliging all the Villages, nine hundred Yards round the City: to deliver in every Morning fix Beeves, forty Sheeps. and other Victuals, for my Suftenance; together with a proportionable Quantity of Bread, and Wine, and other Liquors ; for the due Payment of which, his Majefty gave Affignments upon his Treafury. For this Prince lives chiefly upon his own Demefnes, feldom; except upon great Occafions, raifing any Subfidies upon his Subjects, who are bound to attend him in his Wars, at their own Expence. An Enablifhment was alfo made of fix hundred Perfons to be my Domefticks, who had Bcard Wages allowed for their Maintenance, and Tents built for them very conve* niently on each Side of my Door. It was likewife ordered, that three hundred Taylors fhould make me a Suit of Cloaths after the Fafhion of the Country: That fix of his Majefty's greateft Scholars fhould be employ'd to inftruct me in their Language: And, laftly, that the Emperor's Horfes, and thofe of the Nobility, and Troops of Guards, fhould be frequently exercifed in my Sight, to accuftom themfelves to me. All thefe Orders were duly put.in Execution, and, in about three Weeks, I made a great Progrefs in learning their Language; during which Time, the Emperor frequently honoured me with his Vifits, and was pleafed to affift my Mafters in teaching me. We began already to converfe together in fome Sort ; and the firt Words I learnt were to exprefs my Defire that he would pleafe to give me my Liberty, which I every Day repeated on my Knees. His Anfwer, ás I could apprehend it, was, that this mult be a Work of Time, not to be thought on without the Advice of Council, and that firtt I muft Lumos Kelm:n pefla defmar lon Empofa; that is, fwear a Peace with him and his Kingdom. However, that I fhould be ufed with all Kindnefs; and he advifed me to acquire; by my Patience and difcreet Behaviour, the good Opiniog of himfelf and his Subjeds. He defired I would not take it ill, if he gave Orders to certaitit. proper Officers to fearch me; for probably I mighit carry about me feveral Weapons, which muft needs be dangerous Things, if they anfivered the Balk of fo prodigious a Perfon. Ifaid, his Majefty floould be: fatisfied, for I was ready to frip mylelf, and tarn up my Pockets before him. This I delivered, Part in Words, and Part in Signs. He replied, that by the Laws of the Kingdom I muft be fearched by two of his Officers; that he knew this could not be done without my Corifent and Affiftance; that he had fo good an Opinion of my Generofity and Juftice, as to truft their Perfons in my Hands: That whatever they took from me, thould be returned when I left the Country, or paid for at the Rate which I would fee apon them. I took up the two Officers in my Hands, put them firft into my Coat Pockets, and then into every other Pocket about me, except my two Fobs, and another fecret Pocket I had no Mind fhould be fearched, wherein I had fome tittle Neceeffaries that were of no Confequence to any but myfelf. In one of my Fobs there was a Silver Watch, and in the other a fmall Quantity of Gold in a Pure. Thée Gentlemen, having Pen, Ink, and Paper, about them, made an exact Inventory of every Thing they faw; and, when they had done, defirtd I would fet them down, that they might deliver it to the Emperor. This Inventory I afterwards tranflated into Englijh, and is Word for Werd zs follows:

Imprimis, In the Right Coat Pocket of the Great Man-Mowntain (for fo 1 interpret the Quinbus Flefrin; after the Atrictert Search, we found only one great Piece of coarfe Cloth) large enough to be a Foot-Cloth for your Majefty's chief Room of State. In the Left Pocket, we faw a huge Silver Cheft, with a Cover of the fame Metal, which we, the Searchers, were not able to lift. We defired it thould be opened, and one of us repping into it, found himifelf ap to the mid Leg in 2 Sort of Duft, fome- Part whereof, Aying up to our Faces, fet us both a fineezing for feveral Times together. In his Right Waiftooat Pocket, we found a prodigious Bundle of white thin Subftances, folded one over another, about the Bignefs of three Men, tied with a ftrong Cable, and marked with black Figures; which we humbly conceive to be Writings, every Letter almoft half as large as the Patm of our Hands. In the Left there was a Sort of Engine, from the Back of which were extended twenty long Poles, refembling the Palifadoes before your Majefty's Court ; wherewith we conjecture the Mam-Mountain combs his Head, for we did not always trouble him with Quettions, becaufe we found it a great Difficulty to make him undertand us. In the large Pocket on the Right Side of his middle Cover, (fo I tranflate the Word Ranfu-Lo, by which they meant my Breeches) we faw a hollow Pillar of Iron, about the Length of a Man, faftened to a ffrong Piece of Timber, larger than the Pillar; and upon ane Side of the Pillar were huge Pieces of Iron flicking out, cut into ftrange Figures, which we know not what to make of. In the Left Pocket, another Engine of the fame Kind. In the fmaller Pocket, on the Right Side, were feveral round flat Pieces of white and red Metal, of different Bulk; fome of the white, which feemed to be Silver, were fo large and heavy, that my Comrade and I could hardly lift them. In the Left Pocket were two black Pillars, irregularly fhaped: We could not, without Difficulty, reach the Top of them, as we ftood at the Eottom of his Pocket. One of them was covered, and feemed all of a Piece: But, at the upper End of the other, there appeared a white round Subftance, about twice the Bignefs of our Heads. Within each of thefe was inclofed a prodigious Plate of Steel; which, by our Orders, we obliged him to fhew us, becaufe we apprehended they might be dangerous Engines. He took them out of their Cafes, and told us, that in his own Country, his Practice was to flave his Beard with one of thefe, and to cut his Meat with the other. There were two Pockets which we could not enter: Thefe he called his Fobs; they were two large Slits cut into the Top of his middle Cover, but fqueez'd clofe by the Preflure of his Belly. Out of the Right Fob hung a great Silver Chain, with 2 wonderful Kind of Engine at the Bottom. We directed kim to draw out whatever was faftened to that Chain ; which appeared to be a Globe, half Silver, and half of fome tranfparent Metal: For on the tranfparent Side, we faw certain flrange Figores, circularly drawn, and thought we could touch them, till we found our Fingers sopped by that lucid Subftance. He put this Engine to oar Ears, which made an inceflant Noif, like that of 2 Water-Mill. And we conjecture, it is either fome unknown Animad, or the God that he worfhips: But we are more inclined to the latter Opinion, becaufe he affured us (if we underftood him right, for he expreffed himfelf very imperfectly) that he feldom did any Thing without confulting it. He called it his Oracle, and faid it pointed out the Time for every Action of his Life. From the Left Fob he took out a Net almott large enough for a Fifherman, but contrived to open and fhut like a Purfe, and ferved him for the fame Ufe : We found therein feveral maffy Pieces of yellow Metal, which, if they be real Gold, muft be of immenfe Value.

Having thus; in Obedience to your Majefty'sCommands, ditigently fearched all his Pockets, we obferved a Girdle about his Waif, made of the Hide of fome prodigious Animal, from which, on the Leff Side, hung a Sword of the Length of five Men; and on the Right, a Bag or Pouch, divided into two Cells, each Cell capable of holding three of your Majefty's Subjects. In one of thefe Cells were feveral Globes, or Balls, of a moft ponderous Metal, about the Bigneff of our Heads, and required a flrong Hand to lift them: The other Cell contained a. Heap of certain certain black Grains, bat of no great Bulk or Weight, for we could hold above fifty of them in the Palms of our Hands.

This is an exact Inventory of what we found about the Body of the Man-Mountain, who ufed us with great Civility, and due Refpect to your Majefty's Commiffion. Sign'd and feal'd, on the fourth Day of the eighty-ninth Moon of your Majefty's aufpicious Reign.

Clefrin Frelock, Marfi Frelock.
When this Inventory was read over to the Emperor; he directed me, although in very gentle Terms, to deliver up the feveral Particulars. He firt called for my Scymiter, which I took out, Scabbard and all. In the mean Time, he ordered three thoufand of his choiceft Troops (who then attended him) to furround me at a Diftance, with their Bows and Arrows juft ready to difcharge: Yut I did not obferve it, for mine Eyes were wholly fixed upon his Majety. He then defired me to draw my Scymiter, which, although it had got fome Ruft by the Sea-Water, was in moft Parts exceeding bright. I did fo, and immediately all the Troops gave a Shoust, between Terror and Surprize; for the Sun fhone clear, and the Reflection dazzled their Eyes, as I wayed the Scymiter to and fro in my Hand. His Majefty, who is a moft magnanimous Prince, was lefs daunted than I could expect; he ordered me to return it into the Scabbard, and caft it on the Ground as gently as I could, about fix Feet from the End of my Chain. The next Thing he demanded, was one of the hollow Iron Pillars, by which he meant my Pocket Piftols. I drew it out, and at his Defire, as well as I could, expreffed to him the Ufe of it; and charging it only with Powder, which, by the Clofenefs of my Pouch, happened to efcape wetting in the Sea (an Inconvenience againft which all prudent Mariners take fecial Care to provide) I firt cautioned the Emperor not to bo afraid, and then I let it off into the Air. The Afto-nifhment here was much greater than at the Sight of my Scymiter. Hundreds fell down, as if they had been fruck dead; and even the Emperor, although he flood his Ground, could not recoter himfelf in fome.Time. I delivered up both my Piftols in the fame Manner, as I had done my Scymifer, and then my Pouch of Powder and Bullets; begging him, that the former might be kept from the Fire, for it would kindle with the fmalleft Spark, and blow up his Imperial Palace into the Air. I likewife delivered up'my Watch, which the Emperor 'was very curious to fee, and commanded two of his tallef Yoemeh of the Guards to bear it on a Pole upon their Shoulder's, as Dray-Men in England do a Barrel of Ale. He was amazed at the continual Noife it made, and the Motion of the Minute-Hand, which he could eafily difcern ; for their Sight is much more acute than ours: And asked the Opinions of his learned Men about him, which were various and remote, as the Reader may well imagine without my repeating ; although, indeed, I could not very perfeelly underftand them. I then gave up my Silver and Copper Money, my Purfe with nine large Pieces of Gold, and fome fmaller ones; my Knife and Razor, my Comb and Silver Snuff-Box, my Handkerchief, and Journal-Book. My Scymiter, Pifols, and Pouch, were conveyed in Carriages to his Majefty's Stores; but the reft of my Goods were returned me.

I had, as I before obferved, one private Pocket which efcaped their Search, wherein there was a Pair of Spectacles, (which I fometimes ufe for the Weaknefs of mine Eyes) a Pocket Perfpective, and feveral other little Conveniencies; which being of no Confequence to the Emperor, I did not think myfelf bound in Honour to difcover, and I apprehended they might be loft or fpoiled, if I ventured them out of my Poffefion.

CHAP. III.

T'be Autber diverts the Emperor and bis Nability of both Sexes, in a very uncommon Manner. The Diverfions of the Court of Lilliput defcribed. The Ayuthor bas bis Liberty granted bim, upain certain Conditions.

MY Gentlenefs and good Behaviour had gained fo far on the Emperor and his Court, and indeed upon the Army and People in general, that I began to conceive Hopes of gecting my Liberty in 2 chort Time. I took all poffible Methods to cultivate this favourable Difpofition. The Natives came, by Degrees, to be lefs apprehenfive of any Danger from me. I would fometimes lie down, and let five or fix of them dance on my Hand; and, at laft, the Boys and Girls would venture to come and play at Hide and Seek in my Hair. I had now made a good Progrefs in underftanding and ¢peaking their Language. The Emperor bad a Mind, one Day, to entertain me with feveral of the Country Shows, wherein they exceed all Nations I have known, both for Dexterity and Magnificence. I was diverted with none fo much as that of the Rope-Dancers performed upon a flender white Thread, extended about two Feet, and twelve Inches from the Ground. Upon which I thall defire Liberty, with the Reader's Patience, to enlarge a little.

This Diverfion is only practifed by thofe Perfons who are Candidates for great Employments, and high Favour, at Court. They are trained in this Art from their Youth, and are not always of noble Birth, or liberal Education. When a great Office is vacant, either by Death or Difgrace, (which often happens) ,five or fix of thofe Candidates petition the Emperor to entertain his Majefty and the Court with a Dance on the Rope, and whoever jumps the higheft, without falling, fucceeds in the Office. Very often the chief Minitters themfelves are commanded to thew their Skill, and to convince the Emperor that they have not loft their Faculty. Flimnap, the Treafurer, is allowed to cut a Caper on the ftrait Rope, at leaft an Inch higher than any other Lord in the whole Empire. I have feen him do the Summerfet feveral Times together, upon a Trencher fixed on the Rope, which is no thicker than a common Pack-Thread in England. My Friend Reldrefal, principal Secretary for private Affairs, is, in my Opinion, if I am not partial, the fecond after the Treafurer; the reft of the great Officers are much upon a Par.

Thefe Diverfions are often attended with fatal Accidents, whereof great Numbers are on Record. I myfelf have feen two or three Candidates break a Limb. But the Danger is much greater, when tho Miniters themfelves are commanded to fhew their Dexterity ; for, by contending to excel themfelves and their Fellows, they ftrain fo far, that there is hardly one of them who hath not received a Fall, and fome of them two or three. I was affured, that, a Year or two before my Arrival, Flimnap would have infallibly broke his Neck, if one of the King's Cuthions, that accidentally lay on the Ground, had not weakened the Force of his Fall.

There is likewife another Diverfion, which is only Thewn before the Emperor and Emprefs, and Firft Minitter, upon particular Occafions. The Emperor lays on the Table three fine Silken Threads of fix Inches long; one is Blae, the other Red, and the third Green. Thefe Threads are propofed as Prizes for thofe Perfons whom the Emperor hath a Mind to diftinguifh by a peculiar Mark of his Favour. The Ceremony is performed in his Majefty's great Chamber of State, where the Candidates are to undergo a Trial of Dexterity very different from the former, and fuch as I have not obferved the leaft Refemblance of in any other CQuntry of the old or new World. The Emperor peror holds a Stick in his Hands, both Ends parallel to the Horizon, while the Candidates advancing, one by one, fometimes leap over the Stick, fometimes creep under it backwards and forwards feveral Times, according as the Stick is advanced or depreffect. Sometimes the Emperor holds one End of the Stick, and his Firt Minitter the other; fometimes the Minifler has it entirely to himfelf. Whoever performs his Part with moft Agility, and holds out the longeft in Leaping and Creeping, is rewarded with the Bluecoloured Silk; the Red is given to the next, and the Green to the third, which they all wear girt twice round about the Middle; and you fee few great Perfons about this Court who are not adorned with one of thefe Girdles.

The Horfes of the Army, and thofe of the Royal Stables, having been daily led before me, were no longer fhy, but would come up to my very Feet without flatting. .The Riders would leap them over my Hand as I held it on the Ground, and one of the Emperor's Huntfmen, upon a large Courfer, took my Foot, Shoe and all; which was, indeed, a prodigious Leap. I had the good Fortune to divert the Emperor, one Day, after a very extraordinary Manner: I defired he would order feveral Sticks of two Feet high, and the Thicknefs of an ordinary Cane, to be brought me; whereupon his Majefty commanded the Mafter of his Woods to give Directions accordingly, and the next Morning fix Wood.Men arrived with as many Carriages, drawn by eight Horfes to each. I took nine of thefe Sticks, and fixing them firmly in the Ground, in a quadrangular Figure, two Feet and a half fquare, I took four other Sticks, and tied them parallel at each Corner, about two Feet from the Ground; then I faltened my Handkerchief to the nine Sticks that food erect, and extended it on all Sides till it was as tight as the Top of a Drum ; and the four parallel Sticks. rifing about five Inches higher than the Handkerchief, ferved ao Ledges on each Side. When I had finified my Work, I defired the Emperor to let a Troop of his beft Horfe, twenty-four in Number, come and exercife enpon this Plain. His Majetty approved of the Propofal, and I took them up one by one in my Hando, ready mounted and armed, with the proper Officers to exercife them. As foon as they got in Order, they divided into two Parties, performed mock Skirmilhes, difcharged blupt Arrows, drew their Swords, fled and purfued, attacked, and retired, and in fhort difcovered the beft Military Difcipline I ever beheld. The parollel Sticks fecured them and their Horfes from falling aver the Stage; and the Emperor was fo much delighted, that he ordered this Entertainment to be eepeated feveral Days, and once was pleafed to be lifed up, and give the Word of Command; and, with 'great Difficulky perfuaded even the Emprefo herfelf to let me hold her in her clofe Chair within two Yards of the Stage, from whence the was able to take a foll View of the whole Performance. It was by good Fortune that:no ill Accident happened in thefe Entertainments, only onee a fiery Horfe, that belonged to one of the Captains, pawing with his Hoof, ftruck 2 Hole in my Handkerchief, and his Foot dipping, he coverthrew his Rider and himfelf; but I immediately relieved them both, and covering the Hole with one Hand, I fet down the Troop with the other, in the same Manner as I took them up. The Horfe that fell was ftrained in the Left Shoulder, bat the Rider got no Hurt, and I repaired my Handkerchief as well as I could; however, I would not truft to the Strength of it any more in fuch dangerous Enterprizes.

About two or three Days before I was fet at Liberty, as I was entertaining the Court with there Kind of Feats, there arrived an Exprefs to inform his Majefty, that fome of his Subjects, riding near the Place where I was firft taken up, had feen a great black Subftance lying on the Ground, very oddly thaped, extended its Edges round as wide as his Majefty's Bed-Chamber, and rifing up in the Middle as high as a Man; that it was no living Creature, as they at firtt apptehended, for it lay on the Grafs without Motion; and fotme of them had walked round it feveral Times: That, by mourting ipon each other's Shoulders, they had got to the Top, which was flat and even, and, ftamping upon it, they found it was hollow within; that they hambly conceived it might be fomething belonging to the Mah-Moumtain; and if his Majefty pleafed, they wotild undertake to bring it with only five Horfes. I prefently knew what they meant, and was glad at Heart to receive this Intelligence. It feerns upon my fint reaching the Shore, after our Shipwreck, I was in fach Confirifon, that, before I came to the Place where I went to fleep; my Hat, which I had faftened with a String to my Head while I was rowing, and had ftuck on all the Time I was fwimming, fell off atter I came to Land; the String, as I conjecture, breaking by fome Accident which I never obfervel, bat thought my Hat had been loft at Sea. I intreated his Imperial Majefty to give Orders it might be brought to me as foon as poffible, defribing to him the Ufe and the Nature of it: And the next Day the Waggoners arrived with it, but not in a very good Condition ; they had bored two Holes in the "Brim, within an Inch and half of the Edge, and faftened two Fiooks in the Holes; thefe Hooks were tied by a long Cord to the Harnefs, and thus my Hat was dragged along for above half an Engiliß Mile; but, the ciroumd in that Country being extremely fmooth and 'level, it received lefs Damage than I expected.

Two Days after this Adventure,' the Emperor having ordered that Part of his Army, which quarters in and about his Metropolis, to be in Readinefs, took a Fancy of diverting himfelf in a very frigutar Manner: He defired I would ftand like a Colofus, with my Leg as far afander as I conveniently could; 'he then commanded his General (who was an old experienced Leader, and a great Patron of mine) to draw up the Troops in clofe Order, and march them under me;
the Foot by twenty-four in a Breaft, and the Horfe by fixteen, with Drums beating, Colours flying, and Pikes advanced. This Body confifted of three thoufand Foot, and a thoufand Horfe. His Majefty gave Orders, upon Pain of Death, that every Soldier in his March fhould obferve the fricteft Decency, with regard to my Perfon; which, however, could not prevent fome of the younger Officers from turning up their Eyes as they paffed under me. And, to contefs the Truth, my Breeches were at that Time in fo ill a Condition, that they afforded fome Opportunities for Laughter and Admiration.

I had fent fo many Memorials and Petitions for my Liberty, that his Majefty at length mentioned the Matter firf in the Cabinet, and then in a full Council; where it was oppofed by none, except $S$ kyre/h Bolgolam, who was pleafed, without any Provocation, to be my mortal Enemy. But it was carried againft him by the whole Board, and confirmed by the Emperor. That Minifter was Galbet, or Admiral of the Realm, very much in his Mafter's Confidence, and a Perfon well verfed in Affairs, but of a morofe and four Complexion. However, he was at length perfuaded to comply; but prevailed that the Articles and Conditions upon which I fhould be fet free, and to which I muft fwear, fhould be drawn up by himfelf. Thefe Articles were brought to me by Skyrefh Bolgolam in Perfon, attended by two Under-Secretaries, and feveral Perfons of Diftinction. After they were read, I was demanded to fwear to the Performance of them; firt in the Manner of my own Country, and afterwards in the Method prefcribed by their Laws, which was to hold my Right Foot in my Left Hand, and to place the middle Finger of my Right Hand on the Crown of my Head, and my Thumb on the Tip of my Right Ear. But, becaufe the Reader may be curious to have fome Idea of the Style and Manner of Exprefion peculiar to that People, as well as to know the Áricles upon which I recavered my Liberty, I have made a Tranflation of the whole Inlrument, InAtrument, Word for Word, as near as I was able, which I here offer to the Public:

Golbasto Momaren Evlamb Gurdilo Shbfin Mully Uliy Gue, Moft Mighty Emperor of Lilliput, Delight and Terror of the Univerfe, whofe Dominions extend five Thoufand Bluffrugs, (about twelve Miles in Circumference) to the Extremities of the Globe; Monarch of all :"onarchs, taller than the Sons of Men ; whofe Feet prets down to the Center, and whofe, Head ftrikes againft the Sun: At whofe Nod the Princes of the Earth fhake their Knees ; pleafant as the Spring, comfortable as the Summer, fruifful as Autumn, dreadful as Winter. His moft fublime Majelty propofeth to the Man-Mountain, lately arrived to our Celeftial Dominions, the following Articles, which, by a folemn Oath, he fhall be obliged to perform:
$1 / f$. The Man-Mountain fhall not depart from our Dominions without our Licence under our great Seal.

2d, He fhall not prefume to come into our Metropolis, withoat our exprefs Order ; at which Time the Inhabitants fhall have two Hours Warning to keep within their Doors.

3d, The faid Man-Mountain fhall confine his Walks to our principal high Roads, and not offer to walk or lie down in a Meadow or Field of Corn.
$4^{t h}$, As he walks the faid Roads, he fhall take the utmont Care not to trample upon the Bodies of any of our loving Subjects, their Horfes, or Carriages, nor take any of our Subjects into his Hands, without their own Confent.

5th. If an Exprefs requires extraordinary Difpatch, the Man-Mountain fhall be obliged to carry in his Pocket, the Meffenger and Horfe, a fix Days Journey once in every Moon, and return the faid Meffenger back (if fo required) fafe to our Imperial Prefence.

6th, He fhall be our Ally againt our Enemies in the Illand of Blefufru, and do his utmoft to deftroy their Fleet, which is:now preparing to invade us. n. .

7th, That the faid Man-Mowntain fhall, at hic Times of Leifure, be aiding and affifting to our Workmen, in Ketping to raife certain great Stones, towards covering the Wall of the primcipal Park, and other our Royal Buildings.

8th, That the faid Man-Mountain Mall, in two Moons Time, deliver in an exat Survey of the Circumference of our Dominions, by a Computation of his own Paces round the Coaft.

Lafty, That, upon his folemn Oath to obferve all: the above Articles, the faid Man-Mountain fhall havo - daily Allowance of Meat and Drink fufficient for the Support of 1724 of our Sabjeets, with free Aceefs to our Royal Perfon, and ocher Marks of one Favour. Given at our Palace at Belfaborac, the tweffth Day of the ninety firt Moon of our Reign.

If wore and fubfribed to thefe Articles with great Chearfulnefs and Content, although fone of them were not fo honourable as I could have wifhed 3 which proceeded wholly from the Malice of Skyne/h Bolgoram, the High Admiral; whereupon my Chaing were immediately unlocked, and I was at full Liber$t y$; the Emperor himfelf in Perfon, did me the Honour to be by at the whole Ceremony, I made my Acknowledgments, by proftrating myfelf at his Majefty's Feet: But he commanded me to rife; and after many gracious Expreffions, which, to avoid the Cenfure of Vanity, I fhall not repeat ; he added, that he hoped I thould prove a ufeful Servant, and well deferve atl the Favours he had already conferred upon me, or might do for the future.

The Reader may pleafe to obferve, that, in the laft Article for the Recovery of my Liberty, the Em: peror flipulates to allow me a Quantity of Meat and Drink, fufficient for the Support of 1724 Lilliputians. Some Time after, afking a Friend at Court, how they came to fix on that determinate Number; he told me, that his Majefty's Mathematicians, having taken the Height of my Body. by the Help of a Quadrant, and Andiag it so exceed theirs in the Proportion of twelve to one, they concluded from the Similarity of their Bodiest, that mine muft contain, at leaft, 1724 of theirs, and, confequently, woutd require as mach Food as was neceffary to fapport that Nomber of Lilliputians. By which, the Reader may conceive an Idea of the Ingenuity of that People, as well as the prodent and exaet Eiconomy of fo grear a Prince.

C H A P. IV.

Mildendo, the Metropolis of Lilliput, defcribeds together with the Emperor's Palace. A Conver? fation between the Autbor and a principal Secretary, concersing the Affairs of that Empire. The Auther offers to ferve the Emperor in bis Wars.

TH E firft Requeft I made, afier I had obtainod my Liberty, was, chat I might have Licence to free Middsndo, the Metropolis ; which the Emperor eafio ly granted me, but with a \{pecial Charge to do no Hart, eicher to the Inhabitants, or their Hoafes. The People had Notice by Proclamation, of my Defign io vifit the Town. The Wall, which encompaffed it, is two Feet and a half high, and at leat eleven Inches broad, fo that 2 Coach and Horfes may be driven very safely round it ; and it is flanked with frong Toweray at ten Feet Diftance. I'flept over the great Wefterx Gate, and pafied very gently, and fideling, through the two principal Streets, only in my fhort Wail-coat, for Fear of damaging the Roofs and Eves of the Hoofe with the Skirts of my Coat. I walked with the attmoft Circum[pection, to avoid treading on any Serage glers, that might remain in the Streets, although thic Orders were frict, that all People.fhould keep in their Houfes, at their own Peril. The Garret-windows, and Tops of Houfes, were fo crouded with Spectators, that I thought,

I thought, if all:my Travels, I had not feen a more populous Place. The City is an exact Square, each Stide of the Wall being five-hundred Feet long. The two great Streets, which run crofs, and divide it into foar Quarters, are five Feet wide. The Lanes and Alleys, which I could not enter, but only viewed them as I paffed, are from twelve to eighteen Inches. The Town is capable of holding five hundred thoufand Souls. The Houres are from three to five Stories. The Shops and Markets well provided.

The Emperor's Palace is in the Center of the City, where the two great Streets met. It is inclofed by a Wall of two Feet high, and twenty Feet Diftance from the Buildings. I had his Majefty's Permifion to ftep over this Wall ; and, the Space being fo wide between that and the Palace, I could eafily view it on every Side. The outward Court is a Square of forty Feet, and includes two other Courts: In the inmolt are the Royal Apartments, which I was very defirous to fee, but found it extremely difficult; for the great Gates, from one Square into another, were but eighteen Inches high, and feven Inches wide. Now the Buildings of the outer Court were at leaft five Feet high, and it was impofible for me to fride over them, without infinite Damage to the Pile, though the Walls were Arongly built of hewn Stone, and four Inches thick. At the fame Time, the Emperor had a great Defire that I fhould fee the Magnificence of his $\mathrm{Pa}-$ lace; but this I was not able to do till three Days afecer, which I fpent in cutting down with my Knife, fome of the larget Trees in the Royal Park, about an hundred Yards Diftance from the City. Of thefe Trees I made two Stools, each about three Feet high, and ftrong enough to bear my Weight. The People having received Notice a fecond Time, I went again through the City to the Palace, with my two Stools in my Hands. When I came to the Side of the outer Coort, I ftood upon one Stool, and took the other in my Hand; this I lifted over the Roof, and gently fet it down on the Space between the firft and fecond Court, which was eight Feet wide. I then ftept over the Building very conveniently, from one Stool to the other, and drew up the firlt after me with a hooked Stick. By this Contrivance, I got into the inmoft Court ; and, lying down upon my Side, I applied my Face to the Windows of the middle Stories, which were left open on Purpofe, and difcovered the moft , fplendid Apartments that can be imagined. There I faw the Einprefs, and the young Princes, in their feveral Lodgings; with their chief Attendants about them. Her: Imperial Majefty was pleafed to fmile very gracioufly upon me, and gave me out of the Window her Hand to kifs.

But I fhall not anticipate the Reader with farther Defcriptions of this Kind, becaufe I referve them for a greater Work, which is now almolt ready for the Prefs, containing a general Defcription of this Empire, from its firt Erection, through a long Series of Princes, with a particular Account of their Wars and Politics, Laws, Learning, and Religion: Their Plants and Animals, their peculiar Manners and Cuftoms, with other Matters very curious and ufeful ; my chief Defign at prefent being only to relate fuch Events and Tranfactions, as happened to the Public or to myfelf, during a Refidence of abont nine Months in that Empire.

One Morning, about a Fortnight after I had obtained my Liberty, Reldrefal, principal Secretary (as they file him) of private Affairs, came to my Hoofe, attended only by one Servant. He ordered his Coach to wait at a Diftance, and defired, I would give him an Hour's Audience; which I readily confented to, on Account of his Quality, and perfonal Merits, as well as the many good Offices he had done me during my Solicitations at Court. I offered to lie down, that he might the more conveniently reach my Ear; but he chofe rather to let me hold him in my Hand durigg our Converfation. He began with Compliments on my Liberty, faid, he might pretend to fome Merit in it : But, however, added, that, if it had not been for the prefent Situation of Things at Court, perhaps I might not have obtained it fo foon. For, faid he, as flourifhing a Condition as we may appear to be in to Foreigners, we labour under two mighty Evils; a violent Faction at Home, and the Danger of an Invafion by a moft potent Enemy from Abroad. As to the firf, you are to underftand, that, for above feventy Moons paff, there have been two ftruggling Parties in this Empire, under the Names of Trameckfan, and Slameck/an, from the high and low Heels of their Shoes, by which they diftinguilh themfelves. It is alledged indeed, that the high Heels are mof agreeable to our ancient Conflitution ; but, however this be, his Majefty hath determined to make ufe of only low Heels in the Adminiftration of the Government, and all Offices in the Gift of the Crown, as you cannot but obferve; and particularly, that his Majefty's Imperial Heels are lower at leaft by a Drurr than any of his Court (Drurr is a Meafure about the fourteenth Part of an Inch). The Animofities between thefe two Parties run fo high, that they will neither eat nor drink, not talk with each other. We compute the Trameckfan, or high Heels, to exceed us in Number; but the Power is wholly on our Side. We apprehend his Imperial Highnefs, the Heir to the Crown, to have fome Tendency towards the High-heels ; at leaft, we can plainly difcover that one of his Heels is higher than the other, which gives him a Hobble in his Gate. Now, ini the Midt of thefe inteltine Difquiets, we are threataped, with an Invafion from the. Thand of Blefrufici which is the: other great Empire of the Univerfe, alyof as dange endtrowerful as this of his Majeity. Fot astto what we head you affirm, that there are other Kipgdoms and brates in the Worfd, inhabited by human Cratures ras, laye as yourfelf, our Philofophers are in mpach. Doubth. . . m would rather conjegure that you dropped frefo the Moon, or one of the Stars ; becaufe, iti is cemain, that an hundred Mortals of your Bulk, would, in a fhoit

Time,

Time; defroy all the Fruits and Catue of his Majofy's Dominions.: Befides, our Hiflories of fix-thoufand Mopas taake no mention of any other Regions, tham the two great Empires of Lilliput and Blefyfcu, Which two mighty. Powers have, as $d$ was going to tell you, been engaged in a mof obftinate War for fix and thirty Moons pait. It began upon the following Occation: It is allowed on all Hands, that the primitive Way of breaking Eggs, before we eat them, was upon the larger End; but his prefent Majefy's Grandfather, while he was a Boy, going to eat an Egg, and breaking it according to the antient Practice, bappened to cut one of his Fingers. Whereupon the Emperor, his Father, publifhed an Edica, commanding all his Subjeets, upon greas Penalties, to break the fmaller End of their Eggs. The People fo highly refented this Law, that our Hiftories tell us, there have been fix Rebellions raifed on that Account; wherein one Emperor loft his Life, and another his Crown. Thefe Civil Commotions were conftantly fomented by the Monarchs of Blefufcu; and when they were quelled, the Exiles always fled for Refuge to that Empire. It is computed that eleven thoufand Perfons have at feveral Times, fuffered Death, rather than fubmit to break their Eggs at the fmaller End. Many hundred large Volumes have been publifhed upon this Controverly ; but the Books of the Big-Indians have been long forbidden, and the whole Party rendered incapable by Law of holding Employments. During the Courfe of thefe Troubles, the Emperors of Blefufcu did frequently expoftulate by their Ambaffadors, accufing us of making a Schifm in Religion, by offending againft a fundamental Dotrine of our great Prophet Luftog, in the fiftyfourth Chapter of the Bluudecral (which is their Alcoran). This, however, is thought to be a mere Strain upon the Text ; for the Words are thefe: That all true Believers break thair Eggs at the convoenient End. And which is the convenient End, feems, in my humble Opinion, to be left to every Man's Confcience, or at leaft in the Power of the chief Magiftrate to determine.

Now, the Big-Indian Exiles have found fo mach Cre-; dit in the Emperor of Blefufcu's Court, and fo much private Affifiance and Encouragement from their Parsy here at Home, that a bloody War hath been carried on between the two Empires, for thirty-fix Moons, with various Succefs; during which Time we have lof forty capital Ships, and a much greater Number of fmaller Veffels, together with thirty-thoufand of our beft Seamen and Soldiers; and the Damage, received by the Enemy, is reckoned to be fomewhat greater than ours. However, they have now equipped a numerous Fleet, and are juft preparing to make a Defcent upon us; and his Imperial Majefty, placing great Confidence in your Valour and Strength, hath commanded me to lay this Account of his Affairs before you.
$*$ I defired the Secretary to prefent my humble Duty to the Emperor, and to let him know, that I thought it would not become me, who was a Foreigner, to interfere with Parties ; but I was ready, with the Hazard of atiyidife, to defend his Perfon and State againlt all Invaders.

C H A P. V.

The Author, by an extraordinary Statagem, prevents an Invafion. A high Title of Honour is conferred - upen him. Ambalfadors arrive from the Emperor iof Blefurcu, and fue for Peace. The Emprefs's : Apartment on Fire by an Accident; the Author infirumental in faving the reff of the Palace.

TH E Empire of Blefufcu is an Illand, fituated to the North-Eaft Side of Lilliput, from whence it is parted only by a Channel of eight hundred Yards wide. I had not yet feen it, and, upon this Notice of an intended Invafion, I avoided appearing on that Side of the Coaft, for Fear of being difcovered by fome of the Enemy's Ships, who had received no Intelligence of me, all Intercourfe between the two Empires having been ftrictly forbidden during the War, upon Pain of Death, and an Embargo laid by our Emperor upon all Veffels whatfoever. I communicated to his Majefty a Project I had formed of feizing the Enemy's whole Fleet : Which, as our Scouts affured us, lay at Anchor in the Harbour ready to fail with the firlt fair Wind. I confulted the mof experienced Seamen, upon the Depth of the Channel, which they had often plummed, who told me, that in the Middle, at high Water, it was feventy Glumgluffs deep, which is about fix Feet of European Meafure; and the reft of it fifty Glumgluffs at moft. I walked towards the North-Eaft Coaft, over-againft Blefufcu; where, lying down behind a Hillock, I took out my fmall Perfpective-glafs, and viewed the Enemy's Fleet at Anchor, confifting of about fifty Men of War, and a great Number of Tranfports: I then came back to my Houle, and gave Order (for which I hada Warrant) for a great Quantity of the frongeft Cable and Bars of Iron. The Cable was about as thick as Packthread, and the Bars of the Length and Size of a knitting Needle. I trebled the Cable to make it fronger, and, for the fame Reafon, I twifted three of the iron Bars together, binding the Extremities into a Hook. Having thus fixed fifty Hooks to as many Cables, I went back to the North-Eaft Coaft, and putting off my Coat, Shoes, and Stockings; walked into the Sea, in my leathern Jerkin, about' an Hour before' high Water. I waded with what Hafte I could, and fwam in the Middie about thirty Yards, till I felt Ground, I arrived to the Fleet in lefs than half an Hoursi: The Enemy was fo frightened when they faw me, that they leaped out of their Ships, and fwam to Showe, where there could not be fewer than thirty thourand:Souls. I then took my Tackling, and, faftening a Hook to the Hole at the Prow of each, I tied all the Cords'together at the End. While I was thus employed, the Enemy difcharged feveral thoufand Arrows, many : of which fluck in my Hands and Face ; and, befides the exceffive Smart, gave me mach Difurbance in my Work. My greatel Apprehenfion was for mine Eyes, which I fiould have infallibly loft, if I had not fuddenly thought of an Expedient. I kept among other little Neceflaries 2 Pair of Spectacles in a private Pocket, which, as I obferved before, had efcaped the Empetor's Searchers. Thefe I took out and faftened as frongly as I could upon my Nofe, and, thus armed, went on boldiy with my Work in Spight of the Enemy's Arrows, many of which fruck againt the Glaffes of my Spectacles, but without any other Effect, farther than a little to difcompofe them. I had now faftened all the Hooks, and, taking the Knot in my Hand, began to pull, but not a Ship would fir, for they were all too faf held by their Anchors, fo that the boldef Part of my Entetprize remained. I therefore let go the Cord, and leaving the Hooks fixed to the Ships, I refolutely cut with .my Knife the Cables that fattened the Anchors, receiving above two-hundred Shots in my Face and Hands; then 1 took up the knotted End of the Cables to which my Hooks were tied, and with great Eafe drew fifty of the Enemy's larget Men of War after me.

The Blefufcudians, who had not the leaft Imagination of what I intended, were at firtt confounded with Aftonifhment. They had feen me cut the Cables, and thought my Defign was only to let the Ships run adrift, or fall foul on each other: But when they perceived the whole Fleet moving in Order, and faw me pulling at the End, they fet up fuch a Scream of Grief and Defpair, that it is almoft impoffible to de. fcribe or conceive. When I had got out of Danger, I ftopt a while to pick out the Arrows that fuck in my Hands and Face; and rubbed on fome of the fame Ointment that was given me at my firt Arrival, as I have formerly mentioned. I then took off my Spectacles, and, waiting about an Hour till the Tide was a little fallen, 1 waded through the middle with my Cargo, and arrived fafe at the Royal Poft of Lilliput.

The Emperor and his whole Court food on the Shore expecting the Iflue of this great Adventure. They faw the Ships move forward in a large Half-moon, but could not difcern me, who was up to my Breaft in Water. When I advanced to the middle of the Channel, they were yet in more Pain, becaufe I was under Water to my Neck. The Emperor concluded me to be drowned and that the Enemy's Fleet was approaching in a Hofs tile Manner: But he was foon eafed of his Peatiffor the Channel growing fhallower every Step I made, $\mathbf{I}$ came in a fhort Time within hearing, and, holding up the End of the Cable by which the Fleet was faftened; I cried in a loud Voice, Long live the mof puifant Ent: peror of Lilliput! This great Prince received me at my Landing with all pofible Encomiums, and created ine a Nardac upon the Spot, which is the highef Title of Honour among them.

His. Majefty defired I would take fome other Oppor-2 tunity of bringing all the reft of his Enemy's Ships finto his Ports. And fo unmeafurable is the Ambition of Princes, that he feemed to think of nothing lefs than reducing the whole Empire of Blefufou into a Province, and governing it by a Vice-Roy; of deftroying the Big-Indian Exiles, and compelling that People to break the fmaller End of their Eggs, by which he would remain the fole Monarch of the whole World. But I endeavoured to divert him from his Defign; by many Arguments drawn from the Topics of Policy as well as Juftice: And I plainly protefted, that I would never be an Inftrument of bringing a free and brave People into Slavery. And, when the Matter was debated in Council, the wifeft Part of the Miniftry were of my Opinion.

This open bold Declaration of mine was fo oppofite to the Schemes and Politics of his Imperial Majefty, that he could never forgive me; he mentioned it in a very artful Manner at Council, where I was told that fome of the wifeft appeared, at leaft, by their Silence, to be of my Opinion; but others, who were my fecret Enemies, could not forbear fome Expreffions, which by a . Side-wind reflected on me. And from this Time bes gan an Intrigue between his Majefty, and a Junto of Miniflers malicioufly bent againft me, which broke out in lefs than two Months, and had like to have ended in my utter Deftruction. Of fo little Weight are the greatelt Services to Princes, when put into the Ballance with a Refufal to gratify their Paffions.

About three Weeks after this Exploit, there arrived a folemn Ambaffy from Blefufcu, with humble Offers of a Peace; which was foon concluded upon Conditions very advantageous to our Emperor, wherewith I fhall not trouble the Reader. There were fix Ambaffadors, with a Train of about five-hundred Perfons, and their Entry was very magnificent, fuitable to the Grandeur of their Mafter, and the Importance of their Bufinefs. When their Treaty was finifhed, wherein I did them feveral good Offices by the Credit I now had, or at leaft appeared to have at Court, their Excellencies, who were privately told how much I had been their Friend, made me a Vifit in Form. They began with many Compliments upon my Valour and Generofity, invited me to that Kingdom in the Emperor their Maller's Name, and defired me to thew them fome Proofs of my prodigious Strength, of which they had heard fo many Wonders ; wherein I readily obliged them, but fhall not trouble the Reader with the Particulars.

When I had for fome Time entertained their Excellencies to their infinite Satisfaction and Surprize, I defired they would do me the Honour to prefent my moft humble Reffects to the Emperor their Mafter, the Renown of whofe Virtues had fo juftiy filled the whole World with Admiration, and whofe Royal Perfon I refolved to attend before I returned to my own Country : Accordingly, the next Time I had the Honour to fee our Emperor, I defired his general Licence to wait on the Blefufcudian Monarch; which he was pleafed to grant me, as I could plainly perceive, in a very cold Manner ; but could not guefs the Reafon, till I had a Whifper Whiper from a certain Perfon, that Flimnap and BolgoIam had reprefented my Intercourfe with thofe Ambarfadors as a Mark of Difaffection, from which I am fure my Heart was wholly free. And this was the firft Time I began to conceive fome imperfect Idea of Courts and Minifters.

It is to be obferved, that thefe Ambaffadors fpoke to me by an Interpreter, the Languages of both Empires differing as much from each other as any two in $E u$ rope, and each Nation priding iffelf upon the Anciquity, Beauty, and Energy of their own Tongues, with an avowed Comtempt for that of their Neighbour ; yet our Emperor ftanding upon the Advantage he had got by the Seifure of their Fleet, obliged them to deliver their Credentials, and make their Speech in the Liliiputian Tongue. And it muft be confeffed, that from the great Intercourfe of Trade and Commerce between both Realms, from the continual Reception of Exiles, which is mutual among them, and from the Cuftom in each Empire to fend their young Nobility and richer Gentry to the other, in order to polifh themfelves by feeing the World, and underftanding Men and Manners; there are few Perfons of Dittinction, or Merchants, or Seamen, who dwell in the maritime Parts, but what can hold Converfation in both Tongues; as I found fome Weeks after, when I went to pay my Refpects to the Emperor of Blefuf $f u$, which, in the midft of great Misfortunes through the Malice of my Enemies, proved a very happy Adventure to me, as I fhall relate in its proper Place.

The Reader may remember, that, when I figned thofe Articles upon which I recovered my Liberty, there were fome which I difliked upon Account of their being too fervile, neither could any Thing but an extreme Neceffity have forced me to fubmit. But, being now a Nardac of the higheft Rank in that Empire, fuch Offices were looked upon as below my Dignity, and the Emperor (to do him Juflice) never once mentioned them to me. However, it was not long befere

I had an Opportunity of doing his Majefty, at leaft, as I then thought, a moft fignal Service. I was alarmed at Midnight with the Cries of many hundred People at my Door; by which being fuddenly awaked, I was in fome Kind of Terror. I heard the Word Burglum repeated inceffantly: Several of the Emperor's Court, making their Way through the Croud, intreated me to come immediately to the Palace, where her Imperial Majefly's Apartment was on Fire, by the Carelefnefs of a Maid of Honour, who fell alleep while fhe was reading a Romance. I got up in an Infant ; and Orders being given to clear the Way before me, and it being likewife a Moonsfhine Night, I made a fhift ta get to the Palace, without Trampling on any of the People. I found they had already applied Ladders to. the Walls of the Apartment, and were well provided with Buckets, but the Water was at fome Diflance; Thefe Buckets were about the Size of a large Thimble, and the poor People fupplied me with them as faft as they could ; but the Flame was fo violent that they did little Good. I might eafily have fifled it with my Coat, which I unfortunately left behind me for Hafte, and came away only in my Leathern Jerkin. The Cafe feemed wholly defperate and deplorable, and this magnificent Palace would have infallibly been burnt down to the Ground, if, by a Prefence of Mind, unufual to me, I had not fuddenly thought of an Expedient. I had the Evening before drank plentifully of a moft delicious Wine called Glimigrim, (the Blefufcudians call it Flunec. but ours is efteemed the better Sort) which is very diuretic. By the luckieft Chance in the World, I had not difcharged myfelf of any Part of it. The Heat I had contracted by coming very near the Flames, and by my labouring to quench them, made the Wine begin to operate by Urine; which I voided in fuch a Quantity, and applied fo well to the proper Places, that in three Minutes the Fire was wholly extinguiged, and the reft of that noble Pile, which had coft fo many Ages in erecting, preferved from Deftruction.

It was now Day-light, and I returned to my Houre, withour waiting to congratulate with the Emperor ; becaufe, although I had done a very eminent Piece of Service, yet I could not tell how his Majefty might refent the Manner by which I had performed it: For, by the fandamental Laws of the Realm, it is Capital in any Perfon, of what Quality foever, to make Water within the Precincts of the Palace. Bat I was a little comforted, by a Meflage from his Majelty, that he would give Orders to the Grand Jufticiary for paffing my Pardon in Form; which, however, I could not obtain. And I was privately affured, that the Emprefs, conceiving the greatelt Abhorrence of what I had done, removed to the moft diftant Side of the Court, firmly refolved that thofe Buildings fhould never be repaired for her Ufe; and, in the Prefence of her chief Confidents, could not forbear vowing Revenge.

CHAP. VI.

Of the Inbabitants of Lilliput; their Learning, Laws, and Cuftoms; the Manner of educating their Cbildren. The Author's Way of Living in that Country. His Vindication of a great Lady.

ALTHO' I intend to leave the Defcription of this Empire to a particular Treatife, yet, in the mean Time, I am content to gratify the curious Reader with fome general Ideas. As the common Size of the Natives is fomewhat under fix Inches high, fo there is an exact Proportion in all other Animals, as well as Plants and Trees: For Inflance, the talleft Horfes and Oxen are between four and five Inches in Height, the Sheep an Inch and half, more or lefs; their Geefe about the Bignefs of a Sparrow, and fo the feveral Gradations downwards, till you come to the fmalleft, which, to my Sight, were almoft invifible ; but Nature hath hath adapted the Eyes of the Lilliputians to all Objects proper for their View: They fee with great Exactnefs; but at no great Diftance. And, to fhew the Sharpnefs of their Sight towards Objects that are near, I have been much pleafed with obferving a Cook palling a Lark, which was not fo large as a common Fly; and a young Girl threading an invifible Needle with invifible Silk. Their talleft. Trees are about feven Feet high; I mean fome of thofe in the great Royal Park, the Tops whereof I could but juft reach with my Fift clinched. The other Vegetables are in the fame Proportion; but this I leave to the Reader's Imagination.

I fhall fay but little at prefent of their Learning, which for many Ages hath flourifhed in all its Branches among them: But their Manner of Writing is very peculiar, being neither from the I.eft to the Right, fike the Europeans; nor from the Right to the Left, like the-Arubians; nor from up to down, like the Cbinefe; but aflant from one Corner of the Paper to the other, like Ladies in England.
They bury their Dead with their Heads directly downwards, becaufe they hold an Opinion, that in eleven thoufand Moons they are all to rife again. in which Period the Earth (which they conceive to be flat) will turn upfide down, and by this Means they fhall, at their Refurretion, be found ready ftanding on their Feet. The Leifned among them confefs the Abfurdity of this Doctrine, but the Practice ftill continues, in Compliance to the Vulgar.

There are fome Laws and Cuftoms in this Empire very peculiar; and, if they were not fo directly contrary to thofe of my own dear Country; I fhould be tempted to fay a little in their Juftification. It is only to be wifhed they were as well executed. The firt I thall imention, relates to Informers. All Crimes againk zhe State are punifhed here with the utmoft Severity ; but, if the Perfon accufed maketh his. Innocence plainly to appear upon his Trial, the Accufer is immediately put to an ignominious Death; and, out of his Goods -or Lands, the innocent Perfon is quadruply recompenfed for the Lofs of his Time, for the Danger he underwent, for the Hardmip of his Imprifonment, and for all the Charges he hath been at in maling his Defence. Or, if that Fund be deficient, it is largely fupplied by the Crown. The Einperor does allo confer on him fome public Mark of his Favour, and Proclamation is made of his Innocence through the whole City.

They look upon Fraud as a greater Crime than Theff, and therefore feldom fail to punifh it with Death; for they alledge, that Care and Vigilance, with a very common Undertanding, may preferve'a Man's Goods from Thieves, but Honeity has no Fence againft fuperior Cunning; and fince it is neceffary that there Should be a perpetual Intercourfe of Buying and Selling, and Dealing upon Credit, where Fraud is permitted and connived at, or hath no Law to punilh it, the honeft Dealer is always undone, and the Knave gets the Advantage. I remember when I was once interceding with the King for a Criminal, who had wronged his Mafter of a great Sum of Money, which he had received by Order, and ran away with; and happening to tell his Majefty, by Way of Extenuation, that it was only a Breach of Truft ; the Emperor thought it monflrous in me to offer, as a Defence, the greatelt Aggravation of the Crime: And truly, I had little to fay in Return, farther than the common Anfwer, that different Nations had different Cuftoms; fur, I confefs, I was heartily afhamed.

Although we ufually call Reward and Punihment the two Hinges upon which all Government turns, yet I could never obferve this Maxim to be put in Practice by any Nation except that of Lilliput. Whoever can there bring fufficient Proof that he hath frictly obferved the Laws of his Country, for feventy-three Moons, hath a Claim to certain Privileges, according to his Quality and Condition of Life, with a propor tionable Sum of Money out of Fa Fond appropriated for that Ufe: He likewife acquires the Iitle of Snilpall, or - Legal, which is added to his Name, but does not defcend to Pofterity. And thefe People thought it a prodigious Defect of Policy among us, when I told them that our Laws were enforced only by Penalties, without any Mention of Reward. It is upon this Account that the Image of Juftice, in their Courts of Judicature, is formed with fix Eyes, two before, as many behind, and on each Side one, to fignify Circumppection; with a Bag of God open in her Right-hand, and a Sword theathed in her Left, to fhew the is more difpofed to reward than to punifh.

In chufing Perfons for all Employments, they have more Regard to good Morals than to great Abilities; for, fince Government is neceffary to Mankind, they believe that the common Size of human Underfandings is fitted to fome Station or other, and that Providence never intended to make the Management of public Affairs a Myftery, to be comprehended only by a few Perfons of fublime Genius, of which there feldom are three born in an Age: But they fuppofe Truth, Juftice, Temperance, and the like, to be in every Man's Power, the Practice of which Virtues, affifted by Experience, and a good Intention, would qualify any Man for the Service of his Country, except were a Courfe of Study is required. But they thought the Want of moral Virtues was fo far from being fupplied by fuperior Endowments of the Mind, that Employments could never be put into fuch dangerous Hands as thofe of Perfons fo qualified ; and at leaft, that the Miftakes, committed by Ignorance in a virtuous Difpoftion, would never be of fuch fatal Confequence to the public Weal, as the Practices of a Man whofe Inclinations led him to be corrupt, and had great Abilities to manage, to multiply, and defend his Corruptions.

In like Marmer, the Difbelief of a Divine Providence renders a Man uncapable of holding any public Station; for, fince Kings avow themfelves to be the Deputies of Providence, the Lilliputians think nothing can be more abfurd than for a Prince to employ fuch Men as difown the Authority under which they act.

In relating thefe'and the following Laws, I would only be underltood to mean the original Inftitutions, and not the moft fcandalous Corruftions into which thefe People are fallen by the degenerate Nature of Man. For as to that infamous Practice of acquiring great Employments by dancing on the Ropes, or Badges of Favour and Dittinction, by leaping over Sticks, and creeping under them, the Reader is to obferve, that they were firt introduced by the Grandfather of the Emperor now reigning, and grew to the prefent Height, by the gradual Increafe of Party and Faction.

Ingratitude is among them a capital Crime, as we read it to have been in fome other Countries; for they reafon thus, that whoever makes ill Returns to his Benefactor, muft needs be a common Enemy to the reft of Mankind, from whom he hath received no Obligation, and therefore fuch a Man is not fit to live.

Their Notions relating to the Duties of Parents and Children differ extremely from ours. For, fince the Conjunction of Male and Female is founded upon the great Law of Nature, in order to propagate and continue the Species, the Lilliputians will needs have it, that Men and Women are joined together like other Animals, by the Motives of Concupifcence; and that their Tendernefs towards their Young proceeds from the like natural Principle: For which Reafon they will never allow, that a Child is under any Obligation to : his Father for begetting him, or to his Mother for bringing him into the World, which, confidering the - Miferies of human Life, was neither a Benefit in itfelf, or intended fo by his Parents, whofe Thoughts in their Love-Encounters were otherwife employed. Upon thefe, and the like Reafonings, their Opinion is, that Parencs are the laft of all others to be trufted with the Education of their own Children: And therefore they have -in every Town public Nurferies, where all Parents, except Cottagers and Labourers, are obliged to fend their Infants of both Sexes to be reared and educated when they come to the Age of twenty Moons, at which Time they are fuppofed to have fome Rudiments of Docility. Thefe Schools are of feveral Kinds, fuited to different Qualities, and to both Sexes. They have certain Profeffors well killed in preparing Children for fuch a Condition of Life as befits the Rank of their Parents, and their own Capacities as well as Inclinations. I thall firt fay fomething of the Male Nuferies, and then of the Female.

The Nürferies for Males of noble or eminent Birth, are provided with grave and learned Profeffors, and their feveral Deputies. The Cloathes and Food of the Children are plain and fimple. They are bred up in the Principles of Honour, Jultice, Courage, Modefty, Clemency, Religion, and Love of their Country ; they are always employed in fome Bufinefs, except in the 'Times of eating and fleeping, which are very thort, and two Hours for Diverfions, confifting of bodily Exercifes. They are dreffed by Men till four Years of Age, and then are obliged to drefs themfelves, although their Quality be ever fo great; and the Women Attendants, who are aged proportionably to ours at fifty, perform only the moft menial Offices. They are never fuffered to converfe with Servants, but go together in fmaller and greater Numbers to take their Diverfions, and always in the Prefence of a Profefior, or one of his Deputies; whereby they avoid thofe early bad Imprefions of Folly and Vice, to which our Children are fubject. Their Parents are fuffered to fee them only twice a Year; the Vifit is to laft but an Hour. They are allowed to kifs the Child at Meeting and Parting ; but a Profeffur, who always ftands by on thofe Occafions, will not fuffer them to whifper, or ufe any fondling Expreffions, or briing any Prefents of Toys, Sweet-meats, and the like.

The Penfion from each Family for the Edication and Entertainment of a Child, upon Failure of due Payment, is levied by the Emperor's Officers.

The Nurferies for Children of ordinary Gentlemen, Merchants, Traders, and Handicrafts, are managed proportionably after the fame Manner ; only thofe, defigned for Trades, are put out Apprentices at eleven Years old, whereas thofe of Perfons of Quality continue in their Exercifes till fifteen, which anfwers to twenty-one with us: But the Confinement is gradually leffened for the laft three Years.
In the female Nurferies, the young Girls of Quality are educated much like the Males, only they are drefled by orderly Servants of their own Sex; but always in the Prefence of a Profeffor or Depaty, till they come to drefs themfelves, which is at five Years old. And if it be found that thefe Nurfes ever prefume to entertain the Girls with frightful or foolifh Stories, or the common Follies practifed by Chamber-maids among us, they are publicly whipped thrice about the City, imprifoned for a Year, and banifhed for Life to the moft defolate Part of the Country. Thus the young Ladies there, are as much afhamed of being Cowards and Fools, as the Men, and defpife all perfonal Ornaments beyond Decency and Cleanlinefs: Neither did I perceive any Difference in their Education, made by their Difference of Sex, only that the Exercifes of the Females were not altogether fo robult ; and that fome Rules were given them relating to domeftic Life, and a fmaller Compafs of Learning was enjoined them : For their Maxim is, that, among People of Quality, a Wife fhould be always a reafonable and agreeable Companion, becaufe the cannot always be young. When the Girls are twelve Years old, which among them is the marriageable Age, their Parents or Guardians take them Home, with great Expreffions of Gratitude to the Profeffors, and feldom without Tears of the young Lady and her Companions.

In the Narferies of Females of the meaner Sort, the Children are inftructed in all Kinds of Works proper for their Scx, and their feveral Degrees: Thofe, intended for Apprentices, are difmiffed at feven Years old, the sett are kept to eleven.

The meaner Famities, who have Children at thefe Narferies, are obliged, befides their annual Penfions, which is as low as 'poffible, to return to the Steward of the Nurfery, a fmall monthly Share of their Getrings, to be a Portion for the Child; and therefore all Parents are limited in their Expences by the Law. For the Lilliputians think nothing can be more unjoft, than fur People, in Subfervience to their own Appetites, to bring Children into the World, and leave the Burthen of Sapporting them on the Public. As to Perfons of Quality, they give Security to appropriate a certain Sum for each Child, fuitable to their Condition ; and thefe Funds are always managed withgood Hufbandry, and the moft exact Juftice.

The Cottagers and Labourers keep their Children at Home, their Buffnefs being only to till and cultiwate the Earth, and therefore their Education is of little Confequence to the Public: But the Old and Thifeafed among them, are fupported by Hofpitals: For, Begging is a Trade unknown in this Empire.

And here it may, perhaps, divert the curious Reader, to give fome Account of my Domeflic, and my Manner of Living in this Country, during a Refidence of nine Months and thirteen Days. Having: a Head mechanically turned, and being likewife forced by Neceffity, I had made for myfelf a Table and Chair convenient enough, out of the largett Trees inthe Royal Park. Two hundred Sempftreffes were employed to make me Shirts, and Linnen for Bed and Table, all of the frongeft and coarfeft Kind they coald get; which, however, they were forced to quilt together in feveral Folds, for the thickeft was fome Degrees finer than Lawn. Their Linnen is ufually. three Inches wide $x_{x}$ and three Feet make a Piece. The Sempftreffes took my Meafure as I lay on the Ground, one ftanding at my Neck, and another at my Mid-leg, with a ftrong Cord extended, that each held by the End, while the third meafured the Length of the Cord with a Rule of an Inch long. Then they meafured my right Thumb, and defired no more; for, by a mathematical Computation, that twiee round the Thumb is once round the Wrift, and fo on to the Neck and the Wafte; and by the Help of my ofd Shirt, which I difplayed on the Ground before thenh for a Pattern, they fitted me exactly. Three hundred Taylors were employed in the fame Manner to make me Clothes ; bur they had another Contrivance for taking my Meafure. I kneeled down, and they saifed a Ladder from the Ground to my Neck; upon this Ladder one of them mounted, and let fall a PlumLine from my Collar to the Floor, which juft anfwered the Length of my Coats but my Wafte and Arms I meafured myfelf. When my Clothes were finifhed, which was done in my Houfe \{for the largeft of theirs would not have been able to hold them) they looked tike the Patch-work made by the Ladies in England, only that mine were all of a Colour.

Semp-

I had three hundred Cooks to drefs my Vituals, in little convenient Huts buik about my Houfe, where they and their Families lived, and prepared me two Difies a-piece. I took up twenty Waiters in my Hand, and placed them on the Table; an hundred more attended below on the Ground, fome with Difhes of Meat, and fome with Barrels of Wine, and other Liquors, flang on their Shoulders; all which the Waiters above drew up us I wanted, in a very Engenious Manner, by certain Cords, as we draw the Bucket up a Well in Europe. A Difh of their Meat was a good Mouthful, and a Barrel of their Liquor a reafonable Draught. Their Mutton yields to ours, but their Beef is excellent. I have had a Surloin fo large, that I have been forced to make three Bits of it ; but this is zare. My Servants were aftoniffed to E 2 fee
fee me eat it, Bones and all, as in our Country we do the Leg of a Lark. Their Geefe and Turkies I ufaally eat at a Mouthful; and, I muft confefs, they far exceed ours. Of their fmaller Fowl, I could take ap twenty or thirty at the End of my Knife.

One Day his Imperial Majefty, being informed of my Way of Living, defired that himelf and his Royal Confort, with the young Princes of the Blood of both Sexes, might have the Happinefs (as he was pleafed to call it) of dining with me. They came accordingly, and I placed them opon Chairs of State on my Table, juft over-againft me, with their Guards about them. Flimnap, the Lord High-Treafurer, attended there likewife, with his white Staff; and I oblerved he often looked on me with a four Countenance, which I would not feem to regard, but eat more than ufaal, in Honour to my dear Country, as well as to fill the Court with Admiration. I have fome private Reafons to believe, that this Vifit from his Majefty, gave Flimnap an Opportunity of doing me ill Offices to his Mafter. That Minitter had always been my fecret Enemy, though he outwardly carefled me more than was ufual to the Morofenefs of his Nature. He reprefented to the Emperor, the low Condition of his Treafury; that he was forced to take up Money at great Difcount ; that Exchequer Bills would not circulate under nine per Cent. below Par; that, in flort, I had cof his Majefty above a Million and a Half of Sprugs (their greateft Gold Coin, about the Bignefs of a Spangle): and, upon the Whole, that it would be advifeable in the Emperor to take the firft fair Ocoafion of difmiffing me.

I am here obliged to vindicate the Reputation of an excellent Lady, who was an innocent Sufferer upon my Account. The Treafurer took a Fancy to be jealous of his Wife, from the Malice of fome evil Tongues, who informed him, that her Grace had taken a violent Affecion for my Perfon; and the Courtfcandal ran for fome Time, that fhe once came pri-wately to my Lodging. This I folemnly declare to be a moft infamous Fallhood, without any Grounds, farther than that her Grace was pleafed to treat me with all innocent Marks of Freedom and Friendihip. I own the came often to my Houfe, but always publicly, nor ever without three more in the Coach, who were ufually her Sifter and young Daughter, and fome particular Acquaintance; but this was common to many other Ladies of the Court. And I ftill appeal to my Servants round, whether they at any Time faw a Coach at my Door, without knowing what Perfons were in it. . On thofe Occafions, when a Servant had given me Notice, my Cuftom was to ge immediately to the Door: and, after paying my Refpects, to take up the Coach and two Horfes very carefully in my Hands (for, if there were fix Horfes, the Poftilion always unharneffed four) and placed them on a Table. where I had fixed a moveable Rim quite round, of five Inches high, to prevent Accidents. And I have often had four Coaches and Horfes at once on my Table full of Company, while I fat in my Chair, leaning my Face towards them; and, when I was engaged with one Set, the Coachmen would gently drive the others round my Table. I have paffed many an Afternoon very agreeably in thefe Converfations. But I defy the Treafurer, or his two Informers (I will name them, and let them make their beft of it) Cluffril and Drunlo, to prove that any Perfon ever came to me incognito, except the Secretary Reldrefal, who was fent by exprefs Command of his Imperial Majefty, as I have before related. I fhould not have dwelt fo long upon this Particular, if it had not been a Point wherein the Reputation of a great Lady is fo nearly concerned, to fay nothing of my own ; though I then had the Honour to be a Nardac, which the Treafurer himfelf is not ; for all the World knows that he is only a Glumlum, a Title inferior by one Degree, as that of a Marquefs is to a Duke in England, alchough I allow he preceded me in Right of his Pof. Thefe falfe Informations, which I afterwards came to the Knowledge of, by an Accident not proper to mention, made Flimnap, the Treafurer, hew his Lady, for fome Time, an ill Countenance, and me a worfe; and although he were at laft undeceived and reconciled to her, yet I loft all Credit with him, and foand my Intereft decline very faft with the Emperor himfelf, who was, indeed, too much governed by that Favourite.

C H A P. VII.

The Author, being informed of a Defign to accufe him of High-Treafon, makes bis Efcape to Blefufcu. His Reception there.

BEFORE I proceed to give an Account of my leaving this Kingdom, it may be proper to inform the Reader of a private Intrigue which had been for two Months forming againft me.

I had been hitherto all my Life a Stranger to Courts, for which I was unqualified by the Meannefs of my Condition. I had, indeed, heard and read enough of the Difpofitions of great Princes and Miniffers ; but never expected to have found fuch terrible Effects of them in fo remote a Country, governed, as I thought, by very different Maxims from thofe in Europe.

When I was juft preparing to pay my Attendance on the Emperor of Blefufcu, a confiderable Perfon at Court (to whom I had been very ferviceable, at a Time when he lay under the higheft Difpleafure of his Ims perial Majefty) came to my Houfe very privately at Night in a clofe Chair, and, without fending his Name, defired Admittance: The Chairmen were difmiffed ; I put the Chair, with his Lordhhip in ir, into my Coat-Pocket ; and, giving Orders to a trufy Servant to fay I was indifpoled and gone to Sleep, I faftened the Door of my Houfe, placed the Chair on the the Table, according to my ufual Cuftom, and fat down by it. After the common Salutations wiere a ver, obferving his Lordhhip's Countenance full of Concern, and enquiring into the Reafon, he defired I would hear him with Patience, in a Matter that highly concerned my Honour and my Life. His Speect was to the following Effect, for I took Notes of Itcas foon as he left me.

You are to know, faid he, that' foweral Commic: tees of Council have been lately called in the mork prit sate Mannex on your Account; and it is bat two Days fince his Majefty came to a fudt Refotation.

You are'very fennible that Skyris Folgolane (Gabset, or High-Admiral) hath been your mortal Enemy al:moft ever fince your Arrival: His óriginal Reafons: 1 know not; but his Hatred is encreafed fince your great Succef's againt Blefufcu, by which his Glory; as Admiral, is much oblcured. This Lord, in Conjunction with Flimnap, the High-Treafurer, whofe Enmity againft you is notorious on Account of his Lady. Limtoc the General, Lalcon the Chamberlain, and Balmuff the grand Julticiary, have prepared, Articles of Impeachment againf you, for Treafon, and other capital Crimes.

This Preface made me fo impatient, being confcioos of my own Merits and Innocence, that I was gaing to interrupt: When he entreated me to befilent, and thus proceeded :

Out of Gratitude for the Favours you have done me, I procured Information of the whole Proceadings, and a Copy of the Articles, wherein I venture my Head for your Service.

Articles of Impeachment againft Quinbus FleArin (the Man-Mountain.)

ARTICLEI.

WHereas, by a Statute made in the Reign of his Imperial Majefty Caliz Deffar Plune, it is enacted, that whoever fhall make Water within the Precincts of the Royal Palace, fhall be liable to the Pains and Penalties of High-Treafon: Notwithftanding, the faid Quinbus Flefirin, in open Breach of the faid Law, under Colour of extinguifhing the Fire kindled in the Apartment of his Majefty's moft dear Imperial Confort, did malicioully, traiterounly, and devilifhly, by Difcharge of his Urine, put out the faid Fire kindled in the faid Apartment, lying and being within the Precincts of the faid Royal Palace, againft the Statute in that Cafe provided, &of. againft the Duty, E®c.

ARTICLE II.

That the faid Quinbus Fleftrin having brought the Imperial Fleet of Blefufcu into the Royal Port, and being afterwards commanded by his Imperial Majefty to feize all the other Ships of the faid Empire of Blefuycu, and reduce that Empire to a Province, to be governed by a Vice-Roy from hence, and to deftroy and put to Death not only all the Big Indian Exiles, but likewife all the People of that Empire, who.would not immediately forfake the Big. Indian Herefy: He the faid Fleffrin, like a falfe Traitor againft his moft Aufpicious, Serene, Imperial Majefty, did petition to be excured from the faid Service, upon Pretence of Unwillingnefs to force the Confciences, or deftroy the Liberties and Lives of innocent People.

ARTICLE III.

That, whereas certain Ambaffadors arrived from the Court of Blefufcu, to fue for Peace in his Majefty's Court : He the faid Flefrin did, like a falfe Traitor. aid, abet, comfort, and divert the faid Ambaffadors, although he knew them to be Servants to a Prince who was lately an open Enemy to his Imperial Majefty, and in open War againft his faid Majefty.

ARTICLE IV.

That the faid Quinbus Flefrin, contrary to the Duty of a faithful Subject, is now preparing to make a Voyage to the Court and Empire of Blefufcu, for which he hath received only verbal Licence from his Imperial Majefty; and under Colour of the faid Licence doth fally and traiteroully intend to take the faid Voyage, and thereby to aid, comfort, and abet the Emperor of Blefu fu, fo late an Enemy, and in open War with his Imperial Majefty aforefaid.

There are fome other Articles, but thefe are the moft important, of which I have read you an Abstract.

In the feveral Debates upon this Impeachment, it mult be confeffed that his Majefty gave many Marks of his great Lenity, often urging the Services you had done him, and endelvouring to extenuate your Crimes. The Treafurer and Admiral infifted that you fhould be put to the moft painful and ignominious Death, by fetting Fire on your Houfe at Night, and the General was to attend with twenty thoufand Men armed with poifoned Arrows, to fhoot you on the Face and Hands. Some of your Servants were to have private Orders to ftrew a poifonous Juice on your Shirts and Sheets, which would foon make you tear your own Flefh, and die in the utmof Torture. The General came into the fame Opinion; fo that for a long Time there was a Majority againft you: But his Majefty refolving, if pofirible, to fpare your Life, at laft brought off the Chamberlain.

Upon this Incident, Reldrefal, Principal Secretary for private Affairs, who always approved himfelf your true Friend, was commanded by the Emperor to deliver his Opinion, which he accardingly did: And therein juftify'd the good Thoughts you have of him. He allowed your Crimes to be great, but that fill there was Room for Mercy, the mont commendable Virtue in a Prince, and for which his Majefty was fo jufty celebrated. He faid, the Friendhip between you and him was fo well known to the World, that perhaps the mof honourable Board might think him partial : However, in Obedience to the Command he had received, he would freely offer his Sentiments. That if his Majefty, in Confideration of your Services, and purfuant to his own merciful Difpofition, would pleafe to fpare your Life, and only give, Order to put out both your Eyes, he humbly conceived, that, by this Expedient, Juftice might in fome Meafure be fatisfied, and all the World would applaud the Lenity of the Emperor, as well as the fair and generous Proceedings of thofe who have the Honour to be his Counfellors. That the Lofs of your Eyes would be no Impediment to your bodily Strength, by which you might fill be ufeful to his Majefty. That Blindnefs is an Addition to Courage, by concealing Dangers from us; that the Fear you had for your Eyes, was the greatef Difficulty in bringing over the Enemy's Fleet, and it would be fufficient for you to fee by the Eyes of the Miniffers, fince the greatelt Princes do no more.

ThisPropofal was received with the utmoft Difapprobation by the whole Board. Bolgolam, the Admiral, could not preferve his Temper; but, rifing up in Fury, faid, he wondered how the Secretary durft prefume to give his Opinion for preferving the Life of a Traitor: That the Services you had performed were, by all true Reafons of State, the great Aggravation of your Crimes; that you, who were able to extinguin the Fire, by Difcharge of Urine in her Majefty's Apartment (which he mentioned with Horror) might, at another Time, raife an Inundation by the fame Means to drown the whole Palace ; and the fame Strength, which enabled you to bring over the Enemy's Fleet, might ferve, upon the firt Difcontent, to carry it back:

That he had good Reafons to think you were a BigIndian in your Heart; and as Treafon begins in the Heart, before it appears in Overt-acts, fó he accufed you as a Traytor on that Account, and therefore infifted you fhould be put to Death.

The Treafurer was of the fame Opinion; he fhewed to what Streights his Majefty's Revenue was reduced by the Charge of maintaining you, which would foon grow infupportable: That the Secretary's Expedient of putting out your Eyes, was fo far from being a Remedy againft this Evil. it would probably increafe it, as it is manifett from the blinding fome Kind of Fowl, after which, they fed the fafter, and grew fooner fat: That his facred Majefty, and the Council, who are your Judges, were in their own Confciences fully convinced of your Guilt, which was a fufficient Argument to condemn you to Death, without the formal Proofs regaired by the firiet Letter of the Law.

But his Imperial Majefty, fully determined againft capital Punifhment, was gracioufly pleafed to fay, That, fince the Council thought the Lod's of your Eyes too eafy a Cenfure, fome other may be inflicted hereafter. And your Friend, the Secretary, humbly defiring to be heard again, in Anfwer to what the Treafurer had objected concerning the great Charge his Majefty was at in maintaining you, faid, that his Excellency, who had the fole Difpofal of the Emperor's Revenue, might eafily provide againft that Evil, by gradually leffening your Eftablifhment ; by which, for Want of fufficient Food, you would grow weak and faint, and loofe your Appetite, and confume in a few Months; neither would the Stench of your Carcafs be then fo dangerous, when it hould become more than half diminifhed; and immediately, upon your Death, five or fix thoufand of his Majefty's Subjects might, in two or three Days, cut your Flefh from your Bones, take it away by (artLoads, and bury it in diltant Parts to prevent Infection, leaving the Skelcton as a Monument of Admiration to Potterity:

Thus,

AVoyace

Thus, by the great Friend/hip of the Secretary, the whole Affair was compromifed. It was frrictly enjoined, that the Project of ftarving you, by Degrees, Ihould be kept a Secret, but the Sentence of putting out your Eyes was entered on the Books; none diffenting except Bolgolam, the Admiral, who, being a Creature of the Emprefs, was perpetually infligated by her Majefty to infift upon your Death, the having born perpetuak Malice againf you, on Account of that infamous and illegal Method you took to extinguig the Fire in her Apartment.

In three Days, your Friend, the Secretary, will be directed to come to your Houfe, and read before you the Articles of Impeachment; and then to fignify the great Lenity and Favour of his Majefty and Council, whereby you are only condemned to the Lofs of your Eyes, which his Majefly doth not queftion you will gratefully and humbly fubmit to ; and twenty of his Majefty's Surgeons will attend, in order to fee the Operation well performed, by difcharging very fharppointed Arrows into the Balls of your Eyes, as you lie on the Ground.

I leave to your Prudence what Meafures you will take; and, to avoid Sufpicion, I muft immediately return in as private Manner as I came.

His Lordfhip did fo, and I remained alone, under many Doubts and Perplexities of Mind.

It was a Cuftom introduced by this Prince and his Miniftry (very different, as I have been aflured, from the Practices of former Times) that after the Court had decreed any cruel Execution, either to gratify the Monarch's Refentment, or the Malice of a Favourite, the Emperor always made a Speech to his whole Council, expreffing his great Lenity and Tendernefs, as Qualities known and confeffed by all the World. This Speech was immediately publifhed through the Kingdom; nor did any Thing terrify the People fo much a's thofe Encomiums on his Majefty's Mercy ; becaufe it was obferved, that, the more thefe Praifes were enlarged larged and infifted on, the more inhuman was the Punifhment, and the Sufferer more imnocent. And as to myfelf, I muft confefs, having never been defigned for a Courtier either by my Birth or Education, I was fo ill a Judge of Things, that I could not difcover the Lenity and Favour of this Sentence, but conceived it (perhaps erroneounly) rather to be rigorous than gentle: I fometimes thought of flanding my Trial ; for, altho* I could not deny the Facts alledged in the feveral Articles, yet I hoped they would admit of fome Extenuation. But having in my Life perufed many StateTriats, which I ever obferved to terminate as the Judges thought fit to direct, I durft not rely on 50 dangerous a Decifion, in fo critical a Juncture, and againft fuch powerful Enemies. Once I was ftrongly bent upon Refitance, for, while I had Liberty, the whole Strength of that Empire could hardly fubdue me, and I might eaffly with Stones pelt the Metropolis to Pieces; but I foon rejected that Project with Horror, by remembring the Oath I had made to the Emperor, the Favours I received from him, and the high Title of Nardac he conferred upon me. Neither had I fo foon learned the Gratitude of Courtiers, to perfaade myfelf, that his Majefty's prefent Severities acquitted me of all paft Obligations.

At laft I fixed upon a Refolution, for which it is probable I may incur fome Cenfure, and not unjafly ; for I confefs I owe the preferving mine Eyes, and confequently my Liberty, to my own great Rafhnefs, and Want of Experience; becaufe, if I had then known the Nature of Princes and Minifters, which I have fince obferved in many other Courts, and their Methods of treating Criminals lefs obnoxious than myfelf, I thould with great Atacrity and Readinefs have fubmitted to fo eafy a Punifhment. But hurry'd on by the Precipitancy of Youth, and having his Imperial Majefty's Licence to pay my Attendance upon the Emperor of Blefufcu. I took this Opportunity, before the three: Days were elapfed, to fend a Letter to miy Friend the Secretary, fignifying my Refolution of fetting out that Morning for Blefufcu, purfuant to the Leave I had got ; and, without waiting for an Anfwer, I went to that Side of the Illand where our Fleet lay. I feized a large Man of War, tied a Cable to the Prow, and, lifting up the Anchors, I fript myfelf, put my Cloaths (together with my Coverlet, which I brought under my Arm) into the Veffel, and drawing it after me, between Wading and Swimming, arrived at the Royal Port of Blefufcu, where the People had long expected me ; they lent me two Guides to direct me to the capital City, which is of the fame Name. I held them in my Hands till I came within two hundred Yards of the Gate, and defired them to fignify my Arrival to one of the Secretaries, and let him know, I there waited his Majefty's Command. I had an Anfwer in about an Hour, that his Majefty, attended by the Royal Family, and great Officers of the Court, was coming out to receive me. I advanced a hundred Yards. The Emperor, and his Train, alighted from their Horfes, the Emprefs and Ladies from their Coaches, and I did not perceive they were in any Fright or Concern. I lay on the Ground to kifs his Majefty's and the Emprefs's Hand. I told his Majefty that I was come according to my Promife, and with the Licence of the Emperor my Mafter, to have the Honour of feeing fo mighty a Monarch, and to offer him any Service in my Power, confiftent with my Duty to my own Prince ; not mentioning a Word of my Difgrace, becaufe I had hitherto no regular Information of it, and might fuppofe myfelf wholly ignorant of any fuch Defign; neither could I reafonably conceive that the Emperor would difcover the Secret, while I was out of his Power; wherein, however, it foon appeared I was deceived.

I fhall not trouble the Reader with the particular Account of my Reception at this Court, which was fuitable to the Generofity of fo great a Prince; nor of the Difficulties I was in tor want of a Houfe and Bed, being forced to lie on the Ground, wrapt up in my Coverlet. C HAP.

C H A P. VIII.

The Autbor, by a lucky Accident, finds Means to leave Blefufcu; and, after fome Difficulties, returns fafe to bis native Country.

THREE Days after my Arrival, walking out of Curiofity to the North-Eaft Coaft of the Inand, I obferved, about half a League off, in the Sea, fomewhat that looked like a Boat overturned. I pulled off my Shoes and Stockings, and, wading two or three hundred Yards, I found the Object to approach nearer by Force of the Tide; and then plainly faw it to bea real Boat, which I fuppofed might, by fome Tempeft, have been driven from a Ship : Whereupon I returned immediately towards the City, and defired his Imperial Majefty to lend me twenty of the talleft Veffels he had left after the Lofs of his Fleet, and three thoufand Seamen, under the Command of the Vice-Admiral. This Fleet failed round, while I went back the fhorteft Way to the Coaft, where I fift difcovered the Boat; I found the Tide had driven it ftill nearer. The Seamen were all provided with Cordage, which I had beforehand twifted to a fufficient Strength. When the Ships came up, I fript myfelf, and waded till I came within an hundred Yards of the Boat, after which I was forced to fwim till I got up to it. The Seamen threw me the End of the Cord, which I faftened to a Hole in the Fore-part of the Boat, and the other End to a Man of War : But I found all my Labour to little Purpofe; for, being out of my Depth, I was not able to Work. In this Neceffity, I was furced to fwim behind, and puif: the Boat forwards as often as I could, with one of my Hands; and, the Tide favouring me, I advanced fo far, that I could juft hold up my Chin, and fee! the Ground. I refted two or three Minutes, and then gave the Boat another Shove, and fo on, till the Sea was no higher than my Arm-pits ; and now, the meft laborious Part being over, I took out my other Cables, which were flowed in one of the Ships, and faftened them firft to the Boat, and then to nine of the Veffels which attended me; the Wind being favourabe, the Seamen towed, and I fhoved till we arrived within forty Yards of the Shore, and, waiting till the Tide was out, I got dry to the Boat, and by the Affiltance of two thoufand Men, with Ropes and Engines, I made a fhift to turn it on its Bottom, and found it was but little damaged.

I fhall not trouble the Reader with the Difficulties I was under by the Help of certain Paddles, which coft me ten Days making, to get my Boat to the Royal Port of Blefufcu, where a mighty Concourfe of People appeared upon my Arrival, full of Wonder at the Sight of fo prodigious a Veffel. I told the Emperor, that my good Fortune had thrown this Boat in my Way; to carry me to fome Place, from whence I might return into my native Country, and begged his Majefty's Orders for getting Materials to fit it up, together with his Licence to depart, which, after fome kind Expoftulations, he was pleafed to grant.

I did very much wonder, in all this Time, not to have heard of any Exprefs relating to me, from our Emperor, to the Court of Blefufcu. But I was afterwards given privately to undertiand, that his Imperial Majefty, never imagining I had the lealt Notice of his Defigns, believed I was only gone to Blefufcu, in Performance of my Promife, according to the Licence he had given me, which was well known at our Court, and would return in a few Days when the Ceremony was ended. But he was at laft in Pain at my long Abfence; and, after confulting with the Treafurer, and the reft of that Cabal, a Perfon of Quality was difpatched with the Copy of the Articles againft me. This Envoy had Infructions to reprefent to the Monarch of Blefufcu, the great Lenity of his Mather, who was content to punif me no farther than with the Lols of mine

Eyes 3

Eyes; that I had fled from Juftice, and, if I did not return in two Hours, I hould bedeprived of my Title of Nardac, and declared a Traitor. The Envoy further added, that in order to maintain the Peace and Amity between both Empires, his Mafter expected, that his Brother of Blefufru would give Orders to have me fent back to Lilliput, bound Hand and Foots to be punifhed as a Traitor.

The Emperor of Blefufcu, having taken three Days to confult, returned an Anfwer, confifing of many Civilities and Excufes. He faid, that, as for fending me bound, his Brother knew it was impoffible; that although I had deprived him of his Fleet, yet he owed great Obligations to me for many good Offices I had done him in making the Peace. That, however, both their Majefties would foon be made eafy; for I had found a prodigious Veffel on the Shore, able to carry me on the Sea, which he had given Order to fit up with my own Affiltance and Direction; and he hoped; in a few Weeks, both Empires would be freed from fo. infupportable an Incumbrance.

With this Anfwer, the Envoy returned to Lilliput, and the Monarch of Blefu/cu related to me all that had palt; offering me at the fame Time (but under the Atricteft Confidence) his gracious Protection, if I would continue in his Service; wherein, although I believed him fincere, yet I refolved never more to put any Confidence in Princes or Minitters, where I could pof. fibly avoid it ; and, therefore, with all due Acknowledgements for his favourable Intentions, I humbly begged to be exculed. I told him, that fince Fortune, whether good or evil, had thrown a' Veffel in my Way, I was refolved to venture myfelf in the Ocean, rather than be an Occafion of Difference between two fuch mighty Monarchs. Neither did I find the Emperor ał all dirpleafed; and I difcovered, by a certain Accident, that he was very glad of my Refolution, and fo were mof of his Minifters.

Thefe Confiderations moved me to haften my Departure fomewhat fooner than I intended; to whichthe Court, impatient to have me gone, very readily contributed. Five hundred Workmen were imployed to make two Sails to my Boat, according to my Directions, by quilting thirteen Ford of their ftrongeft Linnen together. I was at the Pains of making Ropes and Cables, by twifling ten, twenty, or thirty of the thickeft and flrongeft of theirs. A great Stone that-I happened to find, after a long Search by the Sea-fhore, ferved me for an Anclior. I had the Tallow of three hundred Cows for greafing my Boat, and other Ufes. I was at incredible Pains in cutting down fome of the largeft Timber-Trees for Oars and Mafts, wherein I was, however, much affifted by his Majefty's Shipcarpenters, who helped me in fmoothing them after I had done the rough Work.

In about a Month, when all was prepared, I fent to rective his Majefty's Commands, and to take my Leave. The Emperor and Royal Family came out of the Palace ; I laid down on my Face to kifs his Hand, which he very graciounly gave me; fo did the Emprefs, and young Princes of the Blood. His Majefty prefented mewith fifty Purfes of two-hundred Sprugs a fiece, together with his Picture at full Length, which I put imtmediately into one of my Gloves, to keep it from being hurt. The Ceremonies'at my Departure were too many to trouble the Reader with at this Time.

I fored the Boat with the Carcafes of an hundred Oxen, and three hundied Sheep, with Bread and Drink proportionable, and as much Meat ready drefled as four-hundred Cooks could provide. I took with me fix Cows and two Bulls alive, with as many Ewes and Rams, intending to carry them into my own Country, and propagate the Breed. And, to feed them on Board. Yhad a good Bundle of Hay, and a Bag of Corn. I would gladly have taken a Dozen of the Natives, but this was a Thing the Enperor would by no Meanis permit; and ${ }_{2}$ befides a diligent Search into my Pockets, his Majefty engaged my Honour not to carry away any of his Subjects, although with their own Confent and Defire.

Having thus prepared all Things as well as $I$ was able, I fet Sail on the twenty-fourth Day of September 1701, at fix in the Morning; and when I had gone about four Leagues to the Northward, the Wind being at South-Eaft, at Six in the Evening, I defcried a fmall Ifland about half a League to the North-Weft. I advanced forward, and calt Anchor on the Lee-fide of the Ifland, which feemed to be uninhabited. I then took fome Refrefhment, and went to my Reft. I flept well, and I conjecture at leat fix Hours, for I found the Day broke in two Hours after I awaked. It was a clear Night. I eat my Breakfaft before the Sun was up; and heaving Anchor, the Wind being favourable, I fteered the fame Courfe, that I had done the Day before, wherein I was directed by my Pocket-compafs. My. Intention was to reach, if poffible, one of thofe Iflands, which I had Reafon to believe lay on the North-Eaft of Van Diemen's Land. I difcovered nothing all that Day; but upon the next, about three in the Afternoon, when I had by my Computation made twenty-four Leagues from Blefufcu, I defried a Sail fteering to the SouthEaft ; my Courfe was due Eaft. I hailed her, but could get no Anfwer ; yet I found I gained upon her, for the Wind flackened. I made all the Sail I could, and in half an Hour fhe fpied me, then hung out her Ancient, and difcharged a Gun. It is not eafy to exprefs the Joy I was in upon the unexpected Hope of once more feeing my beloved Country, and the dear Pledges I left in it. The Ship flackened her Sails, and I came up with her between Five and Six in the Evening, September 26; but my Heart leapt within me to fee her Englijh Colours. I put my Cows and Sheep into my Coat-Pockets, and got on board with all my little Cargo of Provifions. The Veffll was an Englijh Merchant-man, returning from Japan by the North and South-Seas; the Captain, Mr: Jobn Biddel of Deptford, a ve y civil Man, ath an extellent Sailor. We were now in the Latitide of 30 Degrees South, there were about fifty: Men in the Ship ; and here I met an old Comrade of. sinite, one Peter Williams, who gave me a good Character to the Captain. Tis Gentleman treated me with Kindnefs, and defired I would let him know what Place I came from liff and whither I was boand ;-which Idid in fetw Words, büt he thought I was raving, and that the Dangers I underwent had difturbed my Head; whereupon I took my black Cattle and Sheep out of: my Pocket, which, after great Aftonifhment, clearly convinced him of my Veracity. I then fhewed him the Gold given me by the Emperor of Blefufcu, together with his Majefty's Picture at full Length, and fome other Rarities of that Country. I gave him two Purfes of two hundred Sprugs each, and promifed, when we arrived in England; to make him a Prefent of a Cow: and a Sheep big with Young.

I fiall not trouble the Reader witk a particular Account of this Voyage, which was very profperous for the moft Part. We arrived in the Downs, on the 13 th of April r702. I had only one Misfortune, that the Rats on Board carried away one of my Sheep; I found her Boncs in a Hole; picked clean from the Flefh. The reft of my Cattle I got fafe a-flore, and fet them a grazing in a Bowling-Green at Grectrutch, where the Finenefs of the Grafs made them feed very heartily, though I had always feared the contrary : Neither could I poffibly have preferved them in fo long a Voyage, if the Captain had not allowed me fome of his beft Bifket, which rubbed to Powder, and mingled with Water, was their conftant Food. 'The fhort Time I continued in England, I made a confderable Profit by fhewing my Cattle to many Perfons of Quality, and others : And, before I began my fecond Yoyage, I fold them for fix hundred Pounds. Since my latt Return, 1 find the Breed is confiderably increafed, efpecially the Sheep, which $\mathbf{F}$ hope will prove much to the Advantage of the Woollen Manufacture, by the Finenefs of the Fleeces.

I Rayed

I flayed but two Months with my Wife and Family : for my infatiable Đefire of feeing foreign Countrie would fuffer me to continue no longer. I left fifteenhundred Pounds with my Wife, and fixpd her: inna good Houfe at Redriff. My remaining Stock 1 cartied with me, Part in Money and Part in Goods, in hopes to improve my Fortenes. My eldef Uncle Fabn had left me an Eftate in Land, near Epping, of about thirty Pounds a Year; and I had a long Leafe of the Black Bull' in Fetter-Lane, which yielded me as much more: So that I was not in any Danger of leaving my Family upon the Parifh. My Son Fohnny, named fo after his Uncle, was at the Grammar School, and a towardty Child. My Daughter Batty (who is now well married, and has Children) was then at her Needlework: I took Leave of my Wife, and Boy and Gir, with Tedes -on both Sides, and went on bpard the Aducmptres, a Merchant Ship, of three-hundred Tons bound for Surat, Captain Jobn NicbolJon of Liverpopl, Commander. Bat ,my Account of this Voyage mult be referred to the Sesond Part of my Travels.

The End of the Firf Part.

[ 70 ]

T R A V E L S.

PARTII.

A Voyage to Brobdingnag.

C H A P. I.

A great Storm defcribed, the Long. Boat Sent to fetch Water, the Autbor goes with it to difcover the Country. He is left on Shore, is feized by one of the Natives, and carried to a Farmer's Houfe. His Reception there, with feveral Accidents that bappened there. A Defcription of the Inbabitants.

HA V ING been condemned by Nature and Fortune to an active and reflefs Life, in two Months after my Return, I again left my native Country, and took Shipping in the Dorwns on the 20th Day of $\mathcal{F}$ une 1702, in the Adventure, Capt. Fobn Nicbolas, a Corni/b Man, Commander, bound for Surat. We had a very profperous Gale till we arrived at the Cape of Good Hope, where we landed for frefh Water, but, difcovering a Leak, we unhipped our Goods, and wintered there; for, the Captain falling fick of an Ague, we could not leave the Cape till the End of March. We then fet Sail, and had a good Voyage till we paffed the Streights of Madagafcar ; but having got Nortbrward of that Illand, and to about five Degrecs Soutb Latitude, the Winds, which in thofe Scas were obferyed to blow a conftant equal Gale between between the North and $W_{e f t}$, from the Beginning of December, to the Beginning of May, on the gth of April began to blow with much greater Violence, and more Wefterly than ufual, continuing fo for twenty Days together, during which Time, we were driven a little to. the Eaft of the Milucca Inands, and about three Degrees Nortb-ward of the Line, as our Captain found by an Obfervation he took the 2d of May, at which Time the Wind ceafed, and it wàs a perfect Calm, whereat I was not a little rejoiced. But he, being a Man experienced in the Navigation of thofe Seas, bid us all prepare againft a Storm, which accordingly happened the Day following: For a Southern Wind, called the Soutberin M.onfoon, began to fet in, Finding it was like to overblow, we took in our. Sprit-fail, and ftood by to hand the Fore-fail ; but, making foul Weather, we looked the Guns were all faft, and handed the Miffen. The Ship Tay very broad off, fo we thought it better fpooning before the Sea; than trying or hulling. We reeft the Fore fail and fet him, and hawled aft the Fore-fheet; the Helm was hard a Weather. The Ship wore bravely. We belayed the Fore down-hall; but the Sail was fplit, and we hawled down the Yard, and got the Sail into the Ship, and unbound all the Things clear of it. It was a very. fierce Storm; the Sea broke Arange and dangerous. We haviled off upon the Lanniard of the Whipftaff, and helped the Man at the Helm. We would not get down our Top-maft, but let all fland, becaufe fhe fcudded before the Sea very well, and we knew that, the Top-maft being aloft, the Ship was the wholfomer, and made better Way through the Sea, feeing we had Sea-Room. When the Storm was over, we fet Forefail and Main-fail, and brought the Ship to. Then we fet the Miffen, Main top-fail, and the Fore top-fail. Our Courfe was Eaft North-Eafts the Wind was at South-Wef. We got the Star-board Tacks aboard, we caft off our Weather Braces and Lifts; we fet in the Lee-braces, ,and hawled forward by the Weatherbowlings, and hawled them right, and belayed them, and hawled over the Miffen tack to Windward, and kept her full and by as near as the would lie:

During this Storm, which was followed by a frong Wind Weft South-Weft, we were carried by my Computation, about five hundred Leagues to the Eaf, fo that the oldeft Sailor aboard could not tell in what Part of the World we were. Our Provifions held out well, our Ship was ftaunch, and our Crew all in good Health ; but we lay in the utmoft Diffrefs for Water. We thought it beft to hold on the fame Courfe, rather than turn more Northerly, which might have brought us to the North-Weft Parts of Great Tartary, and into the frozen Sea.

On the 16th Day of Juze 1703, a Boy on the Topmaft difcovered Land. On the 17 th, we came in full View of a great Ifland or Continent (for we knew not whether) on the Soutb Side whereof was a fmall Neck of Land jutting out into the Sea, and a Creek too fhallow to hold a Ship of above one hundred Tuns. 'We caft Anchor within a League of this Creek, and our Captain fent a Dozen of his Men well armed in the Long. Boat, with Veffels for Water, if any could be found. I defired his Leave to go with them, that I might fee the Country, and make what Difcoveries I could. When we came to Land, we faw no River or Spring, nor any Sign of Inhabitants. Our Men therefore wandered on the Shore, to find out fome frefh Water near the Sea, and I walked alone about a Mile on the other Side, where I obferyed the Country all barren and rocky. I now began to be weary, and, feeing nothing to entertain my Curiofity, I returned gently down towards the Creek; and, the Sea being full in my View, I faw our Men already got into the Boat, and rowing for Life to the Sbip. I was going to hollow after them, although it had been to little Purpofe, when I obferved a huge Creature walking after them in the Sea, as faft as he could: He waded not much deeper than his Knecs, and took prodigicus Strides: But our Men had the Start of him half a League, and, the Sea thereabouts being full of ftarp pointed Rocks, the Monfter was not able to overtake the Boat. This I was afterwards told, for I durft not ftay to fee the Iffue of the Adventure; but ran as faft as I could the Way I firft went, and then climbed up a fleep Hill, which gave me fome Profpect of the Country. I found it fully cultivated; but that which firft furprifed me was the Length of the Grafs, which, in thofe Grounds that feemed to be kept for Hay, was about twenty Feet high.

I fell into a high Road, for fo. I took it to be; though it ferved to the Inhabitants only as a FootPath through a Field of Barley. Here I walked on for fome Time, but could fee little on either Side, it being now at leaft Harveft, and the Corn rifing near forty Feet. I was an Hour walking to the End of this Field, which was fenced in with a Hedge of at leaft one hundred and twenty Feet high, and the Trees fo lofty that I could make no Computation of their Altitude. There was a Stile to pafs from this Field into the nexs. It had four Steps, and a Stone to crofs over when you came to the uppermoft. It was impofible for me to climb this Stile, becaufe every Step was fix Feet high, and the upper Stone above twenty. I was endeavouring to find fome Gap in the Hedge, when I difcovered one of the Inhabitants in the next Field, advancing towards the Stile, of the fame Size with him I faw in the Sea, purfuing our Boat. He appeared as tall as an ordinary Spire-Steeple, and took about ten Yards at every Stride, as near as I could guefs. I was fruck with the utmoft Fear and Aftonifhment, and ran to hide myfelf in the Corn, from whence I faw him at the Top of the Stile, looking back into the next Field on the Right Hand, and heard him call in a Voice many Degrees louder than a Speaking Trumpet; but the Noife was fo high in the Air, that at firft I certainly thought it was Thunder. Whereupon, feven Moniters, like himfelf, came towards him with Reaping-Hooks in their Hands, each Hook about the Largenel's of fix Scythes. Thefe People were not fo well clad as the firft, whofe Servants or Labourers they feemed to be: For, upon fome Words he fpoke, they went to reap the Corn in the Field where I lay. I kept from them at as great a Diftance as I could, but was forced to move with extreme Difficulty, for the Stalks of the Corn were fometimes not above a Foot diftant, fo that I could hardly fqueefe my Body betwixt them. I made Shift to go forward, tin I came to a Part of the Field where the Corn had been laid by the Rain and Wind. Here it was impoffible for me to advance a Step; for the Stalks were fo interwoven that $I$ could not creep thorough, and the Beards of the fallen Ears fo frong and pointed that they pierced through my Cloaths into my Fleth. At the fame Time I heard the Reapers not above an hundred Yards behind me. Being quite difpirited with Toil, and wholly overcome by Grief and Defpair, I lay down between two Ridges, and heartily wifhed I might there end my Days. I bemoaned my defolate Widow, and fatherlefs Children. I lamented my own Folly and Wilfulnefs in attempting a fecond Voyage againft the Advice of all my Friends and Relations. In this terrible Agitation of Mind I could not forbear thinking of Lilliput, whofe Inhabitants looked upon me as the greateft Prodigy that ever appeared in the World: Where I was able to draw an Imperial Fleet in my Hand, and perform thofe other Actions which will be recorded for ever in the Chronicles of that Empire, while Pofterity thall hardly believe them, although attefted by Millions. I reflected what a Mortification it muft prove to me to appear as inconfiderable in this Nation, as one fingle Lilliputian would be among us. But this I conceived was to be the leait of my Misfortunes: For, as human Creatures are obferved to be more favage and cruel in Proportion to their Bulk, what could I expect but to be a Morfel in the Mouth of the firlt among thefe enormous Barbarians that thould happen to feize me? Undoubtedly Philofophers are in the Right when they tell us, that nothing is great or little otherwife than by Comparifon. It might have pleafed Fortune to let the Lillipitians find fome Nation, where the People were as diminutive with refpect to them, as they were to me. And who knows but that even this prodigious Race of Mortals might be equally overmatched in fome diftant Part of the World, whereof we have yet no Difcovery?

Scared and confounded as I was, I could not forbear going on with thefe Refeetions, when one of the Reapers, approaching within ten Yards of the Ridge where I lay, made me apprehend, that with the next Step I fhould be fquafhed to Death under his Foot, or cut in two with his Reaping-hook. And, therefore, when he was again about to move, I freamed as loud as Fear could make me. Whereupon the huge Creature trod fhort, and, looking round about under him for fome Time, at laft efpied me as I lay on the Ground. He confidered a While with the Caution of one who endeavours to lay hold on a fmall dangerous Animal, in fuch a Manner, that it may not be able either to fcratch or to bite him, as I my felf have fometimes done with a Weafel in England. At length he ventured to take me up behind by the Middle between his fore Finger and Thumb, and brought me within three Yards of his Eyes, that he might behold my Shape more perfectly. I guefled his Meaning, and my good Fortune gave me fo much Prefence of Mind, that I refolved not to fruggle in the leaft as he held me in the Air, about fixty Feet from the Ground, although he grievoufly pinched my Sides, for fear I fhould flip through his Fingers. All I ventured was to raife mine Eyes towards the Sun, and place my Hands together in a fupplicating Pofture, and to fpeak fome Words in an humble melancholy Tone, fuitable to the Condition I then was in. For I apprehended every Moment that he would dahh me againft the Ground, as we ufually do any little hateful Animal which we have have a Mind to deftroy. But my good Star would have it, that he appeared pleafed with my Voice and Geftures, and began to look upon me as a Curiofity, much wondering to hear me pronounce articulate Words, although he could not underfiand them. In the mean Time I was not able to forbear groaning and medding Tears, and turning my Head towards my Sides; letting him know, as well as I could, how crutlly I was hurt by the Preffure of his Thumb and Finger. He feemed to apprehend my Meaning ; for, lifting up the Lappet of his Coat, he put me gently into it, and immediately ran along with me to his Mafter, who was a fubftantial Farmer, and the fame Perfon I had firt feen in the Field.

The Farmer having (as I fuppofe by their Talk) received fuch an Account of me as his Servant could give him, took a Piece of a fmall Straw, about the Size of a Walking-faff, and therewith lifted up the Lappets of my Coat ; which, it feems, he thought to be fome Kind of Covering that Nature had given me. He blew my Hairs afde to take a better View of my Face. He called his Hinds about him, and alked them (as I afterwards learned) whether they had ever feen in the Fields any little Creature that refembled me: He then placed me foffly on the Ground upon pall four, but I got immediately up, and walked Mowly backwards and forwards, to let thofe People fee I had no Intent to run away. They all fat down in a Circle about me, the batter to obferve my Motions. I pulled off my Hat, and made a low Bow towards the Farmer. I fell on my Knees, and lifted up my Hands and Eyes, and fpose feveral Words as loud as I conld : I took a Purfe of Gold out of my Pocket, and humbly prefented it to him. He received it on the Palm of his Hand, then applied it clofe to his Eye, to fee what It was, and afterwards turned it feveral Times with the Point of a Pin (which he took out of his Sleeve) but could make nothing of it. Whereupon 1 made a Sign that he floould place his Hand on the Ground.
hen took the Purfe, and opening it, poured all the Gold into his Palmis. There were fix Spanib Pieces of four Piftoles each, befides twenty or thirty fmallet Coins. I faw him wet the Tip of his little Finger upon kis Tongue, and take up one of my largef Pieces, and then another, but he feemed to be wholly ignorant what they wete. He made me a Sign to pat them again into my Purfe, and the Purfe again into my Pocket, which, after offering it to him feveral Times, I thought it beft to do.

The Farmer, by this Time, was convinced I muft be a rational Creature. He fpole often to me, but the Sound of his Voice pierced my Ears like that of a Water-mill, yet his Words were articulate enough. I anfwered as loud as I could, in feveral Languages, and he often laid his Ear within two Yards of me: but all in vain, for we were wholly unintelligible to each other. He then fent his Servants to their Work, and, taking his Handkerchief out of his Pocket, he doubled and fpread it on his left Hand, which he placed flat on the Ground, with the Palm upwards, making me a Sign to flep into it, as -I could eafily do, for it was not above a Foot in Thicknefs. I thought it my Part to obey, and, for fear of falling, laid myfelf at Length upon the Hankerchief, with the Remainder of which, he lapped me up to the Head for farther Security, and in this Manner carried me Home to his Houfe. There he called his Wife, and fhewed me to her ; but fhe fcreamed and ran back, as Women in England do at the Sight of a Toad or a Spider. However, when the had a while feen my Rehaviour; and how well I obferved the Signs her Huiband made, the was foon reconciled, and, by Đegrees, grew extremely tender of me.

It was about twelve at Noon, and a Servant brought in Dinner. It was only one fublantial Difh of Meat (fit for the plain Condition of an Hufbandman) in a Difh of about four and twenty Feet Diameter. The Company were the Farmer and his Wife, three Chil-: dren, and an old Grandmother: When they were fet down, down, the Farmer placed me at fome Diftance from him on the Table, which was thirty Feet high from the Floor. I was in a terrible Fright, and kept as far as I could from the Edge, for fear of falling. The Wife minced a bit of Meat, then crumbled fome Bread on a Trencher, and placed it before me. I made her a low Bow, took out my Knife and Fork, and fell to eat, which gave them exceeding Delight. The Mittrefs fent her Maid for a fmall Dram-Cup, which held about two Gallons, and filled it with Drink; I took up the Veffel with much Difficulty in both Hands, and in a moft refpectful Manner, drank to her: Ladyhhip's Health, expreffing the Words as loud as I could in Englifh, which made the Company haugh fo. heartily, that I was almoft deafened with the Noife. This Liquor talted like a fmall Cyder, and was not unpleafant. Then the Mafter made me a Sign to come. to his Trencher-fide; but as I walked on the Table, being in great Surprize all the Time, as the indulgent Reader will eafily conceive and excufe, I happened to flumble againft a Cruft, and fell flat on my Face, but received no Hurt. I got up immediately, and obferving the good People to be in much Concern, I took my Hat (which I held under my Arm out of good Manners) and, waving it over my Head, made three Huzza's, to fhew I had got no Mifchief by my Fall. But advancing forward towards my Mafter (as I hall henceforth call him) his youngeft Son, who fat next: him, an arch Boy of about ten Years old, took me up by the Legs, and held me fo high in the Air, that I trembled every Limb; but his Father fnatched me from him, and at the fame Time gave him fuch a Box on the left Ear, as would have felled an European Troop of Horfe to the Earth, ordering him to be taken from the Table. But being afraid the Boy might owe me a Spight, and well remembring how mifchievous all Children among us naturally are to Sparrows, Rabbits, young Kittens, and Puppy-dogs, I fell on my Knees, and, pointing to the Eoy, made my Mafter to underftand, as well as I could, that I defired his Son might be pardoned. The Father complied, and the Lad took his Seat again ; whereupon I went to him and kiffed his Hand, which my Mafter took, and made him froak me gently with it.

In the midfl of Dinner, my Miftrefs's favourite Cat leapt into her Lap. I heard a Noire behind me like that of a dozen Stocking-weavers at Work; and, turning my Head, I found it proceeded from the Purring of that Animal, who feemed to be three Times larger than an Ox, as I computed by the View of her Head, and one of her Paws, while her Miftrefs was feeding and ftroaking her. The Fiercenefs of this Creature's Countenance altogether difcompofed me; though I food at the further End of the Table, above fifty Feet off; and although my Miftrefs held her faft, for fear the might give a Spring, and feize me in her Talons. But it happened there was no Danger; for the Cat took not the leaft Notice of me, when my Mafter placed me within three Yards of her. And as I have been always told, and found true by Experience in my Travels, that flying or difcovering Fear, before a fierce Animal, is a certain Way to make it purfue or attack you, fo I refolved, in this dangerous Juncture, to fhew no Manner of Concern. I walked with Intrepidity five or fix Times before the very Head of the Cat, and came within half a Yard of her; whereupon fhe drew herfelf back, as if the were more afraid of me: I had lefs Apprehenfion concerning the Dogs, whereof three or four came into the Room, as it is ufual in Farmers Houfes; one of which was a Maftiff, equal in Bulk to four Ele: phants, and a Greyhound fomewhat taller than the Martiff, but not fo large.

When Dinner was almoof done, the Nurfe came in with a Child of a Year old in her Arms, who immediately fpied me, and began a Squall that you might have heard from London-Bridge to Cbelfea, after the ufual Oratory of Infants to get me for a Play-thing. The Mo:her out of pure Indulgence took me up, and put me towards the Child, who prefently feized me by the Middle, and got my Head into his Mouth, where I roared fo loud that the Urchin was frighted, and let me drop, and I thould infallibly have broke my Neck if the Mother had not held her Apron under me. The Nurfe to quiet her Babe made ufe of a Rattle, which was a kind of hollow Veffel filled with great Stones, and faftened by a Cable to the Child's Wafte : But all in vain, fo that the was forced to apply the laft Remedy by giving it Suck. I muft confers no Object ever difgufted me fo much as the Sight of her monflrous Breaft, which I cannot tell what to compare with, fo as to give the curious Reader an Idea of its Bulk, Shape, and Colour. It ftood prominent fix Feet, and could mot be lefs than Sixteen in Circumference. The Nipple was about half the Bignefs of my Head, and the Hue both of that and the Dug fo varified with Spots, Pimples, and Freckles, that nothing could appear more naufeous: For I had a near Sight of her, fhe fitting down the more conveniently to give Suck, and I ftanding on the Table. This made me reflect upon the fair Skins of our Englijh Ladies, who appear fo beautiful to us, only becaufe they are of our own Size, and their Defeets not to be feen but through a Magnifying-glafs, where we find by Experiment, that the fmootheft and whitef Skins look rough and courfe, and ill-coloured.

I remember, when I was at Lilliput, the Complexions of thofe diminutive People appeared to me the faireft in the World, and talking upon this Subject with a Per: fon of Learning there, who was an intimate Friend of mine, he faid that my Face appeared much fairer and fmoother when he looked on me from the Ground, than it did upon a nearer View when I took him up in my Hand and brought him clofe, which He confeffed was at firtt a very fhocking Sight. He faid he could difcover great Holes in my Skin; that the Stumps of my Beard were ten Times flronger than the Briftles of a Boar, and my Complexion made up of feveral Colours altogether difagreeable: Although I mult beg Leave to Say for myfelf, that I am'as fair as moft of my Sex and Country, and very little Sun-burnt by Travels. On the other Side, difcourfing of the Ladies in that Emperor's Court, he ufed to tell me, one hadd Freckles, anocher too wide a Mouth, a third too large a Nofe; nothing of which I was able to diltinguifh. I confefs; this Reflegion was obvious enough; which, however, I could not forbear, left the Reader might think thofe. vaft Creatures were actually deformed: For I muft do. them Juftice to fay, they are a comely Race of People ; and particularly the Features of my Mafter's Countenance, although he were but a Farmer, when I beheld him from the Height of fixty Feet, appeared very well proportioned.

When Dinner was done, my Mafter went out to his Labourers, and, as I could difcover by his Voice and Gefture, gave his Wife a frict Charge to take Care of me. I was very much tired, and difpofed to fleep ${ }_{3}$ which my Miltrefs perceiving, the put me on her own Bed, and covered me with a clean white Handkerchief, but larger and coarfer than the Main.fail of a Man of War.

I flept about two Hours, and dreamed I was at Home with my Wife and Children, which aggravated my Sorrows when I awaked, and found myrelf alone in a vaft Room, between two and three hundred Feet wide, and above two-hundred high, lying in a Bed twenty Yards wide. My Miftrefs was gone about her Houhhold Affairs, and had locked me in. The Bed was eight Yards from the Floor. Some natural Neceffities required me to get down; I durf not prefume to call, and, if I had; it would have been in vain, with fuch a Voiçe as mine, at fo great a Diftance as from the Room where I lay to the Kitchen where the Family kept. While I was under thefe Circumfances, two Rats crept up the Curtains, and ran fmelling backwards and forwards on the Bed. One of them came up almoft to my Face, whereupon I rofe in a Fright, and drew out my Hanger to defend myfelf. Thefe horrible Animals had the Bold-nefs to attack me on both Sides, and one of them held his Fore-feet at my Collar ; but I had the good Fortune to rip up his Belly before he could do me any Mirchief. He fell down at my Feet, and the other, feeing the Fate of Kis Comrade, made his Efcape, but not without one good Wound on the Back, which I gave him as he fled, and made the blood run trickling from him. After this Exploit, I walked gently to and fro on the Bed, to recover my Breath, and Lofs of Spirits. Thefe Creatures were of the Size of a large Maftiff, but infinitely more nimble and fierce, fo that, if I had taken off my Belt before I went to fleep, I muft have infallibly been torn to Pieces and devoured. I meafured the Tail of the dead Rat, and found it to be two Yards long, wanting an Inch; but it went againf my Stomach to drag the Carcafs off the Bed, where it lay ftill bleeding; I obferved it had yet fome Life, but, with a ftrong Slafh crofs the Neck, I thoroughly difpatched it.

Soon after, my Miftrefs came into the Room, who, feeing me all bloody, ran and took me up in her Hand. I pointed to the dead Rat, fmiling, and making other Signs, to fhew I was not hart, whereat the was extremely rejoiced, calling the Maid to take up the dead Rat with a Pair of Tongs, and throw it out of the Window. Then fhe fet me on a Table, where I hewed her my Hanger all bloody, and, wiping it on the Lappet of my Coat, returned it to the Scabbard. I was preffed to do more than one Thing, which another could ot do for me, and therefore endeavoured to make my Miftrefs underftand that I defired to be fet down on the Floor; which after fhe had done, my Bathfulnefs would not fuffer me to exprefs myfelf farther, than by pointing to the Door, and bowing feveral Times. The good Wontan, with much Difficulty, at laft perceived what I would be at, and taking me up again in her Hand, walked into the Garden, where the fet me down. I went on one Side, about two hundred Yards, and, beckoning to her not to look or to follow mit, I hid myfelf between Leaves of Sorrel, and there difcharged the Neceffities of Nature.

I hope the gentle Reader will excufe me for dwelling on thefe and the like Particulars, which, however infignificant they may appear to grovelling vulgar Minds, yet will certainly help a Philofopher to enlarge his Thoughts and Imagination, and to apply them to a Benefit of public as well as private Life, which was my fole Defign in prefenting this and other Accounts of my Travels to the World; wherein I have been chiefly fudious of Truth, without affecting any Ornaments of Learning or of Style. But the whole Scene of this Voyage made fo ftrong an Impreffion on my Mind, and is fo deeply fixed in my Memory, that, in committing it to Paper, I did not omit one material Circumftance : However, upon a frrict Review, I blotted out feveral Paflages of lefs Moment which were in my firt Copy, for fear of being cenfured as tedious and trifling, whereof Travellers are often, perhaps not without Juftice, accufed.

C HAP. II.

A Defcription of the Farmer's Daughter. T'he Author carried to a Market-Town, and then to the Metropolis. The Particulars of his Fourney.

MY Miftrefs had a Daughter of nine Years old, a Child of towardly Parts for her Age, very dexterous at her Needle, and kilful in drefling her Baby. Her Mother and fhe contrived to fit up the Baby's Cradle for me againft Night : The Cradle was put into a fmall Drawer placed upon a Hanging. Shelf, for Fear of the Rats. This was my Bed all the Time I ftayed with thofe People, tho' made more convenient by Degrees, as I began to learn their Language, and make my Wants known. This young Girl was fo handy, that, after I had once or twice pulled off my G 2 Cloath

AVOYAGE

Cloaths before her, the was able to drefs and undref's me, though I never gave her that Trouble, when the would let me do either myfelf. She made me feven Shirts, and fome other Linnen, of as fine Cloth as could be got, which, indeed, was coarfer than SackCloth; and thefe fhe conftantly wafhed for me with her own Hands. She was likewife my Schood-Miftrefs, to teach me the Language: When I pointed to any Thing, fhe told me the Name of it in her own Tongue, fo that, in few Days, I was able to call for whatever I had a Mind to. She was very good:natured, and not above forty Feet high, being little for her Age. She gave me the Name of Grildrig, which the Family took up, and afterwards the whole Kingdom. The Word imports, what the Latins call Nanunculus, the Italians Homuncektizo, and the Engli/b Mannikin. To hes I chielly owe my Prefervation in that Ceuntry: We never parted while I was there, I called her my Glusdalid tcs, or little Nurfe: And fhoukd be guilty of great Ingratitude, if I omitted this honourable Mention of her Care and Affection towards me, which $I$ heartily wifh it lay in my Power to requite as the deferves, inftead of being the innocent, but unhappy Infrument of her Difgrace, as I have too much Reafon to fear.

- It now began to be known and talked of ir the. Neighbourhood, that my Mafter had found a ftrange Animal in the Field, about the Bignefs of a Splacknuck, but exactly fhaped in every Part like a human Creature; which it likewife imitated in all its Actions; feemed to fpeak in a little Language of its own, had already learned feveral Words of theirs, went erect uppon two Legs, was tame and gentle, would come when it wias called, do whatever he was bid, had the fineft Limbs in the World, and a Complexion faiver than a. Nobleman's Daughter of three Yiears old. Another Farmer, who lived hard by, and was a parsicular. Friend of my Mafter, came on a Vifit on Purpofe to enquire into the I ruth of this Story. I was immediately produced, and placed upon a Table, where I walked as I was commanded, drew my Hanger, put it up again, made my Reverence to my Mafter's Gueft, alked him in his own Language how he did, and told him he was welcome, juft as my little Nurfe had inftructed me. This Man, who was old and dim-fighted, put on his Spectacles to behold me better, at which I could not forbear laughing very heartily. for his Eyes appeared like the Full-Moon flining into a Chamber at two Windows. Our People, who difcovered the Caufe of my Mirth, bore me Company in laughing, at which the Old Fellow was Fool enough to be angry and out of Countenance. He had the Character of a great Mifer, and, to my Misfortune, he well deferved it, by the curfed Advice he gave my Mafter to fhew me as a Sight upon a Market-Day in the next Town, which was half an Hour's Riding. about two and twenty Miles from our Houfe. I gueffed there was fome Mifchief contriving, when I obferved. my Mafter and his Friend whifpering long together, fometimes pointing at me; and my Fears made me fancy that I overheard and underfood fome of their Words. But, the next Morning, Glumdalclitch, my little Nurfe, told me the whole Matter, which fhe had cunningly picked out from her Mother. The poor' Girl laid me on her Bofom, and fell a weeping with Shame and Grief. She apprehended fome Mifchief would happen to me from rude vulgar Folks, who might fqueefe me to Death, or break one of my Limbs, by taking me in their Hands. She had alfo obferved. how modeft I was in my Nature, how nicely I regarded my Honour, and what an Indignity 1 hould conceive it to be expofed for Money as a public Spectacle to the meanelt of the People. She faid, her Papa and Mamma had promifed that Grildrig hould be hers, but now fhe found they meant to ferve her as they did laft Year, when they pretended to give her a Lamb, and yet, as foon as it was fat, fold it to ZoButcher. For my own Part, I may truly affirm, that I was lefs concerned than my Nurfe. I had a frong Hope, which never left me, that I fhould one Day recover my Liberty ; and as to the Ignominy of being carried about for a Monfter, I confidered myfelf to be a perfect Stranger in the Country, and that fuch a Misfortune could never be charged upon me as a Reproach, if ever I hould return to England; fince the King of Great Britain himfelf, in my Condition, muft have undergone the fame Diftrefs.

My Mafter, purfuant to the Advice of his Friend, carried me in a Box the next Market-Day to the neighbouring Town, and took along with him his little Daughter, my Nurfe, upon a Pillion behind him. The Box was clofe on every Side, with a little Door for me to go in and out, and a few Gimlet-Holes to let in Air. The Girl had been fo careful to put the Quilt of her Baby's Bed into it, for me to lie down on. However, I was terribly fhaken and difcompofed in this Journey, though it were but of half an Hour. For the Horfe went about forty Feet at every Step, and trotted fo high, that the Agitation was equal to the rifing and falling of a Ship in a great Storm, but much more frequent: Our Journey was fomewhat farther than from London to St. Alban's. My Mafter alighted at an Inn which he ufed to frequent; and after confulting a while with the Inn-Keeper, and making fome neceffary Preparations, he hired the Grultrud or Crier to give Notice through the Town of a flrange Creature to be feen at the Sign of the Green Earle, not fo big as a Splacnuck, (an Animal in that Country very finely fhaped, about fix Feet long) and in every Part of the Body refembling an human Creature, could fpeak feveral Words, and perform an hundred diverting Tricks.

I was placed upon a Table in the largeft Room of the Inn, which might be near three hundred Feet fquare. My little Nurfe food on a low Stool clofe to the Table, to take Care of me, and direct what I fhould do. My Mafter, to avoid a Croud, would fuffer only thirty

People at a Time to fee me. I walked about on the. Table as the Girl commanded: She afked me Queftions, as far as fhe knew my Underftanding of the Language reached, and I anfwered them as loud as I could. I turned about feveral Times to the Company, paid my humble Refpects, faid they were welcome, and ured fome other Speeches I had been taught. I took up a Thimble filled with Liquor, which Glumdalclitch had given me for a Cup, and drank their Health. I drew out my Hanger, and flourifhed with it after the Manner of Pencers in England. My Nurfe gave me Part of a Straw, which I exercifed as a Pike, having learned the Art in my Youth. I was that Day fhewn to twelve Sets of Company, and as often forced to go over again the fame Fopperies, till I was half dead with Wearinefs and Vexation. For thofe who had feen me made fuch wonderful Reports, that the People were ready to break down the Doors to come in. My Mafter, for his own Intereff, would not fuffer any one to touch me except my Narfe; and, to prevent Danger, Benches were fet round the Table at fuch a Diftance as to put me out of every Body's Reach. However, an unlucky School-Boy aimed a Hazel-Nut direcly at my Head, which very narrowly miffed me; otherwife, it came with fo much Violence that it would have infallibly knocked out my Brains, for it was almoft as large as a fmall Pumpion: But I had the Satisfaction to fee the young Rogue well beaten, and turned out of the Room.

My Mafter gave public Notice, that he would Thew me again the next Market-Day, and in the mean Time he prepared a more convenient Vehicle for me, which he had Reafon enough to do; for I was fo tired with my firft Journey, and with entertaining Company for cight Hours together, that I could hardly fand upon my Legs, or fpeak a Word. It was at leaft three Days before I recovered my Strength; and that I might have no Reft at Home, all the neighbouring Gentlemen from a hundred Milcs round, hearing of my Fame, came to fee me at my Mafter's own Houfe. There could not be fewer than thirty Perfons with their Wives and Children (for the Country is very populous;) and my Mafter demanded the Rate of a full Room whenever he fhewed me at Home, although it were only to a fingle Family : So that for fome Time I had but little Eafe every Day of the Week (except $W$ ednefday, which is their Sabbath) although I were not carried to the Town.

My Mafter, finding how profitable I was like to be, refolved to carry me to the moft confiderable Cities of the Kingdom. Having therefore provided himfelf with all Things neceffary for a long Journey, and fettled his Affairs at Home, he took Leave of his Wife, and upon the 1 th of Auguf 1703, about two Months after my Arrival, we fet out for the Metropolis, fituated near the Middle of that Empire, and about three thoufand Miles Diftance from our Houfe: My Mafter made his Daughter Glumdalclitcb ride behind him. She carried me on her Lap, in a Box tied about her Waif. The Girl had lined it on all Sides with the fofeft Cloth the could get, well quilted underneath, furnifhed it with her Baby's Eed, provided me with Linnen and other Neceffaries, and made every Thing as convenient as The could. We had no other Company but a Boy. of the Houfe, who rode after us with the Luggage.

My Mafter's Defign was to fhew me in all the Towns by the Way, and to ftep out of the Road for fifty or an hundred Miles, to any Village, or Perfon of Quality's Houfe, where he might expect Cuftom. We made eafy Journeys of not above feven or eight Score Miles a Day: For Glumdalclitch, on Purpofe to fpare me, complained the was tired with the Trotting of the Horfe. She often took me out of my Box, at my own Defire, to give me Air, and fhew me the Country, but always held me faft by a Leading-String. We paffed over five or fix Rivers, many Degrees broader and deeper than the Nile, or the Ganges; and there was hardly a Rivulet fo fmall as the Thames at Londong Bridge.

Bridge. We were ten Weeks in our Journey, and I was fhewn in eighteen large Towns, befides many Villages and private Families.

- On the 26th Day of OEtober, we arrived at the Me.: tropolis, called, in their Language, Lorbrulgrud, or Pride of the Univerfe. My Mafter took a Lodging in the principal Street of the City, not far from the Royal Palace, and put out Bills in the ufual Form, containmg an exact Defription of my Perfon and Parts. He hired a large Room, between three and four hundred Feet wide. He provided a Table fixty Feet in diamoter, upon which I was to act my Part, and pallifadoed it round three Feet from the Edge, and as many high, to prevent my falling over. I was fhewn ten Times a Day, to the Wonder and Satisfaction of all People. Icould now fpeak the Language tolerably well, and perfectly underfood every Word that was fpoken to me. Befides, I had learned their Alphabet, and could make a Shift to explain a Sentence here and there ; for Glumdalclitch had been my Inftructor while we were at Home, and at leifure Hours during our Journey. She carried a little Book in her Pocket, not much larger than a Sanfon's Atlas; it was a common Treatife for the Ufe of young Girls, giving a fhort Account of their Religion; out of this the taught me my Letters, and interpreted the Words.

CHAP.

C H A P. III. ${ }^{1}$

The Autbor fent for to Court. The Queen buys bims of his Mafter the Farmer, and prefents bim to the King. He difputes with bis Majefty's great Scholars. An Apartment at Court provided for the Autbor. He is in high Favour with the Queen. $H_{e}$ fands up for the Honour of bis own Country. His Quarrels with the Queen's Dwarf.

THE frequent Labours I underwent, every Day, made in few Weeks a very confiderable Change in my Health : The more my Matter got by me, the more infatiable he grew. I had quite loft my Stomach, and was almoft reduced to a Skeleton. The Farmer obferved it, and, concluding I muft foon die, refolved to make as good a Hand of me as he could. While he was thus reafoning and refolving with himfelf, a Slardral, or Gentleman-Uher, came from Court, commanding my Mafter to carry me immediately thither, for the Diverfion of the Queen and her Ladies. Some of the latter had already been to fee me, and reported frange Things of my Beauty, Behaviour, and good Senfe. Her Majefty, and thofe who attended her, were beyond Meafure delighted with my Demeanour, I fell on my Knees, and begged the Honour of kiffing her Imperial Foot ; but this gracious Princefs held out her little Finger towards me (after I was fet on a Table) which I embraced in both my Arms, and put the Tip of it, with the utmoft Refpect, to my Lips. She made me fome general Queftions about my Country, and my Travels, which I anfwered as diftinctly, and in as few Words as I could. She afked whether I would be content to live at Court. I bowed down to the Board of the Table, and humbly anfwered that I was my Mafter's Slave; but, if I were at my own Difpofal, I hould be proud to devote my Life to her Majefty's Service.

She then afked my Mafter whether he were willing to fell me at a good Price. He, who apprehended I could not live a Month, was ready enough to part with me, and demanded a thoufand Pieces of Gold, which were ordered him on the Spot, each Piece being about the Bignefs of eight-hundred Moydores; but, allowing for the Proportion of all Things between that Country and Europe, and the high Price of Gold among them. was hardly fo great a Sum as a thoufand Guineas would be in England. I then faid to the Queen, fince I was now her Majefty's moft humble Creature and Vaffal, I mult beg the Favour, that Glumdalclitch, who had always tended me with fo much Care and Kindnefs, and underftood to do it fo well, might be admitted into her Service, and continue to be my Nurfe and Inftructor. Her Majefty agreed to my Petition, and eafily got the Farmer's Confent, who was glad enough to have his Daughter preferred at Court: And the poor Girl herfelf was not able to hide her Joy: My late Mafter withdrew, bidding me Farewel, and faying he had left me in a good Service; to which I replied not a Word, only making him a flight Bow.

The Queen obferved my Coldnefs, and, when the Farmer was gone out of the Apartment, anked me the Reafon. I made bold to tell her Majefty, that I owed no other Obligation to my late Mafter, than his not dafhing out the Brains of a poor harmlefs Creature found by Chance in his Field ; which Obligation was amply recompenfed by the Gain he had made in thewing me thro' half the Kingdom, and the Price he had now fold me for. That the Life I had fince led, was laborious enough to kill an Animal of ten Times my Strength. That my Health was much impaired by the continual Drudgery of entertaining the Rabble every Hour of the Day, and that, if my Mafter had not thought my Life in Danger, her Majefty would not have got fo cheap a Bargain. But as I was out of all Fear of being ill treated under the Protection of fo great and good an Emprefs, the Ornament of Nature, the Darling of the World, World, the Delight of her Subjeas, the Phoenix of the Creation ; fo, I hoped my late Mafters apprehenfions would appear to be groundlefs, for I already found my Spirits to revive by the Influence of her moft anguft Prefence.

This was the Sum of my Speech, delivered with great Improprieties and Hefitation; the latter Part was ahogether framed in the Style peculiar to that People, whereof I learned fome Phraies from Glumdalclitch, while fhe was carrying me to Court.

The Queen, giving great Allowance for my Defectiveners in fpeaking, was however furprifed at fo much Wit and good Senfe in fo diminutive an Animal. She took me in her own Hands, and carried me to the King, who was then retired to his Cabinet. His Majefty, a Prince of much Gravity, and auftere Countenance, not well obferving my Shape at firft View, afked the Queen after a cold Manner, how long it was fince the grew fond of a Splacnuck; for fuch it feems he took me to be, as I lay upon my Breaft in her Majefty's Right-hand. But this Princefs, who hath an infinite deal of Wit and Humour, fet me gently on my Feet upon the Scrutore, and commanded me to give his Majefty an Account of myfelf, which I did in a very few Words; and Glumdalclitch, who attended at the Cabinet Door, and could not endure I hould be out of her Sight, being admitted, confirmed all that had paffed from my Arrival at her Father's Houfe.

The King, although he be as learned a Perfon as any in his Dominions, had been educated in the Study of Philofophy, and particularly Mathematics; yet when he obferved my Shape exactly, and faw me walk erect, before I began to fpeak, conceived I might be a Piece of Clock-work (which is in that Country arrived: to a very great Perfection) contrived by fome ingenious Artif. But when he heard my Voice, and found what I delivered to be regular and rational, he could not conceal his Aftonifhment. He was by no Means fati fied with the Relation I gave him of the Manner I came into his Kingdom, but thought it a Story concerted between Glumdalclitch and her Father, who had taught me a Set of Words to make me fell at a better Price. Upon this Imagination he put feveral other Queftions to me, and ftill received rational Anfwers, no otherwife defective, than by a foreign Accent, and an imperfect Knowledge in the Language, with fome ruftic Phrafes which I had learned at the Farmer's Houfe, and did not fuit the polite Style of a Court.

His Majefty fent for three great Scholars who were then in their weekly Waiting, according to the Cuftom in that Country. Thefe Gentlemen, after they had a while examined my Shape with much Nicety, were of different Opinions concerning me. They all agreed that I could not be produced according to the regular Laws of Nature, becaufe I was not framed with a Capacity of preferving my Life, either by Swifnefs, or Climbing of Trees, or Digging Holes in the Earth. They obferved by my Teeth, which they viewed with great Exaetnefs, that I was a carnivorous Animal ; yet moft Quadrupeds being an Overmatch for me, and Field-mice, with fome others, too nimble, they could not imagine how I fhould be able to fupport myfelf unlefs I fed upon Snails and other Infects, which they offered, by many learned Arguments, to evince that I could not poffibly do. One of thefe Virtuofi feemed to think that I might be an Embryo, or abortive Birth. But this Opinion was rejected by the other two, who obferved my Limbs to be perfect and finifhed, and that I had lived feveral Years, as it was manifeft from my Beard, the Stumps whereof they plainly difcovered through a Magnifying-glafs. They would not allow me to be a Dwarf, becaufe my Littlenefs was beyond all Degrees of Comparifon ; for the Queen's favourite Dwarf, the fmallef ever known in that Kingdom, was near thirty Feet high. After much Debate, they concluded unanimoufly that I was only Relplum Scalcatch, which is interpreted literally, Lufus Nature; 2. Determination exactly agreeable to the modern Phi- ties, to the unfpeakable Advancement of human Knowledge.

After this decifive Conclufion, I entreated to be heard a Word or two. I applied myfelf to the King, and affured his Majefty that I came from a Country which abounded with feveral Millions of both Sexes, and of my own Stature ; where the Animals, Trees, and Houfes were all in Proportion, and where by Confequence I might be as able to defend myfelf, and to find Suftenance, as any of his Majefty's SubjeCts could do here; which I took for a full Anfwer to thofe Gentlemens Arguments. To this they only replied with a Smile of Contempt, faying, That the Farmer had inftructed me very well in my Leffon. The King, who had a much better Undertanding, difmiffing his learned Men, fent for the Farmer, who by good Fortune was not yet gone out of Town: Having therefore firt examined him privately, and then confronted him with me and the young Girl, his Majefty began to think that what we told him might poffibly be true. He defired the Queen to order that a particular Care fhould be taken of me, and was of Opinion, that Glumdalcitch fhould fill continue in her Office of tending me, becaufe he obferved we had a great Affection for each other. A convenient Apartment was provided for her at Court; fhe had 2 a Sort of Governels appointed to take Care of her Education, a Maid to drefs her, and two other Servants for menial Offices ; but the Care of me was wholly appropriated to herfelf. The Queen commanded her own Cabi-net-maker to contrive aßBox that might ferve me for 2 Bed-chamber, after the Model that Glumdalclitch and I fhould agree upon. This Man was a moft ingenious Artift, and, according to my Directions, in three Weeks finifhed for me a wooden Chamber of fixteen Feet fquare, and twelve high, with Safh-windows, a Door, and two

Clofeta,

Clofets, like a London Bed-chamber. The Board, that made the Cieling, was to be lifted up and down by two Hinges, to put in a Bed ready furnifhed by her Majefty's Upholferer, which Glumdalclitch took out every Day to Air, made it with her own Hands, and, letting it down at Night, locked up the Roof over me. A nice Workman, who was famous for little Curiofities, undertook to make me two Chairs, with Backs and Frámes of a Subftance not unlike Ivory, and two Tables, with a Cabinet to put my Things in. The Room was quilted on all Sides, as well as the Floor and the Cieling, to prevent any Accident from the Carelefnefs of thofe who carried me, and to break the Force of a Jolt when I went in a Coach. I defired a Lock for my Door, to 'prevent Rats and Mice from coming in: The Smith, after feveral Attempts, made the fmalleft that ever was feen among them, for I have known a larger at the Gate of a Gentleman's Houfe in England. I made a Shift to keep the Key in a Pocket of my own, fearing Glumdalclitch might lofe it. The Queen likewife ordered the thineft Silks that could be gotten, to make me Cloaths, not much thicker than an Engli/b Blanket, very cumberfome, till I was accuftomed to them. They were after the Fainion of the Kingdom, partly refembling the Perfian, and partly the Cbinefe, and are a very grave and decent Habit.

The Queen became fo fond of my Company, that fthe could not dine without me. I had a Table placed upon the fame at which her Majelly eat, juft at her Left Elbow, and a Chair to fit on. Glumdalclitch flood on a Stool on the Floor, near my Table, to affift and take Care of me. I had an entire Set of Silver Diflies and Plates, and other Neceffaries, which, in Proportion to thofe of the Queen's, were not much bigger than what I have feen of the fame Kind in a London ToyShop, for the Furnitare of a Baby-Houfe: Thefe my little Nurfe kept in her Pocket, in a Silver Box, and gave me at Meals as I wanted them, always cleaning them herfelf. No Perfon dined with the.Queen bur the two Princeffes Royal, the elder fixteen Years 'old, and the younger at that Time thirteen and a Month. Her Majelty ufed to put a Bit of Meat upon one of my Difhes, out of which I carved for myfelf; and her Diverfion was to fee me eat in Miniature. For the Queen (who had, indeed, but a weak Stomach) took up, at one Mouthful, as much as a Dozen Engli/乃 Farmers could eat at a Meal, which, to me, was for fome Time a very naufeous Sight. She would crunch the Wing of a Lark, Bones and all, between her Teeth, although it were nine Times as large as that of a full grown Turkey; and put a Bit of Bread into her Mouth, as big as two $\tau_{\text {welve-Penny }}$ Loaves. She drank out of a Golden Cup, above a Hoghead at a Draught. Her Knives were twice as long as a Scythe, fet ftrait upon the Handle. The Spoons, Forks, and other Inftruments, were all in the fame Proportion: I remember, when Glumdalclitch carried me out of Curiofity to fee fome of the Tables at Court, where ten or a dozen of thefe enormous Knives and Forks were lifted up together. I thought I had never, till then, beheld fo terrible a Sight.

It is the Cuftom, that every Wednefday (which, as I have before obferved, was their Sabbath) the King and Queen, with the Royal Iffue of both Sexes, dine together in the Apartment of his Majefty, to whom I was now become a great Favourite ; and at thefe Times my little Chair and Table were placed at his Left Hand, before one of the Salt-Cellars. This Prince took a Pleafure in converfing with me, enquiring into the Manners, Religion, Laws, Government, and Learning. of Europe; wherein I gave him the beft Account I was able. His Apprehenfion was fo clear, and his Judgment fo exact, that he made very wife Reflections and Obfervations upon all I faid. But I confefs, that after I had been a little too copious in Talking of my own beloved Country, of our Trade, and Wars by Sea and. Land, of our Schifms in Religion, and Parties in the State; the Prejudices of his Education prevailed fo far, that he could not forbear taking met up in hiss Right Hand, and ftroaking me gently with the other, after an hearty Fit of Laughing, alked me, Whether I was a Whig or Tory? Then turning to his Firt Minifler, who waited behind him with a white Staff, near as tall as the Main-Maft of the Royal Sowereign, he obferved how contemptible a Thing was human Grandeur, which could be mimicked by fuch diminutive Infects as I: And yet, fays he, I dare engate, thefe Creatures have their Titles and Diftinctions of Honour, they contrive little Nefts and Burrows, that they call Houfes and Cities; they make a Figare in Drefs and Equipage; they love, they fight, they difpute, they cheat, they betray. And thus he continued on, while my Colour came and went feveral Times, with Indignation, to hear our noble Country, the Miftrefs of Arts: and Arms, the Scourge of France, the Arbitrefs of Europe, the Seat of Virtue, Piety, Honour, and Truth, the Pride and Envy of the World, fo contemptuounly treated.

But as I was not in a Condition to refent Injuries, fo, upon mature Thoughts, I began to doubt whether I was injured or no. For, after having been accurf tomed feveral Months to the Sight and Converfe of this People, and obferved every Object upon which I caft mine Eyes, to be of proportionable Magnitude, the Horror I had at firft conceived, from their Bulk and Afpect, was fo far worn off, that if I had then beheld a Company of Englifh Lords and Ladies in' their Finery, and Birth-Day Cloaths, aeting their feveral Parts in the moft courtly Manner, of frutting, and bowing, and prating; to fay the Truth, I fhouldhave been ftrongly tempted to laugh as muck at them, as the King and his Grandees did at me. Neither, indeed, could I forbear fmiling at myfelf, when the Queen ufod to place me upon her Hand towards a: Looking-Gliffs, by which both our Perfons appeared: before me in full View together; and there could nothing be more ridiculous than the Comparifon: So that
I. really began to imagine myfelf 'dwingted manty Degrees below my ufual Size.

Nothing angered and mortified me fo much as theQueen's Dwarf, who being of the loweft Stature that was ever ir that Country (for I verily think he was not full thirty Feet high) became infolent at feeing a Creature fo much beneath him, that he would always: affect to fwagger and look big as he pafled by me in the Queen's Anti-Chamber, while I was flanding onfome Table talking with the Lords or Ladies of the Court, and he feldom failed of a fmart Word or two upon my Littlenefs; againtt which I could only revenge myfelf by calling him Brother, challenging himto wrefle, and iuch Repartees as are ufual in the Mouthsof Court Pages. One Day, at Dinner, this malicious: little Cubb was fo nettled with fomething I had faid to him, that, raifing himelf upon the Frame of her Majefity's Chair, he took me up by the Middle, as I was fitting down, not thinking any Harm, and let me drop: into 2 large Silver Bowl of Cream, and then ran away as faft as he could. I fell over Head and Ears; and; if I had not been a good Swimmer, it might have gonevery hard with me; for Glumdalclitch, in that Inftant, happened to be at the other End of the Room, and the Queen was in fuch a Fright, that fhe wanted Prefence of Mind to affilt me. But my little Nurfe ran to my, Relief, and took me out, after I had fwallowed apove a Quart of Cream. I was put to Bed; however, I received no other Damage than the Lofs of a Suit of Cloaths, which was utterly fpoiled. The Bwarf was foundly whipped, and, as. a farther Punifhment, forced to drink up the Bowl of Cream, into which he hat thrown me; neither was he ever reftored to Favous: For, foon affer, the Queen beftowel him on a Lady of high Quality, fo that I faw him no more, to my very great Satisfaction; for I could not tell to what Fxtremity fuch a malicious Utchin might hiave carried his Refentment.

He

He had before ferved me a fcurvy Trick, which fet the Queen a laughing, although at the fame Time the was heartily vexed, and would have immediately calhiered him, if I had not been fo generous as to intercede. . Her Majelty had taken a Marrow-Bone upon her Plate, and, after knocking out the Marrow, placed the Bone again in the Difh ereet, as it flood before; the Dwarf watching his Opportunity, while Glumdalclitct bas gone to the Side-Board, mounted the Stool the ftood on to take Care of me at Meals, took me up in both Hands, and; fqueefing my Legs together, wedged them into the Marrow: Bone above my Waif, where I fuck for fome Time, and made a very ridiculous Figure. I believe it was near a Minute before any one knew what was become of me; for I thought it below me to cry ont. But, as Princes feldom get their Meat hot, my Legs were not fcalded, only my Stockings and Breeches in a fad Condition. The Dwarf, at'my Entreaty, had no other Punifhment thian a found Whipping.

I was frequently rallied by the Queen, upon Ac:count of my Fearfulnefs; and fhe ured to afk me, Whether the People of my Country were as great Cowards as myfelf? The Occafion was this: The Kingdom is much peftered with Flies in Summer; and thefe odious Infects, each of them as big as a Dunfable Lark, hardly gave me any Reft while'I fat at Dinner, with their continual humming and buzzing about mine Ears. Thiey would fometimes alight upon my Vietuals, and leave their loathfome Excrement or Spawin behind, which to me was very vifible, though not to the $\mathrm{Na}-$ tives of that Country, whofe large Optics were not fo acute as mine in viewing fmaller Objects. Sometimes they would fix upon my Nofe or Forehead, where they ftung me to the Quick, fmelling very offenfively , and I could eafily trace that vifcous Matter, which. our Naturalifts tell us, enables thofe Creatures to walk with their Feet upwards upon a Cieling. I had much ado to defend myfelf againft thefe deteftable Animals, and could not forbear farting when they came on my Face. It was the common. Practice of the Dwarf to catch a Number of thefeInfeets in his Hand, as Schoolboys do among us, and let them out fuddenly under my Nofe, on Parpofe to frighten me, and diyert the Queen. My Remedy was to cut them in Pieces with my Knife, as they flew in the Air, wherein my Dexterity was much admired.

I remember, one Morning, when Glumdalclitch had fet me in my Box upon a Window, as the ufually did, in fair Days to give me Air (for I durft not venture to let. the Box be hung on a Nail out of the Window, as we do with Cages in Eigland) after I had lifted up one of my Salhes, and fat down, at my Table to eat. $\square$ Piece of fweet Cake for my Breakfaft, above twenty Warps, allured by the Smell, came flying into the Room, humming louder than the Drones of as many Bagpipes. Some of them feized my Cake, and carried it Piece-meal away; others flew abour my Head and Face, confounding me with the Noife, and putting me in the utmoft Terror of their Stings. However, 1 had the Courage to rife and draw my Hanger, and attack them in the Air. I difpatched four of them, but the reft got away, and I prefently thut my Window. Thefe Infects were as large as Partidges; I took out their Stings, found them an Inch and a half long; and as fharp as Needjes. I carefully preferved them all, and having fince fhewn them with fome ather Cu riofities, in feveral, Parts. of Europe; upan my Returs to England, I gave three of them to Greßam-Colkge, and kept the fourth for myself.

CHAP.

CHAP. IV.

The Country defcribed. A Propofal for correcting modern Maps. The King's Palace, and jome Account of the Metropolis. The Autber's Way of Travelling. The chief Temple defcribed.

INow intend to give the Reader a fhort Defcription of this Country, as far as I travelled in it, which Was not above two-thoufand Miles round Lorbrulgrud, the Metropolis. For the Queen, whom I always attended, never went farther when fhe accompanied the King in his Progreffes, and there flaid till his Majefty returned from viewing his Frontiers. The whole Extent of this Prince's Dominions reacheth about fixthoufand Miles in Length, and from three $\infty$ five in Breadth. From whence I cannot but conclude, that our Geographers of Europe are in a great Error, by fuppofing nothing but Sea between Fapan and California; for it was ever my Opinion, that there muft be a Balance of Earth to counterpoife the great Continent of Tartary; and therefore they eught to correct theit Maps and Charts, by joining this vaft Tract of Land to the North-wef Parts of America, wherein I fhall be ready to lend them my Affiftance.

The Kingdom is a Petinfala, terminated to the North-eaft by a Ridge of Mountains thirty Miles high, which are altogether impaffable, by Realon of the Volcanoes upon the Tops. Neither do the moft Learned know what Sort of Mortals inhabit beyond thofo Monneains, or whether they be inhabited at all. On the three other Sides it is bounded by the Ocean. There is not one Sea-port in the whole Kingdom, and thofe Parts of the Coafts into which the Rivers iffue, are fo fall of pointed Rocks, and the Sea generally fo rough, that there is no veifuring with the fimallef of their Boats, fo that thefe People are wholly excluded from any Commerce with the reft of the World. But the large Rivers are full. of Veffels, and abound with excellent Fifh, for they feldom get any from the Sea, becaufe the Sea-Fifh are of the fame Size with thofe in Eurofe, and confequently not worth catching ; whereby it is manifeft, that Nature in the Production of Plants and Animals of fo extraordinary a Bulk is wholly confined to this Continent, of which I leave the Reafons to be determined by Philofophers. However, now and then they take a Whale that happens to be dafhed againft the Rocks, which the common People feed on heartily. Thefe Whales I have known fo large that 2 Man could hardly carry one upon his Shoulders; and fometimes for Curiofity they are brought in Hampers to Lorbrulgrud: I faw one of them in a Difla at the King's Table, which paffed for a Rarity, but I did not obferve he was fond of it ; for I think indeed the Bignefs difgutted him, although I have feen one fomewhat larger in Greenland.

The Country is well inhabited, for it contains fiftyone Cities, near an hundred walled Towns, and a great Number of Villages. To fatisfy my curious Reader, it may be fufficient to defcribe Lorbrulgrud. This City ftands upon almoft two equal Parts on each Side the River that paffes through. It contains above eighty-thoufand Houfes, and about fix-hundred-thoufand Inhabitants. It is in Length three Glomglungs (which make about fifty-four Eng lijh Miles) and two and a half in Breadth, as I meafured it myfelf in the Royal Map made by the King's Order, which was laid on the Ground on Purpofe for me, and extended an hundred. Feet ; I'paced the Diameter and Circumference feveral Times bare-foot, and computing by the Sca.e, meafured it pretty exactly.

The King's Palace is no regular Edifice, but an Heap of Building about feven Miles round : The chief Rooms are generally two hundred and forty Feet high, and braad and long in Psoportion. A Coach was allowed to Glumdalclitch and me, wherein her Governefs frequently took her out to fee the Town, or ge among the Shops ; and I was always of the Party, carried in my Box; although the Girl at my own De-. fire would often take me out, and hold me in her Hand, that I might more conveniently view the Houfes and the People, as we paffed along the Streets. I reckoned our Coach to be about a Square of Wefiminfter-ball, but not altogether fo high : However, I cannot be very exact. One Day the Governefs ordered our Coachman to ftop at feveral Shops, where the Beggars watching their Opfortunity, crouded to the Sides of the Coach; and gave me the moft horrible Spectacles that ever an European Eye beheld. There was a Woman with a Cancer in her Breaft, fwelled to a monftrous Size, full of Holes, in two or three of which I could have eafily crept, and covered my whole Body. There was a Fellow with a Wen in his Neck, larger than five Woolpacks, and another with a couple of Wooden Legs, each about twenty Feet high. But the moth hateful Sight of all was the Lice crawling on their Cloaths. I could fee diftinclly the Limbs of thefe Vermin with my naked Eye, much better than thofe of an European Loufe thro' a Microfcope, and their Snouts with which they routed like Swine. They were the firft I had ever beheld, and I fhould have been curious enough to diffect one of them, if I had proper Inftruments (which I unluckily left behind me in the Ship) although indeed the Sight was fo naufeous, that it perfectly turned my Stomach.

Befide the Jarge Box in which I was ufually carried, the Queen ordered a fmaller one to be made for me, of about twelve Feet fquare and ten high, for the Conve: nience of Travelling, becaufe the other was fomewhat too large for Glumdalclitob's Lap, and cumberfome in the Coach; it was made by the fame Artift, whom I directed in the whole Contrivance. This TravellingClofet was an exact Square with a Window in the Middle of three of the Squares, and each Window was latticed with Iron Wire on the Outfide, to prevent Accidents in long Journies. On the fourth Side, which had no Window, two fromg Staples were fixed, through which the Perfon that carried me, when I had a Mind to be on Horfeback, put in a Leathern Belt, and buckled it about his Wafte. This was always the Office of fome grave trufly Servant in whom I could confide, whether I attended the King and Queen in their Progrefles, or were difpofed to fee the Gardens, or pay a Vifit to fome great Lady or Minifter of State in the Court, when Glurndalclitch happened to be out of Order : For I foon began to be known and efteemed among the greateft Officers, I fuppofe more upon Account of their Majelly's Favour than any Merit of my own. In Journies, when I was weary of the Coach, a Servant on Horfe-back would buckle my Box, and place it on a Cufhion before him ; and there I had a full Profpeet of the Country on three Sides from the three Win. dows. I had in this Clofet a Field-Bed and a Hammock hung from the Cieling, two Chairs and a Table, neatly fcrewed to the Floor, to prevent being toffed about by the Agitation of the Horfe or the Coach. And having been long ufed to Sea-Voyages, thofe Motions, alchough fometimes very violent, did not much difcompofe me.

Whenever I had a Mind to fee the Town, it was always in my Travelling-Clofet, which Glumdalclitcb held in her Lap in a Kind of open Sedan, atter the Faftion of the Country, borne.by four Men, and attended by two otbers in the Queen's Livery. The People, who had often heard of me, were very curious to croud about the Sedan, and the Girl was complaifant enough to make the Bearers ftop, and to take me in her Hand that I might be more conveniently feen.

I was very defirous to fee the chief Temple, and particularly the Tower belonging to it, which is reckoned the higheft in the Kingdom. Accordingly one Day my Nurfe carried me thither, but I may truly fay I came back difappointed; for the Height is not above three-thoufand Feet, reckoning from the Ground to the highef Pinnacle Top; which allowing for the Difference between the Size of thofe People, and us in $E u$ rofe, is no great Matter for Admiration, nor at all equal in Proportion (if I rightly remember) to Salijbury Steeple. But, not to detract from a Nation to which during my Life I ftall acknowledge myfelf extremely obliged, it muft be allowed that whatever this famous Tower wants in Height is amply made up in Beauty and Strength. For the Walls are near an hundred Feet thick, built of hewn Stone, whereof each is about forty Feet fquare, and adorned on all Sides with Statues of Gods and Emperors cut in Marble larger than the Life, placed in their feveral Niches. I meafured a little Finger which had fallen down from one of the Statues, and lay unperceived among fome Rubbin, and found it exactly Eour Feet and an Inch in Length. Glumdalclitch wrapped it up in her Handkerchief; and carried it Home in her Pocket to keep among other Trinkets, of which the Girl was very fond, as Children at her Age ufually are.

The King's Kitchen is indeed a noble Building, vaulted at Top, and about fix-hundred Feet high. The great Oven is not fo wide by ten Paces as the Cupola at Sc. Paul's: For I meafured the latter on Purpofe after my Return. But if I hould defcribe the Kitchen-grate, the prodigious Pots and Kettles, the Joints of Meat tarning on the Spits, with many other Particulars, perhaps I fhould be hardly believed; at leaft a fevere Critic would be apt to think I enlarged a little, as Travellers are often fuffected to do. To avoid which Cenfure, I fear I have run too much into the other Extream ; and that if this Treatife fhould happen to be tranflated into the Language of Brobdingnag, (which is the general Name of that Kingdom) and tranfmitted thither, the King and his People would have Reafon to complain that I had done them an Injury by a falfe and diminutive Reprefentation.

His Majefty feldom keeps above fix-hundred Horfes in his Stables: They are generally from fifty-four to fixty Feet high.' But, when he goes Abroad on folemn Days, he is attended for State by a Militia Guard of five-hundred Horfe, which indeed I thought was the moft fplendid Sight that could be ever beheld, till.I faw Part of his Army in Eattalia, whereof I fhall find anocher Occafion to fpeak.

C HAP. V.

Several Adventures that bappened to the Author. The Execution of a Criminal. The Autbor Shews his Skill in Navigation.

IShould have lived happy enough in that Country, if my Littleners had not expofed me to feveral ridiculous and troublefome Accidents: Some of which I Shall venture to relate. Glumdalclitch often carried me into the Gardens of the Court in my fmaller Box, and would fometimes take me out of it, and hold me in her Hand, or fet me down to walk. I remember, before the Dwarf left the Queen, he followed us one Day into thofe Gardens, and my Nurfe having fet me down, he and I being clofe together, near fome Dwarf Apple Trees, I mult need thew my Wit, by a filly AlluGion between him and the Trees, which happens to hold in their Language, as it doth in ours. Whereupon, the malicious Roguc watching his Opportunity, when I was walking under one of them, fhook it directly over my Head, by which a dozen Apples, each of them near as large as a Brifol Barrel, came tumbling about my Ears ; one of them hit me on the Back as I chanced to ftoop, and knocked me down flat on my Face; but I received no other Hurt, and the Dwarf was pardoned at my Defire, becaufe I had given the Provocation.

Another Day Glumdalclitch left me on a fmocth Grafs plot to divert myfelf, while the walked at fome Diffance with her Governefs. In the mean Time there fuddenly fell fuch a violent Shower of Hail, that I'was immediately, by the Force of it, fruck to the Ground:

And, when I was down, the Hail-\{ones gave me fuch cruel Bangs all over the Body, as if I had been pelted with Tennis Balls ; however, I made a Shift to creep on all four, and fhelter myfelf, by lying flat on my Face, on the Lee-fide of a Border of Lemon Thyme, but fo bruifed from Head to Foot, that I could not go Abroad in ten Days. Neither is this at all to be wondered at, becaufe, Nature in that Country obferving the fame Proportion through all her Operations, a Hail-ftone is near eighteen-hundred Times as large as one in Europe. which I can affert upon Experience, having been fo curious to weigh and meafure them.

But a more dangerous Accident happened to me in the fame Garden, when my little Nurfe believing fhe had put me in a fecure Place, which I often entreated her to do, that I might enjoy my own Thoughts, and having left my Box at Home to avoid the Trouble of carrying it, went to another Part of the Garden with her Governefs, and fome Ladies of her Acquaintance. While the was abfent, and out of Hearing, a fmall white Spaniel belonging to one of the chief Gardeners, having got by Accident into the Garden, happened to range near the Place where I lay: The Dog, following the Scent, came directly up, and, taking me in his Mouth, ran flrait to his Mafter, wagging his Tail, and fet me gently on the Ground. By good Fortune he had been fo well taught, that I was carried between his Teeth without the leaft Hurt, or even tearing my Cloaths. But the poor Gardener, who knew me well, and had a great Kindnefs for me, was in a terrible Fright: He gently took me up in both his Hands, and afked me how I did; but I was fo amazed and out of Breath, that I could not fpeak a Word. In few Minutes 1 came to myfelf, and he carried me fafe to my little Nurfe, who by this Time had returned to the Place where fhe left me, and was in cruel Agonies when I did not appear, nor anfwer when the called: She feverely reprimanded the Gardener on Account of his Dog. But the Thing was hufhed up, and never known at Court ; for the Girl was afraid of the Queen's Anger, and truly as to myfelf, I thought it would not be for my Reputation that fuch a Story flould go about.

This Accident abfolately determined Glumdalclitch never to truft me Abroad for the future out of her Sight. I had been long afraid of this Refolution, and therefore concealed from her fome little unlucky Adventures that happened in thofe Times when I was left by myfelf. Once a Kite, hovering over the Garden, made a Stoop at me, and if I had not refolately drawn my Hanger, and run under a thick Efpalier, he would have certainly carried me away in his Talons. Another Time, walking to the Top of a frefl Mole-hill, I feht to my Neck in the Hole, through which that Animal had caft up the Earth, and coined fome Lye, not worth remembring, to excufe myfelf for fpoiling my Cloaths. I likewife broke my right Shin againft the Shell of a Snail, which I happened to fumble over, as I was walking alone, and thinking on poor England.

I cannot tell whether I were mere pleafed or mortified, to obferve in thofe folitary Walks, that the fmaller Birds did not appear to be at all afraid of me, butt would hop about within a Yard's Diffance, looking for Worms, and other Food, with as much Indifference and Security, as if no Creature at all were near them. 1 remember, a Thrufh had the Confidence to fnatch out of my Hand, with his Bill, a Piece of Cake that Glumdalccitch had juft given me for my Breakfat. When I attempted to caltch any of thefe Birds, they would borlly tarn againf me, endeaveuring to pick my Fingers, which I durf not venture within their Reach; and then they would hop back unconcerned, to kunt for Worms or Snails, as they did before. But one Day I took a thick Cudgel, and threw it-with all my Strength fo luckily at a Linnet, that I knocked him down, and, feizing him by the Neck with both my Hands, ran with him in Triumph to my Nurfe. However, the Bird, who had only been ftumned, recovering himfelf, gave me fo many Boxes with his Wings on toth Sides of my Head and Body, though I. held him at Arms Length, and was out of the Reach of his Claws, that I was twenty Times thinking to let him go: But I was foon relieved by one of our Servants, who wrung off the Bird's Neck, and I had him next Day for Dinner by the Queen's Command. This Linnet, as near as I can remember, feemed to be fomewhat larger than an England Swan.

The Maids of Honour often invited Glumdalclitch to their Apartments, and defired the would bring me along with her, on Purpofe to have the Pleafure of feeing and touching me. They would often frip me naked from Top to Toe, and lay me at full Length in their Bofoms; wherewith I was much difgufted; becaure, to fay the Truth, a very offenfive Smell came from their Skins; which I do not mention, or intend, to the Difadyantage of thofe excellent Ladies, for whom I have all Manner of Refpect; but I conceive that my Senfe was more acute, in Proportion to my Littlenefs, and that thofe illuftrious Perfons were no more difagreeable to their Lovers, or to each other, than People of the fame Quality are with us in England. And, after all, I found their natural Smell was much more fupportable, than when they ufed perfumes, under which I immediately fwooned away. I cannot forget, that an intimate Friend of mine in Lilliput, took the Freedom, in 2 warm Day, when I had ured a good deak of Exercife, to complain of a frong Smell about me, although I am as little faulty that Way, as moft of my Sex: But I fuppofe his Faculty of Smelling was as nice, with Regard to me, as mine was to that of this People. Upon this Point, I cannot forbear doing Jufy tice to the Queen my Miftrefs, and Glumdalclitch my Nurfe, whofe Perfons were as fweet as thofe of any Lady in England.
That which gave me mon Uneafinefs among thefe Maids of Honour (when my Nurfe carried me to vifit them) was to fee them ufe me without agy Manner of Ceremony, like a Creature who had no Sort of Confequence: For they would frip themfelves to the Skin, and put on their their Smoeks in my Prefence, while I was placed on their Toylet, direetly before theirir naked Bodies, which, I am fure, to me, was very far from being a tempting Sight, or from giving me any other Emotions, than thofe of Horror and Difguft. Their Skins apz peared fo coarfe and uneven, fo varioully coloared, when I faw them near, with a Mole here and there, as broad as a Trencher, and Hairs hanging from it thicker than Pack threads, to fay nothing farther concerning the reft of their Perfons. Neither did they at all fcruple, while I was by, to difcharge what they had drank, to the Quancity of at leaft two Hogheads, in'a Veffel that held above three Tuns. The handfomet among thefe-Maids of Honour, a pleafant, frolicfome Girl, of fixteen, would fometimes fet me aftride upon one of her Nipples, with many other Tricks, wherein the Reader will excufe me for not being over particular. But I was fo much difpleafed, that I entreated Glum: dalclitch to contrive fome Excufe for not feeing that young Lady any more.

One Day :a young Gentleman, who was Nephew to my Nurfe's Governefs, came and preffed them both to fee an Execution. It was of a Man who had murdered one of that Gentleman's intimate Acquaintance: Glumdalclitch was prevailed on to be of the Company, very much againft her Inclination, for the was naturatly tender-hearted: And, as for my felf, although I abhorred fuch Kind of Speetacles, yet my Curiofity tempted me to fee fomething that I thought muft be extraordinary. The Malefactor was fixed in a Chair upon a Scaffold, erected for that Purpofe, and his Head cut off at one Blow, with a Sword of about forty Feet long. The Veins and Arteries fpouted up fuch a prodigious Quantity of Blood, and fo high in the Air, that the great fott d'eau, at Verfailles, was not equal for the Time it jafted; and the Head, when it fell on the Scaffold Floor, gave fuch a Bounce, as made me ftart, alchough I were at lealt half an Englifb Mile diftant.

The

The Queen, who often ufed to hear me talk of my Sea-Voyages, and took all Occafions to divert me wher I was melancholy, afked me whether I underfood low to handle a Sail, or an Oar, and whether a little Exercife of Rowing might not be convenient for my Health? I anfwered, that I underftood both very well: For, although my proper Employment had been to be Surgeon or Doctor to the Ship, yet often, upon a Pinch, I was forced to work like a common Mariner. But I could not fee how this could be done in their Country, where the fmalleft Wherry was equal to a Firftrate Man of War among us, and fuch a Boat as I could manage, would never live in any of their Rivers. Her Majefty faid, if I would contrive a Boat, her owr Joiner fhould make it, and the would provide a place for me to fail in. The Fellow was an ingenious Workman, and, by my Inftructions, in ten Days, finifhed a Pleafure-boat; with all its Tackling, able conveniently, to hold eight Europeans. When it was fmifhed, the Queen was fo delighted, that the ran with it in her Lap to the King, who ordered it to be put in a Ciftern full of Water, with me in it, by Way of Trial ; where I could not manage my two Sculls, or little Oars, for Want of Room. But the Queen had before contrived another Project : She ordered the Joiner to make a wooden Trough of three hundred Feet long, fifty broad, and eight deep ; which being well pitched, to prevent Leaking, was placed on the Floor allong the Wall, in an outer Room of the Palace. It had a Cock near the Bottom, to let out the Water when it began to grow ftale, and two Servants could eafily fill it in half an Hour. Here I often ufed to row for my own Diver. fion, as well as that of the Queen and her Ladies, who thought themfelves well entertained with my Skill and Agility. Sometimes I would put up my Sail, and then my Bufinefs was only to fleer, while the Ladies gave me a Gale with their Pans; and, when they were weary, fome of the Pages would blow my Sail forward with their Breath, while I fhewed my Art by feering Starboard or Larboard, as. I pleafed. When I had done, Glumdaleclitch always carried back my Boat into? Her Clofet, and hung it on a Nail to dry.

In this Exercife I onee met an Accident, which had like to have colt me my Life': For, one of the Pages, having put my Boat into the. Trough, the Governefs, who attended Glumdalclittch, very officioully lifted me: up to place me in the Boat, but I happened to nip through her Fingers, and fould infallibly have fallent down forty Feet upon the Floor, if, by the luckieft Chance in the World, I had not been flopped by a: Corking-pin that ftuck in the good. Gentlewoman's. Stomacher; the Head of the Pin paffed between my Shist and the Waiftband of my Breeches, and thius I. was held by the Middle in the Air, till Glumdalcitich: ran to my Relief.

Another Time, one of the Servants, whofe Office it was to fill my Trough every third Day with frelh Water, was fo carelefs, to let a huge Frog (not per-: ceiving it) Ilip out of his Pail. The Frog lay concealod till I was put into my Boar, but then, feeing a reft-ing-place, climbed up, and made it lean fo much on ane Side, that I was forced to balance it with all.my Weight on the other, to prevent Overturaing When the Frog was got in, it hopped at once half the Leagth. of the Boat, and then over my Head, backwards and. forwards, daubing my Face and Clothes with its odious Slime. The Largenefs of its Features, made it appear the moft deformed Animal that can be conceived. However, I defired Glumdalclitch to let mee deal with it alone. I banged it a good While with one of my: Seulls, and at laft forced it to leap out of the Boat.

But the greateß Danger I ever underwent, in that: Kingdom, was from a Monkey, who belonged to one. of the Clerks: of the Kitchen. Glumdalditct had locked me up in her Clofet, while fhe went fomewhere up-. on Bufinefs, or a Vifit. The Weather being vory warm, the Clofet-window was left open, as well as the Windows and the Door of my bigger Box, in which I ufual.

I ufually lived, becaufe of its Largenefs and Conveniency. As I fat quietly, meditating at my Table, I fieard fomething bounce in at the Clolet-Window, and Akip about from one Side to the other; whereat, altho' I were much alarmed, yet I ventured to look out, but not flirring from my Seat; and then I faw this frolicfome Animal, frikking and leaping up and down, till at latt he came to my Box, which he feemed to view with great Pleafure and Curiofity, peeping in at the Door and every Window. I retreated to the farther Corner of my Room, or Box, but the Monkey look-' ing in, at every Side, put me into fuch a Fright, that I wanted Prefence of Mind to conceal myfelf under the Bed, as I might have eafily done. After fome Time fpent in peeping, grinning, and chattering, he at laft efpied me, and reaching one of his Paws in at the Door, as a Cat does when the plays with a Moufe, although I often hifted Place to avoid him, he at length feized the Lappet of my Coat (which, being made of that Country Silk, was very thick and ftrong) and dragged me out. He took me up in his right Fore-foot, and held me as a Nurfe does a Child "he is going to fuckle, juft as I have feen the fame Sort of Creature do with a Kitten in Europe: And, when I offered to ftruggle, he fqueefed me fo hard, that I thought it more prudent to fubmit. I have good Reafon to be:lieve, that he took me for a young one of his own Species, by his often froaking my Pace very gently with his other Paw. In thefe Diverfions, he was interrupted by a Noife at the Clofet-Door, as if fome Body were opening it; whereupon he faddenly leaped up to the Window, at, which he had come in, and thence upon the Leads and Gutters, walking upon three Legs, and holding me in the fourth, till he clambered up to a Roof that was next to ours. I heard Glumdalcitct b give a Shreek at the Moment he was carrying me out. The poor Girl was almof diftracted: That Quarter of the Palace was all in an Uproar, the Servants ran for Ladders; the Monkey was feen by tiundreds in the

Coust,

rif

 AVoyageCourt, fitting upon the Ridge of 2 Building, holding me like a Baby in one of his Fore-paws, and feeding me with the other, by cramming into my Mouth fome Vituals he had fqueefed out of the Bag on ope Sidereof bis Chaps, and patting me when $I$ woult not eat ; whereat many of the kabble below could not forbeats. kaughing; neither do I think they juftly ought to be blamed, for, without Queftion, the Sight was ridiculous enough to eyery Body but myfelf. Somie of the People threw up Stones, hoping to drive the Mankey. down; but this was frictly forbidden, or elfe, very probably, my Brains had been dafted out.
The Ladders were now applied, and wounted by Ht- -.. yeral Men, which the Monkey obferving, and finding himelf almoft encompaffed; not being able to mako Speed enough with his three Legs, let mee drop on a Ridge tyle, and made his Efcape. Here I fat for fomeTime, five hundred Yards from the Ground, expecting every Moment to be blown down by the Wind, or to fall by my own Giddinefs, and come tambling over and over from the Ridge to the Eves: But an honeft Lad, one of my Nurfés Footmen, climbed up, and, putting me into his Breeches-pocket, brought me down: fure.
t was almort choaked with the filthy Stuff the Monkey had crammed down my Throat; but my dear little Nurfe picked it out of my Mouth with a fmall Needle, and then I fell a vomiting, which gave me great Relief. Yet I was fo weak, and bruifed in the Sides, with the Squeezes given me by this odious Aniwal, that I was forced to keep my Bed a Fortnight. The King, Queen, and all the Court fent every Day to enquire after my Health, and her Majefty made me Yeveral Vifits during, my Sicknefs. The Monkey was. killed," and an Order made, that! no fach Animal fhould be kept aboat the Place.
$\because$ When $I$ attended the King after my Recovery, to return him Thanks for his Favours, he was pleated to Jally mie a good Dealuron this Advcnure. He afked me what iny Thoughts and Speculations were', whilite I lay in the Monkey's. Paw ; how I liked the Vietwath he gave me; his Manner of Feeding ; and whether the frefh Air on the Roof had flarpened ny Stomach. He defired to know what I would have done uporyfachiat Occafion in my own Country: It told his Majafty, that in Eixrope we had no Monkies, excepufuchias weeme brought for Curiofties fromocher places, and fo frumits, that I could deal with a Dower of them togetcrer, if they prefumed to attack mo. And as for that monAtrous Animal with whom I was fo lately engaged (is was, indeed, as large as an Elephant) if my Pears heak fuffered me'to think fo far as to make Ufe of my Hanger (looking fiercely, and clapping my Hand upon the Fifite as I fpoke) when he poked his Paw into my Chamber, perhaps, I fhould have given him fuch a Wound, as would have made him glad to wittdraw it with more Hafte than-he put it in. This I delivered in a firm Tone, like a Perfon who was jeatous, left his Courage fhoald be called in Queffion. However, my Speech produced nothing elfe, befides a loud Eaughter, which all the Refpert due to his Majefty, from thofe about him, could not make them contain. This made me refleet, how vain an Attempt it is for a Man to endeavour doing himfelf Honour among: thofer who ate out of all Degree of Equality or Comparifon withe himi And yet I have'feen the Moral of my own Behaviout very frequent in England finces my: Betara, where: a: little conremptible Varlot; widhount the leale Tisie trio Birth, Perfon, Wits or common Senfo, flall prefiumeto look with Importance, and pait himfodf upon a Fooc with the greateet:Perfons of the Kingdom.

I was every Day furninhing the Court with fome nidiculous Story ; 'and Glumdidiclicich; alohough fhe lowert me to Excefs, yeewas:arch enough to informithe Queen, whenever I-committed any Folly thase the thoughix would be divertidgeto her Majefty. The Girf, whot hid been out of ©rder, was carried by her Governefre to take the Air about and Hour's Diffance, of thirme

I 2 Miles.

Miles from Town. They alighted out of the Coach near a fmall Foot-path in the Field, and Glumdalcitch fetting down my Travelling-box, I went out of it to walk. There was a Cow-dung in the Path, and I muft need try my Activity, by attempting to leap over it. I took a Run, but unfortunately jumped fhort, and found myfelf juft in the: Middle up to my Knees. Iwaded through with fome Difficulty, and one of the Footmen wiped me as clean as he could with his Handkerchief; for I was filthily bemired, and my Nurfe con-fined me to my Box, till we returned Home; where the Queen was foon informed of what had paffed, and the Footman fpread it about the Court ; fo that all the Mirth, for fome Days, was at my Expence.

CHAP. VI.

Several Contrivances of the Author to pleafe the King. and Queen. He ßhews his Skill in Mufic. The: King enquires into the State of Europe, which the Auther relates to bim. The King's Obfervations: thereas.

F Ufed to attend the King's Levee once or twice a GT Week, and had often feen him under the Barber's. Hand; which, indeed, was at firt, very terrible to behold : For she Razor: was almoft twice as long as an ordinary Scythe. His Majefty; according to the Cuftom.of the Country was.only fhaved twice a Week. I once psevailed on the Barber to give me fome of the Suds or Lather, out of which I picked forty or fifty of the frongelt Stomps of Hair. I then took a Piece of fane: Wood, and ciut it bike the Back of a Comb, making feveral Holes in it at equal Diftance, with as fmalk a Needle as I could get from Glumdalclitch: . I. fixed. in, the Stumps fo artificially, freaping and floping them'withmy Knife towards the Points, that I made a very tole-: rable Camb; which was a feafonable. Supply, my own:

[^0]being fo much broken in the Teeth, that it was almot: ufelefs: Neither did I know any Artift in that Country fo nice and exact, as would undertake to make me ar: nother.

And this puts me in Mind of an Amufement where-: in I fpent many of my leifure Hours. I defired the Queen's Woman to fave for me the Combings of her' Majety's Hair, whereof in Time I got a good Quazntity, and confulting with my Friend the Cabinet-maker, who had received general Orders to do litetle Jobbs for me, I directed him to make two Chair-frames, no larger than thofe I had in my Box, and then to bore' little Holes with a fine Awl round thofe Parts where I defigned the Backs and Seats; through thefe Holes I wove the flrongeft Hairs I could pick out, juf after: the Manner of Cane Chairs in England. When theywere finifhed, I made a Prefent of them to her Majefty, who kept them in her Cabinet, and ufed to thew them for Curiofities, as, indeed, they were the Wonder of every one that beheld them. The Queen would have had me fit upon one of thefe Chairs, but 1 abfolutely refufed to obey her, protefting I would rather die a thoufand Deaths, than place a difhonourable Part of my Body on thofe precious Hairs that once adorned her-Majefy's Head. Of thefe Hairs (as I had always a mechanical Genius) I likewife made a neat little Purfe about five Feet long, with her Majefty's Name decyphered in Gold Letters, which I gave to Glumdal: rlitch, by the Queen's Confent. To fay the Truth, it was more for Shew than Ufe, being not of Strength to bear the Weight of the larger Coins, and therefore the kept nothing in it but dome little Toys that Girls are fand of.

The King, who delighted in Mufic, had frequent Concerts at Court, to which I was fometimes carried, and fet in my Box on a Table to hear them: But the Noife was fo great, that I could hardly diftinguif the 'Tunes. I am confident, that all the Drums and Trumpets of a Royal Army, beating and founding together juft atyour Ears, could not sequal it. My Pradice was to. have soy: Box removed from the Places where the Performers fat, as far as I could, then to flut the Doors. and Windows of it , and draw the Window-curtains s . atsar which I found their Mufic not difagreesble.

I had learned in nay Youth to play a little mpon the Spitiet. Gluundalditt fi kept one in her Chamber, and a Mafter attended twice a Week to teach her: I call it a Spinet, becaufe it fomewhat refembled that Inftrument, and was played upon in the fame Manner. A Fancy cane into my Head that I would entertain the King and Queen with an Englifo Tune upon this Inftument. But this appeared extremely difficult : For the Spinet was near fixty Feet long, each Key being almoft a Foot wide, so that, with my Arms extended, I could not $^{\text {n }}$ zeach to above five Keys, and to prefs them down required a good rmart Stroak with my Fift, which would be too great a Labour, and to no Purpofe. The Meshod I contrived was this : I prepared two round Sticks 2bout the Bignefs of common Cudgels; they were thicker at one End than the other, and I covered the thicker Ends with a Piece of a Moufe's Skin, that, by rapping on them, I might neither damage the Tops of the Keys, nor interrupt the Sound: Before the Spinet a Bench was placed about four Feet below the Keys, and I was put upon the Bench. I ran fideling upon it that Way and this, as faft as I could, banging the proper Keys with my two Sticks, and made a Shift to play a Jigg, to the great Satisfaction of both their Majefties: But it was the moft violent Exercife I ever underwent, and yof I could not frijke above fixteen Keys, nor, confequendy, play the Bafs and Treble together, as other Artilts do; which was a great Difadvantage to my Performance.

The King, who, as I before obferved, was a Prince of excellent Underflanding; would frequenty order that I mould be brought in my Box, and fet upon the Table in his Clofet: He would then command me to bring one of my Chairs out of the Box, and fit down within three three Yards Diftance upon the Trop of the Cabinined which brought the almoft to a Level with his Face: If this Manner I had feveral Converfatioris with him. , if one Day took the Freedom to tell his Majefty, that thd Contempt he difcovered towards Europe, and the feff of the World, did not feem anfiverable to thofe excellent Qualities of Mind he was Mafter of... That Reaifon did not extend ifflelf with the Balk of the Body: On the Contraty, we obferved in our Conntry, that the talleft Perfons were ufuailly leaft provided with it. That, d: mong other Anitnals, Bees and Ants had the Reputation of more Induftry, Art, and Sagacity, thath many of the latger Kinds; and that, as inconfiderabte as he took me to be, I hoped I might live to do his Majefty fome fignal Servicé. The King heard me with Attention, and begian to conceive a mitch better Opinion of me than he had ever before. He defired I would give him as exact an Account of the Government of England, as I porfibly could; becaure, ats fond ats Princes commonly are of their own Cuftoms (for fo he conjectured of other Monarchs by my former Difcourfes) he thould be glad to hear of any Thing that might deferve Imitation.

Imagine with thyfelf, courteous Reader, how oftem I then wifhed for the Tongue of Deimoftienes or Cicicto, that might have enabled me to celebrate the. Praife of my own dear native Country, in a Style equal to its Merits and Felicity.

I began my Difcourfe, by informing his Majefty, that our Dominions confifted of two Iflands, which compofed three mighty Ringdoms under one Sovereigit, befides our Plantations in America. I dwelt long thport the Fertility of our Soil, and the Temperature of our Climate. I then fpoke at large upor the Conflitution of an Eng li/b Parliament, partly made up of an illufriouk Body, called the Houre of Peetrs, Perfons of the nobtet Blood, and of the moft antient and ample Patrimonies. I defcribed that extraordinary Care always takent of their Education in Arts and Arms, to quabify them for being Counfellors both to the King and Kingdom; tos have a Share in the Legilature; to be Members of tho higheft Court of Judicature, from whence there could be no Appeal; and to be Champions,always ready for the Defence of their Prince and Country, by their Valour, Canduct, and Fidelity. That thefe were, the Ornament and Bulwark of the Kingdom, worthy Followers of their moft renowned Anceftors, whofe Honour had been the Reward of their Virtue, from which their Pofterity were neyer once known to degenerate, To thefe were joined feveral holy Perfons, as Part of that Affembly, under the Title of Bilhops, whofe pe: culiar Bufinefs it is to take Care of Religion, 'and of thofe who inftruct the People therẹin. Thefe were fearched and fought out through the whole Nation, by: the Prince, and his wifent Counfellors, among fuch of the Priefthood as were moft defervedly diftinguifhed by the Sanctity of their Lives, and the Depth of their Erudition, who were, indeed, the $f_{F}$ iritual Fathers of the Clergy and the People.

That the other Part of the Parliament confined of an Affembly called the Houfe of Commons, who were all principal Gentlemen, freely picked and culled out by the People themfelves, for their great Abilitics, and Love of their Country, to reprefent the Wifdom of the whole Nation. And thefe two Bodies make up the moft auguft Affembly in Europe, to whom, in Conjunc: tion with the Prince, the whole Legillature is com: mitted.

I then defcended to the Courts of Juffice, over which the Judges, thofe venerable Sages and Interpreters of the Law, prefided, for determining the difputed Rights and Properties of Men, as well as for the Punihment of Vice, and Protection of Innocence. I mentioned the prudent Management of our Treafury, the Valour and Atchievements of our Forces by Sea and Land. I computed the Number of our People, hy reckoning how many Millions there might be of each religious Sect, or political Party among us. I did not omịt eveq our Sports and Paftimes, or any other Particular, which I thought might redound to the Honpur of my Country. And I finifhed all with a brief hirorical Account of Affairs and Events in England, for, about an hündred Years paft.

This Converfation was not ended under five Audiences, each of feveral Hours; and the King heard the Whole with great Attention, frequently taking Notes of what I fpoke, as well as Memorandums of what Queflions he intended to afk me:

When I had put an End to thefe long Difcourfes, his Majefty, in a fixth Audience, confulting his Notes, pron pofed many Doubts, Queries, and (Ubjections, upon every Article. He afked what Methods were ufed to cultivate the Minds and Boties of our young Nobility; and in what Kind of Bufinefs they commonly fpent the firft and teachable Part of their Lives. What Courfe was taken to fupply that Affembly, when any noble Family became extinct. What Qualifications were ne, ceffary in thofe who are to be created new Lords: Whether the Humour of the Prince, a Sum of Money to a Court Lady, or a Prime Minifter, or a Defign of ftrengthening a Party oppofite to the public Intereft, ever happened to be Motives in thofe Advancements. What Share of Knowledge thefe Lords had in the Laws of their Country, and how they eame by it, fo as to enable them to decide the Properties of their Fellowfubjects in their laft Refort. Whether they were always fo free from Avarice, Partialities, or Want, that a Bribe, or fome other finifter View, cauld have no Place among them. Whether thofe holy Lords I fpoke of; were always promoted to that Rank upon Account of fheir Knowledge in religious Matters, and the Sanctity of their Lives, had never been Compliers with the Times, while they were common Priefts, or flavifh proftitute Chaplains to fome Nobleman, whofe Opinions they continued fervilcly to follow, after they were ad, mitgted into that Affembly.

He then defited to know what Arts were practinea in eseeting thofe whom I called Cominoners: Whie: ther a Strainger, with a floong Purfe, might not influcurce the rulgar Votars to chure hifm before their own Landiord, or the moft confiderable Gentleman in the Nedighbouthood. How it came to pafs, thatt People were fo wholenely bent tupot getting into this'Affembly; whick 1 allowed to be a great Trouble and Expence, often $\infty$ the Ruin of their Families, without any Salary or Penfion: Becaufe that appeared fuch atr exalted Strain of Virtue and public Spirit, that his Majefty feemed to doubt it might poffibly not be always fincere: And he defired to know whether fuch zeatoos Gentemen could have any Views of refunding themfelves for the Charges and Trouble they were at, by facrificing the publie Good to the Defigns of a weak and vicions Pritice, in Conjuftion with a corrupted Miniftry. He multiplied his Queftions, and fifted me thoroughly upon every Part of this Head, propofing numberlefs Enquiries and Objections, which I think it hot pradent of convenient to repeat.
Upon what I faid, in Relation to our Courts of Juf: sice, his Majefty defired to be fatisfied, in feveral Points : And, this I was the better able to do, having been formerly almoft ruined by a long Suit in Chancery, which was decreed for me with Cofts: "He akked, what Tine was ufually fpent in determining between Right and Wrong, and what Degree of Expence. Whether Advocates and Orators had Libetty to plead in Caufes manifefly known to be unjuft, vexatious, or oppreffive. Whether Party in Religion or Politics were obferved to be of any Weight in the Scale of Juffice. Whether thofe pleading Orators were Perfors educated in the general Krowledge of Equity, or only in provincial, national, and other local Cuftoms. Whether they or their Judges had any Part in penining thofe Laws which they affumed the Libetey of interpreting and gloffing upon at their Pleafure. Whether they had ever at different Times pleaded for and againtt the fame

Game Caule, and cited Precedents to pribve contrary Opinions. Whether they were a rich or a poor Corporation. Whether they received 'any pecuniary Reward for pleadint or delivering their Opitions. And particularly, whether they were every admitted as Membere in the tower Senate.

He fell next upon the Management of our Treafury, amd faid, he thought my Memory had failed me, becaufe I computed our Taxes at about five or fix Millions a Year, and, when I came to mention the Ifles, he found they fometimes amounted to more than double; for the Notes he had taken, were very particular in this Point, becaufe he hoped, as he told me, that the Knowedge of our Conduct might be ufeful to him, and he could not be deceived in his Calculations: But, if what I told him were true, he was nitl at a Lofs how a Kingdom could ran out of its Eftate like a private Perfon. He aked me, who were our Creditors; and where we fhould find Money to pay them. He wondered to hear me talk of fuch chargeable and expenfive Wars ; that certainly we muft be a quarrelfome People, or live among very bad Neighbours, and that our Generals muft needs be richer than our Kings. He afked what Bufinefs we had out of our own Iflands, unlefs upon the Score of Trade or Treaty, or to defend the Coaffs with our Fleet. Above all, he was amazed to hear me talk of a mercenary ftanding Army in the midft of Peace, and among a free People. He faid, if we were governed by our own Confent in the Perfons of our Reprefentatives, he could not imagine of whom we were afraid; or againft whom we were to fight; and would hear my Opini: on, whether a private Man's Houfe might not better be defended by himfelf, his Childrem, and Family, than by half a Dozen Rafcals picked up at a Venture in the Streets, for fmall Wages, who might get an Hundred Times more by cutting their Throats.

He laughed at my odd Kind of Arithmetic (as he was pleafed to call it): in reckoning the Numbers of our People by a Computation drawn from the feveral Sects among us in Religion and Politics. He faid, he knew no Reafon, why thofe who entertain Opiniona prejudicial to the Public, flould be obliged to change, or fhould not be obliged to conceal them. And as it was Tyranny in any Government to require the frafo fo it was Weaknefs not to enforce the fecond : For a Man may be allowed to keep Poifons in his Clofet, but not to vend them about for Cordials.

He obferved, that, among the Diverfions of our Nobility and Gentry, I had mentioned Gaming. . He defired to know: at what Age this Entertainment was pfually taken up, and when it was laid down; how much of their Time it employed; whether it ever went fo high as to affect their Fortunes: Whether mean vi: cious People, by their Dexterity in that Art, might not arrive at great Riches, and fometimes keep our very Nobles in Dependance, as well as habituate them to vile Companions, wholly take them from the Improve. ment of their Minds, and force them, by the Lofles they have received, to learn and practife that infamous Dexterity upon others.

He was perfeclly aftonihed with the hifforical Acr count I gave him of our Affairs during the lak Century, protelling it was only a Heap of Confpiracies, Rebellions, Murders, Maffacres, Revolutions, Banifhments, the very worlt Effects that Avarice, Faction Hypocrify, Perfdioufnels, Cruelty, Rage, Madnefs, Hatred, Envy, Luft, Malice, or Ambition, could produce.

His Majefty in another Audience was at the Pains to recapitulate the Sum of all I had fpoken, compared the Queftions he made with the Anfwers I had given then taking me into his Hands, and froaking me gently, delivered himfelf in thefe Words, which I fhall never forget, nor the Manner he fpoke them in : My little Fricnd Grildrig, you have made a mott admirable Panegyric upon your Country: You have clearly proved, that Ignorance, Idlenefs, and Vice, ate the proper Ingredients for qualifying a Legillator: Thaq Laws are belt explained, interpreted, and applied by thofe whofe Intereft and Abilities lie in perverting, confounding, and eluding them. I obferve among you fome Lines of an Inftitution, which, in its Original, might have been tolerable; but thefe half erafed, and the relt wholly blurred and blotted by Corruptions. It doth not appear from all you have faid, how any one Perfection is required toward the Procurement of any. one Station among you ; much lefs that Men are ennobled on Account of their Virtue, that Priefts are advanced for their Piety or Learning, Soldiers for their Conduct or Valour, Judges for their Integrity, Sena-: tors for the Love of their Country, or Counfellors for their Wifdom. As for yourfelf (continned the King) who have spent the greateft Part of your Life in Travelling, I am well difpofed to hope you may hitherto. have efcaped many Vices of your Country. But, by what I have gathered from your own Relation, and the Anfwers I have with much Pains wringed and extorted from you, I cannot but conclude the Bulk of your Natives to be the moft pernicious Race of little odious Vermin that Nature ever fuffered to crawl upon: the Surface of the Earth.

CH A P. VII.

The Autbor's :Live of his Country. He makes a Propofal of much Advantage to the King, which is rejected. 'The King's great Ignorance in Politics. The Learning of that Country very imperfect and confined. Their Laws, and military Affairs, and Parties in the State.

N OTHING but an extreme Leve of Truth, could have hindered me from concealing this Part of my Story. It was in vain to difcover my Reмu: fentments, fentments, which were always turned into Ridicite $s$ and I was forced to reft with Patience, while my noble and mof beloved Country was fo injurioufly treated: I am heartily forry, as any of mey Readers can poffbly be, that fuch an Occafion was given: But this Prince happened to be fo curious and inquiftive upori every Particular, that it could not confift either with Graticude or good Manners, to refufe givigg him what Satisfaction 1 was able. Yet thus much I may be atlowed to fay ha my own Vindication, That I arfflly cluded many of his Quelions; and gave to every Point a more favourable Turn, by many Degrees, than the Strifnefs of Truth would allow. For I have always bome that laudatle. Partiality to my own Country; which Dionyfrus. Fhalicarnaffenfs with fo much Juffice recommends to an Hiftorian : I would hide the Ftaikcies and Deformities of my political Mother, and place hey Virtues and Beauties in the mofl advantageous Light. This was my fincere Endeavour in thofe many Difeourfes I had with that Monarch, although it unfortunately faifed of Succerf.
But great Allowances fhould be given to a King who. lives wholly fectirded from the reft of the World, and muft therefore be altogether unacquainted with the Manners and Cuftoms that mof prevail in other Nations: The Want of which Knowledge will ever produce many Prejudices, and a certain Narrowesness of Thinking, from which we and the politer Countries of Europe are wholly exeropted. And it would be hard, inded, if fop remote a Prince's. Notions of Virtue and Vice were to be offered as a Standard for all Mankind.

To confirm what I have now faid, and further, to fhew the miferable Effects of a confined Education, I hall here infert a Paflage which will hardly obtain Belief. In Hopes to ingratiate myfelf farther into his Majefty's Favour, I told him of an Invention difcovered between three and four hundred Years ago, to make a certain Powder, into an Heap of which the fmalleft Spark of. Fire falling, would kindte the Whole in a Mament, although theough it were as big as a Mountain, and make it al fly up in the Air togecher, with a Noife and Agitation: greater than Thunder. That a proper Quantity of this Epwder rammed into an hollow Tube of Brafs or Iren, according to its Bignefs, would drive a Ball of Iron or Lead with fuch Violence and Speed, as nothing was able to fuftain its Force. That the largett Balls, thus difcharged, would not only dettroy whole Ranks of an Army at once, but batter the fronget Walk to the Ground, fink down Ships, with 2 thonfand Men in each, to the Bottom of the Sea; and, when linked together by a Chain, would cut through Maats and Rigging, divide Hundreds of Bodies in the Middle, and lay all wafte before them. That we often pur this Powdey into large hollow Balls of Iron, and difcharged them by an Engine into fome City we were befieging, which would rip up the Pavements, tear the Houfes to Pieces, burft and thraw Splinters on every Side, dafhing ous the Brains of all who came near. That E knew the Ingredients very well, which were cheap, and common; I undertood the Manner of compounding them, and could direct his Workmen how to make chofe Tubes of a Size proportionable to all other Things in his Majefty's Kingdom, and the largeft need not be above an hundred Feet long; twenty or thisty of which Tubes, charged with the proper Quantity of Powder and Balls, would batter down the Walls of the ftrongeft Town in his Dominions in few Hours, or deftroy the whole Metropolis, if ever it hhould pretend to difpute his abfoIute Commands. This I humbly offered to his Majefty, as a fmall Tribute of Acknowledgment in Returk of fo many Marks that I had received of his Royal Favour and Protection.

The King was fruck with Horror at the Defcription $I$ had given of thofe terrible Engines, and the Propofal I had made. He was amazed how fo imporent and groveling an Infect as I (thefe were his Expreflions) could entertain fuch inhuman Ideas, and in fo familiar a Manner, as to appear wholly unmoved at all the Scenes of Blood and Defolation, which I had painted as the common Effects of thofe deftructive Machines? whereof, he faid, fome evil Genius, Enemy to Man-: kind, muft have been the firt Contriver. As for himfelf, he protefted, that, although few Things delighted: him fo much as new Difcoveries in Art or in Nature, yet he would rather lofe half his Kingdom, than be pris yy to fuch a Secret, which he commanded me, as I valued my Life, never to mention any more.

Scenes

A frange Effect of narrow Principles and /hort Victws ! that a Prince poffefed of every Quality which procures Veneration, Love, and Efteem; of ftrong Parts, great Wifdom, and profound Learning, endued with admirable Talents for Government, and almoft adored by his Subjects, fhould, from a nice urneceflary Scruple, whereof in Europe we can have no Conception, let flip an Opporturity put into his Hands, that would have made him abfolute Mafter of the Lives, the Liberties, and the Fortunes of his People. Neither do I fay this with the leaft Intention to detract from the many Virtues of that excellent King, whofe Character, I am renfible, will on this Account, be very much leffened; in the Opinion of an Engli/b Reader: But I take this Defect among them to have rifen from their Ignorance, by not having hitherto reduced Politics into a Science, as the more acute Wits of Europe have done. For I remember very well, in a Difoourfe one Day with the King, when I happened to fay there were feveral thoufand Books among us, written upon the Art of Government, it gave him (directly contrary to my Intention) a very mean Opinion of our Underftandings. He profeffed both to abominate and defpife all Myfery, Refine$m e n t$, and Intrigue, either in a Prince or a Minifter! He could not tell what I meant by Secrets of State, where an Enemy, or fome Rival Nation, were not in the Cafe. He confined the Knowledge of Governing within very narrow Bounds, to common Senfe and Reafon, to Juftice and Lenity, to the.fpeedy Determination of civil and criminal Caufes; with fome other obvious T'opits, which are not worth confidering: And, he gave it for his Opinion, that whoever could make two Eals of Corn, or two Blades of Grafs, to grow upon a Spot of Ground where only one grew before, would deferve better of Mankind, and do more effential Service to his Country, than the whole Race of Politicians put together.

The Learning of this People is very defective, confifting only in Morality, Hiftory, Poetry, and Mathematics, wherein they muft be allowed to excel. But, the laft of thefe is wholly applied to what may be ufeful in Life, to the Improvement of Agriculture, and all meechanical Arts ; fo that among us, it would be little, efteemed. And as to Ideas, Entities, Abftractions, and Tranfcendentals, I could never drive the leaft Conception into their Heads.

No Law of that Country muft exceed in Words the Number of Letters in their Alphabet, which confilfs only in two and twenty. But, indeed, few of them extend even to that Length. They are expreffed in the moft plain and fimple Terms; wherein thofe People are not mercurial enough to difcover above one Interpretation:, And to write a Comment upon any Law is a capital Crime. As to the Decifion of civil Caufes, or Proceedings againft Criminals, either Precedents are fo few, that they have little Reafon to boaft of any extra: ordinary Skill in them.

They have had the Art of Printing; as well as the Cbinefe, Time out of Mind : But their Libraries are not very large; for that of the King's, which is reckoned the biggeft, doth not amount to above:a-thoufand Volumes, placed in a Gallery of twelve hundred Feet long, from whence I had Liberty to borrow what Books I pleafed. The Queen's Joiner had contrived, in one of Glumdaleclitch's Rooms, a Kind of wooden Machine, five and twenty Feet high, formed like a flanding Ladder, the Steps were each fifty Feet long: It was, indeed, a moveable Pair of Stairs, the loweft End placed at ten Feet Diftance from the Wall of the Chamber. The Book I had a Mind to read, was put up leaning agaipft the Wall: I firt mounted to the upper Step of K
the
the Ladder, and, turning my Face towards the Book? began at the Top of the Page, and fo walking to the right and left, about eight or ten Paces, actording to the Length of the Lines, till I had gotten a jittle below the Level of mine Eyes, and then defcending graduailly till I came to the Bottom : After which, I mouthted again, and began the other Page in the fame Manner, and fo turned over the Leaf, which I coald eafily do with both my Hands, for it was as thick and fiff as a Pafte-board, and, in the largef Folio's, nitat above eighteen or twenty Feet long.

Their Style is clear, mafculine, and fmooth, but not florid; for they avoid nothing more than multiplying unneceflary Words, or ufing various Expreffionts. I have perufed many of their Books, efpecially thofe in Hiftory and Morality. Among the reft; I was much diverted with a little old Treatife, which always lay in Glumdalclitch's Bed-chamber, and belonged to her Governefs, a grave elderly Gentlewonan, who deate in Writings of Morality and Devotion. The Book treats of the Weaknefs of human Kimd, and is in little Eftem; except among the Women and the Vulgar. However; I was curious to fee what an Author of that Country could fay upon fuch a Subject. This Writer went through all the ufual Topics of Euriopean Morialifts, thewing how diminutive, contemptible; and helplefsarn Animal was Man in his own Natare; how uriable to defend himfelf from Inclemiencies of the Air, or the Fury of wild . Beafts = How mach he was excelled by one Creature in Strength, by another ith Speed, by at third in Forefight, by a fourth in Induffry. He added, that Nature was degencierated in thefe latter décliniing Ages of the World, and could now produce ohly fratill abortive Births; in Cosaparifon of thofe in antient Times. He faid; it was very reabonable to think, not only that the Species of Men were originally mituch larger, but alfo, that there mult have been Giants in former Ages, which, as it is afferted by Hiftory and Tradition, fo it hath beert colifiruped by huge Bones

to BROBDINGNAG.

and Skulls cafually dug up in feveral Parts of the Kingdom, far exceeding the common dwiading Race of Man in our Days. He argued, that the very Laws of Nature abfolutely required we fhould have been made in the Beginning, of a Size more large and robuft, not fo liable to Defruction from every little Accident of a Tile falling from an Houfe, or a Stone caft from the Hand of a Boy, or being drowned in a little Brook. From this Way of Reafoning, the Author drew feveral moral Applications ufeful in the Conduct of Life, but needlefs here to repeat. For my Part, I could not avoid reflecting how univerfally this Talent was fpread, of drawing Lectures in Morality, or, indeed, rather Matter of Difcontent and Repining, from the Quarrels we raife with Nature. And, I believe, upon a ftrict Enquiry, thofe Quarrels might be fhewn as illgrounded among us, as they are among that People.

As to their Military Affairs, they boalt that the King's Army confifts of an hundred and feventy-fix thoufand Foot, and thirty-two thoufand Horfe: If that may be called an Army which is made up of Tradefmen in the feveral Cities, and Farmers in the Country, whofe Commanders are only the Nobility and Gentry, without Pay or Reward. They are, indeed, perfeet enough in their Exercifes, and under very good Difcipline; wherein I faw no great Merit; for how fhould it be otherwife, where every Farmer is under the Command of his own Landlord, and every Citizen under that of the principal Men in his own City, chofen after the Manner of Venice by Ballot?

I have often feen the Militia of Lorbrulgrud drawn out to Exercife in a great Field near the City, of twenty Miles quare. They were, in all, not above twentyfive thoufand Foot, and fix thoufand Horfe ; but it was impoffible for me to compute their Number, confidering the Space of Ground they toois up. A Cavalier, mounted on a large Steed, might be about ninety Feet high. I have feen this whole Body of Horfe, upon a Word of Command, draw their Swords at once, and

132

 CAVY Y ÓEbrandifh them in the Air. Imagination can gigure nothing fo grand, fo furprifing, and fo aftonifhing ! It looked as if ten-thoufand Flahes of Lightening weredarting at the fame Time from every Quarter of the Sky.

1 was curious to know how this Prince, to whofe: Dominions there is no Accefs from any other Country; came to think of Armies, or to teach his People the Practice of military Difcipline. But I was foon informed, both by Converfation, and reading their Hiftories: For, in the Courfe of many Ages, they have been troubled with the fame Difeafe to which the whole Race of Mankind is fubject; the Nobility often contending for. Power, the People for Liberty, and the King for abfolute Dominion. All which, however, happily tempered by the Laws of that Kingdom, have been fometimes violated by each of the three Parties, and have once, or more, occafioned Civil Wars, the laft whereof was happily put an End to by this Prince's Grandfather in a general Compofition ; and the Militia, then. fettled with common Confent, hath been ever fincekept in the flricteft Duty.

CHAP. VIII.

The King and Queen make a Progrefs to the Frontiers. The Author attends them. The Manner in which be leaves the Country very particularly related. He returns to England.

$T$Had always a ftrong Impulfe, that I fhould fome Time recover my Liberty, though it was impofible to conjecture by what Means, or to form any Project with the leaft Hope of fucceeding. The Ship, in which I failed was the firft ever known to be driven within Sight of that Coaft, and the King had given frict Orders, that, if at any Time another appeared, it hould: be taken ahore, and, with all its Crew and Paffengers, brought brought in a Tumbril to Lorbrulgrud. He was ftrong. ly bent to get me a Woman of my own Size, by whom I might propagate the Breed: But, I think, I hould rather have died, than undergone the Difgrace of leav, ing a Pofterity to be kept in Cages like tame Canary Birds, and perhaps, in Time, fold about the Kingdom to Perfons of Quality for Curiofities, I was, indeed, treated with much Kindnefs: I was the Favourite of a great King and Queen, and the Delight of the whole Court ; but it. was upon fuch a Foot, as ill became the Dignity of human Kind. I could never forget thofe domeftic Pledges I had left behind me. I wanted to be among People with whom I could converfe upon even Terms, and walk about the Strects and Fields, without being afraid of being trod to Death, like a Prog, or a young Puppy. But my Deliverance came Yooner than I expected, and, in a Manner, not very common : The whole Story and Circumftances of whick I hall faithfully relate.

I had now been two Years in this Country; and. about the Begianing of the third, Glumdalclitch and I attended the King and Queen in a Progrefs to the Soutb Coaft of the Kingdom. I was carried, as ufual, in my Travelling Box, which, as I have already defcribed, was a very convenient Clofet of twelve Feet wide. And I had ordered a Hammock to be fixed, by filken Ropes, from the four Corners at the Top, to break the Jolts, when a Servant carried me before him on Horfeback, as I fometimes defired, and would often fleep in my Hammack while we were upon the Road. On the Roof of my Clofet, not directly over the Middle of the Hammock, I ordered the Joiner to cut out a Hole of a Foot fquare, to give me Air in hot Weather, as I flept; which Hole 1 fhut, at Pleafure, with a Board that drew backwards and forwards through a Groove.

When we came to our Journey's End, the King thought proper to pafs a few Days at a Palace he hath near Flanflafnic, a City within eighteen Englifh Miles of the Sea.fide. Glumdalclitch and I wasmuch fatigned! I had gotten a fradl Cold, but the poor Girl swas fo in, as to be confined to her Chamber. I tonged to fee the Ocean, which muft be the only Scene of my Efcape, if ever it fhoold happen. I pretended to be worfe than I really was, and defired Leave to take the freh Air, of the Sea, with a Page I was very fond of, and who had fometimes been trufted with me. thall never forget with what Unwillingnefs Glumidalclitch confented, nor the frict Chaxge the gave the Page to be careful of me, burfting at the 'fame Time into a flood of Tears, as if the had fome Foreboding of what was to happen. The Boy took me out in my Box about half an Hour's Walk from the Palace towards the Rocks on the Seafhore. I ordered him to fet me down, and lifting up one of my Safhes, cait many a wilfful melancholy Look towards the Sea. I found myfelf not very well, and told the Page that I had a Mind to take a Nap in my Hammock, which I hoped would do me Good. I got in, and the Boy thut the Window clofe down to keep out the Cold. I foon fell afleep, and all I can conjecture is, that, while I flept, the Page, thinking no Danger could happen, went among the Rocks to look for Birds Bggs, having before obferved him from my Window fearching about, and picking ap one or two in the Clefts. Be that as it will, I found myleff fuddenly awaked with a violent Pull upon the Ring which was faftened at the Top of my Box, for the Conveniency of Carriage. I felt my Box raifed very high in the Air, and then born forward with prodigious Speed. The firf Jolt had like to have fhaken me out of my Hammock, but afterwarts the Motion was eafy enough. I called out feveral Times, as loud as I could raife my Voice, but all to no Purpofe. I looked towards my Windows, and could fee nothing 'but the Clouds and Sky. I heard a Noife over my Head like the Clapping of Wings, and then began to perceive the woful Condition I was in, that fome Eagle had got the Ring of my Box in his Beak, with an Intent to let it fall on a Rock like a Tortoife in a Shell, and then pick out my Body, and devour it. For the Sagacity and Smell of this Bird enabled him to difcover his Quarry at a great Dittance, though better concealed than I could be within a two-inch Board.

In a little Time I obferved the Noife and Flutter of Wings to increafe very faft, and my Box was toffed up and down like a Sign poft in a windy Day. I heard feveral Bangs or Buffets, as I thought, given to the Eagle (for fuch I am certain it muft have been thàt held the Ring of my Box in his Beak) and then all on a fudden felt myfelf falling perpendicularly down for abqve a Minute, but with fuch incredible Swiftnefs that I almoft loft my Breath. My Fall was ftopped by a terible Squaih, that founded louder to my Ears than t) Cataract of Niagara; after which I was quite in the Dark for another Minute, and then my Box began to rife fo high that I could fee Light from the Tops of the Windows. 1 now perceived that I was fallen into the Sea. My Box, by the Weight of my Body, the Goods that were in, and the broad Plates of Iron fixed for Strength at the four Corners of the Top and Bottom, floated above five Feet deep in Water. I did then, and do now fuppofe that the Eagle which flew away with my Box was purfued by two or three others, and forced to det me drop while he was defending himeff againt the reft, who hoped to fhare in the Prey. The Plates of Iron fattened at the Bottom of the Box (for thofe were the ftrongeft) preferved the Balance while it fell, and hindered it from being broken on the Surface of the Water. Every Joint of it was well grooved; and the Door did not move on Hinges, but up and down like a Sahh, which kept my Clofet fo tight that very little Water came in. I got with much Difficulty out of my Hammock, having firft ventured to draw back the Slip-board on the Roof already mentioned, contrived on Purpofe to let in Air, for Want of which I. found myfelf almoft ftifled.

How often did I then wih myfelf with my dear Glumdalalitth, from whom one fingle Hour had fo far K 4 divided
divided me! And I may fay, with Truth, that in the Midit of my own Misfortunes I could not forbear lamenting my poor Nurfe, the Grief fhe would fuffer for my Lofs, the Diffleafure of the Queen, and the Ruin of her Fortune. Perhaps many Travellers have not been under greater Difficulties and Diftrefs than I was at this Juncture, expecting every Moment to fee my Box dafhed in Pieces, or at leatt overfet by the firt violent Blaft, or a rifing Wave. A Breach in one fingle Pane of Glafs would have been immediate Death : Nor could any Thing have preferved the Windows but the flrong Lattice-wires placed on the Outfide againft Accidents in Travelling. I faw the Water ooze in at feveral Crannies, although the Leaks were not confiderable, and I endeavoured to ftop them as well as I could. I was not able to lift up the Roof of my Clofet, which otherwife I certainly fhould have done, and fat on the Top of it, where I might, at leaft, preferve myfelf fome Hours longer than by being fhut up, as I may call it, in the Hold. Or, if I efcaped thefe Dangers for a Day or two, what could I expect but a miferable Death of Cold and Hunger! I was four Hours under thefe Circumfances, expecting, and indeed, wihing every Mament to be my laft.

I have already told the Reader, that there were two frong Staples fixed upon that Side of my Box which had no Window, and into which the Servant who ufed to carry me on Horfeback would put a leathern Belt, and buckle it about his Wafte. Being in this difconfolate State, I heard or at leaft thought I heard fome Kind of grating Noife on that Side of my Box where the Staples were fixed, and foon after 1 began to fancy that the Box was pulled or towed along in the Sea; for I now and then felt a Sort of Tugging, which made the Waves rife near the Tops of my Windows, leaving me almof in the Dark: This gave me fome faint Hopes of Relief; although I was not able to imagine how it could be brought about I ventured to unfcrew one of my Chairs, which were always faftened to the Floor ;

Floor ; and having made a hard Shift to fcrew it down again directly under the Stipping board that I had lately ofened, I mounted on the Chair, and, purting my Mouth as near as I could to the Hole, I called for Help in a loud Voice, and in all the Languages $I$ underftood. 'I then' faftened my Hankerchief to a Stick I ufually carried, 'and, thrufting it iup the Hole, waved it feveral Times in the Air, that, if any Boat or Ship were near, the Seamen might conjecture fome unhappy Mortal to be fhut up in the Box.
${ }^{-i}$ I foand no Effect from all I could do, but plainly perceived my Clofet to be moved along; and in the Space of an Hour, or better, that Side of the Box where the Staples were, and had no Window, fruck againft fomething that was hard. I apprehended it to be a Rock, and found myfelf toffed more than ever. I plaimly heard a Noife apon the Cover of my Clofet, like that of a Cable, and the Grating of it as it paffed 'through the Ring. I then found myfelf hoifted up by -Degrees, at leaft three Feet higher than I was before: Whereupon I again thruft up my Stick and Handkerchief, calling for Help till I was almoft hoarfe. In' Return to which, I heard a great Shout repeated three Times, giving me fúch Tranfports of Joy, as are not to be conceived but by thofe who feel them. I now heard a Trampling over my Head, and fome body calling through the Hole with a loud Voice in the Engli/b Tongue, If there be any Body below, let them fpeak. I anfwered, I was an Engli/bman, drawn by ill Fortune into the greateft Calamity that ever any Creature underwent, and begged, by all that was moving, to be delivered out' of the Dungeon I was in. The Voice replied, I was fafe, for my Box was faftened to their Ship; and the Carpenter fhould immediately come and faw a Hole in the Cover large enough to pull me out. I anfwered, that was needlefs, and would take up too much Time, for there was no more to be done, but let one of the Crew put his Finger into the Ring, and take the Box out of the Sea into the Ship, and fo into the Cap.

Captain's Cabbin. Some of them, upon hearing me talk fo wildly, thought I was mad; others laughed; for, indeed, it never came into my Head, that I was now got among People of my own Stature and Strength. The Carpenter came, and in few Minutes lawed 2 Paftage about four Feet fquare, then let down a fmall Ladder, upon which I mounted, and from thence was taken into the Ship in a very weak. Condition.

The Sailors were all in Amazement, and afked mes thoufand Queftions, which I had np Inclination to anfwer. I was equally confounded at the Sight of fo many Pigmies, for fuch I took them to be, after having fo long accuftomed mine Eyes to the monftrous Objects 1 had left. But the Captain, Mr. Tbomas Wilcocks, an honef worthy Sbropbire Man, obferving I was ready to faint, took me into his Cabbin, gave me a Cordial to comfort me, and made me to turn in apon his own Bed, advifing me to take a little Reft, of which I had great Need. Before I wept to fleep, I gave him to undertand that I had valuable Furniture in my Bof, too good to be loft; a fine Hammock, an handrope Field-bed, two Chairs, a Table, and a Cabinet. That my Clofet was hung on all Sides, or rather quilted, with Silk and Cotton: That, if he would let one of the Crew bring my Clofet into his Cabbin, I would open it there before him, and fhew him my Goods. The Captain, hearing me utter thefe Abfurdities, concluded I was raving: However (I fuppofe to pacify me) he promifed to give Order, as I defired, and going upon Deck, fent fome of his Men down into my Clofet, from whence (as I afterwards found) they drew up all my Goods, and fripped off the Quilting ; but the Chairs, Cabinet, and Beddead, being frewed to the Flopr, were much damaged by the Ignorance of the Seamen, who tore them up by Force. Then they knocked off fome of the Boards for the Ufe of the Ship, and, when they had got all they had a Mind for, let the Hulk drop into the Sea, which, by Reafon of many Breaches made in the Bottom and Sides, funk to Rights. And, indeed, indeed, I was iglad not to have been 2 Spectator of the Havock they made; becaufe I am confident it would have fenftbly touched me, by bringing former Paffages into my Mind, which I had rather forget.

I flept fome Hours, but perpetually difturbed with Dreams of the Place I had left, and the Dangers I had efcaped. However, upon waking, I found myfelf much recovered. It was now about eight o'Clock at Night, and the Captain ordered Supper immediately, thinking I had already fatted too long. He entertained me with great Kiodnefs, obferving me not to look wildly, or talk incondiftently ; and, when we were left alone, defired I would give him a Relation of my Travels, and by what Accident I came to, be fet adrift in that monAfrous wooden Cheft. He faid, that about twelve o'Clock at Noon, as he was looking through his Glafs, ihe fpied it at a Diftance, and thought it was a Sail, which he'had a mind to make, being not much out of this Courfe, in Hopes of buying fome Biket, his own beginning to fall fhort. That upon coming nearer, and,finding shis Error, he fent out his Long-boat to difcover what I was; that his Men came back in a Fright, fwearing they had feen a fwimming Houre. That he daughed at their Folly, and went himfelf in the Boat, sordering his Men to take a ftrong Cable along with shem. That, the Weather being calm, he rowed round me feveral Times, obferved my Windows, and the 'Wire-lattices that defended them. That he difcovered two Staples upon one Side, which was all of Boards, without any Pafflage for Light. He then commanded his Men to row up to that Side, and, faftening a Cable to one of the Staples, ordered them to tow my Cheft (as they called it) towards the Ship. When it was there, he gave Directions to faften another Cable to the Ring fixed in the Cover, and to raife up my Cheft with Puldies, which all the Sailors were not able to do above two or three. Feet. He faid, they faw my Stick and :Handkerchief thruf out of the. Hole, and concluded that fome anhappy Man muft be fhut up in the Cavity. I aked,

I afked, Whether he or the Crew had feen any prodigious Bird in the Air about the Time he firft difcovered me?"To which he anfwered, That, diflourfing this Matter with the Sailors while I was afleep, one of them 'faid, he had obferved three Eagles flying towards the North, but remarked nothing of their being larger than the ufual Size, which I fuppofe muft be imputed to the great Height they were at; and he could not guefs the Reafon of my Queftion. I then asked the Captain, How far he reckoned we might be: from Land? He faid, by the beft Computation he could make, we were at' leaft an hundred Leagues. I affured him, that he 'muft be miftaken by almoft half, for I had not left the Country from whence I came above two ffours before I dropt into the Sea. Whereupon, he began again to think that my Brain was difturbed, of which he gave :me a Hint, and advifed me to go to Bed in a Cabbin the had provided. I affured him I was well refrefhed 'with his good Entertainment and Company, and as much in my Senfes as ever I was in my Life. He then grew ferious, and defired to afk me freely whether $F$ were not troibled in Mind by the Confcioufnefs offorme enormous Crime, for which I was punifhed at the Command of fome Prince, by expofing me in that Cheft, as great Criminals, in other Countries, have been forced to Sea in a leaky Veffel without Proviforis : For atthough he fhould be forry to bave taken fo ill a Man into his Ship, yet he would engage his Word to fet me fafe a-ftiore in the firlt Port where we arrived. He added, that his Sufpicions were much increafed, by fotme very abfurd Speeches I had delivered at firft to the sailors, and afterwards to himfelf, in relation to my Clofet or Cheff, as well as by my odd Looks and Behaviour while I was at Supper.
$\dagger$ begged his Patience to hear me tell my Story, which I faithfully did, from the laft Time I left England, to the Moment he firf difcovered me. And as Truth al'ways forceth its Way into rational Minds; fo this honeft worthy Gentlemian, who had fome Tincture of Learning, ing, and very good Senfe, was immediately convinced, of my Candour and Veracity. But, farther to conifirm all I had faid, I entreated him to give Order that my Cabinet fhould be brought, of which I had the Key in my Pocket, (for he had already informed me how the Seamen difpofed of my (lufet). I opened it in his own Prefence, and fhewed him the fmall Collection of Rarities I made in the Country from whence I had been fo ftrangely delivered. There was the Comb I had contrived out of the Stumps of the King's Beard, and another of the fame Materials, but fixed into a Paring of her Majefty's Thumb-nail, which ferved for the Back. There was a Collection of Needles and Pins from a Foot to half a Yard long ; four Wafp-ftings, like Joiners Tacks; fome Combings of the Queen's Hair; a gold Ring which one Day fhe made mé a Prefent of in a moft obliging Manner, taking it from her little Finger, and throwing it over my Head like a Collar: I defired the Captain would preafe to accept this Ring, in Return of his Civilities; which he abfoIutely retufed. I hewed him a Corn that I had cut off with my own Hand, from a Maid of Honour's Toe; it was about the Bignefs of a Kenti/b Pippin, and grown fo hard, that, when I returned to England, I gor it hollowed into a Cup, and fet in Silver. Lattly, I defired him to fee the Breeches I had then on, which were made of a Moufe's Skin.

I could force nothing on him but a Footman's Tooth; which I obferved him to examine with great Curiofity and found he had a Fancy for it. He received it with Abundance of Thanks, more than fuch a Trifle could deferve. It was drawn by an unskilful Surgeon, in a Miftake, from one of Glumdalclitch's Men, who was afflicted with the Tooth ach, but it was as found as anys in his Head. I gotit cleaned, and put it into my Ca-binet. It was about a Foot long, antd four Inches in Diameter.

The Captain was very well fatisfed with this plain Relation I'had given him, and faid 2. he hoped, when we returned to Englatd, I would oblige the World, By patting it in Paper, and making it pulific. My Anfwer was, That I thought we were afready over-flock-ed with Books of Travels : That nothing could now pafs which was not extraordinary ; wherein I doubted fome Authors lefs confulted Truth, than their own Vamity, or Intereft, or the Diverfion of ignoramt Readers. That my Story could contain little befides commor Events, without thofe ornamental Defcriptions of Atrange Plants, Trees, Birds, and other Animals; or of the barbarous Cuftoms and Idolatry of favage Peor ple, with which moft Writers abound. However, I thanked him for his good Opinion, and promifed to take the Matter into my Thoughts.

He faid, he wondered at one Thing very much, which was, to hear me fpeak fo loud, asking me whether the King or Queen of that Country were thick of Hearing. I told him, it was what I had been ufed to for above two Years paft ; and that I admired as much at the Voices of him and his Men, who feemed to me only to whifper, and yet I could hear them well enough. But, when I fpoke in that Country, it was like a Man talking in the Street to another looking out from the Top of a Steeple, unlefs when I was placed on a Table, or held in any Perfon's Hand. I told him, I had likewife obferved another Thing, that when I firft got into the Ship, and the Sailors ftood all about me, I thought they were the moft little contemptible Creatures I had ever beheld. For, indeed, while I was in that Prince's Country, I could never endure to look in a Glafs, after mine Eyes had been accuftomed to fuch prodigious Objects, becaufe the Comparion gave me to defpicable a Conceit of myfell. The Captain faid, that, while we were at Supper, he obferved me to look at every Thing with a Sort of Wonder, and that I often feemed hardly able to contain my Laughter, which he knew not well how to take, but imputed it to fome Diforder in my Brain. I anfwered, it was very true ; and I wondered how I conkd forbear, when

1 faw

Ifw his Difhes of the Size of a filver Three-pence, a Leg of Pork hardly a Mouthful, a Cup not fo big as a Nut-fhell ; and fo I went on, defcribing the reft of his Houthotd fluff and Provifions; after the famie Manner. For, atthough the Queeri had ordered a little Equipage of all Thiings neceffaty while I was in her Service, yet nhy Ideas were wholly taken up with what I fatw on every Side of me, and I winked at thy own Littlenefs, as People do at their own Fauls. The Captain underftood my Raillery very well, and merrily replied with the old Engli/h Proverb, that he doubted mine Eyes were bigger than my Belly, for he did not obferve my Stomaeh fo good, although I had fafted all Day; and, continuing in his Mirth, protefed he would have gladly given an hundred Pounds to have feeh my Clofet in the Eagle's Bill, and afterwards in its Fall from fo great a Heighit into the Sea; which would certainly have been a mof aflonifhing Object, worthy to have the Defcriptioth of it tranfmitted to future Ages: And the Comparifon of Pbicton was fo obvious, that he could not forbeatr applying it, although I did not mack admiite Conceit.

The Captain having been at Tonquin, was, in his Return to England, driven North-ealtward, to the Latitade of 44 Degrees, and of Longitade 143. But, meeting a Trade-wind two Days after I came on Board him, we failed Southward a long Time, and coafting Newv-Holland, kept otar Courfe Weft-fouth-weft, and then South-fouth-weft, till we doubled the Cape of GoodHope. Our Voyage was very profperous, but I hall not trouble the Readerwith a Jeurnal of it. The Captain called in at one or two Ports, and fent in his Lofigbbat for Provifions and frefh Water, but I never went out of the Ship till we came into the Downs, whick was õn the third Day of frane, 1706, about nine Months after my Efcape. I offered to leave my Goods in Security for Payment of my Freight; but the Captain protefted he would not receive one Farthing. We took kind Leave of éaet-other, and I minde him promife he would come to fee me at my Hoafe in Redriff. I hired a/Horféf and Guide for five Shillings, which I borrowed of the Captain:

$144 \quad \therefore$ AVOYAGiE; BC. : ;

As I was on the Road, obferving the Littlenefs of the Houfes, the Trees, the Cattle, and the People, I. began to think myfelf in Lilliput. I was afraid offtram a pling on every Traveller I met, and often called alpud. to have them fland out of the Way, fo that I had like. to have gotten one or two broken Heads for my Im-: pertinence.

When I came to my own Houfe, for which I was: forced to enquire, one of the Servants opening the Door, I bent down to go in (like a Goofe under a Gate) for Fear of friking my Head. My Wife ran out to embrace me, but I flooped lower than her Knees, think-: ing fhe could otherwife never be able to reach my Mouth. My Daughter kneeled to afk me Bleffing, but I could not fee her till fhe arofe, having been fo long ufed to ftand with my Head and Eyes erect, to above fixty Feet; and then I went to take her up with one Hand, by the Waift. I looked down upon the Servants, and one or two Friends who were in the Houfe, as if they had been Pigmies; and I a Giant. I told my Wife the had been too thrifty, for I found fhe had ftarved herfelf and her Daughter to nothing In. fhort, I behaved myfelf fo unaccountably, that they were all of the Captain's Opinion when he firt faw me, and concluded I had loft my Wits. This I mention as an Intance of the great Power of Habit and Prejudice.

In a little Time, I and my Family and Friends came to a right Underftanding: But my Wife protefted I fhould never go to Sea any more; although my evil Definy fo ordered, that fhe had not Power to hinder: me, as the Reader may know hereafter. In the mean: Time, I here conclude the fecond Part of my unfortunate toyages. -

> The End of the Second Part.

[ 145 ]

TRAVELS.

P A R T. III.

Abstract

A Voyage to Laptita, Balnibarbi, Luggnagg, Glubbdubdrib, and JaPAN.

С Н А Р. 1.

The Author fots out on his third Voyage, is taken by Pyrates. The Malice of a Dutchman. His Arrival at an I/land. He is received into Laputa, IHad not been at Home above ten Days, when Captain William Robinfon, a Cornifo Man, Commander of the Hope well, a ftout Ship of threehundred Tons, came to my Houfe. I had formerly been Surgeon of another Ship where he was Mafter, and a fourth Part Owner, in a Voyage to the Levant; he had always treated me more like a Brother, than an inferior Officer, and, hearing of my Arrival, made me. a Vifit, as I apprehended, only out of Friendhip, for nothing paffed more than what is ufual after long Abfences. But repeating his Vifits often, expreffing his Joy to find me in good Health, akking whether I were now fettled for Life, adding, that he intended a Voyage to the Eaft-Indies, in two Months ; at laft he plainly invited me, though with fome Apologies, to be Surgeon of the Ship; that I fhould have another Surgeon under me, befides our two Mates; that my Sallary thould be double to the ufual Pay; and that having exL perienced perienced my Knowledge in Sea-affairs, to be at leaft. equal to his, he would enter into any Engagement to follow my Advice as much as if I had fhared in the Command.

He faid fo many other obliging Things, and I knew hion to be fo honeft a Man, that I could not reject his Propofal ; the Thirft I had of feeing the World, notwithftanding my paft Misfortunes, continuing as violent as ever. The only Difficulty that remained, was to perfuade my Wife, whofe Confent, however, I at laft obtained, by the Profpect of Advantage fhe propofed. to her Children.
We fet out the 5 th Day of Auguft, 1706, and arrived at Fort St. Gearge the 1 th of April, 1707. We ftayed there three Weeks to refreth our Crew, many of whom were fick. From thence we went to Tonquin, where the Captain refolved to continue fome Time, becaufe many of the Goods he intended to buy were not ready, nor could he expect to be difpatched in feveral Months. Therefore, in Hopes to defray fome of the Charges he muft be at, he bought a Sloop, loaded it with Ceveral Sorts of Goods, wherewith the Tonquinefe ufually trade to the neighbouring Iflands, and putting fourteen Men on Board, whereof three were of the Country, he appointed me Matter of the Sloop, and gave me Power to traffic, while he tranifacted his Afzairs at Tonquin.

We had not failed above three Days, when, a great Storm arifing; we wete driven five Days to the Northnorth eaft, and then to the Eaft ; after which we had fair Weather, but fill with a pretty flrong Gale from the Weft. Upon the tenth Day, we were chaced by two Pyrates, who foon overtook us; for my Sloop was fo deep loaden, that the failed very flow, neither were we in a Condition to defend ourfelves.

We were boarded about the fame Time by both the Pyrates, who entered furioully at the Head of their Men; but finding us all proftate upon our Faces for fos

t6 LAPUTA, E*C.

So I gave Order) they pinioned us with frong Ropes, and, fetting a Guard upon us, went to fearch the Sloop.

1 obferved among them a Dutcbman, who feemed to be of fome Authority, though he was not Commander of either Ship. He knew us by our Countenances to be Englif/men, and, jabbering to us in his own Language, fwore we fhould be tied Back to Back, and thrown into the Sea. I fooke Dutch tolerably well; I told him who we were, and begged him, in Confideration of our being Chriftians and Proteftants of neighbouting Countries, in ftrict Alliance, that he would move the Captains to take fome Pity on us. This inflamed his Rage, he repeated his Threatenings, and, turning to his Companions, fpoke with great Vehemence, in the fapanc/e Language, as I fuppofe, often ufing the Word Cbrifitianos.

The largeft of the two Pyrate Ships was commanded by a fapanefe Captain, who fpoke a little Dutch, but very imperfeclly. He came up to me, and after feveral Queltions, which I anfwered in great Humility, he faid we fhould not die. I made the Captain a very low Bow, and, then turning to the Dutchman, faid, I was forry to find more Mercy in a Heathen, than in a Brother Chriftian. But I had foon Reafon to repent thofe foolifh Words: For that malicious Reprobate, having often endeavoured in vain to perfuade both the Captains that I might be thrown into the Sea (which they would not yield to after the Promife made me, that I hould not die) however prevailed fo far as to have a Punifhment inflicted on me, worfe, in all human Appearance, than Death itfelf. My Men were fent, by an equal Divifion, into both the Pyrate Ships, and my Sloop new manned. As to myfelf, it was determined that I fhould be fet a-drift, in a fmall Canoe, with Paddles and a Sail, and four Days Provifions, which laft the $\mathcal{F}$ apanefe Captain was fo kind to double out of his own Stores, and would permit no Man to fearch me. I got down into the Canoe, while the Dutchman, L 2 fland-
ftanding upon the Deck, loaded me with all the Curfeer, and injurious Terms, his Language could afford.

About an Hour before we faw the Pyrates, I had taken an Obfervation, and found we were in the Latitude of 46 N . and of Longitude 183. When I was at fome Diftance from the Pyrates, I difcovered by my Pocket. glafs feveral Iflands to the South-eaft. I fet up my Sail, the Wind being fair, with a Defign to reach the neareft of thofe Inands, which I made a Shift to do in about three Hours. It was all rocky, however I got many Birds Eggs, and, ftriking Fire, I kindled fome Heath and dry Sea-weed, by which I roafted my Eggs. I eat no other Supper, being refolved to fpare my Provifions as much as I could. I paffed the Night under the Sheiter of a Rock, Atrewing fome Heath under me, and flept pretty well.

The next Day I failed to another Ifland, and thence to a third and fourth, fometimes ufing my Sail, and fometimes my Paddles. But, not to trouble the Reader with a particular Account of my Diftreffes, let it fuffice that, on the fifth Day, I arrived at the laf Inland in my Sight, which lay South-fouth-ealt to the former.

This Ifland was at a greater Diftance than I expected, and I did not reach it in lefs than five Hours. I encompaffed it almoft round, before I could find a con. venient Place to land in, which was a fmall Creek, about three Times the Widenefs of my Canoe. I found the Ifland to be all rocky, only a little intermingled with Tufts of Grafs, and fweet-fmelling Herbs. I took out my fmall Provifions, and, after having refrefhed myfelf, I fecured the Remainder in a Cave, whereof there were great Numbers. I gathered Plenty of Eggs upon the Rocks, and got a Quantity of dry Sea-weed, and parched Grafs, which I defirned to kindle the next Day, and roalt my Eggs as well as I could (for I had about me my Flint, Steel, Match, and Burning-glafsj. I lay all Night in the Cave where I had lodged my Provifions. My Bed was the fame dry Grafs and Sea-weed which I intended for Fewel. I flept very little; for the the Difquiets of my Mind prevailed over my Wearinefs, and kept me awake. I confidered how imporfible it was to preferve my Life, in fo defolate a Place, and how miferable my End mult be. Yet found myfelf fo liftefs and defponding, that I had not the Heart to rife; and, before I could get Spirits enough to creep out of my Cave, the Day was far advanced. I walked a while among the Rocks, the Sky was perfectly clear, and the Sun fo hot, that I was forced to turn my Face from it: When, all on a fudden, it became obfcure, as I thought, in a Manner very different from what happens by the Interpofition of a Cloud. I turned back, and perceived a vaft opake Body between me and the Sun, moving forwards towards the Illand: It feemed to be about two Miles high, and hid the Sun fix or feven Minates, but I did not obferve the Air to be much colder, or the Sky more darkened, than if I had ftood under the Shade of a Mountain. As it approached nearer over the Place where I was, it appeared to be a firm Subflance, the Bottom flat, fmooth, and hining very bright from the Reflexion of the Sea below. I ftood upon a Height, about two hundred Yards from the Shore, and faw this vaft Body defcending almoft to a Parallel with me, at lefs than an Englifb Mile Diftance. I took out my Pocket-perfpective, and could plainly difcover Numbers of People moving up and down the Sides of it, which appeared to be floping; but, what thofe People were doing, I was not able to diftinguifh.

The natural Love of Life gave me fome inward Motions of Joy, and I was ready to entertain a Hope, that this Adventure might fome Way or other help to deliver me from the defolate Place and Condition I was in. But at the fame Time the Reader can hardly conceive my Afonifhment, to behold an Iland in the Air. inhabited by Men, who were able (as it fhould feem) to raife or fink, or put it into a progreffive Motion, as they pleared. But, not being at that Time in a Difpofition to philofophife upon this Phanomenon, I raVILLE DE ${ }^{3}$ LYON ther chofe to obfcrve what Courfe the Ifland would take, becaufe it feemed for a While to fland fill. Yet foon after it advanced nearer, and I could fee the Sides of it, encompaffed with feveral Gradations of Galleries and Stairs, at certain Intervals, to defcend from one to the other. In the loweft Gallery, I beheld fome People fifhing with long Angling Rods, and others looking on. I waved my Cap (for my Hat was long fince worn out) and my Handkerchief towards the 1 fland; and, upon its nearer Approach, I called and fhouted with the utmolt Strength of my Voice ; and then, looking circumfpectly, I beheld a Crowd gathered to that Side which was moft in my View. I found by their pointing towards me, and to each other, that they plainly difcovered me, although they made no Return to my Shouting. But I could fee four or five Men running in great Hatte up the Stairs to the Top of the Ifland, who then difappeared. I happened rightly to conjecture, that thefe were fent for Orders to fome Perfon in Authority upon this Occafion.

The Number of People encreafed, and, in lefs than half an Hour, the Ifland was moved and raifed in fuch a Manner, that the loweft Gallery appeared in a Pa rallel of lefs than an hundred Yards Diftance from the Height where I food. I then put myfelf into the mof fupplicating Pollures, and fpoke in the humbleft Accent, but received no Anfwer. Thofe, who ftood neareft over-againft me, feemed to be Perfons of Diftinction, as 1 fuppofed by their Habit. They conferred earnefly with each other, looking often upon me. At length one of them called out in a clear, polite, fmooth Dialect, not unlike in Sound to the Italian ; and, therefore, I returned an Anfwer in that Language, hoping, at leaf, that the Cadence might be more agreeable to his Ears. Although neither of us underfood the other, yet my Meaning was eafily known, for the People faw the Diftrefs I was in.

They made Signs for me to come down from the Rock, and go towards the Shore, which I accordingly did; and, the flying Mand being raifed to a convenient Height, the Verge direclly over me, a Chain was let down from the loweft Gallery, with a Seat fattened to the Bottom, to which I fixed myfelf, and was drawn up by Pullies.

CH AP. II.

Ths Humours and Difpofitions of the Laputians defcribed. An Account of their Learning. Of the King, and his Court. The Author's Reception there. The Inbabitants fubject to Fear and Difquietudes. An Account of the Women.

A T my Alighting, I was furrounded with a Crowd of People; but thofe who flood neareft, feemed to be of better Quality. They beheld me with all the Marks and Circumftances of Wonder, neither, indeed, was. I much in their Debt; having, never, till then, feen a Race of Mortals fo fingular in their Shapes, Habits, and Countenances. Their Heads were all reclined, either to the Right or the Left; one of their Eyes turned inward, and the other directly up to the Zenith. Their outward Garments were adorned with the Figures of Suns, Moons, and Stars, interwove with thofe of Fiddles, Flutes, Harps, Trumpets, Guittars, Harpficords, and many more Infruments of Mufic, unknown to us in Europe. I obferved, here and there, many in the Habit of Servants, with a blown Bladder faRened like a Flayl to the End of a fhort Stick, which they carried in their Hands. In each Bladder was a fmall Quantity of dried Peafe, or little Pebbles (as I was afterwards informed). With thefe Bladders, they now and then flapped the Mouths and Ears of thofe who flood near them, of which Practice I could not then conceive the Meaning; it feems, the Minds of thefe People are fo taken up with intenfe Speculations,

$$
\mathrm{L}_{4}
$$

AVoyage

ons, that they neither can fpeak, nor attend to the Difcourfes of others, without being roufed by fome external Taction upon the Organs of Speech and Hearing ; for which Reafon, thofe Perfons, who are able to afford it, always keep a Flapper (the Original is Climenole) in their Family, as one of their Dometics, nor ever walk Abroad, or make Vifits, without him. And the Bufinefs of this Officer is, when two or three more Perfons are in Company, gently to frike with his Bladder the Mouth of him who is to fpeak, and the right Ear of him or them to whom the Speaker addreffeth himfelf. This Flapper is likewife employed diligently to attend his Mafter in his Walks, and, upon Occafion, to give him a foft Flap on his Eyes, becaufe he is always fo wrapped up in Cogitation, that he is in manifeft Danger of falling down every Precipice, and bouncing his Head againft every Poft; and in the Streets; of jutling others, or being jufled himfelf, into the Kennel.

It was neceffary to give the Reader this Information, without which, he would be at the fame Lofs with me, to underland the Proceedings of thefe People, as they conducted me up the Stairs, to the Top of the Inland, and from thence to the Royal Palace. While we were afcending, they forgot feveral Times what they were about, and left me to myfelf, till their Memories were again roufed by their Flappers; for they appeared altogether unmoved by the Sight of my foreign Habit and Countenance, and by the Shouts of the Vulgar, whofe Thoughts and Minds were more difengaged.

At laft we entered the Palace, and proceeded into the Chamber of Prefence, where I faw the King feated on his Throne, attended on each Side by Perfons of prime Quality. Before the Throne, was a large Table filled with Globes and Spheres, and Mathematical Infruments of all Kinds. His Majefty took not the leaft Notice of us, although our Entrance was not without fufficient Noife, by the Concourfe of all Perfons belonging to the Court. But he was then deep in a Problem, and we attended at leaft an Hour, before he could folve folve it. There flood by him, on each Side, a young Page, with Flaps in their Hands, and, when they faw he was at Leifure, one of them gently fruck his Mouth, and the other his right Ear; at which he flarted like one awaked on the fudden, and looking towards me, and the Company I was in, recollected the Occafion of our Coming, whereof he had been informed before. He fpoke fome Words, whereupon immediately a young Man with a Flap came up to my Side, and flapt me gently on the right Ear, but I made Signs, as well as I could, that I had no Occafion for fuch an Inftrument ; which, as I afterwards found, gave his Majefty, and the whole Court, a very mean Opinion of my Undertanding. The King, as far as I could conjecture, afked me feveral Queftions, and I addreffed myfelf to him in all the Languages I had. When it was found, that I could neither underftand, nor be underftood, I was conducted, by his Order, to an Apartment in his Palace, (this Prince being diftinguifhed above all his Predeceffors, for his Holpitality to Strangers) where two Servants were appointed to attend me. My Dinner was brought, and four Perfons of Quality, whom I remembered to have feen very near the King's Perfon, did me the Honour to dine with me. We had two Courfes, of three Difhes each. In the firft Courfe, there was a Shoulder of Mutton, cut into an Æquilateral Triangle, a Piece of Beef into a Rhomboides, and a Puddingfinto a Cycloid. The fecond Courfe was two Ducks, truffed up into the Form of Fiddles; Saufages and Puddings refembling Flutes and Haut-boys, and a Breaft of Veal in the Shape of a Harp. The Servants cat our Bread into Cones, Cylinders, Parallelograms, and feveral other Mathematical Figures.

While we were at Dinner, I made bold to afk the Names of feveral Things in their Language, and thofe noble Perfons, by the Affiftance of their Flappers, delighted to give me Anfiwers, hoping to raife my Admiration of their great Abilities, if I could be brought

54

 A Voyageto converfe with them. I was foon able to call for Bread and Drink, or whatever elfe I wanted.

After Dinner, my Company withdrew, and a Perfon was fent to me, by the King's Order, attended by a Flapper. He brought with him Pen, Ink, and Paper, and three or four Books, giving me to undertand by Signs, that he was fent to teach me the Language. We fat together four Hours, in which Time I wrote down a great Number of Words in Columns, with the Tranflations over againft them ; I likewife made a Shift to learn feveral fhort Sentences. For my Tutor would order one of my Servants to fetch fomething, to turn about, to make a Bow, to fit, or to fland, or walk, and the like. Then I took down the Sentence in Writing. He hewed me alfo, in one of his Books, the Figures of the Sun, Moon, and Stars, the Zodiac, the Tropics, and Polar Circles, together with the Denominations of many Figures of Planes and Solids. He gave me the Names and Defcriptions of all the mufical Infruments, and the general Terms of Art in Playing on each of them. After he had left me, I placed all my Words, with their Interpretations, in alphabetical Order. And thus, in a few Days, by the Help of a very faithful Memory, I got fome Infight into their Language.

The Word, which I interpret the Flying or Flaating Ifand, is, in the Original, Laputa, whereof I could never learn the true Etymology. Lap, in the old obfolete Language, fignifieth $H_{i g h}$, and Untub, a Governor, from which they fay, by Corruption, was derived Laputa, from iapuntuh. But I do not approve of this Derivation, which feems to be a little ftrained. I ventured to offer to the Learned among them a Conjecture of my own, that Laputa was quafi Lap outed; Lap fignifying properly the Dancing of the Sun beams in the Sea, and outed, a Wing; which, however, I thall not obtrude, but fubmit to the judicious Reader.

Thofe to whom the King had entrufted me, obferving how ill I wás clad, ordered a Taylor to come next Morning, and take my Meafure for a Suit of Clothes, This Operator did his Office after 2 different Manner, from thofe of his Trade in Europe. He firft took my Altitude by 2 Quadrant, and then, with Rule and Compaffes, defcribed the Dimenfions and Out-Lines of my whole Body, all which he entered upon Paper, and in fix Days brought my Clothes very ill made, and quite out of Shape, by happening to mittake a Figure in the Calculation. But my Comfort was, that I obs. ferved fuch Accidents very frequent, and little regarded.

During my Confinement for want of Clothes, and by an Indifpofition that held me fome Days longer, I much enlarged my Dictionary ; and, when I went next to Court, was able to underfand many Things the King fpoke, and to return him fome Kind of An(wers. His Majefty had given Orders that the Illand ghould move North-eaft and by Eaft, to the vertical Point over Lagado, the Metropolis of the whole Kingdom below upon the firm Earth. It was about ninety Leagues diftant, and our Voyage lafted four Days and an half. I was not in the lealt fenfible of the progref. five Motion made in the Air by the Ifland. On the fecond Morning, about eleven a Clock, the King himfelf, in Perfon, attended by his Nobility, Courtiers, and Officers, having prepared all their mufical Infruments, played on them for three Hours, without In, termifion, fo that I was quite flunned with the Noife ; neither could I poffibly guefs the Meaning, till my Tutor informed me. He faid, that the People of their Ifland had their Ears adapted to hear the Mufic of the Spheres, which always played at certain Periods, and the Court was now prepared to bear their Part, in whatever Inftrument they molt excelled.

In our Journey towards Lagado, the capital City, his Majefty ordered that the lland fhould fop over certain Towns and Villages, from whence he might receive the Petitions of his Subjects. And, to this Purpofe, feveral Packthreads were let down, with fmall

Weights

AVoyace

Weights at the Bottom. On thefe Packthreads the People frung their Petitions, which mounted up directly, like the Scraps of Paper faftened by School-boys at the End of the String that holds their Kite. Sometimes we received Wine and Victuals from bciow, which were drawn up by Pullies.

The Knowledge I had, in Mathematics, gave me great Affillance in acquiring their Phrafeology, which depended much upon that Science and Mufic; and, in the latter, I was not unkilled. Their Ideas are perpetually converfant in Lines and Figures. If they would, for Example, praife the Beauty of a Woman, or any other Animal, they defcribe it by Rhombs, Circles, Parallelograms, Ellipfes, and other geometrical Terms, or by Words of Art drawn from Mufic, needlefs here to repeat. I obferved, in the King's Kitchen, all Sorts of mathematical and mufical Infruments, after the Figures of which they cut up the Joints that were ferved to his Majefty's Table.

Their Houfes are very ill built, the Walls bevil, without one Right-Angle in any Apartment ; and this Defect arifeth from the Contempt they bear to practical Geometry, which they defpife as vulgar and mechanic, thofe Infructions they give being too refined for the Intellectuals of their Workmen, which occafions perpetual Miftakes. And although they are dexterous enough upon a Piece of Paper in the Management of the Rule, the Pencil, and the Divider, yet, in the common Actions and Behaviour of Life, I have not feen a more clumfy, awkward, and unhandy People, nor fo flow and perplexed in their Conceptions upon all other Subjects, except thofe of Mathematics and Mufic. They are very bad Reafoners, and vehemently given to Oppofition, unlefs when they happen to be of the right Opinion, which is feldom their Cafe. Imagination, Fancy, and Invention, they are wholly Strangers to, nor have any Words in their Language, by which thofe Ideas can be expreffed; the whole Com-pafs of their Thoughts and Mind being fhut up within the two forementioned Sciences.

Moft of them, and efpecially thofe who deal in the aftronomical Part, have great Faith in judicial Aftrology, although they are afhamed to own it publicly. But, what I chiefly admired, and thought altogether unaccountable, was the frong Difpofition I obferved in them towards News and Politics, perpetyally enquiring invo Public Affairs, giving their Judgments in Matters of State, and paffionately difputing every Inch of a Party Opinion. I have, indeed, obferved the fame Difpofition among moft of the Mathematicians I have known in Europe, although I could never difcover the leaft Analogy between the two Sciences; unlefs thofe People fuppofe, that, becaufe the fmalleft Circle hath as many Degrees as the largeft, therefore the Regulation and Management of the World require no more Abilities, than the Handling and Turning of a Globe: But I rather take this Quality to fpring from a very common Infirmity of human Nature, inclining us to be more curious and conceited in Matters where we have leaft Concern, and for which we are leaft adapted, either by Study or Nature.

Thefe People are under continual Difquietudes, never enjoying a Minute's Peace of Mind; and their Difturbances proceed from Caufes which very little affeet the reft of Mortals. Their Apprehenfions arife from feveral Changes they dread in the celeflial Bodies. For Infance, that the Earth, by the continual Approaches of the Sun towards it, muft, in Courfe of Time, be abforbed, or fwallowed up. That the Eace of the Sun will by Degrees be encrufted with its own Effluvia, and give no more Light to the World. That the Earth very narrowly efcaped a Bruhh from the Tail of the lat Comet, which would have infallibly reduced it to Afhes; and that the next, which they have calculated for one and thirty Years hences will probably deftroy us. For, if in its Perihelion it fhould approach within a certain Degree of the Sun (as by their Calculations they have Realon Reafon to drend) it will conceive a Degree of Heat teni thoufand Times more intenfe, than that of red hot glowing Iron; and, in its Abfence from the Sun, carry a blazing Tail ten-hundred thoufand and fourteen Miles long; through which, if the Earth hould pafs at the Ditance of one-hundred-thourand Miles from the Nucleus, or main Body of the Comet, it muft in its Parfage be fet on Fire, and reduced to Afhes. That the San, daily fpending its Rays without any Nutriment to fupply them, will at laft be wholly confumed and annihilated ; which muft be attended with the Defruction of this Earth, and of all the Planets that receive their Light from it.

They are fo perpetually alarmed with the Apprehenfions of thefe, and the like impending Dangers, that they can neither fleep quietly in their Beds, nor have any Relin for the common Pleafures or Amufements of Life. When they meet an Acquaintance in the Morning, the firft Queftion is about the Sun's Health, how he looked at his Setting and Rifing, and what Hopes they have to avoid the stroke of the approaching Comet. This Converfation they are apt to run into with the fame Temper that Boys difcover; in delighting to hear terrible Stories of Spitits and Hobgoblins, which they greedily liften to, and dare not go to Bed fof Fear.

The Women of the Ifland have Abundatice of Vi: vacity; they contemn their Hußands, and are exceedingly fond of Strangers, whereof there is always a confiderable Number from the Continent below, attending at Court, either upon Affairs of the feveral Towns and Corporations, or their own particular Occafions, but ate much defpifed, becaufe they want the fame Endow timents. Among thefe, the Ladies chufe their Gallants: But the Vexation is, that they act with too much Eafe and Security, for the Hurband is always fo rapt in Speculation, that the Miffrefs and Lover may proceed to the greatef Familiarities before his Face, if he be but provided with Paper and Implements, and without his Flapper at his Side.

The Wives and Daughters lament their Confinement to the Iland, although I think it the moft delicious Spot of Ground in the World; and athough they live. here in the greateft Plenty and Magnificence, and are allowed to do whatever they pleafe, they long to fee the World, and take the Diverfions of the Metropolis, which they are not allowed to do, without a particular Licence from the King; and this is not eafy to be obtained, becaufe the People of Quality have found by frequent Experience, how hard it is to perfuade their Women to return from below. I was told, that a great Court Lady, who had feveral Children, is married to the Prime Minifter, the richeft Subject in the Kingdon, a very graceful Perfon, extremely fond of her, and lives in the fineft Palace of the Illand, went down to Lagado, on the Pretence of Health, there hid herfelf for feveral Months, till the King fent a Warrant to fearch for her, and the was found in an obfcure Eating Houfe all in Rags, having pawned her Clothes to maintain an old deformed Foot-man, who boat her every Day, and in whofe Company fhe was taken much againt her Will. And although her Hufband received her with all poffible Kindnefs, and without the leaft Reproach, fhe foon after contrived to fteal down again with all her Jewels, to the fame Gallant, and hath not been heard of fince.

This may perhaps pafs with the Reader rather for an European or Englif/ Story, than for one of a Conntry fo remote. But he may pleafe to confider, that the Caprices of Women kind are not limited by any Climate, or Nation, and that they are much more uniform than can be eafily imagined.

In àbout a Month's Time, I had made a tolerable Proficiency in their Language, and was able to anfwer moft of the King's Queltions, when I had the Honour so attend him. His Majelty difcovered not the leaft Curioftry to enquire into the Laws, Government, Hift cory, Religion, or Manners of the Countries where 1 had been, but confined his Queftions to the State of Mathematics, and received the Account I gave him, with great Contempt and Indifference, though ofter roufed by his Flapper on each Side.

C H A P. III.

A Phanomenon folved by modern Pbilofophy and Afronomy. The Laputians great Improvements in the latter. The King's Method of fupprefing Infurrections.

IDESIRED Leave of this Prince to fee the Curiofities of the Inand, which he was graciounly pleafed to grant, and ordered my Tutor to attend me. I chiefly wanted to know to what Caufe in Art, or in Nature, it owed its feveral Motions, whereof I will now give a philofophical Account to the Reader.

The flying or floating Ifland is exactly circular, its Diameter 7837 Yards, or about four Miles and half, and confequently contains ten-thoufand Acres. It is three-hundred Yards thick. The Bottom, or under Surface, which appears to thofe who view it from below, is one even regular Plate of Adamant, fhooting up to the Height of about two-hundred Yards. Above it lie the feveral Minerals in their ufual Order, and over. all is a Coat of rich Mould, ten or twelve Feet deep. The Declivity of the upper Surface, from the Circumference to the Center, is the natural Caufe why all the Dews and Rains, which fall upon the Iland are conveyed in fmall Rivulets towards the Middle, where they are emptied into four large Bafons, each of about half a Mile in Circuit, and two-hundred Yards diftant from the Center. From thefe Bafons, the Water is continually exhaled by the Sun in the Day-time, which effectually prevents their Overflowing. Befides, as it is in the Power of the Monarch to raife the lland above the the Region of Clouds and Vapours, he can prevent the. Falling of Dews and Rains whenever he pleafes. For the higheft Clouds cannot rife above two Miles, as Naturalifts agree, at leaft they were never known to do fo in that Country.

At the Center of the Inland there is a Chafm about fifty Yards in Diameter, from whence the Aftronomers defcend into a large Dome, which is therefore called Flandona Gagnole, or the Afronomer's Cave, fituated at the Depth of a hundred Yards, beneath the upper Surface of the Adamant. In this Cave are twenty Lamps continually burning, which, from the Reflection of the Adamant, caft a ftrong Light into every Part. The Place is Itored with great Variety of Sextants, Quadrants, Telefcopes, Aftrolabes, and other aftronomical Inftruments. But the greatef Curiofity, upon which the Fate of the Illand depends, is a Loadftone of a prodigious Size, in Shape refembling a Weaver's Shuttle. It is in Length fix Yards, and, in the thicikef Part, at leaft three Yards over. This Magnet is fuftained by a very ftrong Axle of Adamant paffing through its Middle, upon which it plays, and is poifed fo exactly, that the weakeft Hand can turn it. It is hooped round with an hollow Cylinder of Adamant, four Feet deep, as many thick, and twelve Yards in Diameter, placed harizontally, and fupported by eight adamantine Feet, each fix Yards high. In the Middle of the concave Side there is a Groove twelve Inches deep, in which the Extremities of the Axle are lodged, and turned round as there is Occafion.

The Stone cannot be moved from its Place by any Force, becaufe the Hoop and its Feet are one continued Piece with that Body of Adamant which conltitutes the Bottom of the Ifland.

By Means of this Load-ftone, the Illand is made to rife and fall, and move from one Place to another. For, with Refpect to that Part of the Earth over which the Monarch prefides, the Stone is endued at one of its Sides with an attractive Power, and at the other with a repulfive. Upon placing the Magaet eref, with its attracting End towards the Earth, the Ifland defcends; but, when the repelling Extremity points downwards, the Illand mounts direaly upwards. When the Pofition of the Stone is oblique, the Motion of the IMand is fo too. For, in this Magnet, the Forces always act in Lines parallel to its Direction.

By this oblique Motion, the Inand is conveyed to different Parts of the Monarch's Dominions. To explain the Manner of its Progrefs, let $A B$ reprefent a Lino drawn crofs the Dominions of Balnibarbi, let the Line ed reprefent the Loadfone, of which let $d$ be the repelling End, and $c$ the attracting End, the Ifland being over $C$; let the Stone be placed in the Pofition $c d$, with its repelling End downwards; then the Illand will be driven upwards obliquely towards $D$. When it is arrived at $D$, let the Stone be turned upon its Axle till its attracting End points towards $E$, and then the Jland will be carried obliquely towards $E$; where, if the Stone be again turned upon its Axle, till it flands in the Pofition EF, with its repelling Point downward, the Inland will rife obliquely towards $F$, where, by directing the attracting End towards $G$, the IMand may be carried to $G$, and from $G$ to $H$, by turning the Stone, fo as to make its repelling Extremity point direclly downward. And thus, by changing the Situation of the Stone as often as there is Occafion, the Ifland is made to rife and fall by Turns in an oblique Direction, and by thofe alternate Rifings and Fallings (the Obliquity being not confiderable) is conveyed from one Part of the Dominions to the other.

But it mult be obferved, that this Ifland cannot move beyond the Extent of the Dominions below, nor can it rife above the Height of four Miles. For which the AAtronomers (who have written large Syftems concerning the Stone) alfign the following Reafon: That the magnetic Virtue does not extend beyond the Diffance of four Miles, and that the Mineral which acts upon the Stone in the Eowels of the Earth, and in the Sea, about about fix Leagues diftant from the Shore, is not diffuft through the whole Globe, but terminated with the Li--mits of the King's Dominions; and it was eafy, from the great Advantage of fuch a fuperior Situation, for a Prince to bring under his Obedience, whatever Country lay within the Attraction of that Magnet.

When the Stone is put parallel to the Plane of the Horizon, the Illand Aandeth flill; for, in that Cafe, the Extremities of it, being at equal Diftance from the Earth, act with equal Force, the one in drawing downwards, the other in pulbing upwards, and confequently no Motion can enfue.

This Load-ftone is under the Care of certain Aftro. nomers, who, from Time to Time, give it fuch Pofitions as the Monarch directs. They fpend the greateft Part of their Lives in obferving the celeftial Bodies, which they do by the Affiftance of Glaffes, far excelling ours in Goodnefs. For, although their largeft Teilefcopes do not exceed three Feet, they magnify much more than thofe of an hundred among us, and, at the fame Time, fhew the Stars with greater Clearnefs. This Advantage hath enabled them to extend their Difcoveries much farther than our Aftronomers-in $E u$. rope; for they have made a Catalogue of ten-thoufand ifixed Stars, whereas the largeft of ours do not contain above one third Part of that Number. They have likewife difcovered two leffer Stars, ar Satellites, which revolve about Mars, whereof the innermoft is diftant from the Center of the primary Planet, exactly three of his Diameters, and the outermoft, five; the former revolves in the Space often Hours, and the latter in twenty-one and an half; fo that the Squares of their periodical Times are very near in the fame Proportion with the Cubes of their Diftance from the Center of Mars, which evidently thews them to be governed by the fame Law of Gravitation, that influences the other heavenly Bodies.

They have oblerved ninety-three different Comets, :and fetted their Periods with great Exactnefs. If this be true (and they affirm it with great Confidence) it is much to be wifhed, that their Obfervations were made public, whereby the Theory of Comets, which at prefent is very lame and defective, might be brought to the fame Perfection with other Parts of Aftronomy.

The King would be the moft abfolute Prince in the Univerfe, if he could but prevail on a Miniftry to join with him; but thefe having their Eflates below on the Continent, and confidering that the Office of a Favourite hath a very uncertain Tenure, would never confent to the enflaving their Country.

If any Town fhould engage in Rebellion or Mutiny, fall into violent Factions, or refufe to pay the ufual Tribute, the King hath two Methods of reducing them to Obedience. The firft and the mildeft Courfe, is by keeping the Ifland hovering over fuch a Town, and the Lands about it, whereby he can deprive them of the Benefit of the Sun and the Rain, and confequently afflict the Inhabitants with Death and Difeafes. And, if the Crime deferve it, they are at the fame Time pelted from above with great Stones, againft which they have no Defence, but by creeping into Cellars or Caves, while the Roofs of their Houfes are beaten to Pieces. But if they ftill continue obftinate, or offer to raife Infurrections, he proceeds to the laft Remedy, by letting the Ifland drop directly upon their Heads, which makes an univerfal Deftruction, both of Houfes and Men. However, this is an Extremity to which the Prince is feldom driven, neither, indeed, is he willing to put it in Execution, nor dare his Minifters advife him to an Action, which, as it would render them odious to the People, fo it would be a great Damage to their own Eftates, which lie all below, for the Ifland is the King's Demefn.

But there is fill, indeed, a more weighty Reafon, why the Kings of this Country have been always averfe from executing fo terrible an Action, unlefs upon the utmof Neceffity. For, if the Town, intended to be deftroyed, fhould have in it any tall Rocks, as it, gene-

to L A P U T A, Eోc.

generally falls out in the larger Cities, a Situation probably chofen at firf, with a View to prevent fuch a Cataftrophe ; or, if it abound in high Spires, or Pillars of Stone, a fudden Fall might endanger the Bottom, or under Surface of the Inland, which, although it confift, as I have faid, of one intire Adamant, twohundred Yards thick, might happen to crack by too great a Choque, or burft, by approaching too near the Fires from the Houfes below, as the Backs both of Iron and Stone will often do in our Chimnies. Of all this, the People are well apprifed, and underfand how far to carry their Obitinacy, where their Liberty or Property is concerned. And the King, when he is higheft provoked, and moft determined to prefs a City to Rubbih, orders the Ifland to defcend with great Gentlenefs, out of a Pretence of Tendernefs to his People; but, indeed, for Fear of breaking the adamantine Bottom ; in which Cafe, it is the Opinion of all their Philofophers, that the Load-ftone could no longer hold it up, and the whole Mafs would fall to the Ground.

By a fundamental Law of this Realm, neither the King, nor either of his two elder Sons, are permitted to leave the Ifland, nor the Queen, till fhe is paft Childbearing.

C H A P. IV.

The Author leaves Laputa, is conveyed to Balnibarbi, arrives at the Metropolis. A Defcription of the Metropolis, and the Country adjoining. The Author hofpitably received by a great Lord. His Converfation with that Lord.

$A$Lthough I cannot fay that I was ill-treated in this Inand, yet, I muft confefs, I thought myFelf too much neglected, not without fome Degree of Contemptr: For neither Prince nor People appeared to M 3 be curious in any Part of Knowledge, except Mather matics and Mufic, wherein I was far their inferiour, and upon that Account very little regarded.

On the other Side, after having feen all the Curiofities of the Ifland, I was very defirous to leave it, being heartily weary of thofe People. They were, indeed, excellent in two Sciences, for which I have great Efteem, and wherein I am not unverfed, but at the fame Time fo ablracted and involved in Speculation, that I never met with fuch difagreeable Companions. 1 converfed only with Women, Tradermen, Flappers, and Court Pages, during two Months of my Abode there; by which, at laft, I rendered myfelf extremely contemptible; yet thefe were the only People from whom I' could ever receive a reafonable Anfwer.

I had obtained, by hard Study, a good Degree of Knowledge in their Language ; I was weary of being eonfined to an Ifland, where I received fo little Countenance, and refolved to leave it with the firt Opportunity.

There was a great Lord at Court, nearly related to the King, and, for that Reafon alone, ufed with Refpect. He was univerfally reckoned the moft ignorant and flupid Perfon among them. He had performed many eminent Services for the Crown, had great natural and acquired Parts, adorned with Integrity and: Honour, but fo ill an Ear for Mufic, that his Detractors reported he had been often known to beat Time in the 'wrong Place; neither could his Tutors without extreme Difficulty, teach him to demonftrate the moft eafy Propofition in the Mathematics: He was pleafed to Shew me many Marks of Favour, often did me the Honour of a Vifit, defired to be informed in the Affairs of Europe, the Laws and Cuftoms, the Manners and Learning of the feveral Countries where I had travelled. He lifened to me with great Attention, and made very wife Obfervations on all I pooke. ${ }^{\text {. }} \mathrm{He}$ had two Flappers attending him for State, but never made made Ufe of them, except at Court, and in Vifits of Ceremony, and would always command them to withdraw, when we were alone together.

I entreated this illuftrious Perfon to intercede in my Behalf with his Majefty for Leave to depart, which he accordingly did, as he was pleafed to tell me, with Regret: For, indeed, he had made me feveral Offers very advantageous, which, however, I refufed with Expreffions of the higheft Acknowledgment.

On the 16th Day of February, I took Leave of his Majelly and the Court. The King made me a Préfent, to the Value of about two-hundred Pounds Englifh, and my Protector, his Kinfman, as much more, together with a Letter of Recommendation to a Friend of his in Lagado, the Metropolis: The Ifland being then hovering over a Mountain about two Miles from it, I was let down from the loweft Gallery, in the fame Manner as I had been taken up.

The Continent; as far as it is fubjeet to the Monarch of the Flying Ifand, paffes under the general Name of Balnibarbi; and the Metropolis, as I faid before, is called Lagado. I felt fome little Satisfaction in finding myfelf on firm Ground. I walked to the City without any Concern, being clad like one of the Natives, and fufficiently infructed to converfe with them. I foon found out the Perfon's Houfe to whom I was recommended, prefented my Letter from his Friend the Grandee in the Ifland, and was received with much Kindnefs. This great Lord, whofe Name was Muroo di, ordered me an Apartment in his own Houfe, where I continued during my Stay, and was entertained in 2 molt hofpitable Manner.

The next Morning after my Arrival, he took me in his Chariot to fee the Town, which is about half the Bignefs of London; but the Houfes very frangely built, and moft of them out of Repair. The People in the Streets walked faft, looked wild, their Eyes fixed, and were generally in Rags. We paffed through one of M4 the the Town Gates, and went about three Miles into the Country, where I faw many Labourers working with feveral Sorts of Tools in the Ground, but was not able to conjefture what they were about ; neither did I obferve any Expectation either of Corn or Grafs, although the Soil appeared to be excellent. I could not forbear admiring at thefe odd Appearances both in Town and Country; and I made bold to defire my Conductor, that he would be pleased to explain to me what could be meant by fo many bufy Heads, Hands, and Faces, both in the Streets and the Fields, becaufe I did not difcover any good Effects they produced; but, on the Contrary, I never knew a Soil fo unhappily cultivated, Houfes fo ill contrived, and fo ruinous, or a People whofe Countenances and Habit expreffed fo much Mifery and Want.

This Lord Munodi was a Perfon of the firf Rank, and had been fome Years Governor of Lagado; but, by a Cabal of Minifters, was difcharged for Infufficiency. However, the King treated him with Tendernefs, as a well-meaning Man, but of a low contemptible Underflanding.

When I gave that free Cenfure of the Country, and its Inhabitants, he made no further Anfwer, than by telling me, that I had not been long enough among them to form a Judgment ; and that the different Na jons of the World had different Cuttoms ; with other common Topics to the fame Purpofe. But, when we returned to his Palace, he afked me how I liked the Building, what Abfurdities I obferved, and what Quarrel I had with the Drefs or Looks of his Domefticks. This he might fafely do; becaufe every Thing about him was magnificent, regular, and polite. I anfwered, that his Excellency's Prudence, Quality, and Fortune, had exempted him from thofe Defects whith Folly and Beggary had produced in others. He faid, if I would go with him to his Country Houfe, about twenty Miles diftant, where his Eftate lay, there would be more £eifure for this Kind of Converfation. I told his Excellency
tellency that I was intirely at his Difpofal ; and accordingly we fet out next Morning.

During our Journey, he made me obferve the feveral Methods ufed by Farmers in managing their. Lands; which, to me, where wholly unaccountable; for, except in fome very few Places, I could not difcover one Ear of Corn, or Blade of Grafs. But, in three Hours travelling, the Scene was wholly altered; we came into a mont beautiful Country ; Farmers Houfes at fmall Diftances, neatly built, the Fields enclofed, containing Vineyards, Corn-grounds, and Meadows. Neither do I remember to have feen a more delightful Profpeat. His Excellency obferved my Countenance to clear up; he told me, with a Sigh, that there his Elate began, and would continue the fame till we fhould come to his Houfe. That his Countrymen ridiculed and defpifed him for managing his Affairs no better, and for fetting fo ill an Example to the Kingdom, which, however, was followed by very few, fuch as were old and wilfuly and weak like himfelf.

We came at length to the Houfe, which was, indeed, a noble Structure, built according to the beft Rules of ancient Architecture. The Fountains, Gardens, Walks, Avenues, and Groves, were all difpofed with exact Judgment and Tafte. I gave due Praifes to every Thing I faw, whereof his Excellency took not the leait Notice, till after Supper ; when, there being no third Companion, he told me with a very melancholy Air, that he doubted he muft throw down his Houfes in Town and Country, to rebuild them after the prefent Mode, deftroy all his Plantations, and caft others into fuch a Form as modern Ufage required ; and give the fame Directions to all his Tenants, unlefs he would fubmit to incur the Cenfure of Pride, Singularity, Affectation, Ignorance, Caprice, and, perhaps, encreafe his Majefly's Difpleafure.

That the Admiration I appeared to be under, would ceafe, or diminifh, when he had informed me of fome Particulars, which probably I never heard of at Court, the the People there being too much taken ap in their own Speculations, to have Regard to what paffed here below.

The Sum of his Difcourfe was to this Effect : That, about forty Years ago, certain Perfons went up to $L_{a-}$ puta, either upon Bufinefs or Diverfion, and after five Months Continuance, came back with a very little Smattering in Mathematics, but full of volatile Spirits, acquired in that airy Region. That thefe Perfons, upon their Return, began to diflike the Management of every Thing below, and fell into Schemes of putting all Arts, Sciences, Languages, and Mechanics, upon a new Foot. To this End they procured a Royal Patent for erecting an Academy of Projectors in Lagado 3 and the Humour prevailed fo ftrongly among the Peos ple, that there is not a Town of any Confequence in the Kingdom, without fuch an Academy. In thefe Colleges, the Profeffors contrive new Rules and Me thods of Agriculture and Building, and new Inflruments and Tools for all Trades and Manufactures, whereby, as they undertake, one Man haall do the Work of ten, a Palace may be built in a Week, of Materials fo durn rable, as to laft for ever, without Repairing. All the Fruits of the Earth fhall come to Maturity at whatever Seafon we think fit to chufe, and increafe an hundred Fold more than they do at prefent; with innumerable other happy Propofals. The only Inconvenience is, that none of thefe Projects are yet brought to Perfection; and, in the mean Time, the whole Country lies miferably wafte, the Houres in Ruins, and the People without Food or Clothes. By all which, inftead of being difcouraged, they are fifty Times more violently bent upon profecuting their Schemes, driven equally on by Hope and Defpair: That as for himfelf, being not of an enterprifing Spirit, he was content to go on in the old Forms, to live in the Houfes his Anceftors had built, and act as they did in every Part of Life, without Innovation. That, fome few other Perfons of Quality and Gentry had done the fame, but were looked on with an Eye of Contempt and Ill-will, as Enemies to Art, ignorant, and ill Commonwealths-men, preferring their own Eafe and Sloth, before the general Improvement of their Country.

His Lordfhip added, that he would not by any further Particulars prevent the Pleafure I fhould certainly take in viewing the grand Academy, whither he was refolved I hould go. He only defired me to obferve a ruined Building upon the Side of a Mountain, about three Miles diftant, of which he gave me this Account: That he had a very convenient Mill within half a Mile of his Houfe, turned by a Current from a large River, and fufficient for his own Family, as well as a great Number of his Tenants. That, about feven Years ago, ${ }^{2}$ Club of thofe Projectors came to him, with Propofals to deftroy this Mill, and build another on the Side of that Mountain, on the long Ridge whereof a long Canal muft be cut for a Repofitory of Water, to be conveyed up by Pipes and Engines to fupply the Mill: Becaufe the Wind and Air upon a Height agitated the Water, and thereby made it fitter for Motion: And becaufe the Water, defcending down a Declivity, would turn the Mill with half the Current of a River, whofe Courfe is more upon a Level. He faid, that being then not very well with the Court, and prefled by many of his Friends, he complied with the Propofal ; and, after employing an hundred Mert for two Years, the Work mifcarried, the ProjeCtors went off, laying the Blame intirely upon him, railing at him ever fince; and putting others upon the fame Experiment, with equal Aflurance of Succefs, as well as equal Difappointment.

In a few Days we came back to Town, and his Excellency, confidering the bad Character he had in: the Academy, would not go with me himfelf, but recommended me to a Friend of his to bear me Company thither. My Lord was pleafed to reprefent me as a great Admirer of Projects, and a Perfon of much Cu siofity, and eafy Belief; which, indeed, was not without Truth ; for I had myfelf been a Sort of Projector in' my younger Days.

C H A P. V.

Fhe Author permitted to fee the grand Academy of Lagado. The Academy largely defcribed. The Arts wherein the Profeffors employ themfelves.

$T$HIS Academy is not an intire fingle Building, but a Continuation of feveral Hoafes on both Sides of a Street, which, growing wafte, was purchafed, and applied to that Ufe.

I was received very kindly by the Warden, and went for many Days to the Ácademy. Every Room hath in it one or more Projectors; and, I believe, I could not be in fewer than five-handred Rooms.

The firft Man I faw was of a meagre Afpect, with footy Hands and Face, his Hair and Beard long, ragged and finged in feveral Places. His Clothes, Shirt, and Skin, were all of the fame Colour. He had been eight Years upon a Project for extracting Sun-beams out of Cucumbers, which were to be put into Vials hermetically fealed, and let out to warm the Air in raw inclement Summers. He told me, he did not doubt, in eight Years more, he fhould be able to fupply the Governor's Gardens with Sun- fhine at a reafonable Rate ; but he complained that his Stock was low, and - entreated me to give him fomething as an Encouragement to Ingenuity, efpecially fince this had been a very dear Seafon for Cucumbers. I made him a fmall Prefent, for my Lord had furnifhed me with Money on Purpofe, becaufe he knew their Practice of begging from all who go to fee them.

I went into another Chamber, but was ready to halten back, being almolt overcome with a horrible Stink: My Conductor profled me forward, conjuring me, in a Whir.
a Whifper, to give no Offence, which would be high. ly refented, and therefore I durf not fo much as flop my Nofe. The Projetor of this Cell was the mott antient Student of the Academy ; his Face and Beard were of a pale Yellow ; his Hands and Clothes dawbed over with Filth. When I was prefented to him, he gave me a clofe Embrace (a Compliment I could well have excufed). His Employment, from his firit Coming into the Academy, was an Operation to re-, duce human Excrement to its original Food, by feparating the feveral Parts, removing the Tincture which it receives from the Gall, making the Ordure exhale, and fcumming off the Saliva. He had a weekly Allowance from the Society, of a Veffel filled with human Ordure, about the Bignefs of a Briftol Barrel.

- I faw another at Work, to calcine Ice into Gunpowder, who likewife fhewed me a Treatife he had written concerning the Malleability of Fire, which he intended to publifh.

There was a moft ingenious Architect, who had contrived a new Method for building Houfes, by beginning at the Roof, and working downwards to the Foundation, which he juftified to me, by the like Practice of thofe two prudent Infeets, the Bee and the Spider.

There was a Man born blind, who had feveral Apprentices in his own Condition: Their Employment was to mix Colours for Painters, which their Mafter taught them to diftinguifh by Feeling and Smelling. It was, indeed, my Misfortune, to find them, at that Time, not very perfect in their Leffons, and the Profeffor himfelf happened to be generally miltaken: This Artift is much encouraged and efteemed by the whole Fraternity.

In another Apartment, I was highly pleafed with a Projector, who had found a Device of Plowing the Ground with Hogs, to fave the Charges of Ploughs, Cattle, and Laboir. The Method is this: In an Acre of Ground, you bury, at fix Inches Diftance, and eight deep, a Quantity of Acorns, Dates, Chefnuts, and other ther Mafte, or Vegetables, whereof thefe Animals are fondet: Then you drive fix-hundred, or more of them, into the Field, where, in few Days, they will root up the whole Ground in Search of their Food, and make it fit for Sowing; at the fame Time manuring it with their Dung $;$ it is true, upon Experiment, they found the Charge and Trouble very great, and they had little or no Crop. However, it is not doubted, that this Invention may be capable of great Improvement.

I went into another Room, where the Walls and Ceiling were all hung round with Cobwebs, except a narrow Paffage for the Artift to go in and out. At my Entrance, he called aloud to me not to difturb his Webs. He lamented the fatal Miftake the World had been fo long in ufing Silk-worms, while we had fuch Plenty of domeftic Infects, who infinitely excelled the former, becaufe they undertood how to weave, as well as fin. And he propofed farther, that, by employing Spiders, the Charge of dying Silks would be wholly faved; whereof I was fully convinced, when he fhewed me a vaft Number of Flies moft beautifully coloured, wherewith he fed his Spiders, affuring us, that the Webs would take a Tincture from them; and, as he had them of all Hues, he hoped to fit every Body's Fancy, as foon as he could find proper Food for the Flies, of certain Gums, Oils, and other glutinous Matter, to give a Strength and Confiftence to the Threads.

There was an Alronomer, who had undertaken to place a Sun-dial upon the great Weather-cock on the Town-houre, by adjufting the annuat and diurnal Motions of the Earth and Sun, fo as to anfwer and coincide with all accidental Turnings of the Wind.

I was complaining of a fmall Fit of the Cholic, upoi which my Conductor led me into a Room, where z great Phyfician refided, who was famous for curing that Difeafe by contrary Operations from the fame $\ln$ nfrument. He had a large Pair of Bellows, with a long gender Muzzle of Ivory. This he contyexes eight Tuches up the Anus, and, drawing in the Wind, he affirmed he could make the Guts as lank as a dried Bladder. But, when the Difoafe was more fubbborn and violent, he let in the Muzzle while the Bellows were full of Wind, which he difcharged into the Body of the Patient ; then withdrew the Inftrument to replenif it, clapping his Thumb ftrongly againft the Orifice of the Fundament ; and, this being repeated three or four Times, the adventitious Wind would rufh out, bringing the noxious along with it (like Water put into a Pump) and the Patient recover. I faw him try both Experiments upon a Dog, but could not difcern any Effect from the former. After the latter, the Animal was ready to burft, and made fo violent a Difcharge, as was very offenfive to me and my Companions. The Dog died on the Spot, and we left the Doctor endeavouring to recover him by the fame Operation.

I vifited many other Apartments, but fhall not trouble my Reader with all the Curiofities I obferved, being fudious of Brevity.

I had hitherto feen only one Side of the Academy, the other being appropriated to the Advancers of fpeculative Learning, of whom I fhall fay fomething, when I have mentioned one illuftious Perfon more, who is called, among them, the univerfal Artijf. He told us, he had been thirty Years employing his Thoughts for the Improvement of human Life. He had two large Rooms full of wonderful Curiofities, and fifty Men at Work. Some were condenfing Air into a,dry tangible Subitance, by extracting the Nitre, and Jetting the aqueous or fluid Particles percolate; others foftening Marble for Pillows and Pinculhions; others petrifying the Hoofs of a living Horfe, to preferve them from foundering. The Artift himelf was at that Time bufy upon two great Defigns; the firft to fow Land with Chaff, wherein he affirmed the-true feminal Virtue to be contained, as he demonftrated by feveral Experiments, which I was not kkilful enough to comprehend, The other was, by a certain Compofition of Gums, Minerals, and Vegetables, outwardly applied, to prevent the Growth of Wool upon two young Lambs; and he hoped, in a reafonable Time, to propagate the Breed of naked Sheep all over the Kingdom.

We croffed a Walk to the other Part of the Academy, where, as I have already faid, the Projectors in Speculative Learning refided.

The firft Profeffor I faw, was in a very large Room, with forty Pupils about him. After Salutation, obferving me to look earneftly upon a Frame, which took up the greateft Part of both the Length and Breadth of the Room, he faid, perhaps I might wonder to fee him employed in a Project for improving Speculative Knowledge by practical and mechanical Operations. But the World would foon be fenfible of its Ufefulnefs; and he flattered himfelf, that a more noble exalted Thought never fprang in any other Man's Head. Every one knew how laborious the ufual Method is of attaining to Arts and Sciences; whereas, by his Contrivance, the moft ignorant Perfon, at a reafonable Charge, and with a little bodily Labour, may write Books in Philofophy, Poetry, Politics, Law, Mathematics, and Theology, without the leaft Affiftance from Genius or Study. He then led me to the Frame, about the Sides whereof, all his Pupils food in Ranks. It was twenty Feet fquare, placed in the Middle of the Room. The Superficies was compofed of feveral Bits of Wood, about the Bignefs of a Dye, but fome larger than others. They were all linked together by flender Wires. Thefe Bits of Wood were covered on every Square with Paper pafted on them ; and on thefe Papers were written all the Words of their Language in their feveral Moods, Tenfes, and Declenfions; but without any Order. The Profeffor then defired me to obferve, for he was going to fet his Engine at Work. The Pupils, at his Command, took each of them hold of an iron Handie, whereof there were forty fixed round the Edges of the Frame; and, giving them a fudden Turn, the whole whole Dilpofition of the Words was intirely changed. He then commanded fix and thirty of the Lads to read the feveral Lines foftly, as they appeared upon the Frame; and, where they found three or four Words together that might make Part of a Sentence, they dietated to the four remaining:Boys who were Scribes. This Work was repeated three or four Times, and at every Turn, the Engine was fo contrived, that the Words fhifted into new Places, as the fquare Bits of Wood moved upfide down.

$\cdots 11$

Six Hours a Day the young Students were employed in this Labour, and the Profeffor fhewed me feveral Volumes in large Folio already collected, of broken Sentences, which he intended to piece together; and, out of thofe rich Materials, to give the World a compleat Body of all Arts and Sciences; which, however, might be ftill improved, and much expedited, if the Public would raife a Fund for making and employing five hundred fuch Frames in Lagado, and oblige the Managers to contribute in common their feveral Collections.

He affured me, that this Invention had employed all his Thoughts from his Youth; that he had emptied the whole Vocabulary into his Frame, and made the tricteft Computation of the general Proportion there is in Books between the Numbers of Particles, Nouns, and Verbs, and other Parts of Speech.

I made my humbleft Acknowledgment to this illuftrious Perfon for his great Communicativenefs; and promifed, if ever 1 had the good Fortune to return to my native Country, that I would do him Juftice, as the fole Inventor of this wonderful Machine; the Form and Contrivance of which I defired Leave to delineate upon Paper, as in the Figure here annexed. I told him, although it were the Cuftom of our Learned in Europe to fleal Inventions from each other, who had thereby, at leaft, this Advantage, that it became a Controverfy which was the right Owner, yet I would take fuch Caution, that he fhould have the Honour intire, without a Rival.

We next went to the School of Languages, where three Profeffors fat in Confultation upon improving that . of their own Country.

The firt Project was to fhorten Difcourfe, by cutting Polyfyllables into one, and leaving out Verbs and Participles ; becaufe, in Reality, all Things imaginable are but Nouns.

The other Project was a Scheme for intirely abolifhing all Words whatfoever; and this was urged as a great Advantage in Point of Health, as well as Brevity. For it is plain, that every Word we fpeak is, in fome Degree, a Diminution of our Lungs by Corrofion ; and confequently contributes to the Shortening of our Lives. An Expedient was therefore offered, that fince Words are only Names for $T$ bings, it would be more convenient for all Men to carry about them fuch $T$ bings as were neceffary to exprefs the particular Bufinefs they are to difcourfe on. And this Invention would certainly have taken Place, to the great Eafe, as well as Health of the Subject, if the Women, in Conjunction with the Vulgar and illiterate, had not threatened to raife a Rebellion, unlefs they might be allowed the Li . berty to fpeak with their Tongues, after the Manner of their Fore-fathers ; fuch conttant irreconcileable Enemies to Science are the common People. However, many of the moft learned and wife adhere to the new Scheme of expreffing themfelves by Tbings; whick hath only this Inconvenience attending it, that if a Man's Bufinefs be very great, and of various Kinds, he muft be obliged, in Proportion, to carry a greater Bundle of Tbings upon his Back; unlefs he can afford one or two ftrong Servants to attend him. I have often beheld two of thofe Sages almot . Ginking under the Weight of their Packs, like Pedlars among us s who, when they met in the Streets, would lay down their Loads, open their Sacks, and hold Converfation for an Hour together; then put up their Implements, help each other to refume their Burthens, and take their Leave.

But, for fhort Converfations, a Man may carry Implements in his Pockets, and under his Arms, enough to fupply him; and in his Houfe he cannot be at a Lofs. Therefore the Room where Company meet, who practife this Art, is full of all Things ready at Hand; requifite to furnih Matter for this Kind of attificial Converfe.

Another great Advantage, propofed by this Invention, was, that it would ferve as an univerfal Langtiage; to be undertood in all civilized Nations, whofe Goods and Utenfils are generally of the fame Kind, or nearly refembling, fo that their Ufes might eafily be comprehended. And thus Ambaffadors would be qualified to treat with foreign Princes, or Minifters of State, to whofe Tongues they were utter Strangers.

I was at the Mathematical School, where the Maftèr taught his Pupils after a Method fcarce imaginable to us in Europe. The Propofition and Demonftration were fairly written on a thin Wafer, with Ink compofed of a cephalic Tincture. This the Student was to fwallow upon a fafting Stomach, and for three Days following eat nothing but Bread and Water. As the Wafer digefted, the Tincture mounted to his Brain, bearing the Propofition along with it. But the Succefs hath not hitherto been anfwerable, partly by fome Error in the Quantum or Compofition, and partly by the Perverfenefs of Lads; to whom this Bolus is fo naufeous, that they generally fteal afide, and difcharge ie upwards, before it can operate ; neither have they been yet perfuaded to ufe fo long an Abfinence as the Ptefription requires.

C H A P. IV.

A further Account of the Academy. The Author propofes fome Improvements, which are bonourably received.

IN the School of Political ProjeCtors, I was but ill entertained; the Profeffors appearing, in my Judgment, wholly out of their Senfes; which is a Scene that never fails to make me melancholy. Thefe unhappy People were propofing Schemes for perfuading Monarchs to chufe Favourites upon theScore of their Wifdom, Capacity, and Virtue; of teaching Minitters to confult the Public Good; of rewarding Merit, great Abilities, and eminent Services; of intructing Princes to know their true Intereft, by placing it on the fame Foundation with that of their People: Of chufing for Employments Perfons qualified to exercife them ; with many other wild impofible Chimæras, that never entered before into the Heart of Man to conceive ; and confirmed in me the old Obfervation, that there is nothing fo extravagant and irrational which fome Philofophers have not maintained for Truth.

But, however, I fhall fo far do Juftice to this Part of the Academy, as to acknowledge that all of them were not fo vifionary. There was a moft ingenious Doctor, who feemed to be perfectly verfed in the whole Nature and Syftem of Government. This illuftrious Perfon had very ufefully employed his Studies in finding out effectual Remedies for all Difeafes and Corruptions, to which the feveral Kinds of public Adminiftration are fubject, by the Vices or Infirmities of thofe who govern, as well as by the Licentioufnefs of thofe who are to obey. For Inflance; whereas all Writers and Reafoners have agreed, that there is a frict univerfal Refemblance between the Natural and the Political Body ; can there be any 7 hing more exident, than that the Health of both muft be preferved. and.
and the Difeafes cured by the fame Prefcriptions; It is allowed, that Senates and great Councils are often troubled with redundant, ebullient, and other peccant Hu mours; with many Difeafes of the Head, and more of the Heart; with ffrong Convulfions, with grievous Contractions of the Nerves and Sinews in both Hands, but épecially the Right:. With Spleen, Flatus, Vertigos and Deliriums; with Scrophulous 'Tumours full of feetid purulent Matter; with four frothy Ructations, with canine Appetites and Crudenefs of Digeftion, befides many others needlefs to mention. This Doator, therefore, propofed, that, upon the Meeting of a Senate, certain Phyficians fhould attend at the three firft Days of their Sitting, and, at the Clofe of each Day's Debate, feel the Pulfes of every Senator; after which, having maturely confidered, and confulted upon the Nature of the feveral Maladies, and the Methods of Cure, they fhould on the fourth Day return to the Senate-houfe, attended by their Apothecaries flored with proper Medicines; and, before the Members fat, adminifter to each of them Lenitives, Aperitives, Abfterfives, Corrofives, Reftringents, Palliatives, Laxatives, Cephalalgics, Ieterics, Apophlegmaties, Acouftics, as their feveral Cafes required; and, according as thefe Medicines fhould operate, repeat, alter, or omit them at the next Meeting.

This Project could not be of any great Expence to the Public ; and would, in my poor Opinion, be of much Ufe for the Difpatch of Bufinefs in thofe Countries, where Senates have any Share in the Legiflative Power; beget Unanimity, florten Debates, open a few Mouths which are now clofed, and clofe many more which are now open; curb the Petulancy of the Young, and correct the Potitivenefs of the Old, rouze the Stupid, and damp the Pert.

Again; becaufe it is a general Complaint, that the Favourites of Princes are troubled with thort and weak Memories ; the fame Dottor propofed, that whoever attended a firf Minitter, after having told his Bufinefs with the utmol Brevity, and in the plainef Worde, Thould, at his Departu e, give the faid Minifter a Tweak by the Nofe, or a Kick in the Belly, or tread on his Corns, or lug him thrice by both Ears, or run a Pin into his Breech, or pinch his Arm black and blue, to prevent Forgetfulnels: And, at every Levee Day, repeat the fame Operation, till the Bufinefs were done, or abSolutely refufed.

He likewife direCed, that every Senator in the great Council of a Nation, after he had delivered his Opinion, and argued in the Defence of it, fhould be obliged to give his Vote directly contrary ; becaufe, if that were done, the Refult would infallibly terminate in the Good of the Public.

When Parties in a State are violent, he offered a wonderful Contrivance to reconcile them. The Me thod is this: You take an hundred Leaders of each Party ; you difpofe them into Couples of fuch whofe Heads are nearelt of a Size; then let two nice Operators faw off the Occiput of each Couple at the fame Time, in fuch a Manner that the Brain may be equally divided. Let the Ocriputs thus cut off be interchanged, applying each to the Head of his oppofite Partyman. It feems, indeed, to be a Work that requireth fome Exactnefs, but the Profeffor affured us, that, if it were dexterounly performed, the Cure would be infallible. For he argued thus; that the two half Brains being left to debate the Matter between themfelves, within the Space of one Scull, would foon come to a good Underfanding, and produce that Moderation, as well as Regularity of Thinking, fo much to be wifhed for in the Heads of thofe, who imagine they come into the World only to watch and govern its Motion : And as to the Difference of Brains in Quantity or Quality, among thofe who are Directors in Faction; the Doctor affured us, from his own Knowledge, that it was a perfect Trife.

I heard a very warm Debate between two Profeffors, about the moft commodious and effectual Ways and Means of raifing Money without grieving the Subject. The firft affirmed the jufteft Method would be to lay a certain Tax upon Vices and Folly; and the Sum fixed upon every Man, to be rated after the fairef Manner by a Jury of his Neighbours. The fecond was of an Opinion directly contrary; to tax thofe Qualities of Body and Mind for which Men chiefly value themfelves; the Rate to be more or lefs according to the Degrees of excelling ; the Decifion whereof fhould be left intirely to their own Breaft. The higheft Tax wds upon Men, who are the greateft Favourites of the other Sex, and the Affeffments according to the Number' and Natures of the Favours they have received; for which they are allowed to be their own Vouchers: Wit, Valour, and Politenefs were likewife propofed to be largely taxed, and collected in the fame Manner, by every Perfon giving his own Word for the Quantum of what he poffeffed. But as to Honour, Juftice, Wifdom, and Learning, they fhould not be taxed at all; becaufe they are Qualifications of fo fingular a Kind, that no Man will either allow them in his Neighbour, or value them in himfelf.

The Women were propofed to be taxed according to their Beauty, and Skill in Drefling; wherein they had the fame Privilege with the Men, to be determined by their own Judgment. But Conftancy, Chaftity, good Senfe, and good Nature were not rated, becaufe they would not bear the Charge of Collecting.

To keep Senators in the Intereft of the Crown, it was propofed that the Members fhould raffle for Employments ; every Man firf taking an Oath, and giving Security that he would vote for the Court, whether he won or no ; after which the Lofers had, in their Turn, the Liberty of Raffling upon the next Vacancy. Thus Hope and Expectation would be kept alive; none would complain of broken Promifes, but impute their Difappointments wholly to Fortune, whofe Shoulders are broader and fironger than thofe of a Miniftry.

Another Profeffor hewed me a large Paper for Infructions for difcovering Plots and Confpiracies againft the Government. He advifed great Statefmen to examine into the Dyet of all fufpected Perfons ; their Times of Eating; upon which Side they lay in Bed; with which Hand they wiped their Pofteriors; to take a frrict View of their Excrements, and from the Colour, the Ordure, the Tafte, the Confiftence, the Crudenefs, or Maturity of Digeftion, from a Judgment of their Thoughts and Defigns. Becaufe Men are never fo ferious, thoughtful, and intent, as when they are at Stool, which he found by frequent Experiment : For in fuch Conjunctures, when he ufed meerly as a Trial to confider which was the belt Way of murdering the King, his Ordure would have a Tincture of Green ; but quite different when he thought only of raifing an Infurrection, or burning the Metropolis.

The whole Difcourfe was written with great Acutenefs, containing many Obfervations, both curious and ufeful for Politicians; but, as I conceived, not altogether compleat. This I ventured to tell the Author, and offered, if he pleafed, to fupply him with fome Additions. He received my Propofition with more Compliance than is ufual among Writers, efpecially thofe of the Projecting species ; profeffing, he would be glad to receive farther Information.

I told him, that in the Kingdom of $\operatorname{Tribnia}$, by the Natives called Langdon, whese I had frjourned fome Time in my Travels, the bulk of the People confit, in a Manner, wholly of Difcoverers, Witnefles, Informers, Accufers, Profecutors, Evidences, Swearers, together with their feveral fubfervient and fubaltern In. fruments, all under the Colours, the Conduct, and Pay of Minifters of State, and their Deputies. The Plots in that Kingdom, are ufually the Workmanhhp of thofe Perfons, who defire to raife their own Characters of profound Politicians; to reftore new Vigour to a crazy Adminiffration; to tliffe or divert general Dif, contents; to fill their Coffers with Forfeitures; and raife or fink the Opinion of the Public Credit, as either fhall beft anfwer their private Advantage. It is firft agreed, and fettled among them, what fufpected Perfons fhall be accufed of a Plot: 'Then, cffectual Care is taken to fecure all their Letters and Papers, and put the Owners in Chains. Thefe Papers are delivered to a Set of Artifts, very dexterous in finding out the myfterious Meanings of Words, Syllables, and Letters : For Intance, they can difcover a Clofe flool to fignify a Privy Council ; a Flock of Gecfe, a Senate; a lame Dog, an Invader; the Plague, a Standing Army ; a B izyard, a Prime Minifter; the Gout, a High Prieft a Gibtet, a Secretary of State; a Chamber-pot, a Committee of Grandees; a Sieve, a Court Lady ; a Broom, a Revolution; a Moufe-trap, an Employment; a bottomlefs Pit, a Treafury ; a Sink, a Court; a Cap and Bells, a Favourite; a broken Reed, a Court of Jutice; an empty Tun, a General; a running Sore, the Adminiftration.

Where this Method fails, they have two others more effectual, which the Learned among them call Acrofics and Anagrams. Firf, they can decypher all initial Letters into political Meanings. Thus, $N$ fhall fignify a Plot, $B$ a Regiment of Hors', $L$ a Fleet at Sca: Or, Secondly, by tranfpoling the Letters of the Alphabet in any fufpected Paper, they can lay open the deepeft refigns of a difconte ited Party. So, for Example, if I fhould fay in a Letter to a Friend, Our Brotber Tom bas juft got the Files, a kiilful Decypherer would difoover, that the fame I.etters, which compofe that Sentcnce, may be analyfed in the following Words: Reiff, -a Plot is brought Home ----- The Tour. And this is the anagrammatic Method.

The Profiffor made me great Acknowledgments for communicating thefe Obfervations, and promifed to make honourable Mention of me in his Treatife.

I faw nothing in this Country that could invite me to a longer Contincauce, and began to think of returning Home to England.

C HAP.

CHAP. VII.

The Autbor leaves Lagado, arrives at Maldonada. No Ship rcady. He takes a fort Voyage to Glubbdubdrib. His Reception by the Governor.

THE Continent, of which this Kingdom is a Part, extends itfelf, as I have Reafon to believe, Eaftward to that unknown Tract of America, Weftward of California, and North to the Pacific Ocean, which is not above a hundred and fifty idiles from Lagado; where there is a good Port, and much Commerce with the great Ifland of Luggnagg, fituated to the Northweft about 29 Degrees North Latitude, and 140 Longitude. This Inand of Luggnagg ftands South eaftwards of Fapan, about an hundred Leagues diftant. There is a frict Alliance between the Fapanefc Emperor and the King of Luggnagg, which affords frequent Oppartunities of failing from one 1 fland to the other. 1 determined therefore to direct my Courfe this Way, in Order to my Return to Europe. I hired two Mules, with a Guide, to fhew me the Way, and carry my fmall Baggage. I took Leave of my noble Protector, who had fhewn me fo much Favour, and made me à generous Prefent at my Departure.

My Journey was without any Accident, or Adventure, worth relating. When I arrived at the Port of Maldonada (for fo it is called) there was no Ship in the Harbour bound for Luggnagg, nor like to be in fome Time. The Town is about as large as Portfmouth. I foon fell into fome Acquaintance, and was very hofpitably received. A Gentleman of Diftinction faid to me, that fince the Ships, bound for Luggnagg could not be ready in lefs than a Month, it might be no difagreeable Amufement for me to take a Trip to the little Ifland of Glubbdubdrib, about five Leagues off to the $outh-weft. He offered himfelf and a Friend to accompany company me, and that I mould be provided with a fmall convenient Barque for the Voyage.

Glubbdubdrib; as nearly as I can interpret the Word, fignifies the Ifland of Sorcerers or Magicians. It is about one Third as large as the I/fe of Wight, and extremely fruifful: It is governed by the Head of a certain Tribe, who are all Magicians. This Tribe marries only among, each other, and the eldeft, in Succerfion, is Prince or Governor. He hath a noble Palace, and a Park of about three-thoufand Acres, furrounded by a Wall of hewn Stone, twenty Feet high. In this Park are feveral fmall Inclofures for Cattle, Corn, and Gardening.

The Governor and his Family are ferved and attended by Comeftics of a Kind fomewhat unufual. By his Skill in Necromancy, he hath a Power of calling whom he pleafeth from the Dead; and commanding their Service for twenty-four Hours, but no longer; nor can he call the fame Perfons up again in lefs than three Months, except upon very extraordinary Occafions.

When we arrived at the Ifland, which was about Eleven in the Morning, one of the Gentlemen, who accompanied me, went to the Governor, and defired Admittance for a Stranger, who came on Purpofe to have the Honour of attending on his Highnefs. This was immediately granted, and we all three entered the Gate of the Palace, between two Rows of Guards, armed and dreffed after a yery antic Manner, and fomething in their Countenances that made my Flefh creep with a Horror I cannot exprefs. We paffed through feveral Apartments, between Servants of the fame Sort, ranked on each Side, as before, till we came to the Chamber of Prefence, where, after three profound $\mathrm{O}_{\mathrm{r}}$ beyfances, and a few general Queftions, we were ferr mitted to fit on three Stools, near the loweft Step of his Highnefs's Throne. He underflood the Language of Balnibarbi, although it were different from that of this liland. He defired me to give him fome Account of my Travels; and, to let me fee that I fiould be treated without Ceremony, he difmiffed all his Attendants with a Turn of his Finger, at which, to my great Aftonifhment, they vanihed in an Inftant, like Vifions in a Dream, when we awake on a fudden. I could not recover myfelf in fome Time, till the Governor affured me, that I fhould receive no Hurt; and obferving my two Companions to be under no Concern, who had been often entertained in the fame Manner, I began to take Courage, and related to his Highnefs a fhort Hiftory of my feveral Adventures; yet not without fome Hefitation, and frequently looking behind me, to the Place where I had feen thofe domeftic Spectres. I had the Honour to dine with the Governor, where a 2 new Set of Ghofts ferved up the Meat, and waited at Table. I now obferved myfelf to be lefs terrified than I had been in the Morning I flayed till Sun-fet, bat humbly defired his Highnefs to excure me for not accepting his Invitation of Lodging in the Palace. My two Friends and 1 lay at a private Houre in the Town adjoining, which is the Capital of this little IRand; and the next Morning we returned to pay our Duty to the Governor, as he was pleafed to command us.

After this Manner, we continued in the Illand for ten Days, mof Part of every Day with the Governor, and at Night in our Lodging. I foon grew fo familiarized to the Sight of Spirits, that, after the third or fourth Time, they gave me no Emotion at all ; or, if I had a:ay Apprehenfions left, my Curiofity prevailed over them. For his Highnefs the Governor ordered me to call up whatever Pe.fons I would chufe to name, and in whatever Numbers, among all the Dead, from the Beginning of the World, to this prefent Time, and command tiem to anfwer any Quettions I fhould think fit to afk; with this Condition, that my Queftions muft be confined within the Compars of the Times they lived in. And one Thing I might depend upon, that they would certainly tell me Truth, for Lying was $\boldsymbol{\mu}$ Talent of no Ufe in the lower World.

I made my humble Acknowledgments to his Highnefs for fo great a Favour. We were in a Chamber, from whence there was a fair Profpegt into the Park. And, becaufe my firft Inclination was to be entertained with Scenes of Pomp and Magnificence, I defired to fee Alexander the Great, at the Head of his Army, juff after the Battle of Arbela, which, upon a Motion of the Governor's Finger, immediately appeared in a large Field under the Window, where we flood. Alexander was called up into the Room : It was with great Difficulty that I underfood his Greek, and had but little of my own. He affured me, apon his Honour, that he was not poifoned, but died of a Fever by exceffive Drinking.

Next I faw Hannibal pafing the Alps, who told me, he had not a Drop of Vinegar in his Camp.

I faw Cafar and Pompcy, at the Head of their Troops, jult ready to engage. 1 faw the former in his laft great Triumph. I defired that the Senate of Rome might appear before me in one large Chamber, and $\boldsymbol{i}$ modern Reprefentative in Counterview, in another. The firlt feemed to be an Affembly of Heroes and Demy Gods, the other a Knot of Pedlars, Pick-pockets, Highway-men, and Bullies.

The Governor, at my Requeft, gave the Sign for Cefar and Brutus to advance towards us. I was frruck with a profound Veneration at the Sight of Brutus, and could eafily difcover the moft confummate Virtue, the greatelt Intrepidity, and Firmnefs of Mind, the trueft Love of his Country, and general Benevolence for Mankind, in every Lineament of his Countenance. Lobferved, with much Pleafure, that thefe two Perfons were in good Intelligence with each other: and Cafar freely confefled to me, that the greatelt Aetions of his own Life were not equal, by many Degrees, to the Glory of taking it away. I had the Honour to have much Converfation with brutus; and was told, that his Anceftors $\mathcal{F}$ funius, Socrates, Epaminondes, Cato the younger, Sir I homas More, and himfelf, were perpetually together: A Sexfuncrivate, to which all the Ages of the World cannot add a feventh:

190 AVOYAEE.

It would be tedious to trouble the Reader with relating what vaft Numbers of illuftrious Porfons were called up, to gratify that infatiable Defire I had to fee the World in every Period of Antiquity placed before me. I chiefly fed mine Eyes with beholding the Defroyers of Tyrants and Ufurpers, and the Reftorers of Liberty to oppreffed and injured Nations. But it is impoffible to exprefs the Satisfaction I received in my own Mind, after fuch a Manner, as to make it a fuitable Entertainment to the Reader.

C H A P. VIII.

 A further Account of Glubbdubdrib. Ancient andModern Hifory corretited.

HAving a Defire to fee thofe Ancients, who were moft renowned for Wit and Learning, I fet apart one Day on Purpofe. I propofed that Homer and Arifotle might-appear at the Head of all their Commentators; but thefe were fo numerous, that fome Hundreds were forced to attend in the Court and outward Rooms of the Palace. I knew, and could diftinguifh thofe two Heroes at firt Sight, not only from the Croud, but from each other. Homer was the taller and comlier Perfon of the two, walked very erect for one of his Age, and his Eyes were the moft quick and piercing I ever beheld. Ariftotle ftooped much, and made Ufe of a Staff. His Vifage was meager, his Hair lank and thin, and his Voice hollow. I foon difcovered that both of them were perfect Strangers to the reft of the Company, and had never feen or heard of them before. And I had a Whifper from a Ghoft, who fhall be namelefs, that thefe Commentators always kept in the moft diftant Quarters from their Principals in the lower World, through a Confcioufnefs of Shame Shame and Guilt, becaufe they had fo horribly mifreprefented the Meaning of thofe Authors to Pofterity. I introduced Didymus and Euffathius to Homer, and prevailed on him to treat them better than perhaps they deferved, for he foon found they wanted a Genius to enter into the Spirit of a Poet. But Arifotle was out of all Patience with the Account I gave him of Scotus and Ramus, as I prefented them to him, and he afked them whether the reft of the Tribe were as great Dunces as themfelves.

I then defired the Governor to call up $D_{\varepsilon f \text { fartes }}$ and Gafindi, with whom I prevailed to explain their Syflems to Arifotle. This great Philofopher fteely acknowledged his own Miflakes in Natural Philofophy, becaufe he proceeded in many Things upon Conjecture, as all Men mult do ; and he found, that Galendi, who had made the Doctrine of Epicurus as palatable as he could, and the Vortices of $D_{i j / c a r t e s}$ were equally exploded. He predicted the fame Fate to Attraction, whereof the prefent Learned are fuch zealous Afferters. He faid, that new Syftems of Nature were but new Fifisons, which would vary in every Age ; and even thoffe, who pretend to demonfrate them from Mathematical Principles, would flourifh but a flort Period of Time, and be out of Vogue when that was determined.
I fent five Days in converfing with many others of the ancient Learned. I faw moft of the firt Roman Emperors. I prevailed on the Governor to call upEliogaóalu's Cooks to drefs us a Dinner, but they could not thew us much of their Skill, for Want of Materials:': A Helot of Agefilaus made us a Dith of Spartan Broth, but I was not able to get down a fecond Spoonful.

The two Gentlemen who conducted me to the Ifland, were preffed by their private Affairs to return in: three Days, which I employed in feeing fome of the modern Dead, who had made the greatelt Figure for: two or three hundred Years paft, in our own and other ${ }^{1}$ Countries of Europe; and having been always a great Admirer of old illufrious Families, I defired the Ge-:
vernor would call up a Dozen or two of Kings, with their Anceftors, in Order, for eight or nine Generations. But my Difappointment was grievous and unexpected: For, innead of a long Train with Royal Diadems, I faw in one Family two Fidlers, three fpruce Courtiers, and an Italian Prelate. In another, a Barber, an Abbot, and two Cardinals. I have too great a Veneration for crowned Heads, to dwell any longer on fo nice a Subject. But as to Counts, Marqueffes, Dukes, Earls, and the like, I was not fo fcrupulous. And, I confefs, it was not without fome Pleafure, that I found myfelf able to trace the particular Features, by which certain Families are diftinguifhed up to their Originals. I could plainly difcover from whence one Family derives a long Chin, why a fecond hath abounded with Kuaves for two Generations, and Fools for two more; why a third happened to be crackbrained, and a forrth to be Sharpers. Whence it came, what Polydore Virgii fays of a certain great Houfe, Nec Vir fortis, nec Fermina cafta. How Cruelty, Falhhood, and Cowardice, grew to be Characteriftics, by which certain Families are diftinguifhed, as much as by their Coat of Arms Who firit brought the Pox into a noble Houfe, which hath lineally defcended in fcrophulous Tumours to their Poferity. Neither could I wonder at all this, when I faw fuch an Interruption of Lineages by Pagcs, Lacqueys, Valets, Coachmen, Game: ers, Fidlers, Players, Captains, and Pick pockets.

I was chiefly difgutted with modern Hiftory. For, having frictly examined all the Perfons of greateft Name in the Courts of Princes for an hundred Years paf, I found how the World had been mified by proflitute Writers, to afcribe the greateft Exploits in War to Cowards, the wifeft Counfel to Fools, Sincerity to Flatterers, Koman Virtve to Betrayers of their Country, Piety to Atheifts, (haftity to Sodomites, 'ruth to Lofcrmers. How many innocent and excellent Perfons had been condemned to Death or Banifhment, by the practifing of great Minifters upon the Corruption of Judges, and the Malice of Factions. How many Villains had been exalted to the higheft Places of Truft, Power, Dignity, and Profit: How great a Share in the Motions and Events of Courts, Councils, and Senates, might be challenged by Bawds, Whores; Pimps, Parafites, and Buffoons: How low an Opinion I had of human Wifdom and Integrity, when I was truly informed of the Springs and Motives of great Enterprizes and Revolutions in the World, and of the contemptible Accidents to which they owed their Succefs.
Here 1 difcovered the R Roguery and Ignorance of thofe who pretend to write Anecdotes, or fecret Hiffory; who fend fo many Kings to their Graves with a Cup of Poifon ; will repeat the Difcourfe between a Prince and chief Miniter, where no Witnefs was by: unlock the Thoughts and Cabinets of Ambaffadors and Secretaries of State; and have the perpetual Misfortune to be miftaken. Here I difcovered the true Caures of many great Events that have furprifed the World ; how z Whore can govern the Back fairs, the Back-llairs a Council, and the Council a Senate. A General confeffed in my Prefence, that he got a Vittory, purely by the Porce of Cowardice and ill Conduct : And ant Admiral, that, for Want of proper Intelligence, he beat the Enemy to whom he intended to betray the Fleet: Three Kings protefted to me, that, in their whole Reigns, they did never once prefer any Perfon of Merit, unilefs by Miflake, or Treachery of fome Minitter in whom they confided : Neither would they do it, if they were to live again . and they fhewed with great Strength of Reafon, that the Royal Throne could not be fupported without Corruption, becaufe that pofitive, confident, reflive Temper, which Virtue infured into Man, was a perpetual Clog to Public Bufinefs.
I had the Curiofity to enquire, in a particular Manner, by what Method great Numbers had procured to themfelves bigh Titles of Honour, and prodigious Eflates:
fates ; and I confined my Enquiry to a very modern Period: However, without grating upon prefent 'Times, becaufe I would be fure to give no Offence even to Foreigners (for, I hope, the Reader need not be told, that 1 do not in the leaft intend my own Country in what I fay upon this Occafion) a great Number of Perfons concerned were called up, and, upon a very flight Examination, difcovered fuch a Scene of Infamy, that I cannot reflect ppon it without fome Serioufnefs. Perjury, Oppreffion, Subornation, Fraud, Pandarifm, and the like Infirmities were amongft the moft excufable Arts they had to mention, and for thefe I gave, as it was reafonable, due Allowance. But when fome confefled they owed their Greatnefs and Wealth to Sodomy, or Incell, others to the proftituting of their own Wives and Daughters; others to the betraying their Country or their Prince ; fome to poifoning, more to the perverting of Juftice, in order to deffroy the In. nocent: I hope I may be pardoned, if thefe Difcoveries inclined me a little to abate of that profound Veneration which I am naturally apt to pay to Perfons of high Rank, who ought to be treated with the utmont Refpect due to their fublime Dignity by us, their Inferiors.

I had often read of fome great Services done to Princes and States, and defired to fee the Perfons by: whom thofe Services were performed. Upon Enquiry, I was told, that their Names were to be found on no Record, except a few of them, whom Hiftory hath reprefented as the vilelt Rogues and Traitors. As to the reff, I had never once heard of them: They all appeared with dejected Looks, and in the meaneft Habit, moft of them telling me, they died in Poverty and Difgrace, and the reft on a Scaffold or a Gibbet.

Among others, there was one Perfon, whofe Cafe appeared a little fingular. He had a Youth about eighteen Years old ftanding by his Side. He told me, he had for many Years been Commander of a Ship ; and, in the Sea Fight at AEium, had the good Fortusec to break through the Enemies great Line of Battle, fink three of their capital Ships, and take a fourth, which was the fole Caufe of Authony's Flight, and of the Victory that enfued ; that the Youth Itanding by him, his only Son, was killed in the Action. He added, that upon the Confidence of fome Merit, the Ẉar being at an End, he went to Rome, and folicited at the Court of Augufus, to be preferred to a greater Ship, whofe Commander had been killed; but, without any Regard to his Pretenfions, it was given to a Youth who had never feen the Sea, the Son of Libertina, who twaited on one of the Emperor's Miftrefles. Returning back to his own Veffel, he was charged with Neglect of Duty, and the Ship given to a favourite Page of Publicola, the Vice-Admiral ; whereupon he retired to a poor Farm, at a great Difance from Rome, and there ended his Life. I was fo curious to know the Truth of this Story, that I defired Agrijtga might be. called, who was Admiral in that Fight. He appeared, and confirmed the whole Account; but with much more Advantage to the Captain, whofe Modefty had extenuated or concealed a great Part of his Merit.

I was furprifed to find Corruption grown fo high and fo quick in that Empire, by the Force of Luxury fo lately introduced, which made me lefs wonder at many parallel Cafes in other Countries, where Vices of all Kinds have reigned fo much longer, and where the whole Praife, as well as Pillage, hath been engroffed. by the chief Commander, who, perhaps, had the lealt Title to either.

As every Perfon called up made exactly the fame Appearance he had done in the World, it gave me melancholy Reflections, to obferve how much the Race of human Kind was degenerate among us, within thefe hundred Years paft. How the P'ox, under all its Confequences and Denominations, had altered every Lineament of an Englifh Countenance; fhortened the Size of Bodies, unbraced the Nerves, relaxed the Sinews and Mufcles, introduced a fallow Complexion, and rendered the Flefh loofe and rancid.

I defcended fo low, as to defire that fome Engli/b Yeomen, of the old Stamp, might be fummoned to appear ; once fo famous for the Simplicity of their Manners, Diet, and Prefs ; for Juftice in their Dealings ; for their true Spirit of Liberty ; for their Valour and Love of their Country. Neither could I be wholly unmoved, after comparing the Living with the Dead, when I confidered how all thefe pure native Virtues were profituted for a Piece of Money by their Grandchildren, who, in felling their Votes, and managing at Elections, have acquired every Vice and Corruption that can poffibly be learned in a Court.

C H A P. IX.

The Autbor's Return to Maldonada. Sails to the Kingdom of Luggnagg. The Author confined. He is fent for to Court. The Manner of his Admittance. The King's great Lenity to bis Subjects.

THE Day of our Departure being come, I took Leave of his Highnefs, the Governor of Glubb-1 dubdribb, and returned with my two Companions to Maldonada, where, after a Formight's Waiting, a Ship was ready to fail for Luggnagg. The two Gentlemen, and fome others, were fo generous and kind, as to furnifh me with Provifions, and fee me on Board. I was a Month in this Voyage. We had one violent Storm, and were under a Neceffity of fleering Weftward, to get into the Trade-wind, which holds for above fixty Leagues. On the 21 If of April, 1708, we failed in the River Clumegnig, which is a Sea port Town, at the South-eaft Point of Luggnagg. We caft Anchor within a League of the Town, and made a Signal for a Pilot. Two of them came on Board in lefs lefs than half an Hour, by whom we were guided between certain Shoals and Rocks, which are very dangerous in the Paffage, to a large Bafin, where a Fleet may ride in Safety, within a Cable's Length of the Town Wall.

Some of our Sailors, whether out of Treachery or Inadvertence, had informed the Pilots that I was a Stranger and a great Traveller ; whereof thefe gave Notice to a Cuftom-houfe Officer, by whom I was examined very ftrictly upon my Landing. This Officer fpoke to me in the Language of Balnibarbi, which, by the Force of much Commerce, is generally underfood in that Town, efpecially by Sea-men, and thofe employed in the Cuftoms. I gave him a fhort Account of fome Particulars, and made my Story as plaufible and confiftent as I could; but I thought it neceffary to difguife my Country, and call myfelf an Hollander, becaufe my Intentions were for Fapan; and I knew the Dutch were the only Earopeans permitted to enter into that Kingdom. I therefore told the Officer, that having been fipwrecked on the Coaft of Balnibarbi, and caft on a Rock, I was received up into Laputa, or the flying Inand (of which he had often heard) and was now endeavouring to get to fapan, from whence I might find a Convenience of returning to my own Country. The Officer faid, I muft be confined till he could receive Orders from Court, for which he would write immediately, and hoped to receive an Anfwer in a Fortnight. I was carried to a convenient Lodging, with a Centry placed at the Door; however, I had the Liberty of a large Garden, and was treated with Humanity enough, being maintained all the Time at the King's Charge. I was invited by feveral Perfons, chiefly out of Curiofity, becaufe it was reported that I came from Countries very remote, of which they had never heard.

I hired a young Man who came in the fame Ship to be an Interpreter; he was a Native of Luggnagg, but had lived fome Years at Maldonada, and was a perfect Mafter of both Languages. By his Affiftance, I was able to hold a Converfation with thofe who came to vifit me; but this confited only of their Queftions, and my Anfivers.

The tifpatch came from Court about the 'Time we expesied. It contained a Warrant for conducting me and siy lietinue to Traldrcgdubb, or Trildrogdrib, for it is protioured both Ways, as near as I can remember, by a Purty of tell Horfe. All my Retinue was that poor Lad for an Interpreter, whom I perfuaded into my Ecivice, and, at my humble Reciuett, we had each of us a Mule to ride on. A Mefferger was difpatched half a Day's Journey before us, to give the King Notice of my Aiproach, and to defire that his Majefy would ple:fe to appoint a Bay and Hour, when it would be his gracious Fleafure, that I might have the Honour to lick the Duff before his Foot ficol. This is the Court Style, and I found it to be more than $\sqrt{2}$ atter of Form. For, upon my Admittance two Days after my Arrival, I was commanded to crawl on my Bclly, and lick the Floor as I advanced; but, on Account of my being a Stranger, Care was taken to have it made fo clean that the De:l was not offenfive. However, this was a peceliar Grace, not allowed to any but Perfons of the higheft Rank, when they defire an Admittance. Nay, fometimes the Floor is frewed with Duft on Purpofe, when the Perfon to be admitted happens to lave powerful Enemies at Court And I have feen a great Lord with his Mouth fo crammed, that, when he had crept to the proper Diflance from the Throne, he was not able to feak a Word. Ncither is there any Remedy; becaufe it is Capital for thofe who receive an Audience, to fpit or wipe their Mouths in his Majefly's Prefence. There is, indced, another Cufom, which I cannot altogether approve of: When the King hath a Mind to put any of his Nobles to Death, in a gentle, indulgent Manner, he commands to have the Floor flrewed with a cerain brewn Powder, of a deadly Compcition, which, being licked up, infallibly kills him in twentyfour

Sour Hours. But in Juftice to this Prince's great Clemency, and the Care he hath of his Subjects Lives (wherein it were much to be wihed, that the Monarchs of Europe would imitate him) it muft be mentioned for his Honour, that ftrict Orders are given to have the infected Parts of the Floor well wathed, after every fuch Execution; which if his Domeftics neglect, they are in Danger of incurring his Royal Difpleafure. I myfelf heard him give Directions, that one of his Pages fhould be whipt, whofe Turn it was to give Notice about Wafting the Floor after an Execution, but malicioufly had omitted it, by which Neglett, a young Lord of great Hopes, coming to an Audience, was unfortunately poifoned, although the King, at that Time, had no Defign againft his Life. But this good Prince was fo gracious, as to forgive the poor Page his Whipping, upon Promife that he would do fo no more, without fpecial Orders.

To return from this Digreffion; when I had crept within four Yards of the Throne, I raifed myfelf gently upon my Knees, and then, flriking my Forehead feven Times on the Ground, I pronounced the following Words, as they had been taught me the Night before, Ickpling Gloft throbb Squuut ferumm blbiop Mla/bnalt Z win trodbalkuff Slbiophad Gurdiubh Aht. This is the Compliment ellablifhed by the Laws of the Land, for all Perfons admitted to the King's Prefence. It may be rendered into Englijh thus: May your calefial Majefty out-live the Sun, eleven Moons and a Half. To this the King returned fome Anfwer, which although I could not underitand, yet I replied as I had been diretted: Finft drin Yalerick Dwuldom praftrad mirpu/h, which properly fignifies, My Tongue is in the Mouth of my Friend; and by this Exprefion was meant, that I defired Leave to bring my Interpreter; whereupon the young Man, already mentioned, was accordingly introduced, by whofe Intervention, I anfwered as many Queftions as his Majefty could put in above an Hour.

A Voyage

I froke in the Balnibarnian Tongue, and my Interpreter delivered my Meaning in that of Luggnagg.

The King was much delighted with my Company, and ordered lis Blifmarklub, or high Chamberlain, to appoint a Lodging in the Court for me and my Interpreter, with a daily Allowance for my Table, and a large Purfe of Gold for my common Expences.

I flayed three Months in this Country, out of perfect Obedience to his Majelty, who was pleafed highly to favour me, and made me very honourable Offers. But I thought it more confiftent with Prudence and Juftice, to pars the Remainder of my Days with my Wife and Family.

C H A P. X.

The Luggnuggians commended, A particular Defcription of the Struldbrugs, with many Converfations between the Author and fome eminent Per: fons, upon that Subject.

THE Luggnuggians are a polite and generous People, and although they are not without fome Share of that Pride which is peculiar to all Eafiern Countries, yet they fhew themfelves courteous to Strangers, efpecially fuch who are countenanced by the Court. I had many Acquaintance among Perfons of the beft Fafhion, and being always attended by my Interpreter, the Converfation we had was not difagreeable.

One Day, in much good Company, I was alked by a Perfon of Quality, whether I had feen any of their Struldbrugs or Immortals. I faid I had not; and defired he would explain to me what he meant by fuch an Appellation, applied to a mortal Creature. He told me, that fometimes, though very rarely, a Child hap pened to be born in a Family with a red ciicular Spot in the Forehead, directly over the left Eye-brow, which was an infallible Mark, that it fhould never die. The Spot, as he defcribed it, was about the Compafs of a filver Three-pence, but in the Courfe of Time grew larger, and changed its Colour; for at twelve Years old it became green, fo continued till five and twenty, then turned to a deep Blue; at five and forty it grew coal Black, and as large as an Englifs Shilling; but never admitted any farcher Alteration. He faid thefe Births were fo rare, that he did not believe there could be above eleven-hundred Struldbrugs of both Sexes in the whole Kingdom, of which he computed about fifty in the Metropolis, and, among the reft, a young Girl born about three Years ago: That thefe Productions were not peculiar to any Family, but a meer Effect of Chance; and the Children of the Struldbrugs themfelves were equally mortal with the reft of the People,

I freely own myfelf to have been fruck with inexpreffible Delight upon Hearing this Account: And the Perfon who gave it me happening to underfand the Balnibarbian Language, which I fpoke very well, I could not forbear breaking out into Expreffions, perhaps, a little to extravagant. I cried out, as in a Rap. ture: Happy Nation, where every Child hath at lealt a Chance for being immortal! Happy People, who enjoy fo many living Examples of ancient Virtue, and have Mafters ready to inftruct them in the Wifdom of all former Ages! But, happieft beyond all Comparifon are thofe excellent Struldbrugs, who, born exempt from that univerfal Calamity of human Nature, have their Minds free and difingaged, without the Weight and Depreffion of Spirits caufed by the continual Apprehenfion of Death. I difcovered my Admiration, that I had not obferved any of thefe illuftrious Perfons at Court; the black Spot on the Fore-head being fo remarkable a Diftinction, that I could not have eafily overlooked it: And it was impoffible that his Majelty, a moft judicious Prince, fhould not provide himfelf with a good Number of fuch wife and able Counfellors. Yet perhaps the Virtue of thofe reverend Sages was too flrict for the corrupt and libertine Manners of a Court. And we often find by Experience, that young Men are too opinionative and volatile, to be guided by the fober Dictates of their Seniors. However, fince the King was pleared to allow me Accefs to his Royal Peifon, I was refolved, ufon the very firt Octafion, to deliver my Opinion to him on this Matter freely, and at large, by the Help of iny Interpreter; and whether he would pleafe to take my Advice or no, yet in one Thing I was deternined, that, his Majefty having frequently offered me an Efablifhment in this Country, I would with great Thankfulnefs accept the Favour, and paits my Life here in the Converfation of thofe fuperior Beings, the Struldbrugs, if they would pleafe to admit me.

The Gentleman to whom I addrefled my Difcourfe, becaufe (as I have already obferved) he fpo'se the Language of Balnibarbi, faid to me with a Sort of a Smile, which ufually arifeth from Pity to the Ignorant, that he was glad of any Occafion to keep me among them, and defired my Permiffion to explain to the Company what I had fpoke. He did fo, and they talked together for fome Time in their own Language, whereof 1 underilcod not a Syllable, neither could I obferve by their Countenances, what Impreffion my Difcourfe had made on them. After a fhort Silence, the fame Perfon told me, that his Friends and mine (fo he thought fie to exprefs himelf) were very much pleafed with the judicious Remar's I had made on the great Happinefs and Advantages of immortal Life, and they were defisous to know in a particular Manner, what Scheme of Living I fould have formed to myfelf, if it had fallen to my iot to tave been born a Struldbrug.

I anfwered, it was eafy to be eloquent on fo copious and delightiful a Subject, efpecially to me, who have been ofien apt to amure myfelf with Vifions of what I fhould do, if I were a King, a General, or a great Lord: And, upon this very Cafe, I had frequẹally run over the whole Syftem how I hould employ my fe'f, and pafs the Time, if I were fure to live for ever.
tha

That, if it had been my good Fortune to come into the World a Struldtrug, as foon as I could difcover my own Happinefs, by underfanding the Difference between Life and Death, I would firtt refolve, by all Arts and Methods whatfoever, to procure myfelf Riches. In the Purfuit of which, by Thrift and Management, I might reafonably expect, in about twohundred Years, to be the wealthieft Man in the Kingdom. In the fecond Place, I would from my earlieft Youth, apply myielf to the Study of Arts and Sciences, by which I fhould arrive in 'Time to excal all others in Learning. Lafly, I would car fully record every Action and Event of Conicquence that happened in the Public, impartially draw the Characters of the feveral Succeffions of Princes, and great Minifters of State, with my own Obfervations on evesy Point. I would exactly fet down the feveral Changes in Cuftom', Language, Futhions of Drefs, Diet and Diverfions. By all which Acquirements, I Should be a living Treafury of Knowledge and Wifdom, and certainly become the Oracle of the Nation.

I would never marry after threefcore, but live in an horpitable Manner, yet fill on the faving Side. I would entertain my felf in forming and directing the Minds of hopeful young Men, by copvincing them from my own Remembiance, Experience, and Obfervation, fortified by numerous Examples, of the Ufefulnefs of Virtue in public and private Life. But my chuice and conflant Companions fhould be a Set of my own immortal Brotherhood, among whom I would elect a Dozen from the mof Ancient, down to my own Contemporaries. Where any of thefe wanted Fortunes, I would provide them with convenient Lodges round my own Ettate, and have fome of them always at my Tible, only mingling a few of the meft yaluable among you Mortals, whom Length of Time would would harden me to lofe, with little or no Reluctance, and treat your Pofterity afier the fame Manner ; juft as a Man diverts himfelf with the annual Succeffion of Pinks and Tulips in his Garden, without regretting the Lofs of thofe which withered the preceding Year.
20.4 AVoyage

Thefe Struldbrugs and 1 would mutually communicate our Obfervations, and Memorials through the Courfe of Time ; remark the feveral Gradations by which Corruption fteals into the World, and oppofe it in every Step, by giving perpetual Warning and Inftruction to Mankind; which, added to the itrong Influence of our own Example, would probably prevent that continual Degeneracy of human Nature, fo juftJy complained of in all Ages.

Add to all this, the Pleafure of feeing the various Revolutions of States and Empires; the Changes in the lower and upper World ; ancient Cities in Ruins, and obfcure Villages become the Seats of Kings; famous Rivers leffening into fhallow Brooks ; the Ocean leaving one Coaft dry, ānd overwhelming another; the Difcovery of many Countries yet unknown. Barbarity over-running the politet Nations, and the moft barbarous become civilized. I fhould then fee the Difcovery of :he Longitude, the perpetual Motion, the xniverfal Medicine, and many other great Inventions, brought to the atmof Perfection.

What wonderful Difcoveries thould we make in Afronomy, by out-living and confirming our own Pre dictions, by obferving the Progrefs and Returns of Comets, with the Changes of Motion in the Sun, Moon, and Stars.

I enlarged upon many other Topice, which the natural Defire of endlefs Life, and fublunary Happinefs, could eafily furnifh me with. When I had ended, and the Sum of my Difcourfe had been interpreted, as before, to the reft of the Company, there was a good Deal of Talk among them in the Language of the Country, not without fome Laughter as my Expence. At laft, the fame Gentleman, who had been my Interpreter, faid, he was defired, by the reft, to fet me right in a few Miftikes, which I had fallen into, through the common Imbecillity of human Nature, and, upon that Allowance, was lefs anfwerable for them. That this Breed of Struldbrugs was peculiar to their Country, for there were no fuch People, either in Balnibarbi or $\mathfrak{f} a p a n$, where he had the Honour to be Ambaffador from his Majetty, and found the Natives in both thefe Kingdoms very hard to believe, that the Fact was poffible; and it appeared from my Aftonifhment, when he firft mentioned the Matter to me, that I received it as a Thing wholly new, and farcely to be credited. That in the two Kingdoms above mentioned, where, during his Refidence, he had converfed very much, he obferved long Life to be the univerfal Defire and Wifh of Mankind. That whoever had one Foot in the Grave, was fure to hold back the other as ftrongly as he could. That the Oldeft had ftill Hopes of living one Day longer, and locked on Death as the greateft Evil, from which Nature always prompted him to retreat; only in this Ifland of Luggnagg, the Appetite for Living was not fo eager, from the continual Example of the Struldbrugs before their Eyes.

That the Syftem of Living, contrived by me, was unreafonable and unjuft, becaufe it fuppofed a Perpetuity of Youth, Health, and Vigour, which no Man could be fo foolifh to hope, however extravagant he may be in his Wifhes. That the Queftion therefore was not whether a Man would chufe to be always in the Prime of Youth, attended with Profperity and Health ; but how he would pafs a perpetual Life under all the ufual Difadvantages which old Age brings along with it. For although few Men will avow their Defires of being immortal upon fuch hard Conditions, yet in the two Kingdoms before mentioned, of Balnibarbi and Japan, he obferved, that every Man defired to put off Death, for fometime longer, let it approach ever fo late; and he rarely heard of any Man who died willingly, except he were incited by the Extremi: ty of G-ief or Torture. And he appealed to me, whether in thofe Countries I had travelled, as well as my own, I had not obferved the fame general Difpofition.

After this Preface, he geve me a particular Account of the Strulltrugs among them. He faid they commonly acted like Mortals, till about thirty Years old, after which, by Degrees, they grew melancholy and dejested, encreafing in both till they came to Fourfoore. This he learned from their own Confeffion ; for otherwife, there not being above two or three of that Species born in an Age, they were too few to form a general Obfervation by. When they came to fourfcore Years, which is reckored the Extremity of living in this Country, they had not only all the Follies and Iofirmities of other old Men, but many more, which arofe from the dreadful Profpects of never dying. They were not only opinionative, peevif, covetous, morofe, vain, talkative; but incapable of Friendhip, and dead to all natural Affection, which never defcended below their Grand-children. Envy and impotent Defires are their prevailing Pafo fions. But thofe Objetts, againft which their Envy feems principally directed, are the Vices of the younger Sort, and the Deaths of the old. By reflecting on the former, they find themfelves cut off from all Poffibility of Pleafure ; and whenever they fee a Funeral, they lament and repine that others are gone to an Harbour of Reft, to which they themfelves never can hope to arrive. They have no Remembrance of any Thing but what they learnéd and obferved in their Youth, and middle Age, and even that is very imreifect. And, for the Truth or Particulars of any Fact, it is fifer to depend on common Traditions, than upon their beft Recolletions. The leaft miferable among them appear to be thofe who turn to Dotage, and intirely lofe their Memories; thefe meet with more Pity and Affiftance, becaufe they want many bad Qualities, which abound in others.

If a Struldbrug happen to marry one of his own Kind, the Marriage is diffolved of Courfe, by the Courtefy of the Kingdom, as foon as the younger of the two comes to be fourfcore. For the Law chinks it reafonable Indulgence, that thofe who are condemned, without any Fault of their own, to a perpetual Continuance in the World, fhould not bave their Mifery doubled by the Load of a Wife.

As foon as they have compleated the Term of eighty Years, they are looked on as dead in Law ; their Heirs immediately fucceed to their Eftates, only a fmall Pittance is referved for their Support; and the poor ones are maintained at the Public Charge. After that Pericd, they are held incapable of any Employment of Truft or Profit, they cannot purchaie Lands, or take Leafes, neither are they allowed to be Witnefles in any Caufe, either Civil or Triminal, not even for the Decifion of Meers and Bounds.

At Ninety they lofe their'Teeth and Hair ; they have at that Age no Diffiretion of Tafte, but eat and drink whatever they can get, without Relifh or Appetite. The-Difeafes they were fubject to fill continue, withaut Encreafing or Diminifing. In Talking, they forget the common Appellation of Things, and the Names of Perfons, even of thofe who are their neareft Friencis and Relations. For the fame Reafon they never can amofe, themfelves with Reading, becaufe their Mcmory will not ferve to carry them from the Beginming of a Sentence to the End ; and, by this Defert, they are deprived of the only Entertainment, whereof they might otherwife be capable.

The Language of this Country being always upon the Flux, the Struldbrugs of one Age do not umderfand thofe of another; neither are they able, affer two-hundred Years, to hold any Converfation (farther than by a few general Words) with their Neighbours, the Mortals; and thas they lie under the Difadvanoge of living like Foreigners in their own Country.

This was the Account given me of the Strildibiught as near as I can remember. I afterwards faw five or fix of different Ages, the youngeft not above twohundiel Years old, who were brought to me at feveral Times by fome of my Friends; but although they were told that I was a great Traveller, and had feen all the World, they had not the leaft Curiofity to afk me a Qefion; only defired I would give them Slum/kudafk, or a Token of Remembrance; which is a modeft Way of Begging, to avoid the Law that frictly forbids it, becaufe they are provided for by the Pubs lic, although, indeed, with a very fcanty Allowance.

They are defpifed and hated by all Sorts of Peo: p 'e; when one of them is born, it is reckoned ominous, and their Birth is recorded very particular ; fo that you may know their Age, by confulting the Regifter ; which, however, hath not been kept above a thoufand Years paft, or, at leaft, hath been deftroyed by Time, or public Difturbances. But the ufual Way of computing, how old they are, is, by akirg them what Kings or great Perfons they can remember, and then confulting Hiftory ; for, infallibly, the laft Prince in their Mind did not begin his Reign after they were fourfcore Years old.

They were the moft mortifying Sight I ever beheld ; and the Women more horrible than the Men. Befides the ufual Deformities in extreme old Age, they accuired an additional Ghaftlinefs, in Proportion to their Number of Years, which is not to be defcribed ; and, among half a Dozen, I foon diftinguifhed which was the eldeft, although there was not above a Century or two between them.

The Reader will eafily believe, that, from what I had heard and feen, my keen Appetite for Perpetuity of Life was much abated. I grew heartily afhamed of the pieafing Vifions I had formed ; and thought no Tyrant could invent a Death into which I would not run with Pieafure from fuch a Life. The King heard of all that had paffed between me and my Friends upon this Occafion, and rallied me very pleafantly ; wifhing I would fend a Couple of Struldbrugs to my own Country, to arm our People againft the Fear of Death; but this, it feems is forbidden, by the fundamental Laws of the Kingdom, or elfe I fhould have been well content with the Trouble and Expence of tranfporting them.

I could not but agree that the Laws of this Kingdom, relating to the Struldbrugs, were founded upon the ftrongeft Reafons, and fuch as any other Country would be under the Neceffity of enacting in the like Circumftances. O:herwife, as Avarice is the neceffaty Confequent of old Age, thofe Immortals would in Time become Proprietors of the whole Nation, and engrofs the Civil Power ; which, for Want of Abilities to manage, muft end in the Ruin of the Public.

C H A P. XI.

The Author leaves Luggnagg, and fails to Japan: From thence be returns in a Dutch Ship to Ams. fterdam, and from Amfterdam to England.

IThought this Account of the Straldbrugs might be fome Entertainment to the Reader, becaufe it feems to be a little out of the common Way; at leaft, I do not remember to have met the like in any Book of Travels that hath come to my Hands: And, if I am deceived, my Excufe muft be, that it is neceffary for Travellers, who defcribe the fame Country, very of ten to agree in dwelling on the fame Particulars, without deferving the Cenfure of having borrowed or tranfcribed from thofe who wrote before them.

There is, indeed, a perpetual Commerce between this Kingdom and the great Empire of Fapan; and it is very probable, that the $\mathcal{F}$ apanefe Authors may have given fome Account of the Struldbrugs; but my Stay in fapan was fo fhort, and I was fo intirely a Stranger to that Linguage, that I was not qualified to make any Enquiries. But I hope the Duth, upon this Notice, will be curious and able enough to fupply my Defects.

His Majefty having often preffed me to accept fome Employment in his Coart, and finding me abfolutely determined to return to my Native Country, was pleafed to give me his Licence to depart, and honoured me with a Letter of Recommendation, under his own Hand, to the Emperor of Japan. He likewife prefented me with Four-hundred Forty-four large Pieces of Gold (this Nation delighting in even Numbers) and a red Diamond, which I fold in England for eleven-hundred Pounds.

On the 6th Day of May, 1709, I took a folemn Leave of his Majefty, and all my Friends. This Prince was fo gracious, as to order a Guard to conduct me to Glanguenfald, which is a Royal Port to the South-weft Part of the Inland. In fix Days I found i Veffel ready to carry me to Fapan, and fent fifteen Days in the Voyage. We landed at a fmall PortTown called Xames chi, fituated on the South ealt Part of Japan; the Town lies on the Weftern Point, where there is a narrow Streight, leading Northward into a long Arm of the Sea, upon the North-weft Part of which, $\mathrm{Y}_{e}$, , the Metropolis, ftands. At Landing I hewed the Cufomboufe Officers my Letter from the King of Luggnagg to his Imperial Majefty: They knew the Seal perfectly well, it was as broad as the Palm of my Hand. The Impreffion was, A King lifting up a lame Beggar from tobe Earth. The Magiftrates of the Town, hearing of my Letter, received me as a Public Minifter; they pro-vided me with Carriages and Servants, and bore my Charges to $Y_{e}$ Co, where I was admitted to an Audience, and delivered my Letter, which was opened with great Ceremony, and explained to the Emperor by an Interpreter, who gave me Notice, by his Majefty's Order, that I fhould fignify my Requeft, and, whatevet it were, if fhould be granted, for the Sake of his Royal Brother of Luggnagg. This Interpreter was a Perfon employed to tranfaet Affairs with the Hollanders; he: foon conjectured by my Countenance, that I was an.

Exropean, and therefore repeated his Majefty's Commands in Low Dutch, which he fpoke perfectly well. I anfwered (as I had before determined) that I was a Dutch Merchant, fhipwrecked in a very remote Country, from whence I had travelled by Sea and Land to Luggnagg, and then took Shipping for fapan, where I knew my Countrymen often traded, and with fome of thefe I hoped to get an Opportunity of returning into Exrope: I therefore noft humbly entreated his Royal Favour to give Order, that I fhould be conducted in Safety to Nangafac: To this I added another Petition, that, for the Sake of my Patron, the King of Luggnagg, his Majefty would condefcend to excufe my performing the Ceremony impofed on my Countrymen, of Trampling upon the Crucifix; becaufe I had been thrown into his Kingdom by my Misfortunes, without any Intention of Trading. When this latter Petition was interpreted to the Emperor, he feemed a little furprifed; and faid, he believed I was the firtt of my Countrymen, who ever made any Scruple in this Point ; and that he began to doubt whether I was a real Hollander, or no ; but rather fufpected I muft be a Cbrifian. However, for the Reafons, I had offered, but chiefly to gratify the King of Luggnagg, by an uncommon Mark of his Favour, he would comply with the Singularity of my Humour ; but the Affair muft be managed with Dexterity, and his Officers fhould be commanded to let me pafs, as it were, by Forgetfulnefs. For he affured me, that if the Secret fhould be difcovered by my Countrymen, the Dutch, they would cut my Throat in the Voyage. I returned my Thanks, by the Interpreter, for fo unufual a Favour; and, fome Troops being at that Time on their March to Nangafac, the commanding Officer had Orders to convey me fafe thither, with particular Inftructions about the Bufinefs of the Crucifx. 1

On the 9th Day of fune, 1709, I arrived at Nangafac, after a very long and troublefome Journey. I foon fell into Company of fome Dutch. Sailors belonging to the Amboyna of Amferdam, a fout Ship of $45^{\circ}$

Tons. I had lived long in Holland, purfuing wint Studies at Leyden, and I pooke Dutch well. The Seamen foon knew from whence I came laft; they were curious to enquire into my Voyages, and Courfe of Life. I made up a Story as fhort and probable as I could, but concealed the greateft Part. I knew many Perfons in Holland; I was able to invent Names for my Parents, whom I pretended to be obfcure People in the Province of Gelderland. I would have given the Captain (one Theodorus Vangrult) what he pleafed to afk for my Voyage to Holland; but, underftanding I was a Surgeon, he was contented to take half the ufual Rate, on Condition that I would ferve him in the Way of my Calling. Before we took Shipping, I was often afked by fome of the Crew, whether I had performed the Ceremony above-mentioned ? I evaded the Queftion by general Anfwers, that I had fatisfied the Emperor, and Court, in all Particulars. However, a malicious Rogue of a Skipper went to an Officer, and, pointing to me, told him, I had not yet trampled on the Crucifx : But the other, who had received Infructions to let me pafs, gave the Rafcal twenty Strokes on the Shoulders with a Bamboo; after which, I was no more troubled with fuch Queftions.

Nothing happened worth mentioning in this Voyage. We failed with a fair Wind to the Cape of Good Hope, where we ftaid only to take in fref Water. On the 16 th of April, we arrived fafe at Amferdam, having loft only three Men by Sicknefs in the Voyage, and a fourth who fell from the Fore maft into the Sea, not far from the Coaft of Guinea. From Amferdam, I foon after fet Sail for England, in a fmall Veffel belonging to that City.
On the 1 oth of April, 1710, we put in at the Downs. I landed next Morning, and faw once more my native Country, after an Abfence of five Years and fix Months compleat. I went ftrait to Redriff, where I arrived the fame Day at Two in the Afternoon, and found my Wife and Family in good Health.

> The End of the Third Part.
$1 *$

。

[ 213 ]

T R A VELS.

P A R T. IV.

 A VOYAGE to the Country of the Houyhnhems.
C H A P. I.

The Autbor fets out as Captain of a Ship. His Men confpire againft him, confine bim a long Time to his Cabbin. Set bim on Shore in an unknown Land. He travels up into the Country. The Yahoos, a frange Sort of Animal, defcribed. The Author meets two Houyhnhnms.

IContinued at Home with my Wife and Children about five Months, in a very happy Condition, if I could have learned the Leffon of knowing when I was well. I left my poor Wife big with Child, and accepted an advantageous Offer made me, to be Captain of the Adventure, a ftout Merchant-man, of 350 Tuns : For I underfood Navigation well, and being grown weary of a Surgeon's Employment at Sea, which, however, I could exercife upon Occafion, I took a kilful young Man of that (alling, one Robert Purefoy, into my Ship. We fet Sail from Pert/mouth upon the 2d Day of $A u g u f, 1710$; on the 14th, we met with Captain Pocock, of Brifol, at Tenariff, who was going to the Bay of Campechy, to cut Logwood. On the 16th, he was parted from us by a Storm ; I heard, fince my Return, that his Ship foundered, and fivoyagenone efcaped, but one Cabbin-boy. He was an ha: nelt Man, and a good Sailor, but a little too pofitive in his own Opinions, which was the Caufe of his Deflruction, as it hath been of feveral others. For, if he had followed my Advice, he might have been fafe at Home with his Family at this Time, as well as myfelf.

214

I had feveral Men died in my Ship of Calentures, fo that I was forced to get Recruits out of Barbadoes, and the Leerward I Ilands, where I touched, by the Direction of the Merchants who employed me; which I had foon too much Caufe to repent; for I found afterwards, that moft of them had been Bucaneers. I had fifty Hands on Board, and my Orders were, that I Thould trade with the Indians, in the South-Sea, and make what Difcoveries I could. Thefe Rogues, whom I had picked up, debauched my other Men, and they all formed a Confpiracy to feize the Ship, and fecure me; whch they did one Morning, rufhing into my Cabbin, and binding me Hand and Foot, threatening to throw me over-board, if I offered to flir. I told them, I was their Prifoner, and would fubmit. This they made me fwear to do, and then they unbound me, only faftening one of my Legs with a Chain near my Bed, and placed a Centry at my Door with his Piece charged, who was commanded to fhoot me dead, if I attempted my Liberty. They fent me down Victuals and Drink, and took the Government of the Ship to themfelves. Their Defign was to turn Pyrates, and plunder the Spaniards, which they could not do, till they got more Men. But firt they refolved to fell the Goods in the Ship, and then go to Madagafcar for Recruits, feveral among them having died fince my Confinement. They failed many Weeks, and traded with the Indians; but I knew not what Courfe they took, being kept a clofe Prifoner in my Cabbin, and expecting nothing lefs than to be murdered, as they often threatened me.

Upon

Upon the gth Day of May, 1711, one Fames Welch came down to my Cabbin, and faid he had Orders from the Captain, to fet me a-fhore. I expofulated with him, but in vain; neither would he fo much as tell me who their new Captain was. They forced me into the Long boat, letting me put on my beft Suit of Cloaths, which were as good as new, and a fanall Bundle of Linnen, but no Arms, except my Hanger; and they were fo civil as not to fearch my Pockets, into which 1 conveyed what Money I had, with fome other little Neceflaries. They rowed about a League; and then fet me down on a Strand. I defired them to tell me, what Country it was. They all fwore, they knew no more than myfelf, but faid, that the Captain (as they called him) was refolved, after they had fold the Lading, to get rid of me in the firlt Place, where they could difcover Land. They puhed off immediately, advifing me to make Hafte, for fear of being overtaken by the Tide, and fo bad me Farewel.

In this defolate Condition I advanced forward, and foon got upon firm Ground, where I fat down on a Bank to reft myfelf, and confider what I had beft to do. When I was a little refrefhed, I went up into the Country, refolving to deliver myfelf to the firt Savages I fhould meet, and purchafe my Life from them, by fome Bracelets, glars Rings, and other Toys, which Sailors ufually provide themfelves with in thofe Voyages, and whereof I had fome about me : The Liand was divided by long Rows of Trees, not regularly planted, but naturally growing; there was great Plenty of Grafs, and feveral Fields of Oats. I walked very circumfpectly, for fear of being furprifed, or fuddenly fhot with an Arrow from behind, or on either Side. I fell into a beaten Road, where I faw many Tracts of human Feet, and fome of Cows, but moft of Horfes. At laft I beheld feveral Animals in a Field, and one or two of the fame Kind fitting in Trees. Their Shape was very fingular, and deformed, which a little difcompofed me, fo that I lay down behind a Thicket to obferve them better. Some of them, com: ing forward near the Place where I lay, gave me an Opportunity of diftinctly marking their Form. Their Heads and Breaffs were covered with a thick Hair, fome frizled, and others lank; they had Beards like Goats, and a long Ridge of Hair down their Backs, and the Fore parts of their Legs and Feet; but the reft of their Bodies were bare, fo that I might fee their Skins, which weie of a brown buff Colour. 'They had no Tails, nor any Hair at all on their Buttocks, except about the Anus ; which, I prefume, Nature had placed there, to defend them as they fat on the Ground; for this Pofture they ufed, as well as Lying down, and often ftood on their hind Feet. They climbed high Trees, as nimbly as a Squirrel, for they had ftrong extended Claws before and behind, terminating in fharp Points, and hooked. They would often fpring, and bound, and leap with prodigious Agility. The Females were not fo large as the Males; they had long lank Hair on their Heads, but none on their Faces, nor any Thing more than a Sort of Down on the reft of their Bodies, except about the Anus, and Pudenda. Their Dugs hung between their Fore-feet, and often reached almoft to the Ground as they walked. The Hair of both Sexes was of feveral Colours, brown, red, black, and yellow. Upon the Whole, I never beheld, in all my Travels, fo difagreeable an Animal, nor one againft which I naturally conceived fa ftrong an Antipathy. So that thinking I had feen enough, full of Contempt and Averfion, I got up, and purfued the beaten Road, hoping it might direct me to the Cabbin of fome Indian. I had not got far, when I met one of thefe Creatures full in my Way, and coming up directly to me. The ugly Monfter, when he faw me, diflorted feveral Ways every Feature of his Vifage, and flared as at an Object he had never feen before; then, approaching nearer, lifted up his Fore-paw, whether out of Curiofity or Mifchief, I could not tell. But I drew my Hanger, and gave him

to the HOUYHNHNMS. ymat

a good Blow with the flat Side of it, for I durft not frike with the Edge, fearing the Inhabitants might be provoked againft me, if they fhould come to know, that I had killed or maimed any of their Cattle. When the Beaft felt the Smart, he drew back, and roared fo loud, that a Herd, of at leaft forty, came flocking about me from the next Field, houling and making odious Faces; but I ran to the Body of a Tree, and, leaning my Back againft it, kept them off, by waving my Hanger. Several of this curfed Brood getting hold of the Branches behind, leapt up into the Tree, from whence they began to difcharge their Excrements on my Head: However, I efcaped pretty well, by fticking clofe to the Stem of the Tree, but was almoft ftifled with the Filth, which fell about me on every Side.

In the Midft of this Diftrefs, I obferved them all to run away on a fudden as faft as they could, at which I ventured to leave the Tree, and purfue the Road, wondering what it was that could put them into this Fright. But, looking on my left Hand, I faw a Horfe walking foftly in the Field; which my Perfecutors having fooner difcovered, was the Caufe of their Flight. The Horfe flarted a little when he came near me, but, foon recovering himfelf, looked full in my Fact, with manifeft Tokens of Wonder: He viewed my Hands and Feet, walking round me feveral Times. I would have purfued my Journey, but he placed himfelf directly in the Way, yet looking with a very mild Afpect, never offering the leant Violence. We ftood gazing at each other for fome Time; at laft I took the Boldnefs to reach my Hand towards his Neck, with a Defign to ftroak it, ufing the common Style and Whifte of Jockies, when they are going to handle a frange Horfe. But this Animal feemed to receive my Civilities with Difdain, fhook his Head, and bent his Brows, foftly raifing up his right Fore-foot to remove my Hand. Then he neighed three or four Times, but in fo different a Cadence, that I almoft began to think he was fpeaking to himfelf in fome Language of his own.

While

AVoyage

While he and I were thus employed, another Horfe came up; who, applying himfelf to the firlt in a very formal Manner, they gently fruck each other's right Hoof before, Neighing feveral Times by Turns, and varying the Sound, which feemed to be almof articulate. They went fome Paces off, as if it were to confer together, walking Side by Side, backward and forward, like Perfons deliberating upon fome Affair of Weight, but often turning their Eyes towards me, as it were to watch that I might not efcape. I was amazed to fee fuch Actions and Behaviour in Brute Beafts ; and concluded with myfelf, that if the Inhabitants of this Country were indued with a proportionable Degree of Reafon, they mult needs be the wifelt People upon Earth. This Thought gave me fo much Comfort, that I refolved to go forward, until I could difcover fome Houfe or Village, or meet with any of the Natives; leaving the two Horfes to difcourfe together as they pleafed. But the firlt, who was a Dapple-grey, obferving me to Iteal off, neighed after me in fo expreffive a Tone, that I fancied myfelf to underftand what he meant ; whereupon I turned back, and came near him, to expect his farther Commands ; but concealing my Fear as much as I could; for I began to be in fome Pain, how this Adventure might terminate; and the Reader will eafily believe I did not much like my prefent Situation.

The two Horfes came up clofe to me, looking with great Earneftnefs upon my Face and Hands. The grey Steed rubbed my Hat all round with his right Fore hoof, and difcompofed it fo much, that I was forced to adjult it better, by taking it off, and fettling it again; whereat both he and his Companion (who was a brown Bay) appeared to be much furprifed ; the latter felt the Lappet of my Coat, and, finding it to hang loofe about me, they both looked with Signs of Wonder. He flroaked my right Hand, feeming to admire the Softnefs, and Colour ; but he fqueezed it fo hard between his Hoof and his Paftern, that I was forced forced to roar; after which, they both touched me with all poffible Tendernefs. They were under great Perplexity about my Shoes and Stockings, which they felt very often, neighing to each other, and ufing various Geftures, not unlike thofe of a Philofopher, when he would attempt to folve fome new and difficult Phænomenon.

Upon the Whole, the Behaviour of thefe Animals was fo orderly and rational, fo acute and judicious, that I at laft concluded, they muft needs be Magicians, who had thus metamorphofed themfelves upon fome Defign, and, feeing a Stranger in the Way, was refolved to divert themfelves with him ; or, perhaps, were really amazed at the Sight of a Man fo very different in Habit, Feature, and Complexion, from thofe who might probably live in fo remote a Climate. Upon the Strength of this Reafoning, I ventured to addrefs them in the following Mariner: Gentlemen, if you be Conjurers, - as I have good Caufe to believe, you can underfland any Language; therefore, I make bold to let your Worfhips know, that I am a poor diffreffed Eng lifoman, driven by his Misfortunes upon your Coaft, and I entreat one of you, to let me ride upon his Back, as if he were a real Horfe, to fome Houfe or Village, where I can be relieved. In Return of which Favour, I will make you a Prefent of this Knife and Bracelet (taking them out of my Pocket). The two Creatures ftood filent while I fooke, feeming to liften with great Attention ; and, when I had ended, they neighed frequently towards each other, as if they were engaged in ferious Converfation. I plainly obferved, that their Language expreffed the Paffions very well, and the Words might with little Pains be refolved 'into an Alphabet, more eafily than the Cbinefe.

I could frequently diftinguifh the Word Yaboo, which was repeated by each of them feveral Times; and, although it was impoffible for me to conjecture what it meant, yet, while the two Horfes were bufy in Con= yerfation, I endeavoured to practife this Word upon my Tongue ; and, as foon as they were filent, I boldHy pronounced Yaboo, in a loud Voice, imitating, at the fame Time, as near as I could, the Neighing of a Horfe; at which they were both vifibly furprifed, and the Grey repeated the fame Word twice, as if he meant to teach me the right Accent, wherein I fooke after him as well as I could, and found myfelf perceivably to improve every Time, though very far from any Degree of Perfection. Then the Bay tried me with a fecond Word, much harder to be pronounced; but, reducing it to the Engli/h Orthography, may be fpelt thus, Houybnbnn. I did not fucceed in this, fo well as the former; but, after two or three farther Trials, I had better Fortune; and they both appeared amazed at my Capacity.

After fome farther Difcourfe, which I then conjectured might relate to me, the two Friends took their Leaves, with the fame Compliment of flriking each other's Hoof; and the Grey made me Signs that I Should walk before him; wherein I thought it prudent to comply, till I could find a better Director. When 1 offered to flacken my Pace, he would cry Hbuun, Hbuun; I gueffed his Meaning, and gave him to underfand, as well as I could, that I was weary, and not able to walk fafter; upon which, he would ftand a while to let me reft.

C H A P. II.

The Autbor conducted by a Houyhnhnm to bis Houfe, The Houfe defcribed. The Autbor's Reception. The Food of the Houyhnhnms. The Author in Diftrefs for Want of Meat, is at laft relieved. His Manner of Feeding in this Country.

HAving travelled about three Miles, we came to a long Kind of Building, made of Timber, ftuck in the Ground, and wattled a-crofs; the Roof was low, and and covered with Straw. I now began to be a little comforted; and took out fome Toys, which Travellers ufually carry for Prefents to the favage Indians of America, and other Parts, in Hopes the People of the Houfe would be thereby encouraged to receive me kindly. The Horfe made me a Sign to go in firft ; it was a large Room with a fmooth clay Floor, and a Rack and Manger, extending the whole Length on one Side. There were three Nags, and two Mares not eating, but fome of them fitting down upon their Hams, which I ve:y much wondered at ; but wondered more to fee the reft employed in domeftic Bufinefs: Thefe feemed but ordinary Cattle ; however, this confirmed my firt Opinion, that a People, who could fo far civilize brute Animals, muft needs excel in Wifdom all the Nations of the World. The Grey came in juft after, and thereby prevented any ill Treatment, which the others might have given me. He neighed to them feveral Times in a Style of Authority, and received Anfwers.

Beyond this Room there were three others, reaching the Length of the Houfe, to which you paffed through three Doors, oppofite to each other, in the Manner of a Vifta; we went through the fecond Room towards the third; here the Grey walked in firft, beckoning me to attend; I waited in the fecond Room, and got ready my Prefents for the Mafter and Miftrefs of the Houfe: They were two Knives, three Bracelets of falfe Pearl, a fmall Looking-glafs, and a Bead Necklace. The Horfe neighed three or four Times, and I waited to hear fome Anfwers in a human Voice, but I oblerved no other Returns, than in the fame Dialect, only one or two a little fhriller than his. I began to think that this Houfe muft belong to fome Perfon of great Note among them, becaufe there appeared fo much Ceremony, before I could gain Admittance. But, that a Man of Quality fhould be ferved all by Horfes, was beyond my Comprehenfion. I feared my Brain was difurbed by my Sufferings and Misfortunes: I roufed myfelf, and looked about me in the Room where I was left alone:
this was furnifhed like the firft, only after a more ele: gant Manner. I rubbed my Eyes often, but the fame Objects ftill occurred. I pinched my Arms and Sides, to awake myfelf, hoping I might be in a Dream. I then abfolutely concluded, that all thefe Appearances could be nothing elfe but Necromancy and Magic. But I had no Time to purfue thefe Reflections; for the Grey Horfe came to the Door, and made me a Sign to follow him into the third Room; where I faw a very comely Mare, together with a Colt and Fole, fitting on their Haunches, upon Matts of Straw, not unartfully made, and perfectly neat and clean.

The Mare, foon after my Entrance, rofe from her Matt, and coming up clofe, after having nicely obferved my Hands and Face, gave me a moft contemptuous Look ; then, turning to the Horfe, I heard the Word $r_{\text {aboo often }}$ repeated betwixt them; the Meaning of which Word I could not then comprehend, although it were the firt I had learned to pronounce; but I was foon better informed, to my everlafting Mortification : For the Horfe beckoning to me with his Head, and repeating the Word Hbuun, Hbuun, as he did upon the Road, which I underftood was to attend him, led me out into a Kind of Court, where was another Building at fome Diftance from the Houfe. Here we entered, and I faw three of thofe deteftable Creatures, whom I firt met after my Landing, feeding upon Roots, and the Flefh of fome Animals, which I afterwards found to be that of Affes and Dogs, and now and then a Cow dead by Accident or Difeafe. They were all tied by the Neck with frong Wyths, faftened to a Beam ; they held their Food between the Claws of their Fore-feet, and tore it with their Teeth.

The Mafter Horfe ordered a Sprrel Nag, one of his Servants, to untie the largeft of thefe Animals, and take him into the Yard. The Beaft and I were brought clofe together; and our Countenances diligently compared, both by. Mafter and Servant, who thereupon repeated feveral Times the Word Yakoe, My Horror and Aftonifhment are not to be defrribed, when I ob. ferved, in this abominable Animal, a perfect human Figure ; the Face of it, indeed, was flat and broad, the Nofe deprefled, the Lips large, and the Mouth wide: But thefe Differences are common to all favage Nations» where the Iineaments of the Countenance are diltorted, by the Natives fuffering their Infants to lie groveling on the Earth, or by carrying them on their Backs nuzzling with their Face againft the Mother's Shoulders. The Fore-feet of the Yaboo differed from my Hands in nothing elfe, but the Length of the Nails, the Coarfenefs and Brownnefs of the Palms, and the Hairinefs on the Backs. There was the fame Refemblance between our Feet, with the fame Differences, which I knew very well, though the Horfes did not, becaufe of my Shoes and Stockings; the fame in every Part of our Bodies, except as to Hairinefs and Colour, which I have already defribed.

The great Difficulty, that feemed to flick with the two Horfes, was, to fee the reft of my Body fo very different from that of a Yaboo, for which I was obliged to my Cloaths, whereof they had no Conception: The Sorrel Nag offered me a Root, which he held (after their Manner, as we fhall defcribe in its proper Place) between his. Hoof and Paftern; I took it in my Hand, and, having fmelt it, returned it to him again as civilly as I could. He brought out of the raboo's Kennel a Piece of Afs's Fleh, but it fmelt fo offenfively, that I turned from it with Loathing; he then threw it to the raboo, by whom it was greedily devoured. He afterwards fhewed me a Whifp of Hay, and a Fetlock full of Oats; but I hook my Head, to fignify, that neither of thefe were Food for me. And, indeed, I now apprehended that I muft abfolutely ftarve, if I did not get to fome of my own Species: For as to thofe filthy $r_{\text {aboos, }}$ although there were few greater Lovers of Mankind, at that Time, than myfelf; yet, I confefs, I never faw any fenfitive Being fo deteftable on all Accounts; and the more I came near them, the more hateful they grew, while I fayed in that Country: This the Malter Horfe obferved by my Behaviour, and therefore fent the raboo back to his Kennel. He then put his Fore-hoof to his Mouth, at which I was much furprifed, although he did it with Eafe, and with a Motion that appeared perfectly natural; and made other Signs to know what I would eat ; but I could not return him fuch an Anfwer as he was able to apprehend ; and, if he had underftood me, I did not fee how it was poffible to contrive any Way for finding myfelf Nourifhment. While we were thus engaged, lobferved a Cow paffing by, whereupon I pointed to her; and expreffed a Defire to let me go and milk her. This had its Effect ; for he led me back into the Houfe, and ordered a Mare fervant to open a Room, where a good Store of Milk lay in earthen and wooden Veffels, after a very orderly and cleanly Manner. She gave me a large Bowl full, of which I drank very heartily, and found myfelf well refrefhed.

About Noon, I faw coming towards the Houre a Kind of Vehicle, drawn like a Sledge, by four Taboos. There was in it an old Steed, who feemed to be of Quality ; he alighted with his Hind-feet forward, having, by Accident, got a Hurt in his Fore-foot. He came to dine with our Horfe, who received him with great Civility. They dined in the beft Room, and had Oats boiled in Milk for the fecond Courfe, which the old Horfe eat warm, but the reft cold. Their Mangers were placed circular in the Middle of the Room, and divided into feveral Partitions, round which they fat on their Haunches upon Boffes of Straw. In the Middle was a large Rack, with Angles anfwering to every Partition of the Manger. So that each Horfe and Mare eat their own Hay, and their own Mafh of Oats and Milk, with much Decency and Regularity. The Behaviour of the young Colt and Fole appeared very modeft ; and that of the Mafter and Miftrefs, extremely chearful and complaifant to their Gueft. The Grey ordered me to fland by him; and much Difcourfe paffed between him and his Friend concerning me, as I found by the Stranger's often Looking on me, and the frequent Repetition of the Word raboo.

I happened to wear my Gloves, which the Mafter Grey obferving, feemed perplexed, difcovering Signs of Wonder what I had done to my Fore feet ; he put his Hoof three or four Times to them, as if he would fignify, that I fhould reduce them to their former Shape, which I prefently did, pulling off both my Gloves, and putting them into my Pocket. This occafioned farther Talk, and I faw the Company was pleafed with my Behaviour, whereof I foon found the good Effects. I was ordered to fpeak the few Words I undertood; and while they were at Dinner, the Mafter taught me the Names for Oats, Milk, Fire, Water, and fome others; which I could readily pronounce after him, having from my Youth a great Facility in learning Languages.

When Dinner was done, the Mafter Horfe took me afide, and by Signs and Words, made me underttand the Concern that he was in, that I had nothing to eat. Oats, in their Tongue, are called Hluunh. This Word I pronounced two or three Times; for although I had refufed them at firft, yet, upon fecond Thoughts, I confidered that I could contrive to make of them a Kind of Bread, which might be fufficient, with Milk, to keep me alive, till I could make my Efcape to fome other Country, and to Creatures of my own Species. The Horfe immediately ordered a white Mare fervant, of his Family, to bring me a good Quantity of Oats, in a Sort of wooden Tray. Thefe I heated before the Fire, as well as $I$ could, and rubbed them till the Hulks came off, which 1 made a Shift to winnow from the Grain ; 1 ground and beat them between two Stones, then took Water, and made them into a Pafte or Cake, which I toafted at the Fire, and eat warm with Milk. It was at firt a very infipid Diet, though common enough in many Parts of Europe, but grew tolerable by Time; and, having been often reduced to hard Q Fare Fare in my Life, this was not the firft Experiment 1 had made, how eafily Nature is fatisfied. And I cannot but obferve, that I never had one Hour's Sicknefs, while I ftaid in this Inand. It is true, I fometimes made a Shift to catch a Rabbit, or Bird, by Springs made of Yaboo's Hairs; and I often gathered wholefome Herbs, which I boiled, or eat as Salades with my Bread; and now and then for a Rariety, I made a little Butter, and drank the Whey. I was at firft at a great Lofs for Salt; but Cuftom foon reconciled the Want of it ; and I am confident, that the frequent Ufe of Salt, among us, is an Effect of Luxury, and was firf introduced, only as a Provocative to drink ; except where it is neceffary for preferving of Flefh in long Voyages, or in Places remote from great Markets. For we obferve no Animal to be fond of it but Man: And as to myfelf, when I left this Country, it was a great while before I could endure the Tafte of it in any Thing that I eat.

This is enough to fay upon the Subject of my Diet, wherewith other Travellers fill their Books, as if the Readers were perfonally concerned, whether we fared well or ill. However, it was neceffary to mention this Matter, left the World fhould think it impoffible that I could find Suftenance for three Years in fuch a Coun. try, and among fuch Inhabitants.

When it grew towards Evening, the Mafter Horfe ordered a Place for me to lodge in; it was but fix Yards. from the Houfe, and feparated from the Stable of the raboos. Here I got fome Straw, and, covering myfelf with my own Cloaths, llept very found. But I was in a fhort Time better accommodated, as the Reader fhall know hereafter, when I come to treat more particularly about my Way of Living.

CH.AP.

C H A P. ${ }^{\text {IIII. }}$

The Author fudious to learn the Language; the Houyhnhnm, bis Mafter, alfits in teaching him. The Language defcribed. Several Houyhnhnms of Quality came out of Curiofity to See the Author. He gives his Mafter a Sort Account of his Vayage.

MY principal Endeavour was to learn the Language, which my Mafter (for fo I fhall henceforth call him) and his Children, and every Servant of his Houre were defirous to teach me. For they looked upon it as a Prodigy, that a brute Animal fhould difcover fuch Marks of a rational Creature. I pointed to every Thing, and enquired the Name of it, which I wrote down in my fournal-Book when I was alone, and corrected my bad Accent, by defiring thofe of the Family to pronounce it often. In this Employment a Sorrel Nag, one of the under Servants, was ready ta affift me.

In fpeaking, they pronounce through the Nofe and Throat, and their Language approaches neareft to the High.Dutch, or German, of any I know in Europe; but is much more graceful and fignificant. The Emperor Cbarles V . made almof the fame Obfervation, when he faid, That, if he were to fpeak to his Horfe, it fhould be in High-Dutch.

The Curiofity and Impatience of my Mafter were fo. great, that he fpent many Hours of his Leifure to inftruct me. He was convinced (as he afterwards told me) that I muft be a $\mathrm{raboo}_{\text {; }}$; but my. Teachablenefs, Civility, and Cleanlinefs aftonifhed him ; which were Qualities alcogether fo oppofite to thofe Animals. He was moft perplexed about my Cloaths, reafoning fometimes with himfelf, whether they were a Part of my Body ; for I never pulled them off till the Family were afleep, and got them on before they waked in the Morning. My Mafter was eager to learn from whence

I came;

I came; how I acquired thofe Appearances of Reafon, which I difcovered in all my Actions; and to know my Story from my own Mouth, which he hoped he Thould foon do, by the great Proficiency I made in learning and pronouncing their Words and Sentences. To help my Memory, I formed all I learned into the Engliß Alphabet, and writ the Words down, with the Tranflations. This laft, after fome Time; I ventured to do in my Mafter's Prefence. It coft me much Trouble to explain to him what I was doing ; for the Inhabitants have not the leaft Idea of Books or Literature.

In about ten Weeks Time, I was able to underftand moft of his Queftions; and in three Months could give him fome tolerable Anfwers. He was extremely curious to know from what Part of the Country I came, and how I was taught to imitate a rational Creature ; becaufe the raboos (whom he faw I exactly refembled in my Head, Hands, and Face, that were only vifi ble) with fome Appearance of Cunning, and the frongeft Difpoftion to Mifchief, were oblerved to be the moft unteachable of all Brutes. I anfwered, That I came over the Sea, from a far Place, with many others of my own Kind, in a great bollow Veffel made of the Bodies of Trees; that my Companions forced me to land on this Coaft, and then left me to fhift for myfelf. It was with fome Difficulty, and by the Help of many Signs, that I brought him to underfland me. He replied, That I muft needs be miffaken, or that I faid the Thing which was not (for they have no Word in their Language to exprefs Lying or Falfehood). He knew it was impoffible that there could be a Country beyond the Sea, or that a Parcel of Brutes could move a wooden Veffel whither they pleafed upon Water. He was fure no Houybnbnm alive could make fuch a Veffel, nor would truft Yaboos to manage it.

The Word Houybnbnm, in their Tongue, fignifies a Horfe, and in its Etymology, the Perfection of Nature. 1 told my Mafter, that I was at a Lofs for Expreffion, but would improve as faft as I could; and hoped in a fhort Time I thould be able to tell him Wonders: He was pleafed to direct his own Mare, his Colt and Fole, and the Servants of the Family, to take all Opportunities of inftructing me; and every Day, for two or three Hours, he was at the fame Pains himfelf: Several Horfes and Mares of Quality, in the Neighbourhood, came often to our Houfe, upon the Report fpread of a wonderful raboo, that could f peak like a Houybnbmm, $^{\text {a }}$ and feemed, in his Words and Actions, to difoover fome Glimmerings of Reafon. Thefe delighted to converfe with me; they put many Queftions, and received fuch Anfwers as I was able to return. By all thefe Advantages, I made fo great a Progrefs, that, in five Months from my Arrival, I undertood whatever was fpoke, and could exprefs myfelf tolerably well.

The Houybnbnms who came to vifit my Mafter, out of a Defign of feeking and talking with me, could hardly believe me to be a right $\mathrm{Y}_{\text {aboon }}$, becaufe my Body had a different Covering from others of my Kind. They were aftonished to obferve me without the ufual Hair, or Skin, except on my Head, Face and Hands ; but I difcovered that Secret to my Mafter, upon an Accident, which happened about a Fortnight before.

I have already told the Reader, that every Night when the Family were gone to Bed, it was my Cuftom to ftrip, and cover myfelf with my Cloaths : It happened one Morning early, that my Mafter fent for me, by the Sorrel Nag, who was his Valet; when he came, I was faft afleep, my Cloaths fallen off on one Side, and my Shirt above my Wafte. I awaked at the Noife he made, and obferved him to deliver his Meffage in fome Diforder; after which he went to my Mafter, and in a great Fright gave him a very confufed Account of what he had feen: This I prefently difcovered; for going as foon as I was dreffed, to pay my Attendance upon his Honour, he afked me the Meaning of what his Servant had reported; that I was not the fame Thing when I Ilept, as I appeared to be at other Times; that his Valet affured him fome Part of me was white, fome yellow, at lealt not fo white, and fome brown.

I had hitherto concealed the Secret of my Drefs, in order to diltinguih myfelf, as much as poffible, from that curfed Race of raboos; but now I found it in vain to do fo any longer. Befides, I confidered that my Cloaths and Shoes would foon wear out, which already were in a declining Condition, and muft be fupplied by fome Contrivance from the Hides of $\mathrm{Y}_{\text {aboos, }}$ or other Brutes; whereby the whole Secret would be known : I therefore told my Mafter, That, in the Country from whence I came, thofe of my Kind always covered their Bodies with the Hairs of certain Animals prepared by Art, as well for Decency, as to avoid the Inclemencies of Air both hot and cold; of which, as to my own Perfon, I would give him immediate Conviction, if he pleafel to command me; only defiring his Excufe, if I did not expofe thofe Parts, that Nature taught us to conceal. He faid my Difcourfe was all very flrange, but effecially the laft Part; for he could not undertand why Nature fiould teach us to conceal what Nature had given. That neither himfelf nor Family were alhamed of any Parts of their Bodies; but, however, I might do as I pleafed. Whereupon, 1 firft unbuttoned my Coat, and pulled it off. I did the fame with my Waiftcoat ; I drew off my Shoes, Stockings, and Breeches. I let my Shirt down to my Waif, and drew up the Bottom, faftening it like a Girdle about my Middle to hide my Nakednefs.

My Mafter obferved the whole Performance with great Signs of Curiofity and Admiration. He took up all my Cloaths in his Paflern, one Piece after another, and examined them diligently; he froaked my Body very gently, and looked round me feveral Times, after which he faid, it was plain I muft be a perfect $\mathrm{Caboo}^{\text {; }}$ but that I differed very much from the reft of my Species, in the Softnefs, and Whitenefs, and Smoothnefs of my Skin, my Want of Hair in feveral Parts of my Body, the Shape and Shortnefs of my Claws behind and before, and my Affectation of Walking continually on my two hinder Feet. He defired to fee no more; and' gave me Leave to put on my Cloaths again, for I was huddering with Cold.

I expreffed my Uneafinefs at his giving me fo often the Appellation of Yaboo, an odious Animal, for which I had fo utter an Hatred and Contempt: I begged he would forbear applying that Word to me, and take the fame Order in his Family, and among his Friends, whom he fuffered to fee me. I requefted likewife, that the Secret of my having a falfe Covering to my Body might be known to none but himfelf, at leaft, as long as my prefent Cloathing fhould laft ; for, as to what the Sorrel Nag, his Valet, had obferved, his Honour might command him to conceal it.

All this my Mafter very gracioufly confented to, and thus the Secret was kept till my Cloaths began to wear out, which I was forced to fupply by feveral Contrivances, that fhall hereafter be mentioned. In the mean Time, he defired I would go on with my utmoft Difigence to learn their Language, becaufe he was more aftonifhed at my Capacity for Speech and Reafon, than at the Figure of my Body, whether it were covered or no; adding, that he waited with fome Impatience to hear the Wonders which I promifed to tell him.

From thenceforward he doubled the Pains he had been at to inftruct me; he brought me into all Company, and made them treat me with Civility, becaufe, as he told them privately, this would put me into good Humour, and make me more diverting.

Every Day, when I waited on him, befide the Trou-' ble he was at in Teaching, he would afk me feveral Queftions concerning myfelf, which I anfwered as well as I could; and by thefe Means, he had already received fome general Ideas, though very imperfect. It would be tedious to relate the feveral Steps, by which I advanced to a more regular Converfation: But the firt Account I gave of myfelf, in any Order and Length, was to this Purpofe:

That I came from a very far Country, as I already had attempted to tell him, with about fifty more of my own Species; that we travelled upon the Seas, in a great hollow Veffel made of Wood, and larger than his Honour's Houfe. I defcribed the Ship to him in the beft Terms I could, and explained, by the Help of my Handkerchief difplayed, how it was driven forward by the Wind. That, upon a Quarrel among us, I was fet on Shore on this Coaft, where I walked forward, without knowing whither, till he delivered me from the Perfecution of thofe execrable raboos. He afked me, who made the Ship, and how it was poffible that the Houybnbnms of my Country would leave it to the Management of Brutes? My Anfwer was, That I durft proceed no farther in my Relation, unlefs he wot:ld give me his Word and Honour that he would not be offended, and then I would tell him the Wonders I had fo often promifed. He agreed, and I went on, by affuring him, that the Ship was made by Creatures like myfelf, who in all the Countries I had travelled, as well as in my own, were the only governing, rational Animals; and that, upon my Arrival hither, I was as much aftonifhed to fee the Houybnbnms act like rational Beings, as he or his Friends, could be in finding fome Marks of Reafon in a Creature he was pleafed to call a raboo; to which I owned my Refemblance in every Part, but could not account for their degenerate and brutal Nature. I faid farther, that if good Fortune ever reflored me to my Native Country, to relate my Travels hither, as I refolved to do, evesy Body would believe that I faid tbe Tbing arbich was mot; that I invented the Story out of my own Head ; and, with all poffible Refpect to himfelf, his Family, and Friends, and under his Promife of not being offended, our Countrymen would hardly think it probable, that a Houybnbnm fhould be the prefiding Creature of a Nation, and a Yabeo the Brute.

> CHAP.

CHAP. IV.

The Houyhnhnms Notion of Truth and Falhood. The Author's Difcourfe difapproved by bis Mafter. The Author gives a more particular Account of bimfelf, and the Accidents of his Voyage.

MY Mafter heard me with great Appearances of Uneafinefs in his Countenance ; becaufe Doubting, or not Belicving, are fo little known in this Country, that the Inhabitants cannot tell how to behave themfelves under fuch Circumflances. And I remember, in frequent Difcourfes with my Mafter, concerning the Nature of Manhood, in other Parts of the World, having Occafion to talk of Lying, and falfe Reprefentation, it was with much Difficulty that he comprehended what I meant; although he had otherwife a moft acute Judgment. For he argued thus: That the Ufe of Speech was to make us underftand one another, and to receive Information of Facts; now, if any one faid the Tbing that was not, thefe Ends were defeated ; becaufe I cannot properly be faid to undertand him ; and I am fo far from receiving Information, that he leaves me worfe than in Ignorance, for I am led to believe a Thing Black when it is White, and Short when it is Long. And thefe were all the Notions he had concerning that Faculty of $L y-$ ing, fo perfectly well undertood, and fo univerfally practifed, among human Creatures.

To return from this Digreffion; when I afferted that the Caboos were the only governing Animals in my Country, which, my Mafter faid, was altogether paft his Conception, he defired to know, whether we had Houybnbnms among us, and what was their Employment : I told him, we had great Numbers; that in Summer they grazed in the Fields, and in Winter were kept in Houfes, with Hay and Oats, were YabooServants were employed to rub their Skins fmooth, comb

234

AVoyage

comb their Manes, pick their Feet, ferve them with Food, and make their Beds. I underlland you well, faid my Mafter; it is now very plain, from all you have fpoken, that, whatever Share of Reafon the Ya boos pretend to, the Houjbnbnms are your Mafters; I heartily wifh our Yaboos would be fo tractable. I beg. ged his Honour would pleafe to excufe me from proceeding any farther, becaufe I was very certain, that the Account he expected from me wbuld be highly difpleafing. But he infifted in commanding me to let him know the beft and the worf: I told him, he fhould be obeyed. I owned, that the Houybnbnms among us, whom we called Horfes, were the mot generous and comely Animal we had ; that they excelled in Strength and Swiftnefs; and when they belonged to Perfons of Quality, employed in Travelling, Racing, or drawing Chariots, they were treated with much Kindnefs and Care, till they fell into Difeafes, or became foundered' in the Feet; but then they were fold, and ufed to all Kind of Drudgery, till they died; after which their Skins were flripped, and fold for what they were worth, and their Bodies left to be devoured by Dogs and Birds of Prey. But the common Race of Horles had not fo good Fortune, being kept by Farmers and Carriers, and other mean People, who put them to greater Labour, and fed them worfe. I defcribed, as well as I could, our Way of Riding ; the Shape and Ufe of a Bridle, a Saddle, a Spur, and a Whip; of Harnefs and Wheels. I added, that we faflened Plates of a certain hard Subftance, called Iron, at the Bottom of their Feet, to preferve their Hoofs from being broken by the ftony Ways on which we often travelled.

My Mafter, after fome Expreffions of great Indignation, wondered how we dared to venture upon a Houybrbnm's Back ; for he was fure, that the weakeft Servant in his Houfe would be able to thake off the \#irongef $\Upsilon_{\text {aboo }}$; or by lying down, and rolling on his Back, fquecfe the Brute to Death. I anfwered, That ## to the $\mathrm{HOUYHNHNMS}$.

our Horfes were trained up, from three or four Years old, to the feveral Ufes we intended them for ; That, if any of them proved intolerably vicious, they were employed for Carriages; that they were feverely beaten, while they were young, for any mifchievous 'Tricks: That the Males, defigned for common Ufe of Riding or Draught, were generally caftratedabout two Years after their Birth, to take down their Spirits, and make them more tame and gentle; that they were, indeed, fenfible of Rewards and Punifhments; but his Honour would pleafe to confider, that they had not the leaft Tincture of Reafon, any more than the raboos in this Country.

It put me to the Pains of many Circumlocutions to give my Mafter a right Idea of what I fpoke; for their Language doth not abound in Variety of Words, becaufe their Wants and Yaffions are fewer than among us. But it is impoffible to reprefent his noble Refentment at our favage Treatment of the Houybnbnm Race; particularly after I had explained the Manner and Ufe of caftrating Horfes among us, to hinder them from propagating their Kind, and to render them more fervile. He faid, if it werc poffible there could be any Country where Caboos alone were endued with Reafon, they certainly muft be the governing Animal; be, caufe Reafon will in Time always prevail againft brutal Strength.. But, confidering the Frame of our Bodies, and efpecially of mine, he thought no Creature of equal Bulk was fo ill contrived, for employing that Reafon in the common Offices of Life ; whereupon, he defired to know, whether thofe, among whom 1 lived, refembled me, or the Yaboos of his Country. I affured him, that I was as well fhaped as moft of my Age: But the Younger, and the Females, were much more foft and tender, and the Skins of the latter, generally as white as Milk. He faid I differed, indecd, from other Yaboos, being much moré cleanly, and not altogether fo deformed ; but in Point of real Advantage, he thought I differed for the worfe. That my Nails were of no Ufe, either to my Fore or Hinder-feet; as to my Fore-feet, he could not properly call them by that Name, for he never obferved me to walk upon them; that they were too foft to bear the Ground ; that I generally went with them uncovered, neither was the Covering I fometimes wore on them, of the fame Shape, or fo frong as that on my Fcet behind. 'That I could not walk with any Security, fir, if either of my Hinier feet nipped, I mu!t inevitably fall. He then began to find Fault with other Parts of my Body ; the Flatnefs of my Face, the Prominence of my Nofe, mine Eyes placed direcily in Front, fo that I could not look on either Side, without turning my Head : That I was not able to feed myfelf, without lifting one of my Fore-feet to my Mouth: And therefore Nature had placed thofe Joints to anfwer that Neceflity. He knew not what could be the Ufe of thofe reveral Clefts and Divifions in my Feet behind, that thefe were too foft to bear the Hardnefs and Sharpnefs of Stones, without a Covering made from the Skin of fome other Brute ; that my whole Body wanted a Pence againft Heat and Cold, which I was forced to put on and off every Day with Tedioufnefs and Trouble. And lafly, that he obferved every Animal in this Country naturally to abhor the raboos, whom the Weaker avoided, and the Stronger drove from them. So that fupfofing us to have the Gift of Reafon, he could not fee how it were poffible to cure that natural Antipathy which exery Creature difcovered againft us; nor confequently, how we could tame and render them ferviceable. However, he would (as he faid) debate the Matter no farther, becaufe he was more defirous to know my own Story, the Country where I was born, and the feveral Actions and Events of my Life before 1 came hither.

I affured him, how extremely defirous I was, that he fhoutd be fatisfied in evcry Point; but I doubted much. much, whether it would be pofible for me to explain myfelf on feveral Subjects, whereof his Honour coukt have no Conception, becaufe I faw nothing in his Country, to which I could refemble them. That, however, I would do my beft, and ftrive to exprefs myfelf by Similitudes, humbly defiring his Affiftance, when I wanted proper Words; which he was pleafed to promife me.

I faid, my Birth was of honett Parents, in an Ifland called England, which was remote from this Country, as many Days Journey as the ftrongelt of his Honour's Servants could travel in the annual Courfe of the Sun. That I was bred a Surgeon, whofe Trade it is to cure Wounds and Hurts in the Body, got by Accident or Violence; that my Country was governed by a Female Man, called a Qucen. That I left it to get Riches, whereby I might maintain myfelf and Family when I thould return. That, in my laft Voyage, I was Commander of the Ship, and had about fifty $r_{a}$ hoos under me, many of which died at Sea, and I was forced to fupply them by others, picked out from feveral Nations. That our Ship was twice in Danger of being funk; the firlt Time by a great Storm, and the fecond, by ftriking againtt a Rock. Here my Mafter interpofed, by alking me, How I could perfuade Strangers out of different Countries to venture with me, after the Loffes I had futtained, and the Hazards I had run. I faid, they were Fellows of defperate Fortunes, forced to fly from the Places of their Birth, on Account of their Poverty or their Crimes. Some were undone by Law fuits; others fpent all they had in Drinking, Whoring, and Gaming ; others fled for Treafon ; many for Murder, Theft, Poyfoning, Robbery, Perjury, Forgery, coining falfe Money, for committing Rapes or Sodomy; for flying from their Colours, or deferting to the Enemy, and moft of them had broken Prifon; none of thefe durft return to their native Countries for fear of being hanget, or of ftarving in a Jail; and, therefore, were under a Necelfity of feeking a Livelihood in other Places.

During this Difcourfe, my Mafter was pleafed to interrupt me feveral Times; I had made Ufe of many. Circumlocutions, in defcribing to him the Nature of feveral Crimes, for which molt of our Crew had been forced to fly their Country. This Labour took up feveral Days Converfation, before he was able to comprehend me. He was wholly at a Lofs to know what could be the Ufe or Necefity of practifing thofe Vices. To clear up which, I endeavoured to give him fome Ideas of the Defire of Power and Riches; of the terrible Effects of Luft, Intemperance, Malice and Envy. All this I was forced to define and defcribe, by putting Cafes, and making Suppofitions. After which, like one whofe Imagination was fruck with fomething never feen or heard of before, he would lift up his Eyes with Amazement and Indignation. Power, Government, War, Law, Punifhment, and a thoufand other Things had no Terms, wherein that Language could exprefs them ; which made the Difficulty almoft infuperable to give my Mafter any Conception of what I meant. But being of an excellent Underftanding, much improved by Contemplation and Converfe, he at laft arrived at a competent Knowledge of what Human Nature, in our Parts of the World, is capable to perform; and defired I would give him fome particular Account of that Land, which we call Europe, but efpecially of my own Country.

С H А $\mathrm{P} . \mathrm{V}$.

The Author, at bis Mafter's Commands, informs him of the State of England. The Caufes of War among the Princes of Europe.. The Author begins to explain the Englih Conftitution.

THE Reader may pleare to obferve, that the following Extract of many Converfations I had with my Mafter, contains a Summary of the moft material Points, which were difcourfed at feveral Times, for above two Years; his Honour often defiring fuller Satisfaction, as I farther improved in the Houybnbnm Tongue. I laid before him, as well as I could the whole State of Europe; I difcourfed of Trade and Manufactures, of Arts and Sciences; and the Anfwers I gave to all the Queftions he made, as they arofe upon feveral Subjects, were a Fund of Converfation, not to be exhautted. But I fhall here only fet down the Subftance of what paffed between us concerning my own Country, reducing it into Order as well as I can, without any Regard to Time, or other Circumftances, while I fricaly adhere to Truth. My only Concern is, that I fhall hardly be able to do Juftice to my Mafter's Arguments and Expreffions, which muft needs fuffer, by my Want of Capacity, as well as by a Tranflation into our barbarous Engli/b.

In Obedience, therefore, to his Honour's Commands,' I related to him the Revolution under the Prince of Orange; the long War with France entered into by the faid Prince, and renewed by his Succeffor the prefent Queen, wherein the greateft Powers of Cbrifitndom were engaged, and which fill continued: I computed, at his Requeft, that about a Million of raboos might have been killed in the whole Progrefs of it ; and, perhaps, a hundred or more Cities taken, and five. Times as many Ships burnt or funk.

He afked me what were the ufual Caufes or Motives that made one Country go to War with another. I anfwered they were innumerable; but I fhould only. mention a few of the chief. Sometimes the Ambition of Princes, who never think they have Land or People enough to govern; Sometimes the Corruption of Minifters, who engage their Malter in a War, in order to flifle or divert the Clamour of the Subjects againft their evil Adminiftration. Difference in Opinions hath coft many Millions of Lives: For Inflance, whether Fle/h be Bread, or Bread be Flof;; whether the Juice of a certain Berry be Blood or Wine; whether Wbifling be a Vice or Virtue; whether it be better to kifs a Poff, or throw it into the Fire; what is the beft Colour for a Coat, whether Black, White, Red, or Grey; and whether it fhould be long or ßort, narrow or wide, dirty or clean, with many more. Neither are any Wars fo furious and bloody, or of fo long Continuance, as thofe occafioned by Difference in Opinion, efpecially if it be in Things indifferent.

Sometimes the Quarrel between two Princes is to decide, which of them fhall difpoffefs a third of his Dominions, where neither of them pretend to any Right. Sometimes one Prince qnarrelleth with another, for fear the other fhould quarrel with him. Sometimes a War is entered upon, becaufe the Enemy is too firong; and fometimes, becaufe he is too rweak. Sometimes our Neighbours want the Things which we bave, or bave the Things which we want; and we both fight, till they take ours, or give us theirs. It is a very juftifiable Caufe of a War, to invade a Country, after the People have been wafted by Famine, deftroyed by Peftilence, or embroiled by factions among themfelves. It is juftifiable to enter into War againft our neareft Ally , when one of his Towns lies convenient for us, or a Territory of Land, that would render our Dominions round and compleat. If a Prince fends Forces into a Nation, where the People are poor and ignorant, he may lawfully put half of them to Death, and make Slaves of the reft, in order to civilize and reduce them from their barbarous Way of Living. It is a very kingly, honourable, and frequent Practice, when one Prince defires the Affiftance of another to fecure him againft an Invafion, that the Affiftant, when he hath driven out the Invader, fhould feize on the Dominions himfelf, and kill, imprifon, or banifh the Prince he came to relieve. Alliance by Blood, or Marriage, is a frequent Caufe of War between Princes; and the nearer the Kindred is, the greater is their Difpofition to quarrel : Poor Nations aie bungry, and rich Nations are proud; and Pride and Hunger will ever be at Variance. For thefe Reafons, the Trade of a Soldier is held the moft honourable of all others: Becaufe a Soldier is a Yaboo hired to kill in cold Blood as many of his own Species, who had never offended him, as poffibly he can.

Slaves

There is, likewife, a Kind of beggarly Princes in Europe, not able to make War by themfelves, who hire out their Troops to richer Nations, for fo much a Day to each Man; of which they keep Threefourths to themfelves, and it is the beft Part of their Maintenance ; fuch are thofe in many Northern Parts of Earope.

What you have told me (faid my Mafter) upon the Subject of War, does, indeed, difcover moft admirably the Effects of that Reafon you pretend to: However, it is happy that the Shame is greater than the Danger; and that Nature hath left you utterly incapable of doing much Mifchief.

For, your Mouths lying flat with your Faces, you can hardly bite each other to any Purpofe, unlefs by Confent. Then as to the Claws upon your Feet before and behind, they are fo fhort and tender, that one of our Yaboos would drive a Dozen of yours be. fore him. And, therefore, in recounting the Numbers of thofe who have been killed in Battle, I cannot but think that you have faid the Thing wowich is not.

I could not forbear fhaking my Head, and fmiling 2 little at his Ignorance. And, being no Stranger to the Airt of War, I gave him a Defcription of Cannons, Culverins, Muikets, Carabines, Piftols, Bullets, Powder, Swords, Bayonets, Battles, Sieges, Retreats, Attacks, Undermines, Countermines, Bombardments, Sea-fights ; Ships funk with a thoufand Men; twen-ty-thoufand killed on each Side; dying Groans, Limbs flying in the Air ; Smoke, Noife, Confufion, Trampling to Death under Horfes Peet ; Flight, Purfuit, Victory ; Fields ftrewed with Carcares, left for Food to Dogs and Wolves, and Birds of Prey; Plundering, Stripping, Ravihing, Burning and Deftroying. And, to fet forth the Valour of my own dear Conn, trymen, I affured him, that I had feen them blow up a' hundred Enemies at once in a Siege, and as many in a Ship; and beheld the dead Bodies come down in Pieces from the Clouds, to the great Diverfion of the Spectators.

I was going on to more Particulars when my Maf: ter commanded me Silence. He faid, Whoever underfood the Nature of Yaboos, might eafily believe it pofitible for fo vile an Animal, to be capable of every Action I had named, if their Strength and Canning. equalled their Malice. But as my Difcourfe had in ${ }^{*}$ creafed his Abhorrence of the whole Species, fo he found it gave him a Difturbance in his Mind, to which he was wholly a Stranger before. He thought his Ears, being ufed to fuch abominable Words; might, by Degrees, admit them with lefs Deteftation. That although he hated the raboos of this Country, yet he no more blamed them for their odious Qualities, than hie did a Gnnayb (a Bird of Prey) for its Cruelty, or a fharp Stone for cutting his Hoof. But when a Creature, pretending to Reafon, could be capable of fuch Enormities, he dreaded, left the Corruption of that Faculty might be worfe than Brutality itfelf. He feemed therefore confident, that, inftead of Reafon, we were only poffefled of fome Qaality fitted to ing creafe treafe our natural Vices ${ }^{\text {; }}$ as the Reflection from 2 troubled Stream returns the Image of an ill-hhapen Body, not only larger, but more difforted.

He added, that he had heard too much apon the Subject of War, both in this, and fome former Difcourfes. There was another Point which a little perplexed him at prefent. I had informed him, that fome of our Crew left their Country on Account of being ruined by Law ; that I had already explained the Meaning of the Word; but he was at a Lofs how it fhould come to pafs, that the Law, which was ind tended for every Man's Prefervation, fhould be any Man's Rain. Therefore he defired to be farther fatisfied what I meant by Larw, and the Di/penfers thereof, according to the prefent Practice in my own Country; becaufe he thought Nature and Reafon were fufficent Guides for a reafonable Animal, as we pretended to be, in fhewing us what we ought to do, and what to avoid.

I affared his Honour, that Larw was a Science in which I had not much converfed, further than by employing Advocates in vain, upon fome Injuftices that had been done me; however, I would give him all the Satisfaction I was able.

I faid, there was a Society of Men among us, bred up from their Youth in the Art of proving by Words multiplied for the Purpofe, that $W$ bite is Black, and Black is White, according as they are paid. To this Society all the reft of the People are Slaves. For Example, if my Neighbour hath a Mind to my Cow, he hires a Larvyer to prove that he ought to have my Cow from me. I muft then hire another to defend my Right, it being againft all Rules of Larw, that any Man hould be allowed to feeak for himfelf. Now, in this Cafe, I, who am the right Owner, lie under two Difadvantages ; Firf, my Larwyer, being practifed almoft from his Cradle in defending Fallhood, is quite out of his Element, when he would be an Advocate for Juftice, which is an Office unnatural, he always attempts with great Awkwardnefs, if not with ill Will. The Second Difadvantage is, that my Lawyer muft proceed with great Caution, or elfe he will be reprimanded by the fudges, and abhorred by his Brethren, as one that would leffen the Practice of the Larw. And therefore I have but two Methods to preferve my Cow. The firft is to gain over my Adverfary's Lawyer with a double Fee; who will thea betray his Client, by infinuating, that he hath $\mathscr{F}_{\text {ufice }}$ on his Side. The fecond Way is for my Larwer to make my Caufe appear as unjuft as he can, by allowing the Cow to belong to my Adverfary; and this, if it be fkilfully done, will certainly befpeak the Favour of the Bench. Now, your Honour is to know that thefe $\mathcal{F}$ udges are Perfons appointed to decide all Controverfies of Property, as well as for the Trial of Criminals, and picked out from the moft dexterous Lawyers, who are grown old or lazy, and having been byafled all their Lives againft Truth and Equity, are under fuch a fatal Neceffity of favouring Fraud, Perjury, and Oppreffion, that I have known feveral of them refufe a large Bribe from the Side where Juftice lay, rather than injure the Faculty by doing any Thing unbecoming their Nature or their Office.

It is a Maxim among thefe Lawyers, that whatever hath been done before, may legally be done again' ; And therefore they take fpecial Care to record all the Decifions formerly made againft common Juf tice, and the general Reafon of Mankind. Thefe, under the Name of Precedents, they produce as Authorities, to juftify the moft iniquitous Opinions, and the Judges never fail of directing accordingly.

In Pleading, they fludioully avoid entering into the Merits of the Caufe; bat are loud, violent, and tedious, in dwelling upon all Circumfances which are not to the Purpofe. For Inftance, in the Cafe already mentioned: They never defire to know what Claim or Title my Adverfary hath to my Cow ; but whether the faid Cow were red or black; her Horns

to the HOUYHNHNMS.

long or fhort ; whether the Field I graze her in be round or fquare; whether fhe was milked at Home or Abroad; what Difeafes fhe is fubject to, and the like; after which they confult Precedents, adjourn the Caufe, from Time to Time, and in ten, twenty, or thirty Years, come to an Iffue.

It is likewife to be obferved, that this Society hath a peculiar Cant and Jargon of their own, that no 0 ther Mortal can undertand, and wherein all their Laws are written, which they take fpecial Care to multiply; whereby they have wholly confounded the very Effence of Truth and Fallhood, of Right and Wrong; fo that it will take thirty Years to decide whether the Field, left me by my Anceflors for fix Generations, belongs to me, or to a Stranger three-hundred Miles off.

In the Trial of Perfons accufed for Crimes againft the State, the Method is much more fhort and commendable: The Judge firt fends to §qund the Difpofi- $^{\text {- }}$ tion of thofe in Power, after which he can eafily hang or fave a Criminal, frictly preferving all due Forms of Law.
Here my Mafter interpofing, faid it was a Pity, that Creatures endowed with fuch prodigious Abilities of Mind, as thefe Lawyers, by the Defription I gave of them, muft certainly be, where not rather encouraged to be Infructors of others in Wifdom and Knowledge. In Anfwer to which, I affured his Honour, that, in all Points out of their own Trade, they were ufually the moft ignorant and fupid Generation among us, the moft defpicable in common Converfation, avowed Enemies to all Knowledge and Learning, and equally difpofed to pervert the general Reafon of Mankind in every other Subject of Difcourfe, as in that of their own Profefion.

AVOYAOE

'C H A P. VI.

1 Continuation of the State of England. The Character of a Firft or Cbief Minifler of State in European Courts.

MY Mafter was yet wholly at a Lofs to underfand what Motives could incite this Race of Lawyers to perplex, difquiet, and weary themfelves, and engage in a Confederacy of Injuftice, meerly for the Sake of injuring their Fellow-animals; neither could he comprehend what I meant in faying, they did it for Hire. Whereupon I was at much Pains to defcribe to him the Ufe of Money, the Materials it was made of and the Value of the Metals ; that, when a Yaboo had got a great Store of this precious Subffance, he was able to purchafe whatever he had a Mind to, the fineft Cloathing, the nobleft Houfes, great Tracts of Land, the moft coflly Meats and Drinks; and have his Choice of the moft beautiful Females. Therefore, fince Money alone was able to perform all thefe Feats, our raboos thought, they could never have enough of it to fpend, or to fave, as they found themfelves inclined, from their natural Bent either to Profufion or Avarice. That the rich Man enjoyed the Fruit of the poor Man's Labour, and the latter were ad thoufand to one in Proportion to the former. That the Bulk of our People were forced to live miferably, by labouring every Day for fmall Wages, to make a few live plentifully. I enlarged myfelf much on thefe, and many other Particulars, to the fame Purpofe: But his Honour was fill to feek: For he went upon a Suppofition, that all Animals had a Title to their Share in the Productions of the Earth ; and efpecially thofe who prefided over the reft. Therefore he defired I would let him know, what thefe coflly Meats were, and how any of us happened to want them. Whereupon I fnumerated as many Sorts as came into my Head, with the varions Methods of Dreffing them, which could not be done, without fending Veffels by Sea to every Part of the World, as well for Liquors to drink, as for Sauces, and innumerable other Conveniences. I affured him, that this whole Globe of Earth mult be at leaft three Times gone round, before one of our better Female Yaboos could get her Breakfaft, or a Cup to put it in. He faid, that muft needs be a miferable Country, which cannot furnifh Food for its own Inhabitants. But what he chiefly wondered at, was how fach vaft Tracts of Ground, as I defcribed, fhould be wholly without fre/b Water, and the People put to the Necefility of fending over the Sea for Drink. I replied, that England (the dear Place of my Nativity) was computed to produce three Times the Quantity of Food, more than its Inhabitants are able to confume, as well as Liquors extracted from Grain, or preffed out of the Fruit of certain Trees, which made excellent Drink; and the fame Proportion in every other Convenience of Life. But in order to feed the Luxury and Intemperance of the Males, and the Vanity of the Females, we fent away the greatef Part of our neceffary Things to other Countries, from whence, in Return, we brought the Materials of Difeafes, Folly, and Vice, to fpend among ourfelves. Hence it follows of Neceffity, that vaft Numbers of our People are compelled to feek their Livelihood by Begging, Robbing, Stealing, Cheating, Pimping, Forfwearing, Flattering, Suborning, Forging, Gaming, Lying, Fawning, Hectoring, Voting, Scribling, Stargazing, Poifoning, Whoring, Canting, Libelling, Freethinking, and the like Occupations : Every one of which Terms I was at much Pains to make him underftand.
That Wine was not imported among us from foreign Countries, to fupply the Want of Water, or other Drinks, but becaufe it was a Sort of Liquid whick made us merry, by putting us out of our Senfes; diverted ail melancholy Thoughts, begat wild extrava-: gant Imaginations in the Brain, raifed our Hopes, and $\mathrm{R}_{4}$ ba;

Google
banifhed our Fears; fufpended every Office of Reafon for a Time, and deprived us of the Ufe of our Limbs, till we fell into a profound Sleep; although it muft be confeffed, that we always awaked fick and difpirited; and that the Ufe of this Liquor filled us with Difeafes, which made our Lives uncomfortable and fhort.

But, befide all this, the Bulk of our People fupported themfelves by furnifhing the Neceffities or Conveniencies of Life to the Rich, and to each other. For Inftance, when I am at Home, and dreffed, as I ought to be, I carry on my Body the Workmanfhip of an hundred Tradefmen; the Building and Furniture of my Houfe employ as many more, and five Times the Number to adorn my Wife.

I was going on to tell him of another Sort of People; who get their Livelihood by attending the Sick, having, upon fome Occafions, informed his Honour, that many of my Crew had died of Difeafes. But here it was with the utmoft Difficulty, that I brought him to apprehend what I meant. He could eafily conceive, that a Houybnbnm grew weak and heavy a few Days before his Death ; or, by fome Accident, might hurt a Limb. But that Nature, who works all Things to Perfection, fhould fuffer any Pains to breed in our Bodies, he thought impoffible, and defired to know the Reafon of fo unatcountable an Evil. I told him, we fed on a thoufand Things, which operated contrary to each other; that we eat when we were not hungry, and drank without the Provocation of Thirtt ; that we fat whole Nights drinking frong Liquors without eating a Bit, which difpofed us to Sloth, enflamed our Bodies, and precipitated or prevented Digeftion. That proftitute Female Yaboos acquired a certain Malady, which bred Rottennefs in the Bones of thofe who fell into their Embraces ; that this, and many other Difeafes, were propagated from Father to Son; fo that great Numbers come into the World with complicated Maladies upon them; that it would be endlefs to give him a Catalogue of all Difeafes incident to humay man Bodies; for they could not be fewer than five or fix-hundred fpread over every Limb, and Joint; in fhort, every Part, external and inteftine, having Difeafes appropriated to each. To remedy which, there was a Sort of People bred up among us, in the Profeffion, or Pretence, of curing the Sick. And, becaufe I had fome Skill in the Faculty, I would, in Gratitude to his Honour, let him know the whole Myftery and Method by which they proceed.

Their Fundamental is, that all Difeafes arife from Repletion; from whence they conclude, that a great Evacuation of the Body is neceffary, either through the natural Paffage, or upwards at the Mouth. Their next Bufinefs is, from Herbs, Minerals, Gums, Oils, Shells, Salts, Juices, Sea-weed, Excrements, Barks of Trees, Serpents, Toads, Frogs, Spiders, dead Mens Flefh and Bones, Birds, Beafts, and Fifhes, to form a Compofition for Smell and Tatte the moft abominable, naufeous, and deteftable, they can poffibly contrive, which the Stomach immediately rejects with Loathing; and this they call a Vomit : Or elfe, from the fame Store-houfe, with fome other poifonous Additions, they command us to take in at the Orifice above or below (juft as the Phyfician then happens to be difpofed) a Medicine equally annoying and difgufful to the Bowels; which relaxing the Belly, drives down all before it ; and this they call a Furge, or a Clyfter. For Nature (as the Phyficians alledge) having intended the fuperior anterior Orifice only for the Intromifion of Solids and Liquids, and the inferior pofterior for Ejection; thefe Artifts ingeniounly confidering that in all Difeafes Nature is forced out of her Seat ; therefore, to replace her in it, the Body muft be treated in a Manner directly contrary, by interchanging the Ufe of each Orifice; forcing Solids and Liquids in at the Anus, and making Evacuations at the Mouth.

But, befides real Difeafes, we are fubject to many that are only imaginary, for which the Phyficians have invented imaginary Cures; thefe have their feveral Names, Names, and 60 have the Drugs that are proper for them; and with thefe our Female Yaboos are alway, infefted.

One great Excellency, in this Tribe, is their Skill at Prognoficks, wherein they feldom fail; their Predictions in real Difeafes, when they rife to any Degree of Malignity, generally portending Deatb, which is allways in their Power, when Recovery is not: And therefore, upon any unexpected Signs of Amendment, after they have pronounced their Sentence, rather than be accufed as falle Prophets, they know how to approve their Sagacity to the World, by a feafonable Dofe.
They are likewife of fpecial Ufe to Hufbands and Wives, who are grown weary of their Mates; to eldeft Sons, to great Minifters of State, and often to Princes.

I had formerly, upon Occafion, difcourfed with my Mafter upon the Nature of Government in general, and particularly of our own excellent Confitution, delervedly the Wonder and Envy of the whole World. But having here accidentally mentioned a Minifer of State 3 he commanded me, fome Time after, to inform himp what Species of Yabool particularly meant by that Appellation.

I told him, that a Firf or Chief Miniter of State, who was the Perfon I intended to defcribe, was a Creature wholly exempt from Joy and Grief, Love and Hatred, Pity and Anger; at leaft, makes Ufe of no other Paffions, but a violent Defire of Wealth, Power, and Titles; that he applies his Words to all Ufes, except to the Indication of his Mind ; that he never tells a Trutb, but with an Intent that you fhould take it for a Lye; nor a Lye, but with a Defign that you fhould take it for a Trutb; that thofe he fpeaks worf of, behind their Backs, are in the fureft Way of Preferment; and whenewer he begins to praife you to others, or to yourfelf, you are from that Day forlorn. The worat Mark you can receive is a Promife, efpecially ally when it is confirmed with an Oath ; after which, every wife Man retires, and gives over all Hopes.

There are three Methods by which a Man may rife to be Chief Minitter : The firt is, by knowing how with Prudence to difpofe of a Wife, a Daughter, or a Sifter : The fecond, by betraying or undermining his Predeceffor: And the third is, by a furious Zeal in Public Affemblies againft the Corruptions of the Court. But a wife Prince would rather choofe to employ thofe who practife the laft of thefe Methods; becaufe fuch Zealots prove always the moft obfequious and fubfervient to the Will and Paffions of their Mafter. That thefe Minifers, having all Employments at their Difpofal, preferve themfelves in Power by bribing the Majority of a Senate or great Council; and at laft, by an. Expedient, called an Act of Indemsity (whereof I defrribed the Nature to him) they fecure themfelves from after Reckonings, and retire from the Public, laden with the Spoils of the Nation.

The Palace of a Cbief Minifter is a Seminary to breed up others in his own Trade: The Pages, Lacquies, and Porter, by imitating their Mafter, become Minifers of State in their feveral Diftricts, and learn to excel in the three principal Ingredients, of Infolence, Lying, and Bribery. Accordingly, they have a Subaltern Court paid to them by Perfons of the beft Rank; and fometimes, by the Force of Dexterity and Impudence, arrive, through feveral Gradations, to be Succeffors to their Lord.

He is ufually governed by a decayed Wench, or fa-: vourite Footman, who are the Tunnels through which all Graces are conveyed, and may properly be called, in the laft Refort, the Governors of the Kingdom.

One Day in Difcourfe, my Mafter, having heard me mention the Nobility of my Country, was pleafed to make me a Compliment, which I could not pretend to deferve: That he was fure, I muft have been born of fome noble Family, becaufe I far exceeded, in Shape, Colour, and Cleanlinefs, all the raboos of his

252 AVoyage
Nation, although I feemed to fail in Strength and A: gility, which muft be imputed to my different Way of Living from thofe other Brutes; and befides, I was not only endowed with the Faculty of Speech, but likewife with fome Rudiments of Reafon, to a Degree, that, with all his Acquaintance, I pafled for a Prodigy.

He made me obferve, that, among the Houybnbnms, the Wbite, the Sorrel, and the Iron grey, were not fo exactly fhaped as the Bay, the Dapple-grey, and the Black; nor born wth equal Talents of the Mind, or a Capacity to improve them; and therefore continued always in the Condition of Servants, without ever afpiring to match out of their own Race, which, in that Country, would be reckoned monftrous and unnataral.
I made his Honour, my moft humble Acknowledgments for the good Opinion he was pleafed to conceive of me; but affured him, at the fame Time, that my Birth was of the lower Sort, having been born of plain honef Parents, who were juft able to give me a tolerable Education : That Nobility, among us, was altogether a different Thing from the Idea he had of it; that our young Noblemen are bred from their Childhood in Idlenefs and Luxury; that, as foon as Years will pernit, they confume their Vigour, and contract odious Difeafes among lewd Females; and when their Fortunes are almoft ruined, they marry fome Woman of mean Birth, difagreeable Perfon, and unfound Conflitution, merely for the Sake of Money, whom they hate and defpife. That the Productions of fuch Marriages are generally fcrophulous, ricketty, or deformed Children ; by which Means, the Family feldom continues above three Generations, unlefs the Wife takes Care to provide a healthy Father among her Neighbours or Domeflics, in order to improve and continue the Breed. That a weak difeafed Body, a meager Countenance, and fallow Complexion are the true Marks of Noble Blood; and a healthy robuft Appearance is fo difgraceful in a Man of Quality, that the World concludes his real Father to have been a Groom, or a Coachman. The Imperfections of his Mind run parallel with thofe of his Body, being a Compofition of Spleen, Dulnefs, Ignorance, Caprice, Senfuality, and Pride.

Without the Confent of this illuftrious Body, no Law can be made, repealed, or altered; and thefe have the Decifions of all our Poffeflions, without Appeal.

C H A P. VII.

The Author's great Love of his native Country. His Mafter's Obfervations upon the Confitution and Adminiftration of England, as defcribed by the Author, with parallel Cafes and Comparifons. His Mafer's Obfervations upon Human Nature.

THE Reader may be difpofed to wonder how I could prevail on myfelf to give fo free a Reprefentation of my own Species, among a Race of Mortals, who are already too apt to conceive the vileft Opinion of Human Kind, from that intire Congruity betwixt me and their Yaboos. But I mult freely confefs, that the many Virtues of thofe excellent Quadrupeds, placed in oppofite View to Human Corruptions, had fo far opened my Eyes, and enlarged my Undertianding, that I began to view the Actions and Paffions of Man in a very different Light; and to think the Honour of my own Kind not worth managing; which, befides, it was impolible for me to do, before a Perion of fo acute a Judgment as my Mafter, who daily convinced me of a thourand Faults in myfelf, whereof I had not the leaft Perception before, and which, among us, would never be numbered, even among human Infirmities. I had likewife learned, from his Example, an utter Deteftation of all Falfhood or Difguife; and Truth appeared fo amiable to me, that I determined upon facrificing every Thing to it.

Let me deal fo candidly with the Reader, as to coniz fefs, that there was yet a much ftronger Motive for the Freedom I took in my Reprefentation of Things. I had not been a Year in this Country, before I contracted fuch a Love and Veneration for the Inhabitants, that I entered on a firm Refolution, never to return to Human Kind, bat to pafs the reft of my Life among thefe admirable Houybnbinms, in the Contemplation and Practice of every Virtue ; where I could have no Example or Incitement to Vice. But it was decreed by Fortune, my perpetual Enemy, that fo great a Felicity fhould not fall to my Share. However, it is now fome Comfort to reflect, that, in what I faid of my Countrymen, I extenuated their Faults, as much as I durlt, before fo frict an Examiner ; and; upon every Article, gave as favourable a Turn as the Matter would bear. For, indeed, who is there alive, that would not be fwayed by his Byafs and Partiality to the Place of his Birth ?

I have related the Subftance of feveral Converfations I had with my Mafter, during the greateft Part of the Time I had the Honour to be in his Service ; but have, indeed, for Brevity Sake, omitted much more than is here fet down.

When I had anfwered all his Queftions, and his Curiofity feemed to be fully fatisfied; he fent for me one Morning early, and commanding me to fit down at fome Diftance (an Honour which he had never before conferred upon me) he faid, he had been very fetioully confidering my whole Story, as far as it related both to myfelf and my Country: That he looked upon us as a Sort of Animals, to whofe Share, by what Accident he could not conjeCture, fome fmall Pittance of Reafon had fallen, whereof we made no other Ufe, than, by its Affilance, to aggravate our natural Corruptions, and to acquire new ones which Nature had not given us: That we difarmed ourfelves of the few Abilities fhe had beftowed; had been very fuccersful in multiplying our original Wants, and feemed to fpend bur whole Lives in vain Endeavouss, to fupply them by our own Inventions. That as to myfelf, it was manis feft, I had neither theStrength or Agility of a common Yaboo; that I walked infirmly on my hinder Feet; had found out a Contrivance to make my Claws of no Ufe or Defence, and to remove the Hair from my Chin, which was intended as a Shelter from the Sun and the Weather. Lafly, That I could neither run with Speed, nor climb Trees like my Bretbren (as he called them) the raboos in this Country.

That our Inflitutions of Government and Laww were plainly owing to our grofs Defects in Reafon, and by Confequence, in Virtue; becaufe Reafon alone is fufficient to govern a rational Creature; which was therefore a Character we had no Pretence to challenge, even from the Account I had given of my own People; although he manifeflly perceived, that in order to favour them, I had concealed many Particulars, and often faid the Thing wwich was not.

He was the more confirmed in this Opinion, becaufe he obferved, that as I agreed in every Feature of my Body with other $\mathrm{r}_{\text {aboos, }}$ except were it was to my real Difadvantage, in Point of Strength, Speed, and Activity, the Shortnefs of my Claws, and fome other Particulars, where Nature had no Part ; fo, from the Re-: prefentation I had given him of our Lives, our Manners, and our Actions, he found as near a Refemblance in the Difpofition of our Minds. He faid, the raboos were known to hate one another, more than they did any different Species of Animals; and the Reafon, ufually afligned, was, the Odioufnefs of their own Shapes, which all could fee in the reft, but not in themfelves. He had therefore begun to think it not unwife in us tocover our Bodies, and, by that Invention, conceal many of our own Deformities from each other, which would elfe be hardly fupportable. But he now found he had been mittaken, and that the Diffentions of thofe Brutes, in his Country, were owing to the fame Caufe with ours, as I had defrribed them, For, if (faid he);
you throw among five Yaboos as much Food as would be fufficient for Fifty, they will, inftead of eating peaceably, fall together by the Ears, each fingle one impatient to bave all to itfelf; and therefore a Servant was ufually employed to fland by, while they were Feeding Abroad, and thofe, kept at Home, were tied at a Diftance from each other; that if a Cow died of Age or Accident, before a Houybnbnm could fecure it for his own Raboos, thofe in the Neighbourhood would come in Herds to feize it, and then would enfue fuch a Battle as I had defcribed, with terrible Wounds made by their Claws on both Sides, although they feldom were able to kill one another, for Want of fuch convenient Inftruments of Death as we had invented. At other Times, the like Battles have been fought between the raboos of feveral Neighbourhoods, without any vifible Caufe : Thofe of one Difrict watching all Opportunities to furprife the next, before they are prepared. But, if they find their Project hath mifcarried, they return Home, and, for Want of Enemies, engage in what I call a Civil War among themfelves.

That, in fome Fields of his Country, there are certain ßining Stones of feveral Colours, whereof the $\mathrm{Ya}_{a}$ boos are violently fond; and when Part of thefe Stones is fixed in the Earth, as it fometimes happeneth, they will dig with their Claws for whole Days to get them out, then carry them away, and hide them by Heaps in their Kennels ; but ftill looking round with great Caution, for fear their Comrades fhould find out their Treafure. My Mafter faid, he could never difcover the Reafon of this unnatural Appetite, or how thefe Stones could be of any Ufe to a Yaboo ; but now he believed it might proceed from the fame Principle of Avarice, which I had afcribed to Mankind: That he had once, by Way of Experiment, privately removed a Heap of thefe Stones from the Place where one of his Yaboos had buried it: Whereupon, the fordid Animal miffing his Treafure, by his loud Lamenting, brought the whole Herd to the Place, there mife-rably howled, then fell to biting and tearing the reft; began to pine away, would neither eat, nor fleep, nor work, till he ordered a Servant privately to convey the Stones into the fame Hole, and hide them as before ; which when his $\mathrm{Yaboo} \mathrm{had}_{\text {found, he prefently reco- }}$ vered his Spirits, and good Humour, but took Care to remove them to a better Hiding-place, and hath ever fince been a very ferviceable Brute.

My Mafter farther affured me, which I alfo obferved myfelf, that, in the Fields were the ßinining Stones abound, the fierceft and moft frequent Battles are fought, occafioned by perpetual Inroads of the neighbouring raboos.

He faid, it was common, when two raboos difco-' vered fuch a Stone in a Field, and were contending wiich of them fhould be the Proprietor, a third would takc the Advantage, and carry it away from them both ; which my Mafter would needs contend to have fome Kind of Refemblance with our Suits at Law ; wherein I thought it for our Credit not to undeceive him ; fince the Decifion he mentioned was much more equitable than many Decrees among us: Becaufe the Plaintiff and Defendant there loft nothing befide the Stone they contended for, whereas our Courts of Equity would never have difmiffed the Caufe, while either of them had any Thing left.

My Mafter, continuing his Difcourfe, faid, There was nothing that rendered the Yaboos more odious, than their undiftinguifhing Appetite to devour every Thing that came in their Way, whether Herbs, Roots, Berries, the corrupted Flefh of Animals, or all mingled together : And it was peculiar in their Temper, that they were fonder of what they could get by Rapine or Stealth, at a greater Diftance, than much better Food provided for them at Home. If their Prey held out, they would eat till they were ready to burft, after which, Nature had pointed out to them a certain Root, that gave them a general Evacuation.

There was alfo another Kind of Root very juicy, bue fomewhat rare and difficult to be found, which the $r_{\text {aboos fought for with much Eagernefs, and would fuck }}$ it with great Delight; it produced in them the fame Effects that Wine hath upon us. It would make them fometimes hug, and fometimes tear one another ; they would howl and grin, and chatter, and reel, and tumble, and then fall alleep in the Mud.

I did, indeed, obferve, that the Yaboos were the only Animals in this Country fubject to any Difeafes; which, however, were much fewer than Horfes have among us, and contracted not by any ill Treatment they meet with, but by the Naftinefs, and Greedinefs of that fordid Brute. Neither has their Language any more than a general Appellation for thofe Maladies, which is borrowed from the Name of the Beaft, and called HneaYaboo or the Yaboos-Evil, and the Cure prefcribed is a Mixture of their own Dung and Urine, forcibly put down the Yaboo's Throat. This I have fince often known to have been taken with Succeefs, and do freely recommend it to my Countrymen, for the Public Good, as an admirable Specific againft all Difeafes produced by Repletion.

As to Learning, Government, Arts, Manufactures, and the like, my Mafter confeffed, he could find little or no Refemblance between the Yaboos of that Country and thofe in ours. For he only meant to obferve what Parity there was in our Natures. He had heard, indeed, fome curious Houybnbnms obferve, that, in moft Herds, there was a Sort of ruling $\mathrm{raboo}_{\mathrm{o}}$ (as, among uc, there is generally fome leading or principal Stag in a Park) who was always more deformed in Body, and mifchievous in Di/pofition, than any of the reft. That this Leader had ufually a Favourite as like bimfelf as he could get, whofe Employment was to lick his Mafter's Fret and Pofieriors, and drive the Female Yahoos to his Kennel; for which he was now and then rewarded with a Piece of Afs's Flefh. This Favourite is hated by the whole Herd, and therefore, to protect himfelf, keeps atways near the Perfon of bis Leader. He ufually continues in Office till a worfe can be found; but, the very Moment he is difcarded, his Succeffor at the Head of all the Yaboos in in that Diftrict, Young and Old, Male and Female, come in a Body, and dircharge their Excrements upon him from Head' to Foot. But how far this might be applicable to our Courts and Farvourites, and Minifters of State, my Mafter faid I could belt determine.

I durft make no Return to this malicious Infinuation; which debafed human Underftanding below the Sagacity of a common Hound, who has Judgment enough to diftinguifh and follow the Cry of the ableft Dog in the Pack, without being ever mitaken.

My Mafter told me, there were fome Qualities re:' markable in the raboos, which he had not obferved me to mention, or at leaft very flightly, in the Accounts I had given him of Human Kind; he faid, thofe Animals, like other Brutes, had their Females in common but in this they differed, that the She-Yaboo would admit the Male, while fhe was pregnant; and that the Hees would quarrel and fight with the Females, as fiercely as with each other. Both which Practices were fuch Degrees of infamous Brutality, that no other fenfitive Creature ever arrived at.

Another Thing he wondered at in the raboos, was their ftrange Difpofition to Naftinefs and Dirt ; whereas there appears to be a natural Love of Cleanlinefs in all other Animals. As to the two former Accufations, I was glad to let them pafs without any Reply, becaufe I had not a Word to offer upon them in Defence of my Species, which otherwife I cettainly had done from my own Inclinations: But I could have eafily vindicated Human Kind from the Imputation of Singularity upon the laft Article, if there had been any Srwine int that Country (as unluckily for me there were not) which, although it may be a fweeter Quadruped than a raboo, cannot, I humbly conceive in Juftice, pretend to more Cleanlinefs; and fo his Honour himfelf muft have owned, if he had feen their filthy Way of Feeding, and their Cuftom of wallowing and fleeping in the Mud.

My Mafter likewife mentioned another Quality which his Servants had difcovered in feveral Yaboos, and to him was wholly unaccountable. He faid, a Fancy would fometimes take a Yaboo, to retire into a Corner, to lie down, and howl and groan, and fpurn away all that came near him, although he were young and fat, wanted neither Food nor Water : Nor did the Servants imagine-what could poffibly ail him. And the only Remedy they found was, to fet him to hard Work, after which he would infallibly come to himfelf. To this I was filent, out of Partiality to my own Kind; yet here I could plainly difcover the true Seeds of Spleen, which only feizeth on the Lazy, the Luxurious, and the Rich; who, if they were forced to undergo the Same Regimen, I would undertake for the Cure.

His Honour had farther obferved, that a Female Taboo would often fland behind a Bank or a Bufh, to gaze on the young Males paffing by, and then appear, and hide, ufing many antic Geftures and Grimaces, at which Time, it was obferved, that the had a moft offenfive $S_{\text {mell }}$; and, when any of the Males advanced, would Ilowly retire, looking often back, and, with a counterfeit Shew of Fear, run off into fome convenient Place, where fhe knew the Male would follow her.

At other Times, if a Female Stranger came among them, three or four of her own Sex would get about her, and fare, and chatter, and grin, and fmell her all over ; and then turn off with Geftures, that feemed to exprefs Contempt and Difdain.

Perhaps my Mafter might refine a little in there Speculations, which he had drawn from what he obferved. himfelf, or had been told him by others : However, I could not reflect, without fome Amazement, and much Sorrow, that the Rudiments of Lewadne/s, Coquetry, Cenfure, and Scandal, fhould have Place, by Inflinet, in Womankind.

I expected, every Moment, that my Mafter would accure the raboos of thofe unnatural Appetites in both Sexes, fo common among us. But Nature, it feems, hath not been fo expert a School miftrefs ; and thefe politer Pleafures are intirely the Productions of Art and Reafon, on our Side of the Globe.

C H A P. VIII.

The Author relates feveral Particulars of the Yahoos. The great Virtues of the Houyhnhnms. The Education and Exercife of their routh. Their general AJembly.

AS I ought to have underfood human Nature much better than I fuppofed it poffible for my Mafter to do, fo it was eafy to apply the Charater he gave of the Yaboos to myfelf, and my Countrymen; and, I believed, I could yet make farther Difcoveries from my own Obfervation. I therefore often begged his Favour to let me go among the Herds of $\mathrm{r}_{\text {aboos }}$ in the Neighbourhood, to which he always very gracioufly confented, being perfectly convinced, that the Hatred I bore thofe Brutes would never fuffer me to be corrupted by them ; and his Honour ordered one of his Servants, a ftrong Sorrel Nag, very honeft and goodnatured, to be my Guard, without whofe Protection, I durft not undertake fuch Adventures. For I have already told the Reader, how much I was peftered by thofe odious Animals upon my firft Arrival. And I afterwards failed very narrowly three or four Times of falling into their Clutches, when I happened to ftray at any Diftance without my Hanger. And I have Reafon to believe they had fome Imagination that I was of their own Species, which I often affifted myfelf, by ftripping up my Sleeves, and fhewing my naked Arms and Brealt in their Sight, when my Protector was with me. At which Times they would approach as near as they durt, and imitate my Actions after the Manner of Monkies, but ever with great Signs of Hatred ; as 2 tame ${ }^{\prime}$ ack-Darw, with Cap and Stockings, is always perfecuted by the wild ones, when he happens to be got among them.

They are prodigioufly nimble from their Infancy; however, I once caught a young Male of three Years old, and endeavoured, by all Marks of Tendernefs, to make it quiet ; but the little Imp fell a Squalling, and Scratching, and Biting, with fuch Violence, that I was forced to let it go ; and it was high Time; for a whole Troop of old ones came about us at the Noife, but finding the Cub was fafe (for away it ran) and my Sorrel Nag being by, they durf not venture near us. I obferved the young Animal's Flefh to fmell very rank, and the Stink was fomewhat between a $W_{\text {eajel }}$ and a Fox, but much more difagreeable. I forgot another Circumftance (and perhaps I might have the Reader's Pardon, if it were wholly omitted) that, while I held the odious Vermin in my Hands, it voided its filthy Excrements, of a yellow liquid Subftance, all over my Cloaths; but, by good Fortune, there was a fmall Brook hard by, where I wafhed myfelf as clean as I could ; although I durft not come into my Maffer's Prefence, until I were fufficiently aired.

By what I could difcover, the raboos appear to be the moft unteachable of all Animals; their Capacities never reaching higher, than to draw or carry Burthens. Yet, I am of Opinion, this Defect arifeth chiefly from a perverfe, reftive Lifpofition. For they are cunping, malicious, treacherous, and revengeful. They are frong and hardy, but of a cowardly Spirit, and by Confequence, infolent, abject, and cruel. It is obferved, that the Red-baired of both Sexes are more libidinous and mifchievous than the reft, whom yet they much exceed in Strength and Activity.

The Houybnbmms keep the raboos for prefent Ufe, in Huts not far from the Houfe; but the reft are fent Abroad to certain Fields, where they dig up Roots, eat feveral
feveral Kinds of Herbs, and fearch about for Carrion, or fometimes catch Weafels and Lubimubs (a Sort of wild Rat) which they greedily devour. Nature hath taught them to dig Holes with their Nails on the Side of a rifing Ground, wherein they lie by themfelves; only the Kennels of the Females are larger, fufficient to hold two or three Cubs.

They fwim from their Infancy like Frogs, and are able to continue long under Water, where they often take Fiih, which the Females carry Home, to their Young. And, upon this Occafion, I hope the Reader will pardon my relating an odd Adventure.

Being one Day abroad with my Protector the Sorrel Nag, and the Weather exceeding hot, I entreated him to let me bathe in a River that was near. He confented, and I immediately fripped myfelf fark naked, and went down foftly into the Stream. It happened that a young Female Yaboo, flanding behind a Bank, faw the whole Proceeding, and enflamed by Defire, as the Nag and I conjectured, came running with all Speed, and leaped into the Water within five Yards of the Place where I bathed. I was never in my Life fo terribly frighted ; the Nag was grazing at fome Diftance, not fufpecting any Harm. She embraced me after a mof fulfome Manner ; I roared as loud as I could, and the Nag came galloping towards me, whereupon the quitted her Grafp, with the utmoft Reluctancy, and leaped upon the oppofite Bank, where fhe flood gazing and howling all the Time I was putting on my Cloaths.

This was a Matter of Diverfion to my Mafter and his Family, as well as of Mortification to myfelf. For now I could no longer deny, that. I was a real $\begin{array}{r}\text { aboo, }\end{array}$ in every Limb and Feature, fince the Females had a natural Propenfity to me, as one of their own Species: Neither was the Hair of this Brute of a red Colour (which might have been fome Excufe for an Appetite a little irregular) but black as a Sloe, and her Countenance did not make an Appearance altogether fo hideous as the reft of her Kind : For, I think, fhe could not be above eleven Years old.

Having lived three Years in this Country, the Reader, I fuppofe, will expect, that I fhould, like other Travellers, give him fome Account of the Manners and Cuftoms of its Inhabitants, which it was, indeed, my principal Study to learn.

As thefe Noble Hou;bnbnms are endowed by Nature with a general Difpofition to all Virtues, and have no Conceptions or Ideas of what is Evil in a rational Creature ; fo their grand Maxim is, to cultivate Reafon, and to be wholly governed by it. Neither is Reafon, among them, a Point Problematical, as with us, where Men can argue with Plaufibility on both Sides of a Queftion ; but frikes you with immediate Conviction; as it muft needs do, where it is not mingled, obfcured, or difcoloured by Paffion and Intereft. I remember it was with extreme Difficulty, that I could bring my Mafter to underftand the Meaning of the Word Opinion, or how a Point could be difputable; becaufe Rcafon taight us to affirm or deny only where we are certain; and, beyond our Knowledge, we cannot do either. So that Controverfies, Wranglings, Difputes, and Pofitivenefs, in falfe or dubious Propofitions, are Evils unknown among the Houybnbnms. In the like Manner, when I ufed to explain to him our feveral Syftems of Natural Pbilofophy, he would laugh, that a Creature, pretending to Reafon, fhould value itfelf upon the Knowledge of other People's Conjectures, and in Things, where that Knowledge, if it were certain, could be of no Ufe. Wherein he agreed intirely with the Sentiments of Socrates, as Plato delivers them; which I mention as the higheft Honour I can do that Prince of Philofophers. I have often fince reflected, what Deftruction fuch a Doctrine would make in the Libraries of Europe; and how many Paths to Fame would be then fhut up in the Learned World.

Friendfip and Bencoolence are the two principal Virtues among the Houyhabrms ; and thefe not confined to particular Objects, but univerfal to the whole Race. For a Stranger, from the remoteft Part, is equally treated with the neareft Neighbour; and, where-ever he goes, look supon himfelf as at Home. They preferve Decency and Cirzility in the highef Degrees, but are altogether ignorant of Ceremony. They have no Fondnefs for their Colts or Foles, but the Care they take, in educating them, proceeds intirely from the Dictates of Reafon. And I obferved my Mafter to thew the fame Affection to his Neighbour's Iffue, that he had for his own. They will have it, that Nuture teachics them to love the whole Species, and it is Recfon only that maketh a Dilinction of Perfons, where there is a fuperior Degree of Virtue.

When the Matron Houylonbnms have produced one of each Sex, they no longer accompany with their Conforts, except they lofe one of their Iffue by fome Cafualty, which very feldom happens: But in fush a Cafe they meet again ; or when the like Accident befals a Perfon, whofe Wife is paft bearing, fome other Couple beftow him one of their own Colts, and then go together again until the Mother is pregnant. This Caution is neceflary, to prevent the Country from being over-burthened with Numbers. But the Race of, inferior Honybubnms, bred $u_{p}$ to be Serva:t, is not $\mathbf{K}^{6}$ frictly limited upon this Article; thefe are allowed to produce three of each Sex, to be Domellics in the Noble Families.

In their Marriages, they are exactly careful to choofe fuch Colours as will not make any difagreeable Mixture in the Breed. Strengtb is chicfly valued in the Male, and Comelincfs in the Female; not upon the Account of Love, but to preferve the Race from degenerating; for, where a Female happens to excelin Strength, a Confort is chofen with regard to Comelinefs. Courtfhip, Love, Prefents, Jointures, Settlements, have ro Place in their Thoughts; or Terms whereby to exprefs them in their Language The young Counle meet and are joined, merely becaufe it is the Dutermi. nation nation of their Parents and Friends: It is what they fee done every Day, and they look upon it as one of the neceflary Actions of a reafonable Being. But the Violation of Marriage, or any other Unchafity, was never heard of: And the married Pair pafs their Lives with the fame Friendhip, and mutual Benevolence, that they bear to all others of the fame Species, who come in their Way; without Jealoufy, Fondncfs, Quarrelling, or Difcontent.

In educating the Youth of both Sexes, their Method is admirable, and highly deferves our Imitation. Thefe are not fuffered to tafte a Grain of Oats, except upon certain Days, till eighteen Years old; nor Milk, but very rarely; and in Summer they graze two Hours in the Morning, and as many in the Evening, which their Parents likewife obferve; but the Servants are not allowed above half that Time, and a great Part of their Grafs is brought Home, which they eat at the moft convenient Hours, when they can be beft fpared from Work.

Temperance, Indufty, Exercife, and Cleanlinefs, are the Leffons equally enjoined to the young ones of both Sexes: And my Mafter thought it monftrous in us to give the Females a different Kind of Education from the Males, except in fome Articles of Domeftic Management; whereby, as he truly obferved, one half of our Natives were good for nothing but bringing Children into the World: And to truft the Care of our Children to fuch ufelefs Animals, he faid, was yet a greater Inflance of Brutality.

But the Houybnbums train up their Youth to Strength, Speed, and Hardinefs, by exercifing them to running Races up and down fleep Hills, and over hard fony Grounds, and, when they are all in a Sweat, they are ordered to leap over Head and Ears, into a Pond or River. Four Times a Year, the Youth of a certain Diftrict meet to fhew their Proficiency in Running, and Leaping, and other Feats of Strength and Agility ; where the Victor is rewarded, with a Song in his or her her Praife. On this Feftival, the Servants drive a Herd of $\mathrm{raboos}^{\text {into }}$ the Field, laden with Hay, and Oats, and Milk, for a Repaft to the Houybnbnms; after which, thefe Brutes are immediately driven back again, for Fear of being noifome to the Affembly.

Every fourth Year, at the Vernol Equinox, there is a Reprefentative Council of the whole Nation, which meets in a Plain about twenty Miles from our Houfe, and continues about five or fix Days. Here they enquire into the State and Condition of the feveral Diftricts; Whether they abound, or be deficient in Hay or Oats, or Cows or Yaboos? And wherever there is any Want (which is but feldom) it is immediately fupplied by unanimous Confent and Contribution. Here likewife the Regulation of Children is fettled : As for Inftance, if a Houybnbnm hath two Males, he changeth one of them with another that hath two Females: And when a Child hath been lof by any Cafualty, where the Mother is paft Breeding, it is determined what Family in the Diltrict fhall breed another, to fupply the Lofs.

CHAP. IX.

A grand Debate at the General Afembly of the Houyhnhnms, and how it was determined. The Learning of the Houyhnhnms. Their Buildings. Their Manner of Burials. The Defectiveness of their Language.

ONE of thefe grand Affemblies was held in my Time, about three Months before my Departure, whither my Mafter went, as the Reprefentative of our Diftrict. In this Council was refumed their old Debate, and, indeed, the only Debate that ever happened in that Country; whereof my Mafter, after his Return, gave me a very particular Account.

The Quettion to be debated, was, Whether the $\mathrm{ra}_{a}$ boas thould be exterminated from the Face of the Earth.

Qne

One of the $M_{c m}{ }^{\prime}$ ers for the Affirmative offered feveral Arguments of great Strength and Weight; alledging, That as the Yaboos were the moft filthy, noifome, and deformed Animal which Nature ever produced, fo they were the moft reflive and indocible, mifchievous and malicious: They would privately fuck the Teats of the Houyzubnms Cows; kill and devour their Cats, trample down their Oats and Grafs, if they were not continually watched, and commit a thoufand other Extravagancies. He took Notice of a general Tradition, That Taboos had not bsen always in that Country ; but that, many Ages ago, two of thefe Brutes appeared together upon a Mountain; whether produced by the Heat of the Sun upon corrupted Mud and Siime, or from the Ooze and Froth of the Sea, was never known. That thefe Yaboos engendered, and their Brood, in a Mort Time, grew fo numerous, as to over run and infeft the whole Nation. That the Houybnbnms, to get rid of this Evil, made a general Hunting, and at laft enclofed the wholc Herd; and, deltroying the Elder, every Houybnbnm kept two young ones in a Kennel, and brought them to fuch a Degree of Tamenefs, as an Animal, fo favage by Nature, can be capable of acquiring; ufing them for Draught and Carriage. That there feemed to be much Truth in this Tradition, and that thofe Creatures could not be Yinbniamblb (or Alorigines of the Land) becaufe of the violent Hatred the Houy;bnbnms, as well as all other Animals, bore them ; which, although their evil Difpofition fufficiently deferved, could never have arrived at fo high a Degree, if they had been Aloriginet, or elfe they would have long fince been rooted out. That the Inhabitants, taking a Fancy to ufe the Service of the Yaboos, had very imprudently neglected to cultivate the Breed of Affis, which were a comely Animal, cafily kept, more. tame and orderly, without any offenfive Smell, frong enough for Labour, although they yield to the other in Agility of Body; and, if their Braying be no agreeable Sound, Sound, it is far preferable to the horrible Howlings of the raboos.

Several others declared their Sentiments to the fame Purpofe, when my Mafter propofed an Expedient to the Affembly, whereof he had, indeed, borrowed the Hint from me. He approved of the Tradition, mentioned by the bonourable Member, who fpoke before; and affirmed, that the two raboos, faid to be firlt feen among them, had been driven thithcr over the Sea; that coming to Land, and being forfaken by their Companions, they retired to the Mountains, and, degenerating by Degrees, became, in Procefs of Time, much more favage, than thofe of their own Species in the Country from whence thefe two Originals came. The Reafon of this Affertion was, that he had now in his Poffeffion a certain wonderful $\Upsilon_{a b o o ~(m e a n i n g ~ m y i f e l f) ~}^{\text {) }}$ which mott of them had heard of, and many of them had feen. He then related to them, how he firt found me; that my Body was all covered with an artificial Compofure of the Skins and Hairs of other Animals : That I fpoke in a Language of my own, and had thoroughly learned theirs: That I had related to him the Accidents which brought me thither: That, when he faw me without my Covering, I was an exact $\mathrm{Y}_{a} \mathrm{hoo}_{\mathrm{o}}$ in every Part, only of a whiter Colour, lefs hairy, and with fhorter Claws. He added, how I had endeavoured to perfuadé him, that, in my own and other Countries, the Yaboos acted as the governing, rational Animal, and held the Houybnbnms in Servitude: That he obferved in me all the Qualities of a $\mathbf{Y}_{\text {aboo, only }}$ a little more civilized by fome Tincture of Reafon; which, however, was in a Degree as far inferiour to the Houjbnbnm Race, as the Yaboos of their Country were to me: That, among other Things, I mentioned a Cuftom we had of Caftrating Houybnbnnms when they were young, in order to render them tame; that the Operation was eafy and fafe; that it was no Shame to learn Wifdom from Brutes, as Indultry is taught by the Ant, and Building by the Swallow Swallow (for fo I tranflate the Word Lybannh, although it be a much larger Fowl.) That this Invention might be practifed upon the younger Yaboos here, which, befides rendering them tractable, and fitter for Ufe, would, in an Age, put an End to the whole Species, without deftroying Life. That, in the mean Time, the Houybnbums fhould be exhorted to cultivate the Breed of Affes, which, as they are in all Refpects more valuable Brutes, fo they have this Advantage, to be fit for Service at at five Years old, which the others are not till twelve.

This was all my Mafter thought fit to tell me at that Time, of what paffed in the Grand Council. But he was pleafed to conceal one Particular, which related perfonally to myfelf, whereof I foon felt the unhappy Effect, as the Reader will know in its proper Place, and from whence I date all the fucceeding Misfortures of my Life.

The Houybnbnms have no Letters, and confequently, their Knowledge is all Traditional. But there happen. ing few Events of any Moment among a People fo well united, naturally difpofed to every Virtue, wholly governed by Reafon and cut off from all Commerce with other Nations; the hiftorical Part is eafily preferved without burthening their Memories. I have already obferved that they are fubject to no Difeafes, and therefore can have no Need of Phyficians. However, they have excellent Medicines compofed of Herbs, to cure accidental Bruifes and Cuts in the Paftern, or Frog of the Foot, by fharp Stones, as well as other Mains and Hurts in the feveral Parts of the Body.

They calculate theYear by the Revolution of the Sun and the Moon, but ufe no Subdivifions into Weeks. They are well enough acquainted with the Motions of thofe two Luminaries, and underftand the Nature of $E$ clipfes; and this is the utmoft Progrefs of their Afros zomy.

In Poctry, they mult be allowed to excel all other Mortals; wherein the Jufinefs of their Similies, and the Minutenefs, Minutenefs, as well as Exactnefs of their Defcriptions, are, indeed, inimitable. Their Verfes abound very much in both of thefe; and ufually contain either fome exalted Notions of Friendihip and Benevolence, or the Praifes of thofe who were Victors in Races, and other bodily Exercifes. Their Buildings, although very rude and fimple, are not inconvenient, but well contrived to defend them from all Injuries of Cold and Heat. They have a Kind of Tree, which, at forty Years old, loofens in the Root, and falls with the firf Storm ; it grows very ftrait, and being pointed like Stakes, with a harp Stone (for the Houybnbnms krow not the Ufe of Iron) they fick them erect in the Ground about ten Inches afunder, and then weave in Oat-ftraw, or fometimes Wattles, betwixt them. The Roof is made after the fame Manner, and fo are the Doors.

The Houybnbnms ufe the hollow Part, between the Paftern and the Hoof, of their Forefeet, as we do our Hands, and this with greater Dexterity, than I could at firf imagine. I have feen a white Mare of our $\mathrm{Fa}-$ mily thread a Needle (which I lent her on Parpofe) with that Joint. They milk their Cows, reap their Oats, and do all the Work which requires Hands in the fame Manner. They have a Kind of hard Flints, which, 'by grinding againft other Stones, they form into Inftruments, that ferve inftead of Wedges, Axes, and Hammers. With Tools made of there Flints, they likewife cut their Hay, and reap their Oats, which there grow naturally in feveral Fields: The raboos draw Home the Sheaves in Carriages, and the Servants tread them in certain covered Hutts, to get out the Grain, which is kept in Stores. They make a rude Kind of earthen and wooden Veffels, and bake the former in the Sun.

If they can avoid Cafualties, they die only of OldAge, and are buried in the obfcureft Places that can be found, their Friends and Relations expreffing neither Joy nor Grief at their Departure; nor does the dying Perfon difcover the lealt Regret that he is leaving the World, any more than if he were upon returning Home from a Vifit to one of his Neighbours. I remember, my Mafter having once made an Appointment with a Friend and his Family to come to his Houfe upon fome Affair of Importance, on the Day fixed, the Miftrefs, and her two Children, came very late; fhe made two Excufes, firft for her Hufbind, who, as fhe faid, happened that very Morning to Lbnurwib. The Word is flrongly expreffive in their Language, but not eafily rendered into Engli/b; it fignifies, to retire to bis firft Mother. Her Excufe, for not coming fooner, was, that her Hufband dying late in the Morning, the was a good while confulting her Servants about a convenient Place where his Body thould be laid; and, I obferved, the behaved herfelf at our Houfe, as chearfully as the reft : She died about three Months after.

They live generally to feventy, or feventy-five Years, very feldom to fourfcore: Some Weeks before their Death, they feel a gradual Decay ; but without Pain. During this Time, they are much vifited by their Friends, becaufe they cannot go abroad, with their ufual Eafe and Satisfaction. However, about ten Days before their Death, which they feldom fail in computing, they return the Vifits that have been made them, by thofe who are neareft in the Neighbourhood, being carried in a convenient Sledge, drawn by Raboos; which Vehicle they ufe, not only upon this Occafion, but when they grow old, upon long Journies, or when they are lamed by any Accident. And, therefore, when the dying Houybnbnms return thofe Vifits, they take a folemn Leave of their Friends, as if they were going to fome remote Part of the Country, where they defigned to pafs the reft of their Lives.

I know not whether it may be worth obferving, that the Houybnbnms have no Word in their Language, to exprefs any Thing that is Evil, except what they borrow from the Deformities, or ill Qualities of the $Y_{a}$ boos. Thus they denote the Folly of a Servant, an

Omiflion

Omiffinn of a Child, a Stone that cuts their Feet, a Continuance of foul or unfeafonable Weather, and the like, by adding to each the Epithet of Yaboo. For Inftance, Hbnm Yaboo, Wbnabolm Yaboo, rnlbmndrwiblma $\mathrm{rabao}_{\text {a }}$ and an ill contrived Houfe, Y nbolm: tommoblnw raboo.

I could with great Pleafure enlarge farther upon the Manners and Virtues of this excellent People; bur, intending in a flort Time to publifh a Volume by itfelf exprefly upon that Subject, I refer the Reader thither. And, in the mean Time, proceed to relate my own faid Cataftrophe.

C H A P. X.

F'be Autbor's Oeconomy, and bappy Life, among the Houyhnhnms. His great Impravement in Virtue, by converfing with them. Their Converfations. The Author bas Notice given bim by bis Mafter, that be muft depart from the Country. He falls into a Swosn for Grief; but fubmits. He contrives and fini/hes a Canoo, by the Help of a Fellow-fervant, and puts to Sea at a Venture.

IH A D fettled my little Oeconomy to my own Heart's Content. My Mafter had ordered a Room to be made for me after their Manner, about fix Yards from the Houfe; the Sides and Floors of which I plaitered with Clay, and covered with Rufh-matts of my owi contriving; I had beaten Hemp, which there grows wild, and made of it a Sort of Ticking; This I filled with the Feathers of feveral Birds I had taken with Springes made of Yaboos Hairs, and were excellent Food. I had worked two Chairs with my Knife, the Sorrel Nag helping me in the groffer and more laborious Part. When my Cloaths were worn to Rags, I made myfelf others with the Skins of Rabbits, and of a certain beautiful Animal about the fame Size, called Nnubnobs, the Skin of which is covered with a fine Down. Of thefe I alfe made very tolerable Stockings. I foaled my Shoes with Wood which I cut from a Tree, and fitted to the upper Leather ; and, when this was worn out, I fupplied it with the Skins of $\mathrm{Y}_{\text {aboos, }}$ dried in the Sun. I often got Honey out of hollow Trees, which I mingled with Water, or eat with my Bread. No Man could more verify the Truth of thefe two Maxims, That Nature is very eafly fatisfied; and, That Neceffity is the Motber of Invention. I enjoyed perfect Health of Body, and Tranquility of Mind; I did not feel the Treachery or Inconftancy of a Friend, nor the Injuries - of a fecret or open Enemy. I had no Occafion of bribing, flattering, or pimping, to procure the Favour of any great Man, or of his Minion. I wanted no Fence againf Fraud or Oppreflion; here was neither Phyfician to deftroy my Body, nor Lawyer to ruin my Fortune; no Informer to watch my Words, and Actions, or forge Accufations againf me for Hire: Here were no Gibers, Cenfurers, Backbiters, Pick-pockets, Highwaymen, Houfe-breakers, Attornies, Bawds, Buffoons, Gamefters, Politicians, Wits, Splenatics, tedious Talkers, Controvertifts, Ravihers, Murderers, Robbers, Virtuofo's; no Leaders or Followers of Party and Faction ; no Encouragers to Vice, by Seducement or Examples; no Dungeon, Axes, Gibbets, Whippingpofts, or Pillories ; no cheating Shopkeepers or Mechanics ; no Pride, Vanity or Affectation; no Fops, Bullies, Drunkards, frolling Whores, or Poxes; no - ranting, lewd, expenfive Wives; no flupid, proud Pedants ; no importunate, over-bearing, quarrelfome, noify, roaring, empty, conceited, fwearing Companions : No Scoundrek, raifed from the Duft, for the Sake of their Vices, or Nobility thrown into it, on Account of their Virtues; no Lords, Fidlers, Judges, or Dan-cing-mafters.

I had the Favour of being admitted to feverat Houybnhnow, who came to vifit or dine with my Mafter; where his Honour gracioufly fuffered me to wait in the Room, and liften to their Difcourfe. Both he and his Company would often defcend to ank me Queftions, and receive my Anfwers. I had alfo fometimes the Honour of attending my Mafter in his Vifits to others. I never prefumed to speak, except in Anfwer to a Queftion; and then I did it with inward Regret, becaure it was a Lofs of fo much Time for improving myfelf: But I was infinitely delighted with the Station of an humble Auditor in fuch Converfations, where nothing paffed but what was ufeful, expreffed in the feweft and moft fignificant Words: Where (as 1 have already faid) the greateft Decency was obferved, without the leaft Degree of Ceremony ; where no Perfon fpoke, without being pleafed himfelf, and pliafing his Companions; where there was no Interruption, Tedioufnefs, Heat, or Difference of Sentiments. They have a Notion, That, when People are met together, a fhort Silence doth much improve Converfation: This I found to be true; for, during thofe little Intermiffions of Talk, new Ideas would arife in their Thoughts, which very much enlivened the Difcourfe. Their Subjects are generally on Friendfhip and Benevolence, on Order and OEconomy ; fometimes upon the vifible Operations of Nature, or ancient Traditions; upon the Bounds and Limits of Virtue ; upon the unerring Rules of Reafon, or upon fome Determinations, to be taken at the next great Affembly; and often upon the various Excellencies of Pootry. I may add, without Vanity, that my Prefence often gave them fufficient Matter for Difcourfe, becaufe it afforded my Matter an Occafion of letting his Friends into the Hiftory of me and my: Country, upon which they were all pleafed to defcant, in a Manner not very advantageous to Human Kind and, for that Reafon, I fhall not repeat what they faid = Only I may be allowed to obferve, 'That his Honour, to my great Admiration, appeared to underftand the Nature of Yaboos, much better than myfelf. He went through all our Vices and Follies, and difcovered many which $I$ had never mentioned to him, by only fuppofing what Qualities a Yaboo of their Country, with a fmall Proportion of Reafon, might be capable of exerting ; and concluded, with too much Probability, how vile, as well as miferable, fuch a Creature mult be.

I freely confefs, that all the little Knowledge I have, of any Value, was acçuired by the Lectures, 1 received from my Matter, and from hearing the Difcourfes of him and his Friends; to which 1 hould be prouder to liften, than to dictate to the greateft and wifeft Affembly in Europe. I admired the trength, Comelinefs, and Speed of the Inhabitants; and fuch a Conitellation of Virtues, in fuch amiatle Perfons, produced in me the higheft Veneration. At firft, indeed, I did not feel that natural Awe, which the Yaboos, and all other Animals, bear towards them ; but it grew upon me by Degrees, much fooner than I imagined, and was mingled with a refpectful Love and Gratitude, that they would condefcend to ditinguifh me from the reft of my Species.

When I thought of my Family, my Friends, my Countrymen, or Human Race in general, I confidered them as they really were, raboos in Shape and Difpofition, perhaps a little more civilized, and qualified with the Gift of Speech; but making no other Ufe of Reafon, than to improve and multiply thofe Vices, whereof their Brethren in this Country had only the Share that Nature alloted them. When I happened to behold the Reflection of my own Form in a Lake or a Fountain, I turned away my Face in Horror and Deteftation of myfelf; and could better endure the Sight of a common Yaboo, than of my own Perfon. By converfing with the Houybnbnms, and looking upon them with Delight, I fell to imitate their Gate and Geflure, which is now grown into an Habit; and my Friends often tell me in a blunt Way, dhat I trot like a Horfe; which, however, I take for a great Compliment: Neither fhall I difown, that, in Speaking, I am apt to fall into the Voice and Manner of the Houy-bnbnms, and hear myfelf ridiculed on that Account, without the leaft Mortification.

In the Midft of all this Happinefs, and when I looked upon myfelf to be fully fettled for Life, my Mafter fent for me one Morning, a little earlier than his ufual Hour. I obferved by his Countenance, that he was in fome Perplexity, and at a Lofs how to begin what he had to fpeak. After a fhort Silence, he told me, He did not know how I would take what he was going to fay; that in the laft general Affembly, when the Affair of the raboos was entered upon, the Reprefentatives had taken offence at his keeping a $\mathrm{raboo}_{\text {( }}$ (meaning my felf) in his Family, more like a Houybnbnm; than a brute Animal. That he was known frequently to converfe with me, as if he could receive fome Advantage or Pleafure in my Company: That fuch a Practice was not agreeable to Reafon or Nature, or a Thing ever heard of before among them. The Affembly did therefore exhort him, either to employ me like the reft of my Species, or command me to fwim back to the Place from whence I came. That the firft of thefe Expedients was utterly rejected by all the Houybnbnms, who had ever feen me at his Houfe or their own: For they alledged, That, becaufe I had fome Rudiments of Reafon, added to the natural Pravity of thofe Animals, it was to be feared, I might be able to feduce them into the woody and mountainous Parts of the Country, and bring them in. Troops by Night to deftroy the Houybibnms Cattle, as being naturally of the ravenous Kind, and averfe from Labour.

My Maiter added, That he was daily prefled by the Houybnbnms of the Neighbourhood, to have the Affembly's Exbortation executed, which he could not put off much longer. He doubted it would be impofible for me to fwim to another Country; and therefore wifhed I would contrive fome Sort of Yehicle refembling thofe I had deferibed to him, that might carry me on the Sea; in which Work I fhould have the Affittance of his own Servants, as well as thofe of his Neighbours,

He concluded, That, for his own Part, he could have been content to keep me in his Service as long as I lived; becaufe he found I had cured myfe!f of fome bad Habits and Difpofitions, by endeavouring, as far as my inferior Nature was capable, to imitate the Houyhnbnms.

I fhould here cbferve to the Reader, That a Decree of the general Affembly, in this Country, is expreffed by the Word Hnbloayn, which fignifies an Exbortation, as near as I can render it : For they have no Conception how a rational Creature can be compelled, but only advifed, or exborted; becaufe no Perfon can difobey Reafon, without giving up his Claim to be a sational Creature.

I was fruck with the utmoft Grief and Defpair at my Mafter's Difcourfe; and, being unable to fupport the Agonies I was under, I fell into a Swoon at his Feet : When I came to myfelf, he told me, that he concluded I had been dead (for thefe People are fubject to no fuch Imbecillities of Nature.) I anfwered in a faint Voice, That Death would have been too great an Happinefs; that although I could not blame the Affembly's Exbortation, or the Urgency of his Priends; yet, in my weak and corrupt Judgment, I thought it might confift with Reafon, to have been lefs rigorous. That I could not fwim a League, and, probably, the neareft Land to theirs might be diftant above an hondred: That many Materials, neceffary for making a fmall Veffel to carry me off, were wholly wanting in this Country, which, however, I would attempt, in Obedience and Gratitude to his Honour, although I concluded the Thing to be impoffible, and therefore looked on my feif as already devoted to Deftruction. That the certain Profpect of an unnatural Death was the leaft of my Evils: For, fuppofing I fhould efcape with Life by fome ftrange Adventure, bow could I think with Temper, of pafing my Days among Yaboos, and relapfing into my old Corruptions, for Want of Examples to lead and keep me within the Paths of Virtue. That I knew, too well, upon what folid Reafons, all the Determinations of the wife Houyonbnms were founded, not to be fhaken by Arguments of mine, a miferable raboo; $^{\text {a }}$ and therefore, after prefenting him with my humble Thanks for the offer of his Servants Affiftance in making a Veffel, and defiring a reafonable Time for fo difficult a Work, 1 told thim I would endeavour to preferve a wretched Being; and, if ever I returned to England, was not without Hopes of being ufeful to my own Species, by celebrating the Prailes of the renowned Houybnbnms, and prapofing their Virtues to the Imitation of Mankind.

My Mafter in a few Words, made me a very gracious Reply, allowed me the Space of two Months to finif my Boat; and ordered the Sorrel Nag, my Fel-low-fervant (for fo at this Diftance I may prefume to call him) to follow my Inftructions, becaufe I told my Mafter, that his Help would be fufficient, and I knew he had a Tendernefs for me.

In his Company, my firft Bufinefs was to go to that Part of the Coaft, where my rebellious Crew had ordered me to be fet on 8hore. I got upon a Height, and, looking on every Side into the Sea, fancied I faw a fmall Inand, towards the Nortb-eaft : I took out my Pocket-glafs, and could then clearly diftinguih it a. bout five Leagues off, as I computed; but it appeared to the Sorrel Nag to be only a blue Cloud: For, as he had no Conception of any Country befide his own, fo he could not be as expert in diftinguifhing remote Ob jects at Sea, as we who fo much converfe in that Element.

After I had difcovered this Ifland, I confidered no farther; but refolved, it fhould, if poffible, be the firft Place of my Banifhment, leaving the Confequence to Fortune.

I retursed Home, and confulting with the Sorrel Nag. we went into a Copfe at fome Diftance, where I with my Knife, and he with a harp Flint faftened wery artificially, after their Manner, to a wooden T. 4

Handle,

AVoyage

Handle, cut down feveral oak Wattles, about the Thickrefs of a Waiking ft ff, and fome larger Pieces. But I fhall not troubie the Ruader with a particular Defcription of my own Mechanic: ; let it fuffice to fay, that in fix Weeks Time, with the Help of the Sorrel Nag, who performed the Parts that required mof Labour, I fin.fhed a Sort of Irdian Canoo, but much larger, covering it with the Skins of Yaboos, well ftitched together with hempen I h eads of my own making. My Sail was :ik:wife compured of the Skins of the fame Dnimal; bu: I made Ufe of the youngef I could get, the older being too tough and thick; and I likewife provided myfeif with feur Paddles. I laid in a Stock of boiled Flefh, of R.bbets and Fowls; and took with me two Veffels, one filled with Milk, and the other with Water.

I tried my Canoo in a large Pınd, near my Mafter's. Houfe, and then corrected in it what was amifs; ftopping all the Chinks with Yaboos Tallow, till I found it ftanch, and able to bear me, and my Freight. And when it was as compleat as I could poffibly make it, I had it drawn on a Carriage, very gent!y, by raboos, to the Sea-fide; under the Conduct of the Sorrel Nag, and another Sei vant.

When all was ready, and the Day came for my Departure, I took Leave of my Matter and Lady, and the whole fimily, mine Ef, es fluwing with Tears, and my Heart quite funk with Grief But his Honour, out of Curiofity, and perhap: (if I may fpeak it without Vanity) partly out of Kindnefs, was determined to fee me in my Canoo; ard got feveral of his neghbouring Friend to accompany him. I was forced to wait above ar. Hour for the Tice, and then obferving the Wind very forturately bearing towards the Ifland, to which I intended to Reer my Courfe, I took a Sccond Leave of my Mafer: But as I was going to pufrate myfelf to kifs his Hoof, he did me the Honour to raife it gentiy to my Mouth. I am not ignorant how much - have been cenfured for mentioning this Jall Particu-

to the HOUYHNHNMS.

lar. For my Detractors are pleafed to think it improbable, that fo illult:ious a Perion fhould defcend to give fo great a Mirk of Difiriction to a Cieature fo inferior as I. Neither have I forgnt, how apt fome Travellers are to boaft of extraordinary Favours they have received. But, if thefe Cenfurers were better acquainted with the noble and courte us Difpofition of the Houybnbnns, they would foon charge their Opinion.

I paid my Refpects to the reft of the Houybnbrms in bis Honour's Company; then, geuing into my Canoo, I pufhed off from Shore.

C H A P. XI.

The Author's dangerous Voyage. He arrives at NewHolland, hoping to fettle there. Is wounded with an Arrow by one of the Natives. Is frized and carried by Force into a Fortugueze Sbip. The great Civilities of the Captain. The Author arrives at England, IBE GAN this defperate Voyage on Fabruary 1 $_{5}$; 1714 15, at 90 Clock in the Morning: The Wind was very favour: ble; however, I made Uie, at firft, only of my Paddie ; but confidering I fhould foon be weary, and that the Wind mght prob bly chop ab ut, I ventured to fet up my little Sail; and thas, with the Help of the Tide, I went at the Rate of a Leegue and a ha f an Hcur, as near as I could guefs. My Mafter and his friends continued on the Shore, till I was almoft out of Sight; and I of en heard the Sorrel Nag (who always loved me) crying out, Hnuy illa nyba majab Yaboo, Take Care of thyte'f, gentle Yaboo.

My Defign was, if peffibe, to difcover fome fmall Illand uninhabited, yet fufficient with my Labour to furnifh me with the Neceffaries of Life, which I, would have thought a greater Happinefs, than to be firla firt Minifter in the politeft Court of Exrope ; fo horrible was the Idea 1 conceived of returning to live in the Society, and under the Government of Yaboos. For, in fuch a Solitude as I defired, I could, at leaft, enjoy my own Thoughts, and reflect with Delight on the Virtues of thole inimitable Houybnbnms, withour any Opportunity of degenerating into the Vices and Corruptions of my own Species.

The Reader may remember what I related, when my Crew confired againft me, and confined me to my Cabbin. How I continued there feveral Weeks, without knowing what Courfe we took; and when I was put a-fhore in the Long-boat, how the Sailors told me with Oaths, whether true or falfe, that they knew not in what Part of the World we were. However, I did then believe us to be about ten Degrees Southrward of the Cape of Good-Hope, or about 45 Degrees, Soutbern Latitude, as I gathered from fome general Words I overheard among them, being, I fuppofed, to the SouthEaf in their intended Voyage to Madagafcar. And, although this were but little better than Conjecture, yet I refolved to flear my Courfe Eaftward, hoping to reach the South-Weft Coaft of New-Holland, and perhaps fome fuch Inand as I defired, lying Weftward of it. The Wind was full $W_{e f f}$, and, by fix in the Evening, I computed I had gone Eaftward, at leaft, eighteen Leagues; when I spied a very fmall Inland about half a League off, which I foon reached. It wap nothing but a Rock with one Creek, naturally arched by the Force of Tempefts. Here I put in my Canoo, and, climbing up a part of the Rock, I could plainly difcover Land to the Eaf, extending from South to North. I lay all Night in my Canoo; and, repeating my Voyage early in the Morning. I arrived in feven Hours to the South-Eaft Point of New Holland. This confirmed me in the Opinion I have long entertained, that the Maps and Cbarts place this Country at leat three Degrees more to the Eaff, than it really is; which Thought I communicated, many Years ago, to my worthy worthy Friend, Mr. Herman Moll, and gave him my Reafons for it, although he hath rather chofen to follow other Authors.

I faw no Inhabitants in the Place where I landed, and, being unarmed, I was afraid of venturing far into the Country. I found fome Shell-fig on the Shore, and eat them raw, not daring to kindle a Fire, for Fear of being difcovered by the Natives. I continued three Days feeding on Oyfters and Limpits, to fave my own Provifions ; and I fortunately found a Brook of excellent Water, which gave me great Relief.

On the fourth Day, venturing out early, a little too far, I faw twenty or thirty Natives upon a Height, not above five hundred Yards from me. They were ftark naked, Men, Women, and Children, round 2 Fire, as I could difcover by the Smoke. One of them fpied me, and gave Notice to the reft; five of them advanced towards me, leaving the Women and Children at the Fire. I made what Hafte I could to the Shore, and, getting into my Canoo, fhoved off. The Savages, obferving me retreat, ran after me, and, before I could get far enough into the Sea, difcharged an Arrow, which wounded me deeply on the Infide of my left Knee (I thall carry the Mark to my Grave). I apprehended the Arrow might be poifoned, and paddling out of the Reach of their Darts (being a calm Day) I made a Shift to fuck the Wound, and drefs it as I could.

I was at a Lofs what to do, for I durft not return to the fame Landing-place, but ftood to the North, and was forced to paddle; for the Wind, though very gentle, was againft me, blowing Nortb-Weff. As I was looking about for a fecure Landing-place, I faw a Sail to the North Nortb-Eaft, which appearing every Minute more vifible, I was in fome Doubt, whether I fhould wait for them or no; but, at laft, my Deteftation of the Yaboo Race prevailed; and, turning my Canoo, I failed and paddled together to the South, and got into the fame Creek from whence I fet out in the Morning, chufing rather to. truft myfelf among thefe Barbarinns, inan live with European Raboos. I drew up my Canoo as clofe as I could to the Shore, and hid m ; felf behind a Stone by the little Brook, which, as I have already faid, was excellent Water.

AVoyage

The Ship came within half a League of this Creek, and fent out her Long-Boat, with Veffels to take in frefh Water (for the Place, it feems, was very well known) but I did not obferve it, till the Boat was almoft on Shore; and it was too late to feek another Hiding-place. The Seamen, at their Landing, obferved my Canoo, and, rummaging it all over, eafily conjsetured that the Owner could not be far off. Four of them, well armed, fearched every Cranny and Lou:king hole, till at lait they found me flat on my Face behind the Stone. They gazed a while, in Admiration at my frange uncouth Drefs; my Coat made of Skins, my wooden foaled Shoes, and my furred Stockings; from whence, however, they concluded, I was not a Native of the Place, who all go naked. One of the Seamen, in Portugueze, bid me sife, and afked who I was. I underftood that Larguige very well, and getting upon my Feet, faid, I was a poor $\mathrm{Y}_{\mathrm{a}}$ boo, banifhed from the Houybubrms, and defired they would pleafe to let me depart. 'They admired to hear me anfwer them in their own Tongue, and faw by my Complexion, I munt be an European; but were at a Lofs to know what I meant by rahoos, and Houybnhnms, and at the fame Time fell a Laughing ar my ftrange Tone in Speaking, which refemb'ed the Neighing of a Horfe. I trem: bled all the while bewwixt Fear and Hatred: I again defired Leave to depart, and was gently moving to my Canoo, but they laid hold on me, defiring to know, What Country I was cf? Whence I came ? with many other Queftons. I told them, I was born in England, from whence I came about five Years ago, and then their Country and ours were at Peace. I therefore hoped they would not treat me as an Enemy, fince I meant them no Harm, but was a poor Yakoo, feeking fome defolate Place where to pafs the Remainder of his unfortunate Life.

When they began to talk, I thought I never heard or faw any Thing fo unnatural; for it appeared to me as monitrous, as if a Dog or a Cow fhou'd fpeak in England, or a Yaboo in Hoyybnbnm-land. The h neft Portugueze were equally amazed at my ftrage Dtefs, and the odd Manner of delivering my Words, which, however, they underftood very well. They fole to me with great Humanity, and faid they were fure the Captain would carry me gratis to Lißbon, from whence I might return to my own Country; that two of the Seamen would go back to the Ship, inform the Captain of what they had feen, and receive his Or ders; in the mean Time, unlefs I would give my folemn Uath not to fly, they would fecure me by Force. I theught it beft to comply with their Propofal. They we e very curious to know my Story, but I gave them. very little Satisfaction; and they all conjectured, that my Misfortunes had impaired my Reafon. In two Hours the Boat, which went loaden with Veffels of Water, returned, with the Captain's Command, to fetch me on Board. I fell on my Knees to preferve my Liberty; but all was in vain, and the Men, having tied me with Cords, heayed me into the Brat, from whence I was taken into the Ship, and from thence into the Captain's Cabbin.

His Name was Pedro de Mendez; he was a very courteous and generous Perfon; he entreated me to give fome Account of myfelf, and defired to know what I would eat or drink; faid, I hould be ufed as well as himfelf, and fooke fo many obliging Things, that I wondred to find fuch Civilities from a raboo. However, I remained filent and fullen; I was ready to faint at the very Smell of him and his Men. At laft I defired fomething to eat out of my own Canoo; but he ordered me a Chicken, and fome excellent Wine, and then directed that I fhould be put to Bed in a very clean Cabbin. I would not undrefs myfelf, but lay on the Bed-

Bed cloaths, and in half an Hour ftole out, when 1 thought the Crew was at Dinner, and getting to the Side of the Ship, was going to leap into the Sea, and fwim for my Life, rather than continue among raboos. But one of the Seamen prevented me, and, having informed the Captain, I was chained to my Cabbin.

After Dinner, Don Pedro came to me, and defired to know my Reafon for fo defperate an Attempt ; affured me, he only meant to do me all the Service he was able, and fpoke fo very movingly, that at laft I defcended to treat him like an Animal which had fome little Portion of Reafon. I gave him a very fhort Relation of my. Voyage ; of the Confpiracy againft me by my own Men; of the Country where they fet me on Shore, and of my three Years Refidence there. All which he looked upon as if it were a Dream or a Vifion; whereat I took great Offence; for I had quite forgot the Fa= culty of Lying, fo peculiar to raboos in all Countries where they prefide, and confequently the Difpofition of furpecting Truth in others of their own Species. I afked him, Whether it were the Cuftom in his Country, to Say tbe Tbing that was not 9 I aflured him, I had almoft forgot what he meant by Falfehood, and, if I had lived a thoufand Years in Houybnbnm-land, I fould never have heard a Lye from the meaneft Servant; that I was altogether indifferent whether he believed me or no; but however, in Return for his Favours, I would give fo much Allowance to the Corruption of his Nature, as to anfwer any Objection he would pleafe to make, and then he might eafily difcover the Truth.

The Captain, a wife Man, after many Endeavours to catch me tripping in fome Part of my Story, at laft began to have a better Opinion of my Veracity. But he added, that, fince I profeffed fo inviolable an Attachment to Truth, I mult give him my Word and Honour to bear him Company in this Voyage, without attempting any Thing againft my Life, or elfe he would continue me a Prifoner till we arrived at Lisbon. I gave him the Promife he required; but at the fame Time protefted, that I would fuffer the greateft Hardthips, rather than return to live among Paboos.

Our Voyage paffed without any confiderable Accident. In Gratitude to the Captain, I fometimes fat whth him, at his earneft Requeft, and frove to conceal my Antipathy to Human Kind, although it often broke out; which he fuffered to pafs witheut Obfervation. But, the greateft Part of the Day, I confined myfelf to my Cabbin, to avoid feeing any of the Crew. The Captain had often entreated me to ftrip myfelf of my favage Drefs, and offered to lend me the beft Suit of Cloaths he had. This I would not be prevailed on to accept, abhorring to cover myfelf with any Thing that had been on the Back of a Yaboo. I only defired he would lend me two clean Shirts, which having been wafhed fince he wore them, I believed would not fo much defile me. Thefe I changed every fecond Day, and wafhed them myfelf.

We arrived at Lifbon, Nov. 5, 1715. At our Landing the Captain forced me to cover myfelf with his Cloak, to prevent the Rabble from crouding about me. I was conveyed to his own Houfe; and, at iny earneft Requef, he led me up to the higheft Room backwards. I conjured him to conceal from all Perfons what I had told him of the Houybnbnms; becaufe the leaft Hint of fuch a Story would not only draw Numbers of People to fee me, but probably put me in Danger of being imprifoned, or burnt by the Inquifition. The Captain perfuaded me to accept a Suit of Cloaths newly made; but I would not fuffer the Taylor to take my Meafure; however, Don Pedro being almoft of my Size, they fitted me well enough. He accoutred me with other Neceffaries, all new, which I aired for twenty-four Hours; before I would ufe them.
The Captain had no Wife, nor above three Servants, none of which were fuffered to attend at Meals; and his whole Deportment was fo obliging, added to very good buman Underflanding, that I really began to tolerate his Company. He gained fo far upon me; that I ventured to look out of the back Window. By Degrees, I was brought into another Room, from whence I peeped into the Street, but drew my Head back in a Fright. In a Week's Time, he fe uced me down to the Door I fount my Terror gradually leffened, but my Hatred and Contempt feemed to encreafe. I was at laft bold enough to walk the Sireet in his Company, but kept my Nofe well ftopped with Rue, or lometimes with 「obacco.
berate

In ten Days, Don Pedro, to whom I had given fome Account of my domeftic Affairs, put it upon me as a Matter of Hionour and Confcience, that I ought to return to my native Country, and live at Home with my Wife ard children. He told ine, there was an Engli; Ship in the Port juft ready to fail, and he would furnifh me with all 1 hings neceffary. It would be tedious to repeat his Arguments, and my Contradictions. He frid it was a to cyether impoffible to find fuch a folitary Illand as I had defired to live in; but I might command in my own Houfe, and pafs my Tine in a Manner as reclufe as I pleafed.

I complied at laft, finding I could not do better. I left Lifbon the ${ }_{2}$ th Day of November, in an Englifis Merchant-Man, but, who was the Mafter, I never enquired. Don Pidro accompanied me to the Ship, and lent me twenty Pounds. He took kind Leave of me, and embraced me at Parting, which I bore as well as I could. During the laft Voyage, I had no Commerce with the Mafter, or any of his Men; but, pretending I was fick, kept clofe in my Cabbin. On the 5th of December, 1715, we caft Anchor in the Dorwns about nine in the Morning, and at three in the Afternoon I got fafe to my Houife at Rutherbith.

My Wife and Family received me with great Surprize and loy, becaufe they concluded me certainly dead; but I mult freely confefs the Sight of them filled me only, with Hatred, Difguft, and Contempt ; and the more by reflecting on the near Alliance I had to them.

For, although, fince my unfortunate Exile from the Houybnbnm Country, I had compelled myfelf to tolerate the Sight of Yaboos, and to converfe with Don Pedro de Mendez; yet my Memory and Imagination were perpetually filled with the Virtues and Ideas of thofe exalted Houybnbnms. And when I began to confider, that, by copulating with one of the raboo-Species, I had become a Parent of more; it frruck me with the utmoft Shame, Confufion, and Horror:

As foon as I entered the Houfe, my Wife took me in her Arms, and kiffed me; at which, having not been ufed to the Touch of that odious Animal for fo many Years, I fell in a Swoon for almoft an Hour. At the Time I am writing, it is five Years fince my laft Return to England: During the firft Year, I could not endure my Wife or Children in my Prefence, the very Smell of them was intolerable; much lefs could I fuffer them to eat in the fame Room. To this Hour, they dare not prefume to touch my Bread, or drink out of the fame Cup; neither was I ever able to let one of them take me by the Hand. The firt Money I laid out was to buy two young Stone-Horfes, which I kept in a good Stable, and next to them the Groom is my greatelt Favourite; for I feel my -Spirits revived by the Smell he contracts in the Stable. My Horfes underftand me tolerably well; I converfe with them at leaft four Hours eve-ry-Day. They are Strangers to Bridle or Saddle ; they live in great Amity with me, and FriendMhip to each other.

C H A P. XII.

The Author's Veracity. His Defign in publißing this Wark. His Cenfure of thofe Travellers wha fwerve from the Trutb. The Author clears himfelf from any finifter Ends in writing. An Objection anfwered. The Method of planting Colonies. His Native Country commendad. The Right of the Crown to tbofe Countries defcribed by the Autbor, is juftified. The Diffculty of conquering them. The Author takes his laft Leave of the Reader; propofeth his Manner of Living for the future; gives good Advice, and concludeth.

TH U S, gentle Reader, I have given thee a faithful Hiltory of my Travels for Sixteen Years, and above feven Moriths; wherein I have not been foftudious of Ornament as Truth. I could perhaps, like others, have aftonifhed thee with frange improbable Tales; but I rather chofe to relate plain Matter of Fact, in the fimpleft Manner and Style; becaufe my principal Defign was to inform, and not to amufe thee.

It is eafy for us who travel into remote Countries, which are feldom vifited by Englif/bmen, or other Europeans, to form Defcriptions of wonderful Animals, both a: Sea and Land. Whereas a Traveller's chief Aim fhould be, to make Men wifer and better, and to improve their Minds by the bad, as well as good Example, of what they deliver, concerning foreign Places.

I could heartily wifh a Law was enacted that every Traveller, before he were permitted to publifh his Voyages, fhould be obliged to make Oath before the Lord High Cbancellor, that all he intended to print was abfolutely true, to the beft of his Knowledge; for then the World would no longer be deceived, as it ufually is; while fome Writers, to make their Works pafs the better upon the Public, impofe the groffeft Falfities on the unwary Reader. I have perufed feveral Books of Travels, with great Delight, in my younger Days; but having fince gone over moft Parts of the Globe, and been able to contradict many fabulous Accounts from my own Obfervation, it hath given me a great Difguft againft this Part of Reading, and fome Indignation to fee the Credulity of Mankind fo impudently abufed. Therefore, fince my Acquaintance were pleafed to think my poor Endeavours might not be unacceptable to my Country, I impofed on myfelf; as a Maxim, never, to be fwerved from, that I would frictly adbere to Truth; neither, indeed, can I be ever under the leaft Temptation to vary from it, while I retain in my Mind the Lectures and Example of my Noble Mafter, and the other Illuftrious Houybnbnms, of whom II had fo long the Honour to be an humble Hearer.

——Nec fo miferum Foriuna Sinonemi Finxit, vanum etiam, mendacemque improba finget.'

I know very well, how little Reputation is to be got by Writings which require neither Genious nor Learning, nor, indeed, any other Talent, except a good Memory, or an exact fournal. I know likewife, that Writers of Travels, like DiEtionary-Makers, are funk into Oblivion, by the Weight and Bulk of thofe who come laft, and therefore lie uppermoft. And it is highly probable, that fuch Travellers, who fhall hereafter vifit the Countries defcribed in this Work of mine, may, by detecting my Errors. (if there be any) and adding many new Difcoveries of their own, jufle me out of Vogue, and ftand in my Place, making the World forget that I was ever an Author. This indeed would be too great a Mortification, if I wrote for Fame: But, as my fole Intention was the Public Good, I cannot be altogether difappointed. For who can read of the Virtues I have mentioned in the glorious Houybnbnms, without being afhamed of his own Vices, when he confiders himfelf as the reafoning, governing, Animal of his Country ? I fhall Ray nothing of thofe remote Nations where Yaboos prefide ; amongft which the leaft corrupted are the Brobdingnagians, whofe wife Maxims, in Morality and Government, it would be our Happinefs to obferve. But I furbear defcanting farther, and rather leave the Judicious Reader to his own Remarks and Applicátions.

I am not a little pleafed that this Work of mine can poffibly meet with no Cenfurers: For what Objections can be made againft a Writer who relates only plain Facts that happened in fuch diftant Countries, where we have not the lealt Intereft, with Refpect either to Trade or Negotiations? I have carefully avoided every Fault with which common Writers of Travels are often too juflly charged. Befides, I meddle not the leaft with 2ny Party, but write without Paffion, Prejudice, or Ill-will againt any Man, or Number of Men, whatfoever. I write for the nobleft End, to inform and inftruct Mankind, over whom I may, without Breach of Modefty, pretend to fome Superiority, from the Advantages I received by converfing fo long among the moft accomplifhed Houybnbnms. I write without any View towards Profit or Praife. I never fuffer a Word to pafs, that may look like Reflection, or poffibly give the leaft Offence, even to thofe who are moft ready to take it. So that I hope, I may, with Juftice, pronounce myfelf an Author perfectly blamelefs; againft whom the Tribes of Anfwerers, Confiderers, Obfervers, Refecters, Detecters, Remarkers, will never be able to find Matter for exercifing their Talents.

I confefs, it was whifpered to me, that I was bound in Duty, as a Subject of England, to have given in a Memorial to a Secietary of State, at my firf Coming over; becaufe, whatever Lands are difcovered by a Subject, belong to the Crown. But I doubt whether our Conquefts, in the Countries I treat of, would be as eary as thofe of Ferdinando Cortez, over the naked Americans.

Americans. The Lilliputians, I think, are hardly worth the Charge of a Fleet and Army to reduce them; and I queftion whether it might be prudent or fafe to attempt the Brobdingnagians. Or whether an Engliß Army would be much at their Eafe with the Flying Hland over their Heads. The Houybnbyms, indeed, appear not to be fo well prepared for War, a Science to which they are perfect Strangers, and efpecially againft miffive Weapons. However, fuppofing myfelf to be a Minifter of State, I could never give my Advice for invading them. Their Prudence, Unanimity, Unacquaintednefs with Fear, and their Love of their Country, would amply fupply all Defects in the Military Art. Imagine twenty thoufand of them breaking into the midft of an European Army, confounding the Ranks, overturning the Carriages, battering the Warriors Faces into Mummy, by terrible Yerks from their hinder Hocfs; for they would well deferve the Characier given to Augufus: Recalitrat undique tutus. But, inftead of Propofals for conquering that magnanimous Nation, I rather wifh they were in a Capacity, or Difpofition, to fend a fufficient Number of their Inhabitants for civilizing Europe, by teaching us the firft Principles of Honour, Juftice, Truth, Temperance, PublicSpirit, Fortitude, Chaftity, Friendfhip, Benevolence, and Fidelity. The Names of all which Virtues are fill retained among us in moft Languages, and are to be met with in modern, as well as ancient Authors; which I am able to affert, from my own fmall Reading.

Bur I had another Reafon which made me lefs forward to enlarge his Majefty's Dominions by my Difcoveries. To fay the Truth, I had conceived a few Scruples with Relation to the Diftributive Juftice of Princes upon thofe Occafions. For Inflance, a Crew of Pyrates are driven by a Storm they know not whither; at length a Boy difcovers Land from the Topmaft ; they go on Shore to rob and plunder; they fee an harmlefs People, are entertained with Kindnefs; they give the Country a new Name; they take formal Poffefion of it for their King; they fet up a rotten Plank or a Stone for a Memorial; they murder two or three Dozen of the Natives, bring away a Couple more by Force for a Sample, return Home, and get their Pardon. Here commences a new Dominion acquired with a Title by Divine Right. Ships are fent with the firf Opportunity ; the Natives driven out or deftroyed ; their Princes tortured to difcover their Gold; a free Licence given to all Acts of Inhumanity and Luft, the Earth reeking with the Blood of its Inhabitants: And this execrable Crew of Butchers employed in fo pious an Expedition, is a modern Colotry, fent to convert and civilize an idolatrous and barbarous People.
But this Defcription, I confefs, doth by no Means affect the Britifs Nation, who may be an Example to the whole World for their Wifdom, Care, and Juftice in planting Colonies; their liberal Endowments for the Advancement of Religion and Learning; their Choice of devout and able Paftors to propagate Cbriftianity; their Caution in focking their Provinces with People of fober Lives and Converfations from this the Mother Kingdom ; their friet Regard to the Diftribution of Juftice, in fupplying the civil Adminiffration, through all their Colonies, with Officers of the greateft Abilities, utter Strangers to Corruption ; and to crown all, by fending the moft vigilant and virtuous Governors, who have no other Views than the Happinefs of the People over whom they prefide, and the Honour of the King their Mafter.

But, as thofe Countries; which I have defcribed, do not appear to have a Defire of being conquered, and enflaved, murdered or driven out by Colonies; nor abound either in Gold, Silver, Sugar, or Tobacco; I did humbly conceive, they were by no Means proper Objects of our Zeal, our Valour, or our Intereft. However, if thofe, whom it more concerns, think fit to be of another Opinion, I am ready to depofe, when I fhall be lawfully called, that no European did ever vifit thefe Countries before me. I mean, if the Inhabitants ought to be believed.

Bat, as to the Formality of taking Poffeffion in my Sovereign's Name, it never came once into my Thoughts ; and, if it had, yet, as my Affairs then ftood, I fhould, perhaps, in Point of Prudence, atd Self-prefervation, have put it off to a better Opportunity.

Having thus anfwered the only Objection that can ever be raifed againft me as a Traveller; I here take a final Leave of all my courteous Readers, and return to enjoy my own Speculations in my little Garden at Reddriff; to apply thofe excellent Leffons of Virtue which I learned among the Houybnbnms ; to inftruct the Yaboos of my own Family, as far as I thall find them docible Animals; to behold my Figure often in a Glafs, and thus, if poffible, habituate myfelf, by Time, to tolerate the Sight of a human Creature: To lament the Brutality of Houybnbnms in my own Country, but always treat their Perfons with Refpect, for the Sake of my noble Mafter, his Family, his Friends, and the whole Houybnbnm Race, whom thefe, of ours, have the Honour to refemble in all their Lineaments, however their Inrellectuals came to degenerate.

I began laft Week to permit my Wife to fit at Dinner with me, at the fartheft End of a long Table; and to anfwer (but with the utmoft Brevity) the few Queftions I afked her. Yer; the Smell of a Yaboo continuing very offenfive, I always keep my Nofe well ftopped with Rue, Lavender, or Tobacco-leaves. And, although it be hard for a Man late in Life, to remove old Habits, I am not altogether out of Hopes, in fome Time, to fuffer a Neighbour Yaboo in my Company, without the Apprehenfions I am yet under of his Teeth or his Claws.

My Reconcilement to the Yaboo Kind in general might not be fo difficult, if they would be content with thofe Vices and Follies only, whith Nature hath intitled them to. I am not in the lealt provoked at the Sight of a Lawyer, a Pick-pocket, a Colonel, a Fool, a Lord, a Gamefter, a Politician, a Whore-mafter, a Phyfician, an Evidence, a Suborner, an Attorney, a Traytor, or the like: This is all according to the due Courfe of Things: But when I behold a Lump of Deformity, and Difeafes both in Body and Mind, fmitten with Pride, it immediately breaks all the Meafures of my Patience; neither fhall I be ever able to comprehend how fuch an Animal, and fuch a Vice, could tally together. The wife and virtuous Houybnbnms, who aboùnd in all Excellencies that can adorn a rational Creature, have no Name for this Vice in their Language, which hath no Terms to exprefs any Thing that is Evil, except thofe whereby they defcribe the deteffable Qualities of their raboos, among which they were not able to diftinguifh this of Pride, for Want of thoroughly underftanding Human Nature, as it heweth itfelf in other Countries, where that Animal prefides. But I, who had more Experience, could plainly obferve fome Rudiments of it among the wild Ya boos.

$205 \quad \therefore \quad A$ VoyAGE, E̊t.

But the Houybnbnms, who live under the Government of Reafon, are no more proud of the good Qualities they poffefs, than I fhould be for not wanting a Leg or an Arm, which no Man in his Wits would boaft of, although he muft be miferable without them. I dwell the longer upon this Subject, from the Defire I have to make the Society of an Englifh raboo, by any Means, not infupportable; and, therefore, I here intreat thofe who have any Tincture of this abfurd Vice, that they will not prefume to come in my Sight.

$1$

[^0]:    洞音 being

